TRUTH VERSUS ERROR

Churchianity and Christianity are not one and the same thing, although many make the mistake by taking one for the other. We need only to read history in order to get a knowledge of the baneful doings of churchianity. The religion of many in churchianity is measured in terms of money. Methinks there would be less preaching today, if money contributions from the people ceased, and the salary question was cut out, and the preachers had to go to work like other men. Christianity in the hearts of men will cause them to follow the Golden Rule in every walk of life. Christianity is never represented by slave-driving force; but men are attracted by the power of love. Why do not men cease following the theories and fallacies of the would-be teachers of today, and sincerely seek truth for themselves? The time has come for people to understand, and the Lord will make plain the truth to those who seek to know it.—M. T. BUTCHER. 1d, 85, 4426

KIWANIS EXECUTIVE MEETS AT LONDON

Building At Bowmanville Boys' School To Be Known as Kiwanis Building.

LONDON, Ont., April 9.—(Special to The Examiner.)—The executive of the Ontario-Quebec District, Kiwanis International, met here yesterday in regular session. Of outstanding importance was the announcement by Governor W. R. Cockburn in reference to the Bowmanville Boys' School project. According to a recent decision of the Government of Ontario, one of the fine buildings erected at Bowmanville will be dedicated to the Ontario-Quebec District of Kiwanis, and officially known as "Kiwanis Building." The District will reciprocate by handing over to the Government a stipulated amount of money covering a portion of the cost.

The Bowmanville project has been one of the Kiwanis objectives for some time, and Governor Cockburn's announcement of its successful culmination was happily received. The Peterborough Kiwanis Club has raised and paid in its quota, amounting to $670.

The Executive discussed with the London Convention Committee the details of the District Convention to be held there on October 3 and 4, and the work already done in preparation indicates that London will witness the finest gathering of the kind in the District's history.

The visiting officers were entertained by the London Kiwanis Club at luncheon.

The whole purpose of advertising is to show you ways in which you can live better, more comfortably and more happily. Read the advertisements to find out how you may own many things you have always felt were beyond your means.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. Elizabeth Vivian, who died April 9th, 1926.

What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see;
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.

But some sweet day
we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more
In Heaven, that happy life.

—Inserted by her sister, Mrs. Smith, 284 Brock St.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of George Russel, Douro Ont., who died April 9th, 1926.

—Inserted by wife and family.

Slowly and sadly, one long lonely year,
Has passed away, since,
he, the loved, the
dear,
The summons heard, the Master calls for thee,
And death, from all his suffering, set him free
The emancipated soul, went home to God,
And the worn body laid
beneath the sod.

Many long days of torturing pain he bore
And weary, sleepless nights—but all is o'er.
For him of pain, for he has found repose
Where the inhabitants no sickness knows.
His is the Joy, the bliss, the Eternal gain
But ours the loss, the grief, the yearning vain.

And yet tis sweet to think, that they who go
Are happier far, than those, they leave below;
He is at rest, in a bright, blissful, bourne
While wife, and children ever sadly mourn
And miss, yes, every hour, as time wears on,
The voice, now silent, and the face, thats gone.

A shadow has fallen, which, the sunshine's blaze
From off our hearts, and home, can never raise.
And only He who formed our hearts to feel,
Love's deathless passion, can, our sore hearts heal
One loved one less, here, by these sundered, ties
One more awaiting us, beyond the skies.
So let us walk, like him, the narrow road,
That upward leads, to a serene abode,
Then when, our time comes, be it soon, or late,
We shall find entrance, though the Pearly Gate
Into the City, and, neath Life's fair Tree,
Meet him again, where parting ne'er shall be.

Sound, in God's Hallowed acre is his sleep
While His strong Angels, watch around him keep.
Above his bed, sweet flowers of beauteous bloom
Foretell, the eternal life, beyond the tomb,
In Warsaw's sacred soil, with loved ones gone,
He awaits the glorious resurrection dawn.

TAX ON TOBACCO AND WINES MORE, SAYS CHURCHILL

Announces Increase of Eight Pence On Imported Tobacco.

BRITISH BUDGET.

Deficit of Last Year is Blamed on Losses During Strike.

LONDON, April 11 (Canadian Press).—In his Budget speech today Right Hon. Winston Churchill announced the following:

Imported unmanufactured tobacco is to be taxed eightpence per pound more, effective tomorrow. The present duty is eight shillings and twopence. Taxes on all other kinds of tobacco will move proportionately. Wines produced outside the Empire, over 25 degrees proof spirit are to be taxed eight shillings per gallon, while those containing less are to pay three shillings.

Corresponding rates for Empire wines above and below 27 degrees are to be four shillings and two shillings. This is expected to produce a million and a quarter pounds sterling.

The excise duty on domestic wines to be a shilling the gallon.

The customs and excise duties on matches to be increased approximately 20 per cent.

Certain imported films to be taxed.

Imported motor tires to be included under the McKenna duties beginning tomorrow, but with a rebate of one-third to Empire shippers. A yield of seven hundred thousand pounds is estimated.

Twenty-eight per cent duty on tableware of translucent and vitrified products effective April 19.

There was a crowded house this afternoon when Mr. Churchill brought down his "mystery budget." In his exposition of the national finances he blamed the dificit of nearly thirty-seven million pounds during the present fiscal year on the general strike and the prolonged coal strike of last year.

Despite the strikes the country's revenues had survived the shock. The estimated expenditures for the 1927-8 budget were stated to be £818,390,000. Mr. Churchill declared that "We still maintain our position as the financial centre of the world, and our economic position is unimpaired."

He found it impossible to cut the expenditures for the fighting services or health and education. To effect economies he proposed to abolish the Transport Ministry, the Mines Department, and the Overseas Department, and to reduce the number of new entrants to the Civil Services.

The revenues for the coming year he estimated at 796 million pounds. A deficit of £21,540,000 is indicated. Receipts from the Allies and Germany were estimated at 25 millions or seven and a half millions more than last year.

GALT POLICE ARREST FOUR

Seize Men Breaking Into Garage on Outskirts of City.

HAD REVOLVERS.

GALT, Ont., April 11.— (Canadian Press.) — Nicolo Fermini, Charles Partyo, Charles Cutaiu, and Charles Gimino ,all of Hamilton, were arrested by the police here early this morning in connection with an alleged attempt to break into a highway garage on the outskirts of the city. In police court they were charged with vagrancy and remanded until April 19. Called to the scene by a woman resident the police arrested two of the men in a motor car, in which was found two loaded revolvers. Partyo and Cutaiu were found in the garage and although they attempted to escape they were arrested. A third gun was then found nearby. The men claimed they went to the garage to get a tire to replace a flat one. During the night six places in Galt were entered but so far as could be learned nothing was taken.

Girl 15, Supplies Gun For Slaying Of Admirer

HACKENSACK, N. J., April 11.—(United Press.)—Evelyn Silveira, 15, school girl, faced a charge of murder here yesterday because she provided the pistol with which James Hoey, an admirer, shot Elisha Smith, 20, a rival.

The shooting occurred March 12, in front of the girl's home. Smith died yesterday as a result of the wound.

New Jersey law does not provide an "accessory" charge in murder cases, so the girl had to be charged with murder, officials explained.

CANADIAN CLUB HONORS MASSEY

Canada's Envoy To States Tendered Reception and Dinner.

GIVES ADDRESS.

NEW YORK, April 11 (Canadian Press).—Members of the Canadian Club of New York honored Hon. Vincent Massey, Minister to the United States, at a reception and dinner at the club's quarters on Saturday night. It was the tenth anniversary of the capture of Vimy Ridge by the Canadian Corps.

It was the first time that the Canadian Minister had been the guest of a Canadian gathering since his arrival in this country.

Mr. Massey addressed the gathering informally after Duncan Fraser, the retiring president of the club, had welcomed him on behalf of the members. W. W. Colpitts, the president-elect, also expressed a few words of welcome and appreciation of the Minister's acceptance of the club's invitation to be its guest on the anniversary of such an historic occasion.

TORONTO SESSION DRAWING TO CLOSE

Expected Sittings Will End Tuesday Evening or Early Wednesday.

TORONTO, Ont., April 11 (Canadian Press).—Representations will be made to the Royal Commission on Customs to-day by members of the Commercial Protective Association. R. P. Sparks, president of the association, and one of the prominent witnesses before the Parliamentary Committee which investigated charge of maladministration of the Customs, will be here from Ottawa. Mr. Sparks and other business men will take the stand to present the views which they hold in regard to possible modifications of the Customs laws and other matters pertinent to the inquiry. It is expected that they will occupy at least this morning. Incidentally, the Commission will move to a new court-room in the City Hall, because the one in which they have been sitting is required for the assizes. The remaining meetings here will be held in court-room number 1.

Smuggling Cases.

The work of the Commission in Toronto is nearly finished. There are some cases of commercial smuggling or undervaluation to be drawn to the attention of the Commissioners, and there will be further inquiry into certain of the breweries. More evidence will probably be offered in some of the cases which have been opened, and the finishing touches will be given at the Ottawa sittings. It has been the case at most points where the Commission held sittings that evidence could not be completed in a number of cases because the testimony of departmental officials at Ottawa is necessary. This will be taken toward the close of the investigation.

Toronto sittings of the Commission will close to-morrow evening or some time Wednesday. Then adjournment will be made until after Easter, when the Windsor sittings are scheduled to begin. The sittings in Windsor will open on Wednesday, April 20, and may occupy two weeks. At their conclusion, Niagara Falls will be visited. That will be the final Ontario sitting.

Basis For Compromise On Limitation Of Naval Armaments.

YEAR'S NOTICE.

Provides Publication in Advance of Naval Programs of Nation.

GENEVA, April 11.—A basis was believed to have been found Saturday for a compromise between Britain and France on means of obtaining agreement on limitation of naval armaments.

The French delegation submitted to the League of Nations preliminary disarmament commission a project which would provide for the limitation of total tonnage and the publication in advance of the naval programmes of each nation. Although England did not immediately express official acceptance of the French proposal as a basis for discussion, it was understood that England's wishes had been met by a clause which would require a year's advance notification of any projected change in the determination limited tonnage by classes. Thus, one nation would have a year's warnings if another decided, for instance, to devote its entire tonnage to submarines.

LAUDER TO SPEAK TO WAR VETERANS

Will Be Entertained at Buffet Supper By Joint Societies.

When Sir Harry Lauder arrives in Peterborough at 3.30 on Wednesday, he will be met at the C.P.R. station by the City Council, representatives of the Canadian Legion, of the British Empire Service League, and the Caledonian Pipe Band.

At 6.15 Sir Harry will be the guest of the Canadian Legion at the Canadian Legion headquarters, Murray street, where he will receive members of the Legion and their ladies, members of the Caledonian Club and their ladies, and returned men in general. A buffet luncheon will be served, and Sir Harry will address the returned men present.

This programme was decided at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Legion, with representatives of the Caledonian Soci and the Caledonian Pipe Band on Saturday afternoon, when the work done during the war by Sir Harry was enthusiastically commented on.

The opportunity to meet him on Wednesday at this informal gathering is one that should be taken advantage of by every returned man in the city.

FIREMEN BUSY OVER WEEK END

Nine Alarms in 40 Hours—Three Fires at Once.

24 DURING WEEK.

The Peterborough fire department answered nine alarms yesterday, and the past week was one of the busiest in the history of the department, twenty-four calls being received.

On Saturday night at 8.30 the fire department was called to a fire at 122 Maude Street. The floor around the grate of the furnace had caught fire. The damage was estimated at about $25.00.

At 8.30 yesterday morning there was a chimney fire at 500 Sherbrooke Street, and at 9.22 an alarm from the house of George A. Macdonald at 300 London Street came in. While the firemen were at this fire with all the apparatus in use, an alarm came in to a roof fire at 49 Jackson Avenue nd half a minute later another came in to a second roof fire at 467 Albert Street. Detective William Carey, with the police car, took four firemen with chemical tanks to look after these two fires. The damage to the Jackson Avenue roof will be about $100, and to the other about $10.

At 12.07 the men were again called to put out a grass fire at the King Edward School Grounds. The boys who set this fire have been caught and legal proceedings are expected to follow.

There was a chimney fire at 399 Smith Street at 4.15 p.m., and at 4.35 a grass fire broke out back of the De Laval plant on the C.N.R. property. The final call of the day came at 8.40 to a rubbish fire at the corner of King and Aylmer Streets.

Iron Cross Found In Stomach Of 80-Pound Fish Solves Disappearance Of World War Veteran

HARLEN, Germany, April 11 (Canadian Press).—An Iron Cross in the stomach of an eighty-pound sturgeon, caught in the Rhine near Harlen in Westphalia, has solved the mysterious disappearance of a crippled war veteran who was believed to have hurled himself into the river in a fit of despondency brought on by the realization that he could never recover from the effects of shrapnel wounds.

Two fishermen landed the huge fish from a small boat after an hour's battle. Among numerous objects in the stomarch was found the Iron Cross, second class, with the name "Sergeant August Stiefthaler," engraved on the back. Police identified the medal as one worn by the veteran when last seen seven years ago. The police now are convinced Stiefthaler committed suicide. During the estimated 25 years of its life the fish had feasted on two unopened tins of sardines, vanity case containing powder puff and $5 in Holland coins, two packs of German cigarettes, and more than a dozen fish hooks.

HEAVY DAMAGE IN CLOUDBURSTS

Farmers Suffer Heavy Losses From Floods Over Two States.

WATERS RECEDING.

KANSAS CITY, April 11 (Associated Press). — Oklahoma and Southern Kansas streams, the overflowing of which the past few days caused the loss of 17 lives and great damage to growing crops, appeared last night to have concluded their orgy of destruction. Reports from affected sections told of receding waters, of rivers returning to their banks and of cessation of rain, with a warm sun shining.

The Verdigris River at Independence, Kansas, which spreads out over thousands of acres of wheat lands, was falling, as was the Neosho River at Parsons. From North-eastern Oklahoma, into which these two streams flow, came reports of overflows into lowlands, but the crest of the flood was believed reached with little further anxiety felt.

At Chicassa, in Southern Oklahoma, the Washita River, which on Saturday fell more than a foot, had risen again yesterday when the waters from the swollen Kansas rivers came downstream.

Damages Crops.

No further overflow was anticipated, however. The subsiding water from the lowlands left a muddy deposit, severely damaging early spring crops.

Bottom land farmers in Southeastern Kansas, many of them forced to flee on short notice from the rising waters, leaving their livestock to its fate, yesterday were sadly contemplating the future. Many expressed the opinion that only a meagre wheat crop will be possible from the thousands of acres of growing grain which have been under wate the last two days.

No estimates of the total crop damage were available last night.

SAYS AMERICANS RESPONSIBLE

Former British Envoy Charges American Missions With Spreading Propaganda.

PRESS REPLIES.

LONDON, April 11 (Associated Press). — The action of Sir Auckland Geddes, former British Ambassador to the United States, in breaking his long political silence Saturday night with a speech in which he declared that streams of anti-British propaganda in China came from many American mission and hospital centres, promises to make a first class sensation here.

The Westminster Gazette, in an editorial which will appear to-day, calls for an explanation and apology from Sir Auckland and says that it should be the Government's duty to find some way of repudiating Sir Auckland and his "callous and mischievous utterance."

"Nothing more flagrant in the way of political indiscretion has been perpetrated for many years," the paper will say, "than Sir Auckland's suggestion that anti-English feeling in China is partly due to American influence."

Protesting that such official positions as Sir Auckland ever held "alone through the curious incidents of war time which pitchforked the two Geddes brothers into a round of grandiose office without any corresponding political authority," the Westminster Gazette concludes, "this outrage on American sentiment will be universally reprobated here and we are sure that all responsible and instructed opinion in the United States will be quick to grasp the fact that Sir Auckland is a politician of no consequence on the permanently retired shelf."

ROBB OPPOSES CHANGE IN BILL

Will Not Accept Senate Alterations Until Cost is Known.

SPEAKS FOR CITIZENS.

OTTAWA, April 11.—(Canadian Press)—Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, announced in the House of Commons Saturday that until he was assured as to what would be the cost to the country by the changes to the Civil Servants' Superanuation Act agreed to by the Senate Banking Committee Friday, he would not consent to the change being adopted by the House. The civil servants were evidently not satisfied with the salary increases granted, and he thought it was time some one should speak on behalf of the taxpayers of Canada.

POWERS REJECT FRENCH PROPOSALS

Britain and Italy Refuse Arms Limitation By Categories.

GENEVA, April 11 (Canadian Press).—French proposals regarding the limitation of naval armaments, providing for limitation by categories of warships instead of by total tonnage, were flatly rejected by Viscount Cecil of Great Britain and Signor de Marinis of Italy at the preliminary disarmament meeting here to-day. The French proposal was approved by the Argentine and Chilean delegates.

Hugh Gibson of the United States said the total tonnage system was favored by his Government as the best and fairest method.

SOVIET PREMIER NAMES NATIONS AS IMPERIALIST

Says Britain and Italy Have Insulted Russia in China.

RAIDS INSPIRED.

Single Hand Behind Attacks of Chinese Leaders on Soviet.

MOSCOW, April 11. — (United Press).—While 3,000 Russians cheered his remarks, Premier Alexey I. Rykov on Sunday named Great Britain and Italy as among the "Imperialistic nations," which insulted Soviet Russia in China.

Rykov made his charges in an address to delegates and alternates to the Provincial Congress of Soviet representatives from all parts of Russia. He pointed to instances where he said other foreign diplomatic missions in China had sheltered undesirables to one or the other of the Chinese parties and defended the activities of the Russian diplomats in that country.

"Raids against the Soviet have occurred in several parts of China," he declared, "where various Chinese Governments have been in control." There has been a single hand organizing the attacks. We have to deal with a unified plan which could not have been carried out by the Peking Government but which was under the leadership of some Imperialistic states.

No Ultimatum in Note.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (Canadian Press).—It is understood here that the five-power note handed to the Cantonese to-day, while brief and strongly worded, contains no ultimatum The communication is believed to leave the powers free to take such steps as they may find necessary in event the demands are refused.

The demands, as given out by the Chinese authorities, were punishment of the commanders and troops responsible for the killing and wounding of foreigners at Nanking, for subjecting others to indignities, and for material damage done, a written apology by the Cantonese Commander-in-Chief, and a formal promise to abstain from further violence against foreigners, full reparation for injuries and damages.

The powers warned that unless the Cantonese prove their intention to comply without delay they would be compelled to take such steps as they considered necessary.

The note was formally delivered to General Pei Tsung Hsi, acting for General Chiang Kai Shek, and also to Eugene Chen, Cantonese Foreign Minister at Hankow. General Pei would not discuss the note officially, but remarked that it failed to suggest a means by which guilt would be fixed. He thought the outrages might be investigated by a joint committee to determine the guilty parties and the nature of punishment necessary.

Embassy Raid Discussed.

LONDON, April 11 (Canadian Press).—Sir Austen Chamberlain, in the House of Commons to-day, reviewed the circumstances of last week's raid on buildings connected with the Soviet Embassy in Peking. The Foreign Secretary said diplomatic advices received from Peking reported that the documents seized in the raid included a list of 4,000 agents in Peking who were ready to stir up trouble and commit acts of violence at any time.

Paris Bachelors Pay Tax Rather Than Face Altar

PARIS, April 11.—Bachelors are steadily increasing in France. The French government in 1920 decreed that bachelors above 30 years old should pay a super income tax of 25 per cent. France at that time numbered 90,000 bachelors liable to income tax, but apparently they prefer the known evil of the tax collector to the unknown terrors of matrimony, for their number has increased, until last fiscal year it reached the total of more than 260,000.

FAIR BOARD IS AT WORK

Members Take Pick and Shovel and Scraper in Hand at Grounds.

WIDEN TRACK.

From water carrier to foreman, the Directors of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition were to-day giving practical evidence of their worthiness to hold their positions. A visit to the exhibition grounds disclosed a working gang busy on the race track.

There was Art Blade, a modern Ben Hur, driving a dangerous-looking team hitched to a scraper. He was widening the track.

Over in the main grounds was Roland Denne, wholly engrossed in the tedious and mundane task of burning off the grass to beautify the grounds.

Busily engaged on the edge of the track pulling out posts were Doug. Hammond and Jim Lundy, and they assured any inquisitive persons that they needed neither horse nor chains to assist in the task. Striding near these super-men was Jack Gillespie, and thought he was constantly being asked by Norm. Henry and Harry Dickin, if this was the First of May he paid no attention but went on with his pail, with the re-assuring remark that "coffee" would be served by Hooper's at the lunch hour.

This is all voluntary work. It will probably take three or four days to complete the task and many requests have been sent out for more teams and men to assist in the bee.

Every little bit helps in keeping Peterboro Exhibition at the top of the Central Ontario annual fair.

CANTON FORCES FALLING BACK FROM YANGSTE

Despatch Says Military Successes of Reorganized Northern Forces Continue.

PREPARE NOTE.

Large Detachment of Nationalists Join Banner of General Sun.

LONDON, April 11 (Canadian Press).—All reports from China today agreed that the Cantonese armjes which recently captured strategic positions from the Northern forces now have suffered reverses and are in retreat at some places. An Exchange Telegraph Company despatch says the Cantonese have evacuated Chink-lang on the southern bank of the Yangtze, forty miles east of Nanking and are in disorderly retreat in the direction of Shanghai.

Reports are conflicting and seem to show that little is actually known. One sensational account tells of the advance of a hundred thousand Northern troops and of twenty thousand casualties among the Cantonese, adding that the remnants of the Nationalist forces are fleeing in panic.

Other reports are much milder and qualified by uncertain language.

Sir Percival Phillips cables The Daily Mail that, judged by Western standards, the defeat of the Cantonese should not be a serious blow, but the effect may be disastrous, as the Cantonese had come to regard themselves as supermen, able to surmount every obstacle.

Note Presented

SHANGHAI, April 11 (Canadian Press)—The five-Power note against the Nanking outrages was presented simultaneously this afternoon to the Cantonese Government at Hankow and the representative at Shanghai of General Chiang Kai-Shek, the Cantonese military leader. The presentation was made jointly by the Consul-Generals of Great Britain, United States, Japan, France and Italy.

ERECT DEFENCES.

SHANGHAI, April 11.—(A.P.) — A naval wireless message from Hankow dated April 8 says the Japanese were then erecting strong defences around the concession and had mobilized their volunteers.

A meeting of the military authorities and the political bureau of the Nationalist government was held to discuss the question of what should be done regarding the Japanese concession. The result of the meeting, the message said was unknown. The political bureau is reported to be in favor of taking the concession by force, but the militarists are said to be adverse to such action.

Reports of an advance by the northerners in Honan Province have not yet been confirmed. The northern forces, it is said, are still at Sinyachow.

SHANGHAI, April 11. —(A.P.) — The military successes of the re-organized northern forces under General Chuan Fang continues, advices reaching here say.

A wireless despatch from Chinkiang, dated April 9, says General Sun's troops in their successful drive have reached three points on the north bank of the Yangtse River opposite Chinkiang.

While the northerners have not yet crossed the river, the Nationalists are already falling back from Chinkiang along the railway to Changchow and Nanking.

The fact that there are no troop movements across the river indicates that all the Nationalists who were in this area are now south of the Yangtse.

Retreat From Fukow.

A wireless from Nanking says there are signs that the Nationalists are withdrawing from Fukow as many junks full of soldiers are continually crossing the river toward Nanking.

In the fighting north of the Yangtse, General Sun's troops decisively defeated a brigade of northerners, the wireless relates, and a general and 400 men escaped across the river to Chinkiang. Three generals and between 4,000 and 5,000 soldiers crossed the river to the north bank Saturday morning, it is said, and deserted to the northerners.

Present Separate Notes.

LONDON, April 11. — (Canadian Press.) — It was learned in official quarters last night that formalities have been completed and that the five powers expected to present separate but dentical notes of protest regarding the Nanking outrages in Peking early in the week.

No time limit is set and the question of sanctions is left for future consideration if necessary. It is believed, however, that since France and Italy have joined in the protest demonstrating the complete unity of the treaty powers. The occasion for sanction will not arise and that this proof of the solidarity of the powers will impress the Cantonese authorities to realise their responsibilities.

TAX ON TOBACCO AND WINES MORE, SAYS CHURCHILL

Announces Increase of Eight Pence On Imported Tobacco.

BRITISH BUDGET.

Deficit of Last Year is Blamed on Losses During Strike.

LONDON, April 11 (Canadian Press).—In his Budget speech today Right Hon. Winston Churchill announced the following:

Imported unmanufactured tobacco is to be taxed eightpence per pound more, effective tomorrow. The present duty is eight shillings and twopence. Taxes on all other kinds of tobacco will move proportionately. Wines produced outside the Empire, over 25 degrees proof spirit are to be taxed eight shillings per gallon, while those containing less are to pay three shillings.

Corresponding rates for Empire wines above and below 27 degrees are to be four shillings and two shillings. This is expected to produce a million and a quarter pounds sterling.

The excise duty on domestic wines to be a shilling the gallon.

The customs and excise duties on matches to be increased approximately 20 per cent.

Certain imported films to be taxed.

Imported motor tires to be included under the McKenna duties beginning tomorrow, but with a rebate of one-third to Empire shippers. A yield of seven hundred thousand pounds is estimated.

Twenty-eight per cent duty on tableware of translucent and vitrified products effective April 19.

There was a crowded house this afternoon when Mr. Churchill, brought down his "mystery budget." In his exposition of the national finances he blamed the dificit of nearly thirty-seven million pounds during the present fiscal year on the general strike and the prolonged coal strike of last year.

Despite the strikes the country's revenues had survived the shock. The estimated expenditures for the 1927-8 budget were stated to be £818,390,000. Mr. Churchill declared that "We still maintain our position as the financial centre of the world, and our economic position is unimpaired."

He found it impossible to cut the expenditures for the fighting services or health and education. To effect economies he proposed to abolish the Transport Ministry, the Mines Department, and the Overseas Department, and to reduce the number of new entrants to the Civil Services.

The revenues for the coming year he estimated at 796 million pounds. A deficit of £21,540,000 is indicated. Receipts from the Allies and Germany were estimated at 25 millions or seven and a half millions more than last year.

Seize Men Breaking Into Garage on Outskirts of City.

HAD REVOLVERS.

GALT, Ont., April 11.— (Canadian Press.) — Nicolo Fermini, Charles Partyo, Charles Cutaiu, and Charles Gimino ,all of Hamilton, were arrested by the police here early this morning in connection with an alleged attempt to break into a highway garage on the outskirts of the city. In police court they were charged with vagrancy and remanded until April 19. Called to the scene by a woman resident the police arrested two of the men in a motor car, in which was found two loaded revolvers. Partyo and Cutaiu were found in the garage and although they attempted to escape they were arrested. A third gun was then found nearby. The men claimed they went to the garage to get a tire to replace a flat one. During the night six places in Galt were entered but so far as could be learned nothing was taken.

Girl 15, Supplies Gun For Slaying Of Admirer

HACKENSACK, N. J., April 11.—(United Press.)—Evelyn Silveira, 15, school girl, faced a charge of murder here yesterday because she provided the pistol with which James Hoey, an admirer, shot Elisha Smith, 20, a rival.

The shooting occurred March 12, in front of the girl's home. Smith died yesterday as a result of the wound.

New Jersey law does not provide an "accessory" charge in murder cases, so the girl had to be charged with murder, officials explained.

CANADIAN CLUB HONORS MASSEY

Canada's Envoy To States Tendered Reception and Dinner.

GIVES ADDRESS.

NEW YORK, April 11 (Canadian Press).—Members of the Canadian Club of New York honored Hon. Vincent Massey, Minister to the United States, at a reception and dinner at the club's quarters on Saturday night. It was the tenth anniversary of the capture of Vimy Ridge by the Canadian Corps.

It was the first time that the Canadian Minister had been the guest of a Canadian gathering since his arrival in this country.

Mr. Massey addressed the gathering informally after Duncan Fraser, the retiring president of the club, had welcomed him on behalf of the members. W. W. Colpitts, the president-elect, also expressed a few words of welcome and appreciation of the Minister's acceptance of the club's invitation to be its guest on the anniversary of such an historic occasion.

TORONTO SESSION DRAWING TO CLOSE

Expected Sittings Will End Tuesday Evening or Early Wednesday.

TORONTO, Ont., April 11 (Canadian Press).—Representations will be made to the Royal Commission on Customs to-day by members of the Commercial Protective Association. R. P. Sparks, president of the association, and one of the prominent witnesses before the Parliamentary Committee which investigated charge of maladministration of the Customs, will be here from Ottawa. Mr. Sparks and other business men will take the stand to present the views which they hold in regard to possible modifications of the Customs laws and other matters pertinent to the inquiry. It is expected that they will occupy at least this morning. Incidentally, the Commission will move to a new court-room in the City Hall, because the one in which they have been sitting is required for the assizes. The remaining meetings here will be held in court-room number 1.

Smuggling Cases.

The work of the Commission in Toronto is nearly finished. There are some cases of commercial smuggling or undervaluation to be drawn to the attention of the Commissioners, and there will be further inquiry into certain of the breweries. More evidence will probably be offered in some of the cases which have been opened, and the finishing touches will be given at the Ottawa sittings. It has been the case at most points where the Commission held sittings that evidence could not be completed in a number of cases because the testimony of departmental officials at Ottawa is necessary. This will be taken toward the close of the investigation.

Toronto sittings of the Commission will close to-morrow evening or some time Wednesday. Then adjournment wil be made until after Easter, when the Windsor sittings are scheduled to begin. The sittings in Windsor will open on Wednesday, April 20, and may occupy two weeks. At their conclusion, Niagara Falls will be visited. That will be the final Ontario sitting.

Basis For Compromise On Limitation Of Naval Armaments.

YEAR'S NOTICE.

Provides Publication in Advance of Naval Programs of Nation.

GENEVA, April 11.—A basis was believed to have been found Saturday for a compromise between Britain and France on means of obtaining agreement on limitation of naval armaments.

The French delegation submitted to the League of Nations preliminary disarmament commission a project which would provide for the limitation of total tonnage and the publication in advance of the naval programmes of each nation. Although England did not immediately express official acceptance of the French proposal as a basis for discussion, it was understood that England's wishes had been met by a clause which would require a year's advance notification of any projected change in the determination limited tonnage by classes. Thus, one nation would have a year's warnings if another decided, for instance, to devote its entire tonnage to submarines.

LAUDER TO SPEAK TO WAR VETERANS

Will Be Entertained at Buffet Supper By Joint Societies.

When Sir Harry Lauder arrives in Peterborough at 3.30 on Wednesday, he will be met at the C.P.R. station by the City Council, representatives of the Canadian Legion, of the British Empire Service League, and the Caledonian Pipe Band.

At 6.15 Sir Harry will be the guest of the Canadian Legion at the Canadian Legion headquarters, Murray street, where he will receive members of the Legion and their ladies, members of the Caledonian Club and their ladies, and returned men in general. A buffet luncheon will be served, and Sir Harry will address the returned men present.

This programme was decided at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Legion, with representatives of the Caledonian Soci and the Caledonian Pipe Band on Saturday afternoon, when the work done during the war by Sir Harry was enthusiastically commented on.

The opportunity to meet him on Wednesday at this informal gathering is one that should be taken advantage of by every returned man in the city.

FIREMEN BUSY OVER WEEK END

Nine Alarms in 40 Hours—Three Fires at Once.

24 DURING WEEK.

The Peterborough fire department answered nine alarms yesterday, and the past week was one of the busiest in the history of the department, twenty-four calls being received.

On Saturday night at 8.30 the fire department was called to a fire at 122 Maude Street. The floor around the grate of the furnace had caught fire. The damage was estimated at about $25.00.

At 8.30 yesterday morning there was a chimney fire at 500 Sherbrooke Street, and at 9.22 an alarm from the house of George A. Macdonald at 300 London Street came in. While the firemen were at this fire with all the apparatus in use, an alarm came in to a roof fire at 49 Jackson Avenue nd half a minute later another came in to a second roof fire at 467 Albert Street. Detective William Carey, with the police car, took four firemen with chemical tanks to look after these two fires. The damage to the Jackson Avenue roof will be about $100, and to the other about $10.

At 12.07 the men were again called to put out a grass fire at the King Edward School Grounds. The boys who set this fire have been caught and legal proceedings are expected to follow.

There was a chimney fire at 399 Smith Street at 4.15 p.m., and at 4.35 a grass fire broke out back of the De Laval plant on the C.N.R. property. The final call of the day came at 8.40 to a rubbish fire at the corner of King and Aylmer Streets.

Iron Cross Found In Stomach Of 80-Pound Fish Solves Disappearance Of World War Veteran

HARLEN, Germany, April 11 (Canadian Press).—An Iron Cross in the stomach of an eighty-pound sturgeon, caught in the Rhine near Harlen in Westphalia, has solved the mysterious disappearance of a crippled war veteran who was believed to have hurled himself into the river in a fit of despondency brought on by the realization that he could never recover from the effects of shrapnel wounds.

Two fishermen landed the huge fish from a small boat after an hour's battle. Among numerous objects in the stomarch was found the Iron Cross, second class, with the name "Sergeant August Stiefthaler," engraved on the back. Police identified the medal as one worn by the veteran when last seen seven years ago. The police now are convinced Stiefthaler committed suicide. During the estimated 25 years of its life the fish had feasted on two unopened tins of sardines, vanity case containing powder puff and $5 in Holland coins, two packs of German cigarettes, and more than a dozen fish hooks.

HEAVY DAMAGE IN CLOUDBURSTS

Farmers Suffer Heavy Losses From Floods Over Two States.

WATERS RECEDING.

KANSAS CITY, April 11 (Associated Press). — Oklahoma and Southern Kansas streams, the overflowing of which the past few days caused the loss of 17 lives and great damage to growing crops, appeared last night to have concluded their orgy of destruction. Reports from affected sections told of receding waters, of rivers returning to their banks and of cessation of rain, with a warm sun shining.

The Verdigris River at Independence, Kansas, which spreads out over thousands of acres of wheat lands, was falling, as was the Neosho River at Parsons. From North-eastern Oklahoma, into which these two streams flow, came reports of overflows into lowlands, but the crest of the flood was believed reached with little further anxiety felt.

At Chicassa, in Southern Oklahoma, the Washita River, which on Saturday fell more than a foot, had risen again yesterday when the waters from the swollen Kansas rivers came downstream.

Damages Crops.

No further overflow was anticipated, however. The subsiding water from the lowlands left a muddy deposit, severely damaging early spring crops.

Bottom land farmers in South-eastern Kansas, many of them forced to flee on short notice from the rising waters, leaving their livestock to its fate, yesterday were sadly contemplating the future. Many expressed the opinion that only a meagre wheat crop will be possible from the thousands of acres of growing grain which have been under wate the last two days.

No estimates of the total crop damage were available last night.

SAYS AMERICANS RESPONSIBLE

Former British Envoy Charges American Missions With Spreading Propaganda.

PRESS REPLIES.

LONDON, April 11 (Associated Press). — The action of Sir Auckland Geddes, former British Ambassador to the United States, in breaking his long political silence Saturday night with a speech in which he declared that streams of anti-British propaganda in China came from many American mission and hospital centres, promises to make a first class sensation here.

The Westminster Gazette, in an editorial which will appear to-day, calls for an explanation and apology from Sir Auckland and says that it should be the Government's duty to find some way of repudiating Sir Auckland and his "callous and mischievous utterance."

"Nothing more flagrant in the way of political indiscretion has been perpetrated for many years," the paper will say, "than Sir Auckland's suggestion that anti-English feeling in China is partly due to American influence."

Protesting that such official positions as Sir Auckland ever held "alone through the curious incidents of war time which pitchforked the two Geddes brothers into a round of grandiose office without any corresponding political authority," the Westminster Gazette concludes, "this outrage on American sentiment will be universally reprobated here and we are sure that all responsible and instructed opinion in the United States will be quick to grasp the fact that Sir Auckland is a politician of no consequence on the permanently retired shelf."

ROBB OPPOSES CHANGE IN BILL

Will Not Accept Senate Alterations Until Cost is Known.

SPEAKS FOR CITIZENS.

OTTAWA, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, announced in the House of Commons Saturday that until he was assured as to what would be the cost to the country by the changes to the Civil Servants' Superanuation Act agreed to by the Senate Banking Committee Friday, he would not consent to the change being adopted by the House. The civil servants were evidently not satisfied with the salary increases granted, and he thought it was time some one should speak on behalf of the taxpayers of Canada.

POWERS REJECT FRENCH PROPOSALS

Britain and Italy Refuse Arms Limitation By Categories.

GENEVA, April 11 (Canadian Press).—French proposals regarding the limitation of naval armaments, providing for limitation by categories of warships instead of by total tonnage, were flatly rejected by Viscount Cecil of Great Britain and Signor de Marinis of Italy at the preliminary disarmament meeting here to-day. The French proposal was approved by the Argentine and Chilean delegates.

Hugh Gibson of the United States said the total tonnage system was favored by his Government as the best and fairest method.

SOVIET PREMIER NAMES NATIONS AS IMPERIALIST

Says Britain and Italy Have Insulted Russia in China.

RAIDS INSPIRED.

Single Hand Behind Attacks of Chinese Leaders on Soviet.

MOSCOW, April 11. — (United Press).—While 3,000 Russians cheered his remarks, Premier Alexey I. Rykov on Sunday named Great Britain and Italy as among the "Imperialistic nations," which insulted Soviet Russia in China.

Rykov made his charges in an address to delegates and alternates to the Provincial Congress of Soviet representatives from all parts of Russia. He pointed to instances where he said other foreign diplomatic missions in China had sheltered undesirables to one or the other of the Chinese parties and defended the activities of the Russian diplomats in that country.

"Raids against the Soviet have occurred in several parts of China," he declared, "where various Chinese Governments have been in control." There has been a single hand organizing the attacks. We have to deal with a unified plan which could not have been carried out by the Peking Government but which was under the leadership of some Imperialistic states.

No Ultimatum in Note.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (Canadian Press).—It is understood here that the five-power note handed to the Cantonese to-day, while brief and strongly worded, contains no ultimatum. The communication is believed to leave the powers free to take such steps as they may find necessary in event the demands are refused.

The demands, as given out by the Chinese authorities, were punishment of the commanders and troops responsible for the killing and wounding of foreigners at Nanking, for subjecting others to indignities, and for material damage done, a written apology by the Cantonese Commander-in-Chief, and a formal promise to abstain from further violence against foreigners, full reparation for injuries and damages.

The powers warned that unless the Cantonese prove their intention to comply without delay they would be compelled to take such steps as they considered necessary.

The note was formally delivered to General Pei Tsung Hsi, acting for General Chiang Kai Shek, and also to Eugene Chen, Cantonese Foreign Minister at Hankow. General Pei would not discuss the note officially, but remarked that it failed to suggest a means by which guilt would be fixed. He thought the outrages might be investigated by a joint committee to determine the guilty parties and the nature of punishment necessary.

Embassy Raid Discussed.

LONDON, April 11 (Canadian Press).—Sir Austen Chamberlain, in the House of Commons to-day, reviewed the circumstances of last week's raid on buildings connected with the Soviet Embassy in Peking. The Foreign Secretary said diplomatic advices received from Peking reported that the documents seized in the raid included a list of 4,000 agents in Peking who were ready to stir up trouble and commit acts of violence at any time.

The privilege of issuing these certificates has been obtained for the Motor League through the efforts of W. D. Euler, Minister of Customs, and the Motor League has made itself responsible for seeing that the privilege is not abused.

Paris Bachelors Pay Tax Rather Than Face Altar

PARIS, April 11.—Bachelors are steadily increasing in France. The French government in 1920 decreed that bachelors above 30 years old should pay a super income tax of 25 per cent. France at that time numbered 90,000 bachelors liable to income tax, but apparently they prefer the known evil of the tax collector to the unknown terrors of matrimony, for their number has increased, until last fiscal year it reached the total of more than 260,000.

FAIR BOARD IS AT WORK

Members Take Pick and Shovel and Scraper in Hand at Grounds.

WIDEN TRACK.

From water carrier to foreman, the Directors of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition were to-day giving practical evidence of their worthiness to hold their positions. A visit to the exhibition grounds disclosed a working gang busy on the race track.

There was Art Blade, a modern Ben Hur, driving a dangerous-looking team hitched to a scraper. He was widening the track.

Over in the main grounds was Roland Denne, wholly engrossed in the tedious and mundane task of burning off the grass to beautify the grounds.

Busily engaged on the edge of the track pulling out posts were Doug. Hammond and Jim Lundy, and they assured any inquisitive persons that they needed neither horse nor chains to assist in the task. Stric g near these super-men was Jack Gillespie, and thought he was constantly being asked by Norm. Henry and Harry Dickin, if this was the First of May he paid no attention but went on with his pail, with the re-assuring remark that "coffee" would be served by Hooper's at the lunch hour.

This is all voluntary work. It will probably take three or four days to complete the task and many requests have been sent out for more teams and men to assist in the bee.

Every little bit helps in keeping Peterboro Exhibition at the top of the Central Ontario annual fair.

CANTON FORCES FALLING BACK FROM YANGSTE

Despatch Says Military Successes of Reorganized Northern Forces Continue.

PREPARE NOTE.

Large Detachment of Nationalists Join Banner of General Sun.

LONDON, April 11 (Canadian Press).—All reports from China today agreed that the Cantonese armies which recently captured strategic positions from the Northern forces now have suffered reverses and are in retreat at some places. An Exchange Telegraph Company despatch says the Cantonese have evacuated Chink-Iang on the southern bank of the Yangtze, forty miles east of Nanking and are in disorderly retreat in the direction of Shanghai.

Reports are conflicting and seem to show that little is actually known. One sensational account tells of the advance of a hundred thousand Northern troops and of twenty thousand casualties among the Cantonese, adding that the remnants of the Nationalist forces are fleeing in panic.

Other reports are much milder and qualified by uncertain language.

Sir Percival Phillips cables The Daily Mail that, judged by Western standards, the defeat of the Cantonese should not be a serious blow, but the effect may be disastrous, as the Cantonese had come to regard themselves as supermen, able to surmount every obstacle.

Note Presented

SHANGHAI, April 11 (Canadian Press)—The five-Power note against the Nanking outrages was presented simultaneously this afternoon to the Cantonese Government at Hankow and the representative at Shanghai of General Chiang Kai-Shek, the Cantonese military leader. The presentation was made jointly by the Consul-Generals of Great Britain, United States, Japan, France and Italy.

ERECT DEFENCES.

SHANGHAI, April 11.—(A.P.) — A naval wireless message from Hankow dated April 8 says the Japanese were then erecting strong defences around the concession and had mobilized their volunteers.

A meeting of the military authorities and the political bureau of the Nationalist government was held to discuss the question of what should be done regarding the Japanese concession. The result of the meeting, the message said was unknown. The political bureau is reported to be in favor of taking the concession by force, but the militarists are said to be adverse to such action.

Reports of an advance by the northerners in Honan Province have not yet been confirmed. T he northern forces, it is said, are still at Sinyachow.

SHANGHAI, April 11. —(A.P.) — The military successes of the re-organized northern forces under General Chuan Fang continues, advices reaching here say.

A wireless despatch from Chinkiang, dated April 9, says General Sun's troops in their successful drive have reached three points on the north bank of the Yangtse River opposite Chinkiang.

While the northerners have not yet crossed the river, the Nationalists are already falling back from Chinkiang along the railway to Changchow and Nanking.

The fact that there are no troop movements across the river indicates that all the Nationalists who were in this area are now south of the Yangtse.

Retreat From Fukow.

A wireless from Nanking says there are signs that the Nationalists are withdrawing from Fukow as many junks full of soldiers are continually crossing the river toward Nanking.

In the fighting north of the Yangtse, General Sun's troops decisively defeated a brigade of northerners, the wireless relates, and a general and 400 men escaped across the river to Chinkiang. Three generals and between 4,000 and 5,000 soldiers crossed the river to the north bank Saturday morning, it is said, and deserted to the northerners.

Present Separate Notes.

LONDON, April 11. — (Canadian Press.) — It was learned in official quarters last night that formalities have been completed and that the five powers expected to present separate but identical notes of protest regarding the Nanking outrages in Peking early in the week.

No time limit is set and the question of sanctions is left for future consideration if necessary. It is believed, however, that since France and Italy have joined in the protest demonstrating the complete unity of the treaty powers. The occasion for sanction will not arise and that this proof of the solidarity of the powers will impress the Cantonese authorities to realise their responsibilities.

OLD LANDMARK IN MARMORA IS SWEPT BY FIRE

Flames Destroy Plant of Vegetable Oil and Soap Company.

WAS FIRST SCHOOL

Older Residents of Village Received Their Education There.

MARMORA, April 11.—As the result of an early morning fire of unknown origin which completely gutted the plant of the Vegetable Oil and Soap Company here Sunday, the oldest building in Marmora is in ruins.

The structure used by the company for five or six years as a soap factory was Marmora's first school, and many of the village's oldest residents received their education within its walls. Subsequently the building was used in several capacities, as a store and as a boarding-house.

The fire was discovered about 4.30 Sunday morning by Mike Couri, who lives nearby. He gave the alarm, and the chemical engines responded quickly, only to have the fire fighters find that the blaze had made such headway that nothing could be done to stay its progress. A warehouse nearby was threatened, but was saved.

The Vegetable Oil and Soap Company factory was operated by W. F. Bowen and employed five or six hands. The plant was completely destroyed.

No statement has yet been made as to whether the company will resume operations here, nor are figures as to the loss or insurance available.

MARMORA PERSONALS.

KEMPTVILLE, April 11. — (Canadian Press).—Strangled to death by his coat, which caught in the machine he was operating and was wound tightly about his body, William Brown, 76, pump manufacturer, was found dead in his shop Saturday afternoon. The discovery was made by his wife, who found her husband standing upright lashed to the machine which had brought about his death. No inquest will be held.

GOVERNOR SMITH STATES POSITION

Documents Regarding Reconciliation of Church and State To Be Published.

ANSWERS LETTER.

NEW YORK, April 11. — (United Press).—Governor Al Smith's statement on "Faith," in reply to a request for a reconciliation of his Roman Catholic Church membership with the position he would occupy if he were elected President of the United States, Saturday was in the hands of the Atlantic Monthly, to be published April 25.

It is an important document which political observers believed will have a pronounced effect on the 1928 presidental campaign.

Ellery Sedgwick, managing editor of the magazine, was quoted as having said, "It reads like a presidental message."

The statement was a reply to an open letter from Charles Marshall, New York attorney, appearing in the current Atlantic Monthly, pointing out what the writer considered to be conflictions between the duties of a Catholic, as expressed in church documents, and the duties of a President. Governor Smith, here, en route to Absecon, N. J., for a vacation, revealed that his statement had been submitted, but declined to comment on it.

MACHINE GUNS USED BY CROOKS IN ELGIN RAID

Heavily-Armed Gang Gets Booty Worth $15,000 in Bold Robbery.

CLEAN GET-AWAY.

Remained Three Hours To Clear Loot From Numerous Safes.

CHICAGO, April 11. — Canadian Press. — Fifteen masked and armed men held up four employees of the Illinois Watch Case Company plant at Elgin, Ill, early yesterday, ransacked the vault and several of the smaller safes, and escaped in four automobiles with gold, the value of which was estimated at $15,000.

Three of the workers were bound and gagged and placed inside the vault. The fourth man was compelled at the point of a revolver, to make his usual rounds and ring call boxes, to prevent the police learning that anything was wrong at the plant.

Remained Three Hours.

The robbers, armed with rifles, machine guns and revolvers, entered the plant at midnight and remained three hours. The engineer, fireman and two watchmen were made captive, after which the robbers using one of the watchmen as a guide went through the large building in which 2000 persons are employed, breaking into several small safes as well as the main vault.

More than two hours passed before the acetylene torches of the safe robbers ate through the inner doors of the vault.

Gene Eppstein, an official of the company, was unable to give an accurate estimate of the amount obtained by the robbers. He said however, that the gold and gold alloy, used in the manufacture of watch cases, which was kept in the vault, may have amounted to $100,000 in value, although a partial check made later indicated this estimate to be much too high.

Fired on By Police.

After the robbers had roared away toward Chicago in their automobiles one of the watchmen succeeded in freeing himself and called the Elgin police.

Two hours later a speeding automobile containing three men, was challenged by the police of Melrose, a Chicago suburb, who fired a score of shots when the driver increased his speed and out distanced pursuit. The plant of the Illinois Watch Case Company covers nearly two city blocks.

TRENT RIVER MAN IS BADLY INJURED

Patrick Flynn Hurled To Floor From Hay Binder.

TRENT RIVER, April 11.—A serious accident took place on Saturday to Patrick Flynn on the Campbellford road south of here. The injured man was binding a load of hay, when the binder broke, throwing him with terrific force to the ground. He was able to walk with assistance, but it was feared he had internal injuries. Medical aid was summoned.

MacDonald Says Monarchy Will Not Be Disturbed

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 11.—(United Press).—The Prince of Wales is assured of his job under any future Socialist or Labor Government in England headed by James Ramsay MacDonald, the former Prime Minister of Britain declares in a trans-Atlantic telephone interview to appear in Collier's Weekly, April 18.

MacDonald said the old institutions of government in England cannot be disturbed as they have served a useful purpose. He admitted he was a Monarchist as well as being the acknowledged Socialist leader in Great Britain. A visit to America will be made by MacDonald. He will arrive here Good Friday, and will remain ten days, visiting historical places.

HAVELOCK MANSE DAMAGED BY FIRE

Sparks From Chimney Fire Ignite Roof—Brigade Saves Building.

HAVELOCK, April 11—Fanned by a high north wind, sparks from a chimney fire in the Presbyterian manse here started a fire which threatened to destroy the building; in fact only the prompt arrival of the fire brigade with the chemical engine saved the house.

The fire started in the furnace pipes about 4:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The chimney is on the north side of the house, so the wind carried the sparks directly on to the roof, as well as starting a fire in the grass around the house.

Some new boards and shingles for the roof will suffice to repair all the damage done by the flames.

HOPES FOR ACTION WATERWAY ROUTE

Secretary of State Still Pursuing All-American Route Report.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (Canadian Press). — Secretary of State Kellogg hopes to be ready to take some action in connection with the proposed St. Lawrence waterway project within the next few weeks, although he has not yet decided just how the matter will be brought to the attention of the Canadian Government.

He is continuing with Secretary of Commerce Hoover his study of the report by a commission headed by the Commerce Secretary which favored the St. Lawrence waterway over the proposed all-American route.

It is stressed at the Department, however, that Mr. Kellogg's examination of the report has not sufficiently progressed for him to make an appointment with the president on the proposed communication with the Canadian Government.

A. L. KILLALY IS PRESIDENT OF THE ROTARIANS

Election Is Announced At To-day's Meeting of Club.

A FINE PAPER.

Rotarian Barns Discusses Problem of Engineering Education.

Rotarian A. L. Killaly is to be president and Rotarian Andrew Brown, vice-president of the Peterborough Rotary Club for the next year, it was announced at to-day's luncheon, the intimation that the directors had made these selections being imparted to the members by Past President J. H. Seels, who occupied the chair in the absence of President C. H. Rogers. President-Elect Killaly will be installed at next Monday's luncheon.

Rotarian Thos. H. Barrie was present to-day for the first time since his serious illness, and he was given a hearty welcome.

Among the visitors was Rotarian R. B. Morley, of Toronto, who is to address the local branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to-night.

The speaker to-day was Rotarian Lee Barns, who gave a most interesting and well-prepared paper on the subject, "Engineering Education." Rotarian Barns stressed the fact that more and more big firms were selecting their executives from men who had received engineering training and pointed out that an engineering education was a good general education. The growth in facilities for such education was indicated by the fact that there are now some 140 colleges on this continent giving such training, and some 40 different branches of engineering received attention.

Rotarian Barns quoted the recommendation of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education as to what should be aimed at in the training given engineers, and called attention to the necessity of more attention being paid to the many young men who were unable to take the full course, but who desired a quicker and more intensive training that would be of service to them in the occupations they proposed to follow.

Past President Seels expressed the thanks of the club to the speaker for his fine paper.

Tiny Stages Advertise Civic Opera Of Berlin

BERLIN, April 11. — (A.P.)— The city of Berlin is proud of the stage settings provided for performances of notable works at its civic opera and is turning them to advertising advantage. In one of the windows of the large city information bureau which the municipality maintains near Potsdamer platz some especially good sets are reproduced in miniature. The brilliantly illuminated tiny stages with diminutive reproductions of the setting all in place inevitably attract the eye of the passerby. A lilliputian figure or two of characters from the opera being advertised add realism to the scene.

WIRES DICTATOR FIRE ACCIDENTAL

Italian Consul Investigates Destruction of Pinedo's Plane.

YOUTH ABSOLVED.

LOS ANGELES, April 11. Canadian Press. — The youth who threw the match on the oil-covered waters of the Roosevelt dam, Arizona, causing the burning of the Santa Maria, the Commander Francesco de Pinedo's four-continent airplane, has been absolved of having ulterior motives by an official report made public by Alberta Gradenigo, Italian vice-consul here.

"The destruction of the plane was unfortunate but was not due to any plot against either De Pinedo or the Italian government," the vice-consul said after an investigation. He said he was telegraphing Premier Mussolini that it was an accident.

FISHING SCHOONER DESTROYED BY FIRE

Part of Crew Still Missing—Twelve Missing.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 11, Canadian Press. — The Gloucester fishing schooner Commonwealth was burned to the water's edge last Friday night, 58 miles south south-west of Shelburne, and 12 of her crew were still missing last night. Captain Watts and 8 men were landed at Shelburne last night from the schooner Elizabeth Parker, which picked them up shortly after they left the blazing Commonwealth, but three dories containing 12 men have not been accounted for.

The news came to Halifax last night by telephone to C. H. Harvey, local agent for the Department of Marine and Fisheries, who has asked the department at Ottawa to send the steamer Arleux, now at Digby, to search for the missing men. The consul general for the United States here has also communicated with the United States Cutter Tampa, now on ice patrol, suggesting that it take up the search.

OLD MASTERS

How do I love thee? Let me count the ways
I love thee to the depth and breadth and height
My soul can reach, when feeling out of sight
For the ends of Being and ideal Grace.
I love thee to the level of everyday's
Most quiet need, by the sun and candle light.
I love thee freely, as men strive for Right;
I love thee purely, as they turn from Praise.
I love thee with the passion put to use
In my old griefs, and with my childhood's faith.
I love thee with a love I seemed to lose
With my lost saints—I love thee with the breath,
Smiles, tears, of all my life!—and, if God choose,
I shall but love thee better after death.
—Elizabeth Barrett Browning: From "Sonnets From the Portuguese."

BRAINS NEEDED BY PREVENTIVE CUSTOMS FORCE

Ten Expert Men Better Than Untrained Army, Says Sparks.

JAIL FOR SMUGGLERS.

Protective Association Man Would Close Many Ports of Entry.

TORONTO, April 11 (Canadian Press).—What the preventive service needs is brains and not brawn, declared R. F. Sparks, president of the Commercial Protective Association, who testified at length before the Customs Commission this morning. Ten expert men, he believed, could do more to solve the problems of smuggling than an army of untrained officers. Mr. Sparks presented a number of specific suggestions designed to eliminate smuggling.

He suggested that certain roads crossing the boundary line be specifically designated for international traffic. He pointed out there were sixty roads crossing the international boundary line in Quebec.

The efforts of his organization were not directed against petty smuggling, but "the man who under cover of darkness brings in a truckload of silk is a criminal."

The real deterrent was a jail sentence, not a fine, he said.

"What you recommend is rigid, swift, impartial enforcement of the law," interjected Chief Commissioner Brown at one point.

"Yes," replied the witness.

He gave it as his opinion that the present system of appraisal was quite unsatisfactory and that in many cases it did not function at all.

He recommended that a large number of Canada's 681 ports of entry be closed.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

WHEN SCHOOL LETS OUT

When school lets out, with laugh and shout
The children turn to play,
For work is through, the whole world new,
When books are put away.
The work was hard, but afterward
The fun is twice the fun,
The rod and rule and things in school
Forgot when school is done.

Yet foolish men come home again
From bank or mill or store,
And all their wrong they bring along
And make their burden more.
Their work is through, the whole world new,
And yet at night they turn
With heavy hearts, when day departs,
To where their candles burn.

Oh, shut the till and leave the mill
And put the books away,
Your work is through, the whole world new,
And now it's time to play.
You'll make more gold, you'll grow less old,
Do better work, no doubt,
If now and then you laugh again
And play when school lets out.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : Peter's Denial of Christ

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

Then Judas came into the garden with a great multitude of men and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees—enemies of Jesus. They carried torches and were armed with swords, stones and other weapons. (Matthew XXVI : 47)

By a prearranged sign, Judas said, "Hail, Master," and kissed Jesus, betraying Him to those who sought to arrest Him. (Matthew XXVI : 48-49)

Peter drew his sword and cut off the ear of the servant of the high priest, but Jesus rebuked him, and healed the wounded man. (John XVIII : 10-11)

The enemies of Jesus then seized Him, as His disciples fled. Bound, Christ was taken first to Annas, who was the father-in-law of Caiaphas the high priest, and then to Caiaphas. (John XVIII : 12-13)

BRIDE AND GROOM RECEIVE SHOWER

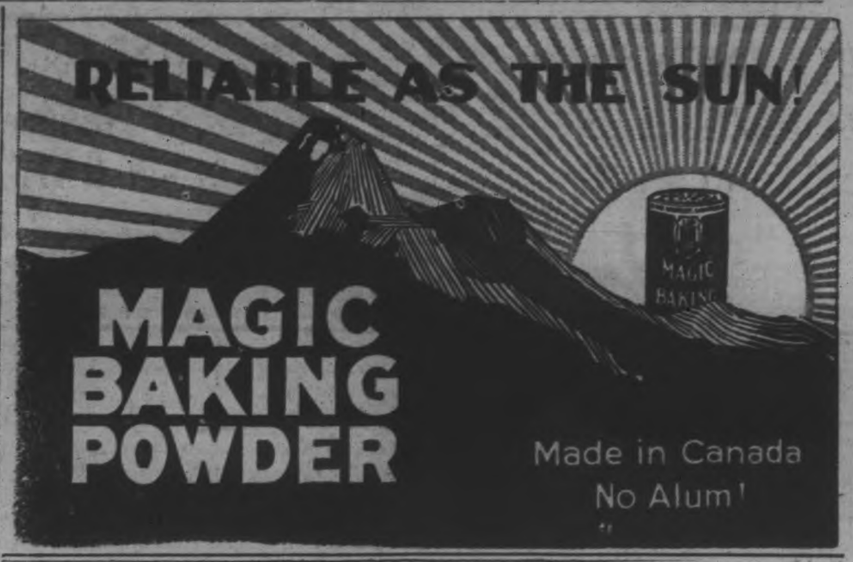
Friends Gather at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Fee.

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 11.—A very pleasant surprise, in the form of a miscellaneous shower, was prepared on Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Newton Fee, in honor of their recent marriage. About eighty neighbors and friends gathered at the home of the groom at Mount Pleasant to enjoy a social evening with Mr. and Mrs. Fee and to welcome Mrs. Fee (formerly Jean Ester Lee) of Peterborough, to the community.

Owing to the unsatisfactory state of the roads the hour was somewhat advanced before all arrived, and a number who had planned to be present were prevented from attending. The guests were received by the groom's mother, assisted by Mrs. Beatty Fee, who welcomed the guests and did everything in their power to make the evening as pleasant as possible.

Music was furnished by Thomas McBride and Walter Magee, and dancing for those who wished. This, along with social converse, made the time pass happily.

Many useful and valuable gifts were received. Refreshments were served at the midnight hour, after which dancing was resumed and it was well into the morning hours before the last car load of guests left for home.



DEDHAM, Mass., April 11.—(Canadian Press).—Sentence of death in the electric chair in the week of July 10 was imposed Saturday upon Nicola Sacca and Bartoleo Vanzetti, whose fight for two trials after their conviction for murder in the first degree in 1921 has aroused interest in many countries. TWEED PLAYERS GIVEN SWEATERS

Rev. H. N. Taylor, of Toronto, Preaches in Christ Church.

TWEED, April 11. — Tweed hockey players, winners of the Tummon-Embury cup and champions of the Hastings County league, were presented with sweater coats at a meeting in the opera house, which has been unprecedented in the sporting element of the town. L. W. Martin acted as chairman.

Thomas Beatty, manager of the local team, and also president of the league, was called to the platform, and was presented with a sweater coat by W. S. Gordon. Bert Houston and Max Geraldi were next called upon and James Ryan presented them with sweater coats. He remarked that Bert had been associated with sports for some time and was one of their best players; as for Max he was becoming better as he grew older.

John Quinn was then called to present a sweater to Coach Ralph McGuire, who has surely been a splendid help to the boys.

Reeve S. B. Rollins then presented Alex. Geraldi with his sweater coat. John Houston was asked to make the presentation to Messrs. Minorgan and Ray Quinn. Napoleon King presented Thomas Breen and Bruce Hansford with their sweater coats. Bruce is a junior player, and played splendid hockey during the season. Alexander Yule, manager of the Bank of Montreal, was called upon to present Hubert Wagar with his sweater coat.

S. G. Way, who had been out of town, arrived at the hall at this time and was asked to make the presentation to Clarke Brown.

Harry Rollins made the presentation to George and Fred Geraldi.

Owing to the absence of Mascot Clayton Lobb, his sweater was handed to Manager Beatty for delivery.

Mr. Hindle presided at the piano, and all joined in singing the old time favorites.

It was moved by Reeve Rollins that a vote of thanks be tendered to James Quinn, who so generously gave the use of the hall for the occasion. This was seconded by W. S. Gordon.

INSPIRING SERMONS AT CAMPBELLFORD

Presentation Made To Champions of Hastings League.

CAMPBELFLORD, April 11.—Rev. H. N. Taylor, of St. Simon's church, Toronto, preached two excellent sermons on Sunday in Christ church. In the morning the speaker took his theme from 1st Corinthians, 1:23, "But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumbling block, and unto the Greeks foolishness;" also from Galatians, 5:11, "And I, brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why do I suffer persecution, then is the offence of the cross ceased."

In the evening, Rev. Mr. Taylor took his text from Hebrews, 4:15, "In all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin." The speaker brought out the fact that professed Christians believe in Christ as the perfect God and many times deceive themselves with the excuse of temptations that are too great to withstand. It is then that they should remember that God also was tempted. The sinlessness of Christ is the most wonderful achievement ever attained by man, won by the unswerving obedience to God. Christ was tempted many times to avoid the way of the corss, and just so when Christians are often tempted to avoid their crosses, they must remember He was victorious and this will be the means of bringing Christ nearer to mankind and making brotherhood real. Even after the crucifiion, when Christ was taunted to come down from the cross, He steeled himself to avoid temptation and in that way proved to the world His divine power.

YOUNG DEBATERS ARGUE ON SCHOOLS

Discuss Advisability of Township Boards in Ontario.

DOWNEYVILLE, April 11.—On Friday evening a very interesting debate was held here in the hall. The topic was, "Resolved that Premier Ferguson's Plan to Establish a Township School Board should be Adopted." The affirmative was ably upheld by Messrs. William O'Neill and Frank Harrington, while Messrs. Angus Twomey and Joseph Corbett upheld the negative side. It was admitted by all present that the discussion by these young debaters was hard to beat. In their search for facts on the subject they showed themselves capable investigators.

Rev. Father Galvin acted as chairman, while the five teachers of the parish acted as judges. Miss Mary Cavanagh, High School teacher, announced the decision in favor of the negative, who won by two points. The judges were the Misses Mary Cavanagh, Ruby Perdue, Anna Murray, Viola Herlihey and Mollie Duffy.

A musical programme was given as follows: The Misses Fanny and Regina Costello, instrumental duet; Miss Mary Winn, song; and Mr. Angus Twomey took the house by storm with his two songs, which included a number of local hits, and were enjoyed by all. The hall was crowded, and everybody considered it a profitable and pleasant evening.

C.W.L. Shamrock Quilt.

The Catholic Women's League has been working on a shamrock quilt for some time, and have it completed. Forty-five members of the C.W.L. competed in a sewing contest by each making a block, the prizes for neatest work being awarded to Mrs. John C. Lucas. Last Wednesday Miss Delphina Piggott held a quilting bee at her home, when the quilt was finished, after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostess, at which Rev. Father Galvin was the guest of honor. The quilt will be disposed of in the near future.

PROVED!

200,000 Canadian Motorists Tried Marvelube in its First Year—Recognized its Quality—Now Use it regularly.

ONE year ago, Marvelube Motor Oil, backed by the highest claims ever made for a lubricating oil, was introduced to the Canadian motoring public.

At that time Marvelube was a new and—to the motorists of Canada—an untried motor oil.

Today, after one year of use, during which it has established lubricating records which now make our original claims seem conservative, Marvelube is the outstanding—and the most called for—brand of Motor Oil in the entire Dominion.

More than 200,000 motorists today use Marvelube regularly and exclusively—after having convinced themselves that it is superior, on every basis of comparison, to any other oil they might use.

The mass judgment of these 200,000 Canadian motorists offers more convincing proof of Marvelube's lubricating qualities than any claim we might make. It is based on 200,000 careful tests by impartial users who were interested in one thing—and one thing only—satisfactory operation and dependable lubrication.

The favorable verdict of this vast army of satisfied Marvelube users is your safe guide to the improved operation, better satisfaction and lower upkeep which the use of this matchless oil ensures.

. . . VOICE OF THE LOWLY AND OPPRESSED . . . ADVOCATE OF THE FRIENDLESS . . . RIGHTER OF PUBLIC AND PRIVATE WRONGS.

THE BENEFIT OF THE DOUBT.

The administration of the pension regulations was under fire in the House of Commons last week, the criticism of many members being directed at what they believed to be an inclination on the part of the Board of License Commissioners to interpret too rigidly the regulations laid down for their direction.

As The Examiner senses the opinion of most Canadians on this point, they are anxious that full justice should be done to every soldier who is suffering as a result of his war experiences.

They expect the Pensions Board to deal with the claims of veterans not in the spirit of a body seeking to prove how much money they can save but with sympathetic consideration, and following the principle that where a doubt exists the veteran might well be given the benefit of that doubt.

To put the onus of proof that his disability is the result of war service upon the soldier himself is a system that does not appeal to most people as dealing with disabled veterans in the manner that a grateful country should treat men who are war victims.

There was no haggling as to pay on the part of these men when the country called upon them to serve; there should be none now when they are asking for just treatment.

THE WRONG IDEA.

The suggestion is offered in Belleville that so far as that city is concerned the Diamond Jubilee should be celebrated at some other time than on July 1st, the theory being that were Belleville's demonstration to be held on another date many outsiders would be attracted.

Surely such a proposal is getting a long piece away from the idea of a national celebration of Canada's sixtieth anniversary.

The essence of the whole event is that in every centre throughout the country there should be simultaneous observance of the jubilee; if communities are to choose their own dates for the celebration much of the effect would be sacrificed.

And there is a mercenary side to the Belleville suggestion that does not fit in with the general conception of the occasion.

The Diamond Jubilee celebration is not a money-making affair; it is designed to give Canadians generally a chance to show to the world their faith in their country their pride in the progress that has been made since Confederation, and their gratitude to the statesmen whose vision made the Dominion as we know it today possible.

If it were only to be an occasion for communities to vie with each other as to which could get the most out of the thing financially, we'd be better to wash our hands of the whole affair.

HAVE A HEART SATURDAY.

The tag day to be held here on Saturday to secure funds for the carrying on of the work of the Peterborough Humane Society should be viewed in the right light.

There are, of course, citizens who like to think of themselves as "hard-boiled," who are inclined to belittle such work, but if the proposition is put fairly up to them there is not a man back of them who would not cheerfully dig down in his pocket to help save a lamed horse or take care of a half-starved outcast of a dog.

That's all the tag day amounts to: just asking the people of Peterborough to contribute a few cents each to keep dumb animals from suffering.

The work is well worth while.

Doubtless most of you have sometime in your life found a whining, shivering, under-nourished mongrel pup on your doorstep that you took in and warmed and fed.

Because you saw it suffering the milk of human kindness in you did the rest.

There are many instances of animals suffering that you don't know about, but where the Humane Society is able to extend a helping hand; isn't that worth assisting in to the extent at least of a few silver coins once a year?

If you "have a heart" on Saturday the Humane Society will be in a position to take good care of suffering animals; invest a trifle in this humanitarian endeavour.

SERVICE IS NEEDED.

Those who think that Peterborough can get along without adequate transportation facilities are surely not keeping either their eyes or their ears open these days.

Residents in the centre of the city and automobile owners perhaps do not suffer much inconvenience, but it is a different story with those who live away from the business sections.

Well over a million people were carried by the Peterborough street railway cars and buses last year—a figure that indicates that the percentage of citizens suffering inconvenience from the present situation must be indeed large.

While all credit must be given to the private bus company now operating for its efforts to provide a service, it is a physical impossibility with the equipment it has now in commission to provide the accommodation that is essential.

When industrial workers are being taken care of the service elsewhere naturally suffers.

The effect on business cannot be overlooked.

If it merely meant the transference of some of the trade from down-town merchants to neighborhood stores that would not make much difference—except to the down-town merchants—but there is reason to fear that the lack of transportation service may result in larger business being done with mail order houses—and there is far too much of that as it is.

The sooner some solution of the problem is found the better.

THE SPEAKER ON SPEECHES.

(Mr. Speaker Lemieux as Reported in Hansard.)

As to the duration of the session, I believe we shall have made immense progress by agreeing to reduce the length of speeches to 40 minutes. Let me recall some of my own experience. In the old days, before 1900, it was the fashion to deliver long orations, and the best among our parliamentarians were in the habit of speaking for two or three hours. Tupper and even Laurier, but in a lesser degree, would deliver long speeches. Blake delivered very long speeches. His speech in the early eighties against the Canadian Pacific Railway contract I think lasted for five or six hours. That was accepted in those days. But in this respect there has been a change in England as well as in Canada. It would not surprise members of the House if I were to say that the great Gladstone would be out of place in the House of Commons now. Public affairs are now managed by the British Parliament as if it were a board composed of business men, with the directors sitting at the table and the shareholders around them.

On one occasion after the war, in 1920, I happened to be in the House of Commons, and the proceedings were most interesting to me. Asquith had been elected for one of the Scottish seats, Paisley I think it was. He was introduced on that day, and he gave notice of a motion to consider the state of Europe after the war. That was surely a big issue. The motion came up the following day by mutual agreement between Lloyd George and Asquith. Asquith spoke for 30 minutes on the state of Europe after the war, and Lloyd George followed and closed the debate in 25 minutes. Surely a member can say all he has to say in less than 40 minutes. I was in favor of making the limit 30 minutes. The best English ever heard in this House was spoken under closure in 20-minute speeches. The speeches were to the point, couched in excellent language, went to the root of the question, and delivered, I may say, with warmth and eloquence for fear of the guillotine. I say to the House, let us be practical. We say that we model our rules upon the English pattern. In England they have reduced materially the length of speeches. They do their business—yes, and they administer the affairs of a great Empire in rather short sessions of the House. Why should we be provincial in this matter? Let us imitate the great mother of parliaments; let us be broad-minded and business-like. The country would thank us for it.

INQUIRIES FOR COURTS?

A Preventive Officer told the Royal Commission on Customs that he had found one case in which an importer had asked the exporter "to cease undervaluation for a time while this Commission was functioning." The remark led Chief Justice Brown to say that this constituted a good reason for making the Commission a permanent body.

The incident is provocative of thought. If the Chairman spoke seriously, the situation is alarming. Are evasion and defiance of the customs and excise laws so general and persistent that continuous inquiry by a Commission is necessary? Cannot the law be enforced and the evils checked by the officials and employees of the department?

Conditions have been revealed by the Commission far beyond the conception of the most confirmed pessimist. Failure to pay sales tax, rum-running, and undervaluation of imports have prevailed more generally than was supposed in this district. The tendency to defeat the purposes of the law has been emphasized by reluctance of witnesses to give the facts. There is something like a conspiracy to beat the Government wherever possible. It required a Royal Commission to bring these things to light; must a Royal Commission continue to do so?

The question is one in which every honest person is interested. The Stratford Beacon-Herald takes the comment of "a man on the street" as illustrating the general anxiety. "I have quit keeping count of the number of times that it is very apparent the law has been broken and no punishment given. What gets me is that very seldom has anything been done about it. There are men who have almost openly bought and sold liquor; there are others who made a living by smuggling goods into the country, and they have been able to keep on going. . . . The trouble is that they don't treat all the people the same. There is law enforcement for some, but not for all. . . . Many irregularities have been shown up, the people know that there are cases where the law has not been kept, and they also know there has been no punishment. . . . It's worse than useless to publicly show where the law has been broken unless it is also shown that the law is nimble enough to punish those who have broken it."

From the public point of view this undoubtedly sizes things up. A Commission may continue its inquiries without stopping, but if there is not some result to show that the law is being enforced, and enforced equally for all delinquents, the whole thing will become a joke.

The Parliamentary Committee presented a number of cases in which prosecution was urged. With an exception or two, the public has not learned that action has been taken. The Royal Commission disclosed cases where prosecution was recommended, but it is still the revelations which stand out for public attention.

The stiffening of the law at the present session of Parliament and the appropriation of a large sum of money to strengthen the personnel of the service should produce results. The people expect this. They have confidence in the new Minister. They realize that there has been a decline in smuggling, but they want the assurance that it is not merely a halt in operations pending the termination of inquiries.

It is the enforcement of the law which will count from now on. A few score of prosecutions at intervals would be more satisfactory to "the man on the street" than a further series of investigations.—The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If all the suggestions that are being made throughout Canada are to be followed, the Dominion will require about six months to celebrate its sixtieth birthday.

The price does not always matter much. For example, liquor permits at $2 each are likely to be in much greater demand than radio licenses which cost only half that sum.

The city fathers will wrestle with the transportation problem again tonight. It is to be hoped that they will not be thrown for the usual total loss.

"Six Bit Critic" is unkind enough to say that the Grads would get a great reception at Ottawa for having taken T. L. Church, M.P., to the coast with them.

The Hydro Commission refuses to quote a price on the gas plant and street railway because it might interfere with the sale of these utilities to a private bidder. The Commission must be contemplating paying somebody to take the street railway off its hands.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 11 (A.P.). — Heavy selling ascribed in part to a leading speculator gave wheat a sharp setback Saturday and indirectly carried down other grain. Bearish world statistics on wheat today were looked for and the selling caught the market devoid of aggressive support. Closing quotations for wheat were weak, 1 1-4c to 2c net lower, with corn 7-8c to 1c to 1 3-8c down; oats 1-8c to 3-8c off, and provisions unchanged to 35c decline.

On the downward swings of the wheat market July and September both tumbled to a new low price record for the crop. Declines were accelerated by the fact that export purchasing of North American Saturday was somewhat slow, amounting to 500,000 bushels or less. The close was at virtually the day's bottom level.

Better weather as well as wheat weakness, affected corn and oats. Cash demand for corn remained inert.

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, April 11 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Sterling demand $4.84 13-16.
Sterling cables $4.85 3-8.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, April 11 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in grain on the Montreal market Saturday was quiet, there being little demand from foreign buyers.

Owing to the weakness in the Chicago future market for corn, spot prices here for cash corn were reduced one cent per bushel. Car lots of American No. 3 Yellow were quoted at 87 1-2c, No. 4 Yellow at 82c, and Sample Corn at 79c per bushel. Canadian Western oats were steady.

Extreme dullness marked the local and export trade in Spring and Winter wheat grades of flour, but prices were unchanged.

The demand for all lines of millfeed continued good and values ruled steady. A steady feeling prevailed in the market for standard grades of rolled oats, but the demand was quiet.

A fair trade was done in eggs and the undertone was steady at the recent declines noted. The receipts were 2,770 cases.

The principal feature of the local butter situation the past week was the decidedly weak feeling that prevailed in the market and prices scored declines amounting to 6 cents per pound. This was attributed to the increased production. The volume of business transacted was fair. The receipts Saturday were 336 packages.

The trade in cheese continued extremely dull, but values were steady. The receipts were 284 boxes.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Henry Ford the other day brought up again the question of capital punishment. He is opposed to it because nobody is willing himself to kill a man.

He also thinks that killing certainly does the man no good. It doesn't reform him, and he doubts whether it does society any good.

When a man reaches the point where he wants to kill another man he doesn't care whether he himself gets killed.

This thing of inflicting the extreme penalty upon a man is a practical one. It is not based upon consideration for the man, but upon regard for society. It is supposed to deter others from serious crimes.

Opponents of capital punishment say that as a matter of deterrent it does no good. They bring statistics to support this argument and claim that the more severe punishments are the wider is the spread of crime. Those in favor of capital punishment deny this.

About the worst thing that could happen to most men is to lose life. People who are afraid of nothing else fear death.

In its effort to protect human life, society uses the old argument of fear and claims that people will be prevented from killing others best of all by being in danger of being killed themselves.

It is all a piece with the whole fear argument. Time was when men were supposed to be made better by the fear of hell and youth is supposed to be kept in check by the fear of their evil deeds in later life.

Both of these motives are insufficient. People are willing to take a risk for the sake of the fun or profit involved, in fact people risk their lives more willingly than anything else.

A man will risk his life where he will not risk his property.

Thousands of people in France rushed gaily to the Army to risk their lives, but it was very hard to get them to come forward to risk their property to save the falling franc.

If we want to stop crime the thing to do is to remedy the conditions that make crime and not merely indulge in the vengeance of killing.

Killing is vengeance only. It is not punishment.

The argument against imprisonment for life has its chief support in the fact that by and by the prisoner will be pardoned by the Governor. Take this pardoning power away from the Governor for the present and lodge it in a board selected by the courts. Have all pardons issued by this board and relieve the Governor of the pressure that is brought on him to issue pardons.

In this way imprisonment for life will be made surer and one will not receive a pardon unless he is properly entitled to it.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

EDNA, DO YOU MEAN IT?

If the regime of prohibition continues to spread, food will be the next thing banned, Edna Ferber told a Yale audience the other night. Well, maybe that's the only way we'll ever get around to home cooking again. . . . The ban on food would just suit some of the ladies who have quit eating, anyhow . . . Maybe if some people had to take their soup in a speak-easy they'd not be so boisterous about it. . . . It is high time something were done about the men who go around overfeeding their vests. . . . If food prohibition does come, the sheiks can forget their hip flasks and start stringing their belts with doughnuts.

Those Winning Smiles

which mean so much . . . commercially, socially, are gained a new way by removing DINGY FILM from teeth

Don't believe your teeth are "naturally" dull. Just accept this 10-day test. See how dazzling white teeth and healthy gums come when film coats go.

HERE is a simple test that proves the truth of the recent dental statement that dull, "off-color" teeth can be lightened amazingly, given dazzling whiteness.

By right daily care you can work a great change in the color of your teeth. Can give them clear and charming gleam.

There is a new way in tooth and gum care. A way that removes the dingy film that clouds your teeth. A film that absorbs discolorations and keeps teeth dingy looking.

Just run your tongue across your teeth. And you will feel that film. It is the great enemy of pretty teeth and healthy gums.

It clings to the teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It forms a breeding place for germs. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack, your teeth open to decay. Those germs, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Old-time methods failed in successfully fighting film. So ugly teeth were common. You must remove it. Ordinary brushing won't do it satisfactorily. Under it are the clearer, whiter teeth you envy in others.

Now modern science has perfected an effective film combatant, called Pepsodent. It acts to curdle film, then removes it. It firms and protects gums; beautifies teeth quickly and correctly.

RICKETS AND MINERAL STARVATION

It is appalling to see the number of school children who are suffering from a pernicious starvation because they do not get the proper food elements in their diet.

The other day I gave a continuous lecture for three hours before the different classes of a High School. Starting at nine in the morning I lectured before the first class of over 1500 students, and at the end of forty-five minutes the classes changed and I continued my lecture, discussing another phase of diet. The lecture thus continued all morning so that in the one morning I had the opportunity of observing over 6,000 high-school students.

My judgment of this changing audience was that about two-thirds were starving for food out of which they could make the proper bone and cell structure. The other third were children who were over-weight but still possibly starving for mineral salts.

As the classes filed in and out I could see the bow-legs and knock-knees, the drooping shoulders and enemic, pimply-looking faces, and, as I looked at these children, I realized how little our educational systems are doing in instructing the students in the simplest rules of food chemistry.

These misshapen, sickly-looking high-school students are the result of twelve to fifteen years of wrong dieting. Food cannot impart any more bone-building elements than it contains and, if a child is brought up on a diet of white bread and jam, there is no chance for him to build strong bones.

Mothers who feed their children on such food are responsible when their children develop a condition of acidosis, which is the fundamental cause of all children's diseases. Growing children must be given plenty of foods containing silicon and iron. All of the cooked and raw greens contain these important minerals, without which the child cannot build bone and nerve cells.

Besides selecting the right food, it is important to combine them properly and to eliminate all such acid-producing foods as the white flour products.

To save the coming generations, mothers must be taught these food facts through education from books and from the columns of the progressive newspapers which run a daily column of Health Advice.

SIR HARRY LAUDER.

"I don't mind the stories they tell aboot me," says Sir Harry Lauder, who comes to the Grand Opera House on Wednesday. "Being called stingy is a business asset. Nobody tries to borrow any siller from me.

"There was a steward in Cawnpore, in an English hotel that I had a grand joke with. He carried my bags up to my room. 'Here's yer bags, sir,' he said. 'Ay,' says I, 'and have ye th' change o' a poond note aboot ye?' for ye ken I thocht I had him. 'Oh, aye,' he says, 'an' plenty o' loose siller besides.' 'Then ye'll no be needin' my poor little shillin',' I says. Then he admitted he had been spoofing about his money, and he really needed a wee bit siller for his wife and children back in Old England—and he got it.

"A laddie came to see me one day, and he was bristlin' o'er wi' curiosity to know if I was as stingy as folks wi' have it. 'Are Scots all mean?' he asked. 'Ay, laddie,' I says, 'it's all mean wi' the Scots. They all mean to be rich,' I says. The laddie looked foolish, but that set me to thinking.

"The Scots are not really mean. Once there was an Englishman crossed the border to do business wi' a Scot. He gave Sandy a drink. He kept on giving him the drink, spendin' his siller freely, whiles the Glasgow man never let go a baubee. The Englishman thought the Scot was mean. He wasn't. It was business. The Scot couldn't gi' his mind te payin' for th' liquor and worryin' aboot business at the same time. That was good sense, but the Englishman couldn't see it. And so he probably went home thinking th' Scootch, an' this particular Scot, were mighty 'near" folks."

AL CHRISTIE'S NAME SYNONYM FOR CLEAN WHOLESOME COMEDIES.

His latest Production Stars Marie Prevost in "Up in Mabel's Room."

It is generally admitted that the name of Al Christie on a feature picture is as indicative of a big laughter special as the same name on two reel comedies years ago was indicative of a short but hilarious portion of a theatre's programme.

"Up in Mabel's Room" is the latest fun special from the studio of Mr. Christie. It opens to-day at the Regent Theatre, and presents Marie Prevost in the stellar role of Mabel. She is supported by Harrison Ford, and Phyllis Haver, in featured roles and a large cast, including Sylvia Breamer, Harry Myers, Paul Nicholson, Carl Gerard, Maud Truax, William Orlamond and Arthur Hoyt.

This farce about a chemise, the gift of a husband to his wife just before the two are divorced, follows a long line of comedy ancestors. "Charley's Aunt," a byword in every household for laughter, was one Christie hit—"Reckless Romance," "Hold your Breath," 'Seven days," and 'Madam Behave' are some of the others.

As in the case of "Charley's Aunt," "Seven Days" and "Madame Behave," the basis for "Up in Mabel's Room," is a successful stage farce. Marie Prevost, one of the most piquant and popular of the younger stars, was obtained for the leading role of Mabel. In addition a brilliant cast of supporting players was chosen for the parts of the husbands, wives, spinsters, bachelors and butlers who are mixed up in a development of the plot and in the fun which follows.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

CHAPTER VII—Continued

Mrs. Hammond was positively radiant with interest and admiration as Bob, with his boyish and old-fashioned courtliness, acknowledged Madame Leonine's gushing presentation. An introduction that was deferential—on the Madame's part—to the last degree, and was as elaborate and ritualistic as any presentation at England's Court of St. James could possibly have been. A presentation that was watched, catlike and doglike, by all the ladies and lords, and coquette's and fops, and mistresses and gallants of this gay New Jersey palace of passion and mirth.

A presentation that was watched by Sally, the dainty little lady-in-waiting, from under the yellow silk fringe of her long lashes, with confidence—without fear.

CHAPTER VIII

Bob Ward, however, was feeling far from comfortable and self-assured as, at Mrs. Hammond's delicately expressed suggestion, he sat down at her table to chat a bit with her before the next dance should start. Madame Leonine padded away, through her jungle of tables, to convey to the orchestra leader Mrs. Hammond's preference of a selection for the next number. Life within the roadhouse settled back into its fussy routine, after the agitation caused by the advent of the Queen of Play subsided.

But nearly everyone continued to furtively watch Mrs. Hammond's appraising and testing of her new toy—said toy being Bob Ward, the six-foot-two gridiron champ.

Bob—oddly enough in one whose social perceptions, at least where women of sophistication figured, were ordinarily very dense—somehow felt almost immediately this sense of being a toy. Of being a plastic plaything in the supple hands of a surprisingly clever player.

He was uneasy under the glinting directness of her stare—her uncannily mirthless smile. Or was it really a gracious smile—a charming smile? He could not tell, for the life of him. He only knew that he wished himself safely off in a far corner alone with Sally. For here, with Mrs. Hammond's eyes boring into him so, he felt himself slowly dissolving inside, as it were — disintegrating, slipping away from the safe moorings of his clean youth, into the shallow but terribly swift river of this woman's flaming nature. He wished she would quit looking at him so—ravishingly, was it? He was beginning to feel a bit dizzy; a bit carried out of himself. Good Lord, was she trying to hypnotize him?

Was that it? Almost involuntarily, as he mechanically returned monosyllabic answers to her softly insistent questions, he gripped the edges of the table. It was as though he felt this physical precaution necessary to guard him from falling into those deep, dark pools of volcanic eyes. Flaming craters. Good Lord, but this woman was magnificent! Beautiful as a finely chiselled masterpiece of statuary; alluring as a tropic night!

Oh, thank Heaven!—there, the music was starting up. Time for the next dance. Then, with that over, he would escape. She would want someone else—especially if he danced and acted as stupidly overawed as he felt. Escape! Yes, that was the precise word to express it. It would be escape—for now Bob felt himself enmeshed, imprisoned in a miasmatic swamp.

Out upon the floor. The Tigress and the Lion. Away into the swirl of the dance.

Bob discovered, to his satisfaction, that Mrs. Hammond danced little short of divinely; and that, in surrendering herself to the artistic impulses and rhythms of the cadenced measures, she did not keep up a persistent and idle chattering. Which was a welcome relief from the pathetic clumsiness of some of the dowagers, and the incessant jawing of Mazie Revere.

Bob found his mental and spiritual alarms abating in the pleasure of the physical perfection of Mrs. Hammond as a dancing partner. Then, too, he was fortified by the reassuring, approving, subtly radiant smiles which Sally Smith bestowed upon him every time he glanced her way—which was just as often as he could do so without dislocating his neck.

Knightly romances of old have often related how many a queen and princess have benefited through the ardor aroused in their spouses by the memories or thoughts of beggar maids. So, in a way, it was with Bob and Sally and Mrs. Hammond. For once, during the course of the dance, when Bob caught a particularly lovely smile from Sally, it was reflected, quite unconsciously, in a tightening of his arms around the object he held in them; which, according to his climbing thoughts, was Sally Smith; but, in reality, was the graceful form of Mrs. Hammond.

She, gratified at the sudden demonstration of apparent ardor, looked up with quick and tingling surprise into Bob's flushed face. Somehow, he realized what had happened. And as much to hide his embarrassment as to remedy the slip, more an apology than a promise, he smiled into her eyes. There was little else he could do, under the circumstances. But it only served to intensify what had been on his part a pure mistake; it only served to increase Mrs. Hammond's misapprehension that he had quite voluntarily signified a flirtatiously warm interest in her.

She pressed her body closer to his in the enchantment of the dance. She closed her eyes, and gave herself deliriously over to the strong and pleasant guidance of his arms. She did not speak. But she breathed a little harder; colored a little deeper. She was very happy.

Bob, despite an underlying fear of the fire that he had now and then caught flashes of far down in the darkness of her eyes—as one might glimpse ruddy glows when the stoke door of a distant train is swung to and fro at night—felt a superficial thrill that even the safe smile Sally could not banish from his pulses, his limbs.

It was a point of the pride of his masculine youth to respond to the fact that this gorgeous creature, this beautiful and ultra-modern woman of the fashionable world, was evidently "falling" for him.

Let Freddy and Arch kid him now! He could tell them a thing or two.

Anyhow, surely if they were using their eyes, they could see for themselves just how things stood. How Mrs. Hammond, as trustfully as a babe, was allowing herself to be wafted around the room in his arms.

Certainly, Bob could not help noting, even what with his pleasure in the sensation of the dance itself and his glances toward the hovering Sally Smith, that many of the dancing couples, and all of the sittees, were admiringly and enviously watching Mrs. Hammond and him.

Madame Leonine, enraptured, stood in a palm bower near the orchestra and rubbed her hands ecstatically. Never had her polished floor been graced before by so outstanding a couple. Added to the avariciousness of the roadhouse keeper, was a gratification of the showmanship in Madame Leonine, and still something more—an appeal to the latent sense of the beautiful, which, though seemingly incongruous and out of place in such creatures, is nevertheless existent in so many women of the lower realms of the stage and the informal entertainment world.

Freddy and Arch watched, and Freddy managed to whisper to Arch, as they swayed close in a hesitating measure of the dance: "How are we going to keep him boning his books, now that he's hugged the Queen?"

Sally watched, and was pridefully sure that it was Bob, her partner, who was showing Mrs. Hammond off to such good advantage. The woman had never looked so wonderful with any other dancer. It was the company, the partner—of course! But Sally would be relieved when Mrs. Hammond would have some other partner.

There, the dance was ending now. Sally was vaguely disturbed by tremors of suspense. Would Mrs. Hammond be so ready to surrender this—attractive partner?

TALK GIVEN ON ARCHITECTURE

John M. Lyle, of Toronto, Addresses Women's Art Association.

CLOSING MEETING.

The studio functions of the Women's Art Association closed Saturday, April 9th, with a very interesting and instructive lecture, on Canadian Architecture delivered by John M. Lyle of Toronto.

Mr. Lyle said that Canada has developed a national style in architecture and further development should be encouraged by furnishing a stimulus to trained architects. For this reason he willingly gave his time to assist in arranging the recent exhibit of arts and crafts and architecture at the Grange. The directors opened the Grange at night in order to accommodate the crowds. In two weeks 29,000 people visited the exhibit.

With the exception of a few technical magazines, no Canadian papers have given any recognition of the achievements of Canadian architects. McGill, Toronto, and Manitoba universities are now graduating men from their architectural schools who should be given important work to do. All of the plums should not be given to American architects.

The achievements of Canadian architects have been recognized abroad by such authorities as Rev. Seatter of Scotland, who said after a recent visit that Canada's greatest achievement was in architecture. Rev. S. M. Bennett, Dean of Chester, expressed the same opinion.

Lord Burnham also said that Canadian public buildings compared favorably with public buildings of any country.

The slides shown were representative of types of architecture now used in Canada. Mr. Lyle, in explaining the design of each building, pointed out the defects as well as the merits, saying that there can be no appreciation without criticism. In no place, except America, are we surpassed in the physical equipment of our buildings, he asserted.

Quebec public art was represented in pictures of the Chateau Frontenac, the Montreal Art Gallery, and the new Court House in Montreal. The Chateau Frontenac, designed by Bruce Price, Edward and W. S. Maxwell and W. Painter, is a fine example of the French Renaissance style, yet it has a new personal and Canadian note. In some of the lines is seen a Scotch Baronial influence. The interior does not come up to the exterior. This, however, is true of all Canadian hotels.

In speaking of the splendid qualities of the Chateau Laurier at Ottawa, Mr. Lyle said that it gave him an architectural thrill when he approached the hotel when the sun was shining on it. He challenged anyone to name a finer hotel than the Laurier or a scholastic group more artistic than Hart House or a finer ticket office than that of the Union Station at Toronto, unless it would be the great Pennsylvania Station in New York City.

For their design of Hart House Sproatt and Rolphe were awarded the goal medal by the American Institute of Architects over such buildings as the Yale Memorial.

One of the most interesting slides was that of the Bank of Nova Scotia, at Ottawa, designed by the speaker. Although the buildings was developed from a study of Roman architecture, it was reminiscent of the English 18th Century type. Two friends, one French and one English, thought it a copy of English architecture. This suggested the question whether racial tendencies might not develop in a designer in spite of a foreign training.

In order to overcome the dark street, Mr. Lyle suggested flood lighting this beautiful building. The slide showing the building flood lighted was most impressive.

Examples of Canadian types of domestic architecture such as the Royal Golf Club of Montreal; Summer Hill Terrace in Montreal, and the Pansy Place showed not only the French influence, but the English Georgian and the English picturesque adapted to Canadian landscape.

Mr. Lyle said he came to Peterborough because he wished to encourage the Art Association in giving people a cultural background. In no other way can they get the joys and beauties out of travel.

At the close of the address, Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, who presided in Mrs. Blackwell's absence, thanked Mr. Lyle for coming to Peterborough to address the association.

A piano solo, "Concert Etude in D Flat," by Liszt, rendered by Miss Olga Fowler before the lecture, was the only musical number. Mrs. A. J. Reynolds and Miss Stratton served tea from a tea table centred with a basket of Spring flowers.

GUELPH, Ont., April 11. — Fire did damage estimated at between $1,500 and $2,000 at the home of Joseph Bernardo, 78 Thomas Street, Saturday. The basement and first floor were gutted completely.

A burning match dropped down the cold air register by Mr. Bernardo's four-year-old son, was given as the origin of the fire. In the register was a quantity of paper and rubbish which quickly ignited and burned to the flooring.

Gazette Says Reference To America Was Callous and Mischievous.

SPEAKER REPLIES.

LONDON, April 11 (Canadian Press).—The reference made by Sir Auckland Geddes to American influences in China at a meeting in Ashford on Saturday is referred to by The Westminster Gazette today as a "callous and mischievous utterance," on the ground that it was an attack on the United States.

The former Ambassador to the United States declared that he had no thought of returning actively into British politics and asserted that nobody reading the actual words could properly assume he was attacking America. He declared in the speech that there were in China a large number of American educated students who had gone back there to repeat some of the Shibboleths they had heard in America about British dealings and British imperialism and had become leaders in the anti-British movement there.

FARMER BURNED PREPARING MEAL

Proton Bachelor Dies at Home—Cause of Fire Unknown.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., April 11.—Neil McQuarrie, 45 years of age, and unmarried, was burned to death in the kitchen of his home in Proton Township about noon on Friday. He resided with his brother about eight miles from Dundalk, and both of them had been at the barn attending to the stock. About noon, Neil, as was his custom, went into the house to prepare the noonday meal. When his brother, Angus came out of the barn a few minutes later, he saw the house in flames. He hurried to the burning building and found the body of his brother close to the door, and badly burned. He dragged the body from the house and in a short time the buildinfg with all its contents was destroyed.

The cause of the fire is a mystery although it is believed that Neil McQuarrie in starting the fire had used coal oil or gasoline. The coroner, in South Grey, Dr. Martin, of Dundalk, investigated the tragedy, and decided that an inquest would be held.

FOREST FIRES HURT INDUSTRY

Many Canadian Activities Besides Lumbering Are Damaged.

"FOREST WEEK."

To kill the goose that lays the golden egg has passed into a proverb for foolishness and yet, we, patriotic and intelligent Canadians, are doing that very thing in allowing our forests to be burned to death. We are doing even worse than the people of the proverb, for they had at least one dish of roast goose, however costly, but our "roast" forests provide not a single meal for any human being. Presumably, the man of the proverb did not injure the remainder of his flock, but we in burning our forests singe the agricultural goose, that lays the largest golden egg of all and we injure beyond calculation those other producers of golden eggs, Manufacturing, Transportation, Banking and Commerce, the Fur trade and Tourist traffic. And the worst of it that we do not commit this crime because of any foolish theory about the source of the golden eggs. We do it, or permit it to be done, simply because we do not think. As the poet truly says:

"Evil is wronght by want of thought,
As well as want of heart."

Our second greatest natural resource is not only in danger; it is actually burning up before our eyes. Our foresters, lumbermen, railway executives, bankers and leading men in every walk of life, are calling aloud to arouse us to the situation.

"What can we do about it?" you ask. Everything! We can stop forest fires now, and by a little protection and attention, we can have our singed goose put forth new feathers and lay more and larger golden eggs next year than ever before and keep on doing it as long as grass grows and water runs.

"And how shall we do this?"

Just the same way we stopped prairie fires in settled districts, by the force of public opinion. When every man, woman and child in Canada, not only those who live in and near the forested areas, but those on farms, in villages and towns and cities far away from the forests — yes, if even thirty per cent. of the people of Canada decide in their own minds that forest fires must cease, fires will be cut in two this year and will virtually stop next year. Small accidental fires will be from time to time just as there are in a city, but the old and costly fallacy of forest fires as a dispensation of Providence will be gone forever.

"And when will this come?"

Just as soon as a majority or even a good sized minority determine to do their part in this matter. April 24 to 30 is Canadian Forest Week and a little earnest thought, a little getting together and talking with fellow citizens and neighbors and school children will turn the scale and save this goose that lays the second largest golden egg of all our magnificent flocks of Canada geese.

TORONTO, April 11 (Canadian Press).—Making rounds early this morning, George Small, 45, night watchman for a number of large homes in the central residential district, was shot through the thigh when he surprised two burglars attempting to break into a house. Four shots were fired at Small, but only one took effect. He was taken to a hospital, where it was found his condition was not serious. The thieves escaped.

TRADES UNION BILL ATTACKED

Lord Bentinck, Supporter of Government, Condemns Legislation.

LABORITES HOSTILE.

LONDON, April 11 (Canadian Press). — Week-end speeches by Labor leaders were largely a continuance of bitter hostility to the Government's Trades Union Bill. The most arresting speech was made by Lord Henry Cavendish Bentinck, Conservative member for South Nottingham, who declared: "The bill will throw the country back into industrial strife. I will have nothing to do with it. I believe in the right of the people to form themselves into a great brotherhood for advancement and improvement. This bill is a denial of such faith."

Sir John Simon, a leading Liberal, suggests that an impartial Royal Commission should be formed to investigate the whole subject of strikes.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Chester Hart did not glance toward Cherry or Faith when he settled awkwardly into the witness chair.

"Now, Mr. Hart, you know this defendant, Cherry Lane Wiley?" Banning asked.

"Yes, sir. I have known her for about two years," Chester Hart stammered.

"How did you first meet Miss Cherry?" Banning asked unctiously.

"I—I was calling on Miss Faith Lane, whom I had met at a party to which Miss Cherry did not go."

"You were calling on Miss Faith Lane," Banning emphasized. "May I ask, Mr. Hart, if you were—er—interested particularly in Miss Faith Lane at the time or—later?"

"I object! On the grounds that all this is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial!" Churchill thundered.

"Your honor, I intend to show an important phase of this defendant's character through the testimony of this witness," Banning told the judge.

When Churchill's objection had been overruled, Chester answered: "I—I liked Miss Faith. I—I kept company with her for about a year after I first met her."

"You were in love with Miss Faith Lane?" Banning dared ask.

"Yes, sir, until—until—" Chester stopped, and mopped his blood-red face.

"Until what, Mr. Hart?"

"Until—until Cherry showed me that she liked me and—and asked me to take her to a dance in Marlboro," Chester confessed falteringly.

"Mr. Hart, at the time Cherry Lane announced her engagement to Ralph Winston Cluny, did you consider yourself engaged to her also?"

In spite of the fury of Churchill's objections, the witness was permitted to answer.

"Yes, sir. I had given her a ring about two weeks before," Chester stammered.

"Before what date?" Banning persisted.

"Well, her engagement was announced on Sunday, October 3, and I had give her the ring just two Sundays before that," Chester answered in a low voice.

"Did Miss Cherry tell you that she had changed her mind, that she was going to marry Mr. Cluny?" Banning grinned triumphantly.

"No, sir. It was a great shock to me," the unhappy young man confessed, and the audience smiled delightedly.

"Did Miss Cherry return your ring?" Banning went on mercilessly.

"No, sir, she never did."

"Did you and Miss Cherry exchange letters—love letters?" Banning smiled.

"Yes, sir."

"Mr. Hart, I will ask you if you can identify this letter," Banning whirled to the table behind him, snatched a letter from the out-stretched hand of one of the assistant district attorneys, and offered it to Chester Hart.

"Yes, sir. It's a letter I wrote to Cherry," Chester confessed miserably.

"Your honor, I offer this letter and its envelope as exhibit N for the state," Banning said to Judge Grimshaw.

After the customary wrangling between Churchill and Banning, the letter and its envelope were admitted into the court record.

"I will now read this letter, dated Saturday, October 2, last, addressed to the defendant, as Miss Cherry Lane, 3518 Myrtle street, and found in her possession, or rather in her bedroom, as will be brought out by a later witness, and signed by this witness Chester Hart."

"Oh, please!" Cherry whispered helplessly, her tiny hands fluttering against her flushed cheeks like white moths.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR TUESDAY, APRIL 12, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Although this is not an important day in planetary direction, benefic aspects dominate, according to astrology.

It is a day especially favorable to constructive work of all sorts and should benefit builders.

Engineers again are subject to the most stimulating aspects which promise for them much work in many countries.

Americans are to gain fame and favor abroad by their clever training in many lines of activity, it is foretold, and women as well as men are to profit greatly.

There is a sign indicating new interest in hospitals and in methods of sanitation.

A whole nation is to become interested in American methods of assuring health and cleanliness in cities, it is prognosticated and a man is to gain great fame in a foreign land through his helpfulness.

This is read as a rather unfavorable sway under which to begin an ocean journey. Delays appear to be foreshadowed.

Much intrigue and secret dealing is supposed to be encouraged under this configuration, which encourages deceit.

The seers foretell a new interest in manners as well as morals in the United States where lack of courtesy is to be criticised in a way that will be effective.

Many distinguished visitors are to come to this country in the coming summer, which will be notable for much entertaining in Washington as well as Newport and New York.

President Coolidge is subject to planetary influences making for independence of action and courage in expressing his views.

Powers of evil are to be strong and organized vice is to gain in scope at this time, the seers predict.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of good fortune in the coming year, which should bring prosperity.

Children born on this day probably will have dynamic personalities and varied talents.

ST ANDREWS UNITED COMMUNION SERVICE

Large Attendance at Sacrament—Suitable Address Given.

Probably the most largely attended Communion service ever held in St. Andrew's Church was celebrated yesterday morning at the annual pre-passion week Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Rev. J. W. DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The fashion for the separate blouse of lace is shown here in this model of blue worn with a matching pleated chiffon skirt.

If you have lace to wear, prepare to wear it now, for lace is decidedly the fashion and there is not a dressmaker of note who has not in some way or other stamped this airy-fairy material with approval. There are all-lace frocks of wide lace draped over georgette, crepe or satin, frocks in which lace is added to georgette or chiffon with a lavish hand, frocks consisting of lace jumper over skirts of silk material, frocks of satin with bands of lace. There are lace yokes, lace boleros, lace sleeves and lace bows. Cloth frocks are trimmed with lace frills on the cuffs and lace used to fashion a collar or jabot. If, indeed, there is still some way to use lace that has not been shown in the new frocks for spring it will be seen no doubt in the summer clothes.

You may account for the revival of lace simply by the fact that it has not been very much worn for the past decade or so. Most students of costume agree that the various types of fabrics come back every so often—like seventeen-year locusts and flu epidemics. It was about time for lace to be revived anyway.

But the decided vogue for lace at the moment is also due to the fact that fashionable women—conspiring with their dressmakers—have set about to be more feminine. And lace is feminine. To be sure men once wore it—brave, bold men wore yards of it frilled at their shirt fronts and dangling about their wrists. But nowadays if a school boy wants to accuse another of the utmost effeminacy he suggests that his undershirt is trimmed with lace. In other words, lace in any form is looked on as supremely unmasculine. But the boyish, mannish mode has passed for women and lace has been revived.

AIMEE WILL PREACH

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—Followers of Aimee Semple McPherson, alarmed over reports that their pastor was quitting the Angelus Temple because of a rumored break with her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, Saturday had the evangelist's own assurance that she would not desert her "four square" pulpit here.

"As long as there is an Angelus Temple, I will preach in it," she declared, adding that she intended leaving her congregation here only to conduct revival meetings at Chicago and Toronto, previously announced for this summer.

Ottawa Wins Over Boston 3-1 In Second Game

BRILLIANT ATTACK IN THE FIRST NETS SENATORS TWO-GOAL LEAD IN SECOND GAME OF CUP SERIES

Show Different Brand of Hockey From That Played in Opener.

HOT FAVORITES

Play More Defensive System in First and Second Periods.

BOSTON, Mass., April 11 (Canadian Press)—Ottawa Senators got the jump on their Stanley Cup rivals, the Boston Bruins, by scoring a 3 to 1 victory here Saturday night in the second game of the series after the initial contest had ended in a scoreless draw.

The Senators will therefore enter the final stages of the series favorites to capture the coveted and historic trophy as the remaining games will be played at Ottawa where the men of Dave Gill will have the advantage of familiar ice with the psychological effort produced by a rabid home town crowd.

Last night's game was a fast and thrilling encounter. The Senators showed a vastly different style from that which they displayed in the opener and with the initial whistle started on a brilliant attack which netted them two goals in the first session, enough to win the game. In the second period they paid more attention to defensive play, but still their attack did not suffer.

In the third they went to the four and five man defensive system. This, however, did not prove absolutely successful, and despite much stalling and shooting of the puck the length of the ice, Oliver managed to push the rubber past Connell during a scramble for what proved to be the only Bruin goal of the game.

Five seconds before the final bell with all the Bruins rushing to the attack, Hooley Smith and Denneny managed to break to allow the veteran left-winger to score on the practically helpless Winkler and thus make an Ottawa victory a certainty.

Both Ottawa counters in the first period were scored when Boston had men in the penalty box.

Six minutes after the start Coutu drew a minor and thirty seconds later, Clancy obtained the first goal of the series with a bullet-like drive from just outside the defence.

Winkler never had a chance to save, so fast did the puck travel. Half way through the session, Shore drew one of the five minors which were meted out to him during the game and, it was then that a brilliant combination effort Kilrea to Finnegan resulted in the useful substitute right winger outguessing Winkler from close in.

The second period was scoreless. The Senators seemed rather content with their two goal advantage. A systematized defensive backed by some brilliant net work by Connell managed to keep the Bruins from entering the summary. Boston, however, was not allowed to do all the attacking, and periodical offensive movements of the dangerous variety by the Senators kept the local defence on the alert.

In the third period, however, the Senators dropped back on the defence almost entirely, with long shots being the only variation to their play. Boston pressed hard throughout this last session but their attacks lacked the dash and pep of the preceding stanzas, the players appearing to have tired from their previous strenuous scoring efforts.

Nevertheless they kept on hammering at the tight Ottawa rear guard, which at times was forced to rag, and shoot the puck down the ice in attempts to ward off the desperate Bostonian rushes.

Finally, the Bruins forced a scramble when four men rushed in after Frederickson's rebound off the backboards. With the entire Ottawa team and four Bruins attempting to get their sticks to the disc, Oliver connected and slipped it past Connell into the net.

It was Boston's first goal of the series, and it brought them within striking distance.

The capacity crowd of 9,000 went wild with joy.

It was the first chance that they had had in two games to let loose in honor of their team. Emotions which had necessarily been held back for almost two games, were let loose, and the Arena resounded with their cheers, whoops, and whistles of enthusiasm. The goal gave added incentive to the fast tiring Bruin warriors and they renewed their desperate scoring efforts. Less than four minutes remained.

Four and five men rushed the Ottawa defence at a time.

The Senators were not to be caught in another scramble, however, and their reorganized defensive held tight.

With but seconds to go and the entire Bruin outfit, with the exception of Winkler, swarming around Ottawa territory, the clever Hooley Smith broke away followed by Denneny.

Big Lionel Hitchman dashed back to help the lone Winkler stave off the impending danger. The goalie rushed out and managed to prevent Smith from getting a clear shot on goal. Smith, however, passed over to Denneny who easily eluded Hitchman who was off balance to go in to clinch the game beyond all doubt for the visiting Canucks.

The goal was somewhat of a shock to the crowd, which had not stopped its noisy rooting for a tying goal since Oliver had scored. The uproar ceased as suddenly as it had started and many began filing out of the rink before the puck was refaced.

The final bell went five seconds later, bringing to an end the 1926-27 hockey season in Boston. The contest started out to be a rough affair and in the first period the officials were forced to hand out eight penalties, four of which went to Eddie Shore, Bruin defenceman. Coutu, Alex Smith, Kilrea and George Boucher, each drew one in the initial session.

The boys tamed down somewhat in the second period, only five infractions being called, Hooley Smith, Alex Smith, Kilrea, Oliver, and Shore being the offenderers.

None were distributed in the third Boston players confining themselves strictly to the business of trying to score goals, and the Senators sticking to the policy of attempting to prevent the Bruins from getting the aforesaid goals.

It is problematical as to whether the penalties to Shore and Coutu in the first period were directly responsible for the Bruins defeat. Clancy's goal, coming on a shot from outside the defence, would have beaten Winkler, had there been ten Boston men on the ice.

Kilrea's pass to Finnegan was not on Shore's side of the rear guard but it is possible that the weakened forward line, caused by Shore's absence, could not break up the attack before it got under way whereas a full front rank might have broken it up.

However, Ottawa fully deserved the victory, and on the night's play proved themselves the better team and better all around exponents of hockey. The partisan crowd like any home town crowd, found fault with the officials, Billy Bell and Jerry Laflamme, who to an unbiased spectator gave an impartial display. However, the crowd did not think so, and several times the game had to be held up while the ice was cleared of paper and other missiles which no doubt were directed at officials or just as an expression of disgust.

The play was delayed another time when a spectator was hit in the head by a flying puck. Players crowded around him with apologies and suggestions as to how to stop the bleeding from a small cut on the forehead. He gamely stuck to his seat, however, and saw the game to a finish.

The teams left for Ottawa on Saturday.

MAY AGAIN CHALLENGE AMERICANS FOR CUP

NEW YORK, April 11. — Sir Thomas Lipton, famous Irish yachtsman, has that "bloomin' mug" on his mind again.

When the venerable Irish skipper gets to thinking about the America's Cup, most famous and historic of sporting trophies, there is one inevitable reaction:

He challenges the New York Yacht Club to a series of races!

It is understood that Sir Thomas will issue a formal challe to the New Yorkers in July. If he does, another series of international yacht races is assured for next year as a challegne must be accepted or the trophy forfeited!

Sir Thomas is without doubt the world's most persistent person. He has witnessed four defeats of his favorite vessels, but what matters that?

As his hieland friends say, he is the most "un-co ha-rd mon in the world to daunt."

America's Cup has been in the possession of the United States since 1851 when the speedy craft, America, gained possession of it in races off the Isle of Man.

Sir Thomas Lipton entered the picture as a seeker of it in 1899. His first Shamrock was defeated then.

He came back in 1901, 1903 and 1920, each time with a vessel that cost upward of $500,000, and which was named Shamrock, and each time he returned to his home in Glasgow minus his coveted "bloomin' mug."

In all, his four tri s have cost upward of two million dollars!

But the desire to possess remains, and he is more than willing to try again with a yacht or schooner surely to be called 'Shamrock V.,' and which will cost, accordi to estimates, close to one cool million!

The trophy is just that—a solid silver mug that could be duplicated easily thousands of times for the money spent by the venerable Irish skipper in his quests for it.

Representatives of Sir Thomas Lipton are now in New York attempting to perfect details of a series of races preliminary to filing a formal challenge.

But if the challenge is made, and successful in the race, the one great life ambition of the Irish sportsman will be realized. And there are many who have seen him take defeat gracefully who will be wishing him luck if he makes a fifth attempt for the trophy.

PENNANT RACE IN THE MAJORS NOW ON WAY

Giants Ring High in Opinion of Fans for Winner.

"BATTER-UP"

Sixteen Squads on Their Toes For Flying Start Today.

NEW YORK, April 11 (Canadian Press).—Sixteen squads of keen young men are on their toes for a flying start today down the long adventurous trail of a major league baseball season.

When "batter up" re-echoes in eight cities it will start a ding-dong race that will not finish until the buds on the April trees have grown to leaves and withered.

Because it his two fine young leaders in Hornsby and Eddie Roush, the Giant team of 1927 ranks high in the opinion of the fans. Besides those virile field lieutenants, the wily John McGraw has coraled Burleigh Grimes and George Harper in the biggest trading season of his career.

Another team they talk about is the Athletics, led by the ageing Connie Mack, who has gathered about him such great baseball names as Eddie Collins, Ty Cobb and Zach Wheat. The strength of his team is undenied—if ancient legs do not begin to sag as the grind goes on.

The fan will tell you about the Yanks and how their young team that won the pennant in the American League last year is better still, with Babe Ruth yet in the lineup to do a lot of boosting with his bat; how Tris Speaker will bolster Washington; how the Tigers are coming under Moriarity and how their outfield can hit.

The Brooklynite will tell you what a pitching staff the Robins have this year, while the Pittsburgh man will name the names of Kremer, Traynor, Cuyler. And so with the partisans of all—the Indians, White Sox, Browns, Red Sox, the last year's champion Cards, the Reds, the Cubs, the Braves, the Phillies. The race is on.

EASTERN SECTION.

OSHAWA, April 11.—At a meeting held here on Saturday afternoon and evening of senior baseball enthusiasts consisting of President F. G. Edwards of New Toronto, Billy Kerr of Goodyear Tire Company, New Toronto; F. C. Chester, Chas. McDougall, Harold Luke and H. L. Bloomfield, of Oshawa General Motors, all representatives of the Lake Shore League; President H. T. McFadden, Max Swanston, Al Heckman and P. A. Johnston, all of Peterborough, representing the Central Ontario League: J. J. Callaghan, Harry Kelso and Harold Sheridan of the Oshawa Red Sox; John G. Nott, of Oshawa, one of President Snyder's appointees to the executive of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association, and others, the senior baseball situation in respect to the two leagues was thoroughly discussed and it was definitely announced that Oakville, Anacondas and Mimico would not operate in the Lake Shore League, nor Belleville and Kingston in the Central Ontario League.

The general feeling of the moguls present was to "keep the home fires burning" with the decision being reached to carry on the Lake Shore Senior League and accept the new entries of Peterborough, Port Hope, Oshawa Red Sox and a new club from the town of New Toronto and with six teams entered to divide the same into two sections, the western to include Goodyears, New Toronto and Oshawa Motors; the east to take in Peterborough, Port Hope and Oshawa Red Sox and the possibility of one more team to be given a franchise in each section.

F. G. Edwards is President.

The officers elected were: Honorary Presidents: A. H. Kohen, Goodyears ;Mayor Warner, New Toronto; G. H. Matthews, Peterborough ;G. Lefebvre, Oshawa Motors; D. E. Galloway, Oshawa Railway, and Mayor Chalk, Port Hope. President, F. G. Edwards, New Toronto; Vice-President, H. T. McFadden, Peterborough; Secretary-Treasurer, John G. Nott, Oshawa; Chairman of Western Section, W. A. Kerr, New Toronto; Secretary of Western Section, P. B. Stevenson, New Toronto; Chairman of Eastern Section, Cy Runnals, Port Hope; Secretary of Eastern Section, Nelson Whinfield, Oshawa. Section executives consist of chairman, secretary and one representative of each club, who shall control their own section and be responsible to president of league.

Group schedules are to be drawn and ratified by the league on or before April 30 and section winners are to be declared by Saturday, July 30, after which each will play home and home games to declare a league winner to enter the O.B.A.A. senior playdowns. The opening games are to be left in the hands of each section and President Edwards is to appoint umpires for the west and Vice-President McFadden in the east. President Edwards and two neutral baseball men will constitute a protest committee and a deposit of twenty-five dollars is to accompany each protest entered.

The fees of the league are twenty dollars for entry and a further deposit of twenty-five dollars from each team that they will carry out the schedule as adopted by the league.

POSITIONS CHANGED

League Leaders Suffer Defeat to Birmingham in Scheduled Game.

LONDON, April 11. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — Newcastle United failed to rise to the occasion against Birmingham in their scheduled fixture in the First Division of the English Soccer League on Saturday, and as a result they were whitewashed by a couple of goals. This reverse might have been serious for the League leaders, but for the fact that their rivals, Huddersfield Town, went down to an unexpected defeat on their own grounds before Sheffield United. These circumstances, coupled with a decisive victory for Sunderland over Arsenal, on the Weirside, had the effect of setting Huddersfield back into third place, their position being taken by Sunderland. Inasmuch as the Weirsiders have played two more games than the Yorkshiremen, however, their assumption of Huddersfield's place may be regarded only as temporary.

Saturday's games were played under atrocious conditions, with leaden skies and drenching rains. Several contests were abandoned when the playing grounds degenerated into little better than mud heaps, while in some cases the going was so heavy that several players collapsed. This was particularly the case at Wrexham where three men had to be carried off the field in a state of collapse due to the terrible going and the encounter was abandoned.

The continued decline of Arsenal's league stock was again a feature of Saturday's games, the cup finalists putting up a miserable exhibition against Sunderland who defeated them by five goals to one. The defeat marked the sixth successive league reverse suffered by the Highbury club, and spoke ill of their chances against Cardiff City when the pair meet at Wembley in the English Cup final two weeks hence. Bell, Sunderland's goalkeeper, was laid out for a while when he connected with a sizzling shot from Buchan's boot. He recovered, however, and was able to resume.

Cardiff City gave a fine display against West Ham at Upton Park, and were leading right up to the last shot of the game when the Londoners equalized. Many spectators had departed under the impression that the Welshmen had won the points. Cardiff started a reserve forward line against the Metropolitans, and taken all-round they gave a finished display, which augurs well for them when they stage the cup final tilt. The chief features of their play were their accurate passing, their speed and excellent combination. The ground was in a desperate state, but the Welshmen nevertheless treated the Hammers to a splendid game.

Tottenham had an easy victory over Burnley at White Hart Lane, despite the apparent leisurely movements of Bimmock, the Spurs' centre forward. Dimmock ran afoul of the fans who began barracking him for his inactivity. The Spurs' centre responded to this with a brilliant dribble which ended in a magnificent goal.

Middlesborough registered a new season's record in goal scoring on Saturday when they brought their figure up to 109. They have six more games to play so that it is obvious they will shoot up a mark that will stand for some considerable time to come. The previous record holders were Plymouth Argyle who in one season accumulated 107 goals. Camsell, Middleborough's gaol-getting forward, brought his league count up to 53 against Fulham yesterday.

Many of Saturday's scores were rather fantastic due to the unprecedented conditions under which most of the games were played.

SEE CANADA'S "OTHER HALF" THIS SUMMER.

Seven days — or a month — in Jasper National Park will give you a new idea of Canada's greatness—and a vacation of perfect enjoyment as well. In the heart of the Canadian Rockies, on the shore of beautiful Lac Beauvert nestles Jasper Park Lodge and all about are gigantice mountain ranges that out-rival the Alps in picturesque grandeur. There is a new thrill to outdoor sports—mountain climbing, motoring, golf, tennis, swimming or hiking—splendid hotel comforts too.

Take a trip to the Pacific Coast if time permits. New sights await you at every turn of the rails — scenery that will hold you spellbound from Jasper to Vancouver and the Coast.

A specially delightful ocean sail may be planned from Vancouver, through the Scenic Seas to Prince Rupert, and from there to Alaska, land of the Northern Lights.

All these tours are comparatively inexpensive. Full information, including booklets, itineraries, fares, etc., may be procured from any Canadian National Railways Agent.

HORNSBY TO GET $100 A SHARE

Giant Star Agrees to Sell Holdings in St. Louis Team.

NEW YORK, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—The dispute over Rogers Hornsby's ownership of St. Louis Cardinal baseball stock was settled by a compromise agreement calling for a price understood to be about $100 a share, or approximately $116,700, for the Giant star's holdings. Settlement of the controversy was reached at a conference Saturday morning attended by President Heydler of the National League and President Stoneham and Manager McGraw of the Giants, together with Hornsby and the latter's attorney. It followed the deadlock in the special National League meeting held Friday at Pittsburgh.

The settlement averts prospects of any court action by the Giants to keep Hornsby in the line-up, and assures the presence of the former Cardinal star in the opening game next Tuesday at Philadelphia.

FIRE BRIGADE TESTED TO-DAY

Good Speed Made in Responding To Test Alarm.

PRESSURE HIGH.

Three and a quarter minutes after Inspector Walker of the Canadian Fire Underwriters had pulled Box 29, at the corner of McDonnel and George Streets, the duty platoon of the fire brigade had one line laid and water turned on. The alarm was sent in at 1.37 and water was flowing at 1.40.15.

This test was followed by a test of the pressure in the mains. Thirteen lines of hose were laid on George street between Brock and Simboe, and the pressure, originally at 100 pounds, dropped to 70 when all the lines were going.

The inspector expressed himself as satisfied with the showing of the brigade.

BASEMENT OF HOUSE IS BADLY GUTTED

Home of George A. Macdonald is Partially Burned Sunday Mcrning.

Fire broke out yesterday morning at the home of George A. Maccompletely gutted the basement and donald, 300 London street, which damaged other parts of the house with smoke.

Mrs. Macdonald who was in the upper part of the house at the time the fire broke out was cut off by smoke and had to be assisted down one of the ladders by Lieutenant McBride and Fireman Astels.

The cause of the fire as yet is unknown but Chief Gimblett stated to the Examiner this morning that it was not from the oil burning furnace which is in the house. While the firemen were at this fire they had two other calls to roof fires to which the police car with chemical tanks responded.

Two lines of hose and one chemical line were laid to fight the flames and it was only due to the untiring efforts of Chief Gimblett and his men that the fire was kept in the lower part of the house. The damage is estimated at about $2500.

THOMAS ANGLESEY

Thomas Anglesey, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Anglesey of 1029 Keyes Avenue, died at the home of his parents on Tuesday, March 29, after 11 months' illness. The service was held on April 1, at 9 o'clock from the house, and Mass was celebrated at 9.30 o'clock in St. Helen's Church, Union Street. Burial was in St. John's Cemetery.

Thomas was born in Peterborough Ontario, Canada. He had lived in Detroit a number of years with his parents, and was formerly of Watervliet where he lived four year. In his junior year he was president of the class in the Watervliet High School. He was honorary president of the senior class and would have been graduated in June. He came to this city from Watervliet about six months ago.

IN POLICE COURT.

A local resident this morning was fined $50.00 and costs by His Worship Magistrate Langley for having liquor in a place other than his private dwelling.

Russel W. Copeland, of London, Ontario, pleaded guilty to receiving money under false pretenses when he issued a worthless cheque on the Royal Bank. He claimed that the crime was not committed intentionally as he had wired for the money from the head office of the firm he works for, and through some neglect the money was not deposited.

The defendant was given eight days, commencing April 4. Full restitution has been made.

AROUND THE CITY

Employment office records show 40 new applicants and 42 placements last week, with 117 still on the list.

In the past week there has been a regular epidemic of grass fires in this city and Chief Gimblett told the Examiner to-day that legal proceedings would follow after this if the citizens did not take the proper proceedure before starting a grass fire.

Wheat Prices Are Firm; Bad Weather For Farmers

CHICAGO, April 11 (Canadian Press)—With unfavorable weather for field work in Western Canada attracting notice, wheat averaged higher to-day during the early dealings. The relative firmness of wheat quotations at Liverpool counted also as a steadying influence. Opening unchanged to 3-4 cent up, Chicago wheat reacted somewhat but soon rallied. Corn and oats were easier, corn starting unchanged to 1-2 cent off and later declining all around. In the provision market, lard held steady whereas meats tended to sag.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 132 3-4, July 127. Corn, May 73 3-8, July 77 1-8. Oats, May 43 5-8, July 44 1-8.

Trading Quiet In Mines With Small Price Changes

TORONTO, April 11. —(Canadian Press.)—Trading was quiet and price movements narrow on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. Teck Hughes was the only dividend paying gold stock to vary in price. It gained three cents to 6.85. Area was active and strong feature, advancing 4 1-2 cents to 33 1-2. Beaver was strong, selling up two cents to 78 1-2. Barry Hollinger declined one to 41 1-2. Laval, Quebec, was active and gained 1-2 to 29 1-2. Mining Corporation sold off six cents to 3.47. Nipissing firmed three cents to 7.70. Amulet was strong in the unlisted section, selling up six cents to 1.15. Noranda dropped 18 cents to 21.50, while Towagmac declined 20 cents to 3.40.

Selling Pressure Strong On New York Exchange

NEW YORK, April 11. Canadian Press. — Selling pressure was more pronounced in to-day's stock market. Prices turned downward in the early afternoon, after United States Steel common, General Motors, and several of the South western rails had reached high levels. Bear selling was in evidence throughout the session, in a number of the oil, tobacco, food, motor and sulphur shares. Pierce Arrow preferred broke 6 points, presumably in reflection of recent price cuts, and Freeport Texas dropped 5. Brisk accumulation was apparent at intervals in National Dairy products, Victor Talking Machine, International Nickel, and public service of New Jersey. R. H. Macy soared over 8 points on reports of record breaking Easter business.

Buying Of Nickel Shares Causes Activity In Toronto

TORONTO, April 11 (Canadian Press).—Buying orders which had accumulated over the week-end caused an unprecedented amount of trading to take place in International Nickel on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Over 20,000 shares changed hands up to the noon close, with the prince ranging from 47 1-2 to 50. It closed at the high for a net gain of three points over Saturday's closing quotation. Canadian Canners Preferred was the outstanding strong feature, advancing five and a half points to 95 1-2. The Common sold up 2 1-2 points to 50. King Edward Hotel firmed two points to 50.

British Columbia Fishing old stock was in demand and strengthened two points to 87. Massey Harris (new) appeared on the listed board and sold off 1-8 to 33 1-2. The Distillery stocks were firm. G. and W. gained 1-4 to 60 1-4. Industrial Alcohol firmed 1-2 to 39 1-4.

Bring Goods to Peterborough for Easter Week.

COMMERCE was born when the first tribe of traders bore their burdens to the marts of the ancients. Even to-day the primitive people join those more progressive in contributing their craftsmanship and art to the modern world.

Along the trail of camel and ox cart, within the shadows of mosque and minaret, in the recesses of cloister and convent, in laboratories and looms, factories or salons of fashion, goods are gathered to gladden and to gratify those in countries far away.

Thus from every continent—from the ends of the earth—a stirring caravan keeps up a ceaseless movement that brings Peterborough Stores the world's choicest products of handicraft and art.

The merchandising facilities of these stores are such that they tap the world to bring you the finest objects for use or adornment.

In these stores and in this Fashion Supplement you will find a veritable exposition of the most distinctive products produced abroad or made at home, with articles that tell the most authentic Spring and Summer Styles for Easter Week purchase.

"Heel-Toe-and away we go-" IN THE FASHION PARADE OF MEN'S FOOTWEAR

This article is being written right after the close of the National Shoe Retailers' convention in Chicago. And out of the tremendous number of styles that bombarded one's vision, there were three innovations fired at constantly, both in the exhibits and on the runway. This is the Big Three in men's shoes for Spring—narrower toes, higher heels and brighter colors.

The reason for the narrowed toe follows somewhat the trend in men's trouser bottoms. The balloons, that reached their peak in the Oxford bags, have attained the heights of popularity and are descending, or rather decreasing in width. And harmony, the first axiom in smart dress, decrees that toes conform to these movements.

Narrower Toes the Vogue.

Again, the custom built shoe has always been distinguished by its narrowed toe. And with this type of shoe being a style criterion, it is easy to account for this latest trend.

But by no means, has the balloon toe become an outcast! It will still be seen, but much of its dogginess will be replaced by simpler, smarter lines.

And now for the heels! This is what you may call an upstanding movement in the trade. For heels on men's shoes will climb to new heights. Yes! Even as high as one and a half inches. Do not be alarmed, though, that all your shoes hereafter will be of such stilt-like heights. The ordinary heel will prevail—but—if you want to be ahead, or rather higher, in the style scale, your heels should assume an aviator's complex and rise. Some manufacturers have created an appearance of added height by building a somewhat narrower heel.

Lighter Shades Favored.

Here's the outspoken member of the Big Three—Color! Light shades of tan, rich ox-blood reds and a lot of crosses increase the color scale in men's shoes. And the zoologically inclined man will argue this is natural. For in the animal kingdom, the male is the brightest of the sex.

But even with this tremendous import of new shades, black shoes are gaining more pronounced popularity. After six o'clock of course, you will want to wear nothing but black shoes. And during business hours, the more conservative man will adhere to the same color.

And so you have here, the most important movement in men's shoes for dress and business wear. In the sporting division, brightness of color and contrasting trims become more pronounced. Combinations of tan and white and of black and white have paced over many a golf course in the past seasons. This summer will see many more of them. Soles will be of rubber, crepe or leather and me will have spikes attached to them.

Proper Weights for Seasons.

Another movement that is getting wide spread publicity, and which is to be commended, is that of wearing shoes to conform to the season. Summer-weights for the warmer season and heavier or winter-weights for the cold weather.

For formal dress wear, the light weight plain toe oxford with medium and brogue lasts of patent leather will be the thing. Heels are of leather and are closely trimmed.

As usual at such shows, many novelties were displayed. Brass eyelets, punchings, stitchings and embossings were exhibited by many manufacturers. And the fancy braid shoelace was seen quite frequently.

From this maze of style information some confusion may be caused in your mind, but take this little hint. Rely on your shoe merchant. Nearly every one was present at the last big convention, and with the accurate style program presented them, they have a definite idea of what you will need to keep stepping along in the style parade.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

That a nifty-looking shoe is too small, is a painful admission.

Many and Varied are the Fabrics for Spring

She who would clothe herself in the realm of fashionable fabrics will not find much difficulty in selecting what would be correct for spring because the field from which she may choose is wide and varied indeed.

For early spring wear, cashmeres, homespuns, tweeds, wool crepes, reps, broadcloths and wool jersey are the most prominent among the wool fabrics.

Basket Weaves Liked

There is a very general demand among women everywhere for all the loose basket weaves. In these, mixed colors hold a strong position.

For coats for afternoon and sports wear, velveteens in soft colors are in demand. Poplin in silk and wool mixtures is also registered among the popular materials for spring.

Prints take first place in silks. In this group one may choose from crepe de chine, chiffon, georgette, marocain, satin and Shantung and feel certain that whichever or how many of these she chooses, she will choose correctly.

Designs in Prints

The prints are shown in small closely-spaced all-over floral or geometric patterns, in pin check designs, in spot patterns and in striped and plaid effects.

According to all reports, taffetas are enjoying an enviable place among the new spring fabrics and are already assured of success. Plaids and pin-check designs in light colors and supple qualities are in favor.

Voiles to be Used

Linens in both sheer and heavy weaves are good and voiles are very prominent in printed patterns simulating silk fabrics.

The most outstanding colors for spring are black and white combined, blue in all the bright shades; yellow for sports and evening wear and red in all the brighter shades of geranium.

WEDDINGS AND WHAT TO WEAR

By HEDDA HOYT
(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, April 11 (United Press).—Weddings are becoming very colorful affairs these days. Instead of bride and bridesmaids being dressed in conventional white, entire color-schemes of one pastel shade, or multi-colored rainbow effects are chosen by the bride, her maid of honor and her bridesmaids.

At one of the loveliest of recent weddings the bride wore a gown made of flesh colored satin of period type with square neck line, semi-fitted bodice, long slender sleeves and full skirt stitched in quilted flower design at the hem. She carried a cluster bouquet of pink and orchid-hued orchids mixed with sprays of lilies-of-the-valley. Although the brides-maid's gowns were made exactly alike, each was of a different pastel shade. Grayish blue, orchid, nile, pale yellow, amber and periwinkle were the colors chosen for the maid's bouffant tulle frocks which had slender bodies and skirts composed of layer upon layer of tulle ruffles. Wide draped satin sashes in contrasting pastel shades were worn about the waist lines and the same appeared as trimming on the blond-hued horsehair hats. The matron of honor chose a long-sleeved afternoon gown of gold lace matched by gold satin slippers piped in gold leather.

One very lovely wedding was completely carried out in orchid tones. The bride wearing pale orchid georgette, the brides-maids wearing more violet tones of the same material and the maid of honor wearing purple velvet.

Even the wedding veil may lack the Puritanical all-white effect. Some of the younger set are wearing tulle veils in a lighter but harmonizing shade of the wedding gown. Pink is the favored color of the modern bride for both gown and veil, although many girls still cling to the conventional white for sentimental reasons. However, pastel colors are in quite as good form today as white for the bride as well as for her attendants.

The Home Dressmaker

One of the most engrossing features of making one's own clothes is seeing clothes come alive under the fingers. Working with lovely fabrics, experimenting with colors and color combinations, learning to judge lines in relation to one's own figure—these things give continual new impetus and interest to sewing. In addition, the woman who makes her clothes finds that she can be dressed with individuality as well as smartness and that her clothes fit as they have never fitted before.

Characteristics of Fabrics.

In planning a new frock, the first thought is of the model and the second of the appropriate fabric. If a novelty fabric or an unusual combination of fabrics raises any question in the mind, the material should not be purchased or experimented with until its correctness has been established by consulting a fashion authority. Many inhibitions of a few years ago have of late been forgotten; the combination, for instance, of jersey and satin, now considered particularly smart, would at one time have been quite taboo. But the home dressmaker is wise when she "plays safe."

Types and Fabrics.

As another setting aside of old inhibitions, it is at times the piquant choice of the mode to use sheer material for a severe, tailored-looking frock. If this is done, the dressmaker must give scrupulous attention to the delicacy of the fabric. It can not be shrunken under the iron or fitted so tautly that there is danger of its pulling open at the seams. If machine stitching is required, it is wise to baste the fabric to soft paper and stitch through both, tearing the paper away afterward. This will minimize the danger of puckering and will give a more professional look to the model. An important point for the home dressmaker to consider is the grain of the goods. In all materials, the bias is elastic to a greater or less degree, according to the firmness of the weave. Most fabrics show a noticeable difference in the depth of color between the cross-grain and the up-and-down of the material, a fact which may at times be turned to interesting advantage—using the fabric, that is, in both ways. There are, also, clever uses of both surfaces of a double-faced fabric. Crepe satin is a particularly good material for a model that is designed to contrast the dull and shiny surfaces. Pile fabrics, especially velvet, will be found to have a distinct difference in shading even on the straight grain, and this should be remembered at the time of purchasing the material, as it is possible that it will make more yardage necessary. The same consideration should be kept in mind in the case of figured fabrics with a distinct up-and-down design. Many of the new prints for spring have this characteristic.

Manipulating Materials.

In buying the material for a frock in which the fabric is to be manipulated to any extent, the so-called draping quality of the fabric must be considered, as it controls the success of the gown. If pleating is used on a frock, it is advisable to pleat on the length of the fabric, as the pleating is then less apt to lose its folds.

Pressing Various Fabrics.

Heat and moisture have a marked effect on most fabrics. Some become rigid or limp if they are moistened. Metallic tissues can stand only a very moderate degree of heat. For this reason, one should always test the effect of heat and moisture on a waste scrap of fabric before attempting to press it. A dry pressing clothing should always be used when pressing silk, as too much heat weakens it. If woollen goods has become shiny or the pile is flattened, a wet cloth should be placed over the right side of the fabric and a moderately hot iron laid very lightly on it. The cloth should then be lifted quickly, and the pile raised by touching the fabric lightly with a whisk broom.

Correct Tools.

Sharp shears should always be used when cutting fabric. Frequently dull blades or dull-pointed pins and needles have ruined a perfect piece of silk by drawing up or breaking a thread. When tailor's chalk is used for marking, the marks should not be heavy, and chalk should be used in a color that will be easily visible. A block of magnesia or French chalk is indispensable in the sewing-room, and, in case of a spot of oil from the machine, the spot should be well chalked and left for twenty-four hours. The sewing machine, too, has possibilities which many women do not suspect. Too often, they do not even bother to learn how to do the important things—adjusting the tension, selecting the proper size needle, and regulating the length of the stitch. Basting may be done on the machine by setting the gauge for long stitches and allowing plenty of thread at the end of the seam. Every home dressmaker should promise herself a few hours of exploration in that unused box of attachments—not at a time when she is hurrying to finish something, but when she has plenty of leisure in which to experiment.

Easter Shopping Hints

By HEDDA HOYT
(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, April 11 (United Press).—"Keeping up with the Jones" isn't a circumstance to keeping up with the shops these days! One week away from the smart shops and one becomes unfamiliar with the latest fashion wrinkles which mean so much to one's ensemble.

New this week are sport sets of leather including belt, shoulder flower and calf shoes. These will be very attractive on the tailored sports costume.

Large shawls of crepe de Chene bordered with silk fringe in colors red, white, green and orange, are selling in a department store for $20.

Two-animal fox furpieces are perhaps the smartest of neckpieces since they are newer than single animal types. In one case the two heads cross at the back of the neck with bodies and tails forming a stole effect in front. Fox furs in all the light shades are popular, due to the vogue for tailored suits.

Necklace gowns, like bracelet gowns, are provoking great interest at present. A gown having the necklace idea is made of black chiffon with a yoke of flesh-hued chiffon beaded in a three-strand necklace effect. The necklaces follow the line of the yoke, being made of rhinestone or emerald brilliants. Sleeves, on a black chiffon afternoon gown have bands of rhinestones spaced about an inch apart, extending from elbow to wrist.

Monkey skin is a lovely new light pinkish tan tone that is used for many new frocks. Shoes, likewise come in this shade.

Bows are preferable to collars on newer frocks. Collars have temporarily passed into the discard.

The main drawback to the spare stocking, since three single stockings are occasionally being sold in preference to a pair, is that the 'extra' has to be washed whenever the pair is washed to keep the colors alike. Extra work this seems. But cheer up, for if the spare stocking idea becomes a success some manufacturer may see fit to sell a spare earring along with a pair and thus cut down our expenses.

EVENING GOWNS

Satin dinner gowns in beige-pink and honey tones, without trimming other than self-fabric manipulation are among the smartest of the newer semi-formal gowns. One sees them at the smart hotels in numbers.

Lace is still important both as an entire dress fabric and as trimming on chiffon or georgette gowns of afternoon or evening type. Beige and rose-beige shades are especially smart at present.

Two-shades of the same color are used on numerous afternoon and evening gowns. Tier arrangement on skirts have tiers shading from pale to deeper tones as they near the hem line. This shaded tier effect, is confined mostly to evening models. Afternoon models use various less defined ways of introducing the two-tone effect.

One of the most unusual afternoon gowns shown thus far this season is made of wide black patent ribbon combined with black patent lace sleeves. Patent lace is one of the new materials of the season.

An interesting evening gown is made entirely of citron colored silk faile ribbon. The ribbon is of eight-inch width and is sewn together so as to run horizontally about the figure. The bodice of this frock is long waisted and finished with a single flounce which forms the skirt. A cluster of large citron-hued velvet roses forms the corsage which is posed on the left hip.

Printed frocks or frocks combining solid colored materials with printed fabrics look very smart when trimmed with a shoulder corsage made of the printed material. Long crysanthemum-shaped petals or round rose leaf petals with unfinished edges are used to form flowers of huge dimensions.

Numbers of turquoise blue evening gowns are seen at all smart occasions these days. These are more often seen in bouffant taffeta gowns than in beaded chiffon models.

SUMMER FURS

Lapin sports coats, in white or dyed pelts, are the outstanding choice for motoring garb.

CAPE SLEEVES

Of all the varieties of wide, flowing sleeves that are featured this spring in afternoon costumes, the cape sleeve is the smartest.

FRINGE TRIMMINGS

Fringe, suspended gracefully from the shoulders of either side of a new Worth evening gown of white satin, and fringe used to edge the two tiers of a Lanvin model establish this type of trimming as chic.

Fashions for youth and youthful fashions! This we note in the new modes for spring. Skirts remain short, the most popular silhouette is slim—there's an absence of elaboration and a simplicity that is youth's!

There's a new animation in the clothes "they are showing" this spring and it's very evident that the new modes know no age. For all of them have that elusive charm that is youth!

Two Distinct Silhouettes.

One of these silhouettes shows broad shoulders with loose lines in the upper half of the figure and straight and slim in the lower. The other shows princess lines in slim fitted effects that curve to the figure. The fullness above the waist—(the former silhouette is much the more popular)—is achieved in bloused treatments and the bloused movement is very definitely expressed.

The bloused idea is evident, too, in the bolero effects, in which there seems no abatement in popularity. The bolero in the newest frocks stands away from the blouse, and contrasts with the slender straightness of the skirt.

The Normal Waistline.

Much has been said, heard and written about the tendency toward a return to the normal waistline and in the models for spring wear there are many examples of the normal placement or a suggestion thereof.

Many dresses give evidence of this mounting line by the use of two belts, one at the normal waistline—the other a trifle lower. Seams and pin tucks are also used to show the raised waistline. Hips are slender and draped snugly.

Freedom of Motion.

The newest spring modes offer plenty of comfort in the way of fullness in the skirt as most of the skirts are either pleated in a novel way or gathered gracefully into the belt. In most instances, the skirt movement is from the side and also from the sides across the front.

We've seen the influence of the Directoire noted in many of the newest offerings for spring. It's not the strict Directoire, however, as it is modified by jabots, revers and short capes.

The Roumanian, Russian and African influences are also worthy of mention as they are really quite prominent in every type of spring costumes. In our saunterings in the shops and stores we came across many sleeveless dresses and there is evidently a tendency to return to this mode as we noted it in both evening and sports wear.

Cardigan Is New.

It has been many seasons indeed since the cardigan (short sleeveless jacket) has enjoyed such a vogue as it is experiencing this spring.

Virtually every sports costume has its accompanying cardigan in contrasting or compose theme and most of them are such gay little things that we wonder why they have been more or less forgotten for so many seasons. Especially too, when they are such comfortable things to throw about one's shoulders after an active game of tennis or so smart to wear while strutting blithely over the links.

Sports Wear Stunning.

Sportswear has taken such a firm hold on every phase of the mode that the designers this spring have laid much stress upon it. The most important sports ensemble is the four piece—coat, skirt, overblouse and sleeveless bolero or cardigan.

One of the outstanding style factors we noted in the newest sportswear was the use of two and three kinds of materials, all the same color but varying in pattern.

Three-Quarter Length Top Coat.

One we saw that was very beautiful and practical as well had a three-quarter length topcoat with bolero sides in fawn colored tweed, with a turn back collar of checked woolen in fawn and brown tones. Deep pockets of the checked woolen are big and roomy, and there was a plain skirt of the tweed with an overskirt of the checked fabric.

The one-piece sleeveless dress is smart. The skirts are pleated and square and V necks are prominent. Many of the stores are showing clever little frocks for sports wear in printed silks that launder beautifully and which every woman will include in her spring wardrobe—if she would be in the mode.

The Ensemble Vogue.

The vogue of the ensemble is here to stay. That we found out very conclusively and definitely when we made a journey through the stores seeking the styles for spring.

In the ensembles for formal wear we see a marked tendency to emphasize the coat as a separate and distinct style feature. Because prints are so "good" again and because they lend themselves so beautifully in the making of the ensemble, they are used much and are a welcome relief after the sombre winter shadings.

There seems to be no end to the combinations that are used in the ensembles this spring. Truly there seems to be no limit to the possibilities of the successful ensemble. There is the matching coat and dress in which the color and fabric are similar.

Fabrics Match; Colors Differ.

On the other hand if colors match, fabrics differ. For instance, a black bengaline coat and a black georgette dress. Another we saw where the fabrics match and colors differ was in a black satin coat and a French blue satin frock.

Prints are used in entire dresses and often line the coat. Again prints are used only for a blouse. Beige seems to be the popular ensemble shade for spring, perhaps because it combines with so many colors so well and at the same time—although it is an old stand-by—is always smart. The printed dress with the plain colored coat takes precedence in the ensemble mode for spring. On the frocks for spring one sees lace used more frequently than last season. All sorts of lace are in favor both on afternoon and tailored frocks.

Suits Are Jaunty.

The feminine world is all agog over the success of the suit mode for spring. Really one's wardrobe is not complete without two suits—one, the trig little tailored type sometimes possessing no more than two skirts and the other—an ensemble for both street and afternoon wear.

The tailored suit is most popular when it has a tuxedo jacket with velvet collar and has braid bound edges. Another suit model that is really very new and seems much in demand has a hip length, straight sack coat, shawl collar, one button closing and a cut-away fro[nt]

Chic is a Matter Of Intelligent Study

Chic is becoming more and more a matter of intelligent study. In order to be smart, to-day, one must know the subtle qualities that distinguish the new mode from the mode that has just gone before; in order to be distinguished, one must understand the principles behind these qualities. One may know that simplicity is the dominating characteristic of all chic, but one must know, too, that it is a varied simplicity, and the introduction of this variety may all too easily destroy the simplicity itself. Only with skill or knowledge can one obtain this paradoxical feeling that is now essential to all smartness.

A popular fashion journal has prepared a simple outline of the various means which the great designers are using in the mode for spring. And, first and foremost, it finds that all variety is a matter of combination of fabrics or of skilful cut rather than extraneous ornamentation. Almost the only details that might be called an exception to this rule are flowers—always in exactly the shade of some part of the frock—bands, a belt, or a contrasting vest, and even these seem to be an inherent part of the frock. Trimming, in the old, conventional sense, has ceased to exist.

New Fabric Combinations.

Combinations of fabrics, this spring, have outstanding interest. They are the means to the "compose" effects that are so much in the mode at present—effects gained by the combination of two or more fabrics in the same colour, two or more colours of the same fabric, or contrasting surfaces of one fabric. Compose frocks have the distinction of great simplicity without monotony. The combination of satin and jersey is very new and smart in sports costumes.

Other costumes, however, combine contrasting materials, and of these the first in chic is the dress using a plain fabric with a print in a small tailored pattern. These small-patterned prints are made in a wide variety, and, from a distance, they give almost the effect of a plain fabric in a soft colour. They are well suited to the feeling of the new mode, and, usually, they are smarter than any print with a large design.

Outstanding Fabrics.

If any fabric leads in importance, at the moment, it is satin as a fabric for evening gowns. So great is its sudden popularity that it is rivalling the chiffon that has so long been used for the "little" dancing frocks. And its sleek suppleness lends itself delightfully to the soft drapery or fluttering bows that are now used. For daytime, crepe de Chine, heavier crepes, georgette crepe, crepella, frisca, kasha and light-weight woollens are all in evidence. And for evening, if a gown is not of satin, it is apt to be of crepe, Chantilly lace, or chiffon.

Four Smart Silhouettes.

As to the silhouette, one may choose from four—surely, a wide enough choice to suit any figure. There is the straight silhouette, often with a pleated skirt and used for the majority of coats and many sports dresses. There is the tiered silhouette, used for both day and evening. There is the silhouette with a bolero or a bloused bodice above moulded hips, and this, perhaps, is the newest of them all. And there is the silhouette with fluttering drapery, generally seen by night and very kind to figures that are not quite perfect.

Important Lines and Details.

Intricate cut has never been more in evidence or made costumes more interesting than in the mode for the coming spring and summer. It results in curved lines, diagonal lines, horizontal lines, and vertical lines, and in geometric cut, as well.

The details that are most important are the neck-lines—square, diagonal, round, or V, but always carefully planned in relation to the dress as a whole—the use of bows, the variety of belts and girdles, and the use of yokes, tucks, pleats, and tiers. These details have usurped the place of trimming almost entirely, but with such skill that trimming is never missed. There is still fulness in many skirts, but, usually, it is localized in one place, or it is concealed in pleats that give a straight effect.

The coats for spring days are almost always straight in line, with a narrow effect at the shoulders. The collarless line is very new, though somewhat trying with the tight little hats that generally rise above them. Dropped shoulders are often seen, and yokes are ubiquitous, especially at the back, where they are more flattering than a perfectly straight line from neck to hem.

COLOR Sets the Pace in Spring Footwear

The lilt of the robin—the glint of Spring sunshine—is reflected in the fascinating new footwear for the Spring of 1927.

The modes for new costumes are brilliant with color and shoes carry out their duty religiously as fitting complements to the mode of color. Never have we seen such a lovely array of flattering colors in footwear as the shops are showing this Spring.

From Nature's own palette come dainty youthful shades with such charming and alluring names as pastelle parchment, stone, rose blush, shell gray, stroller tan and hampstead brown. These and many more you'll find—all subtle, beautiful . . . ex-quisite.

Beauty in Footwear.

It really wasn't so very long ago, as you probably remember, when shoes were built to be practical—"to stand the gaff." Today we find them practical, of course, but always they must be and are, beautiful—and youthful.

And thanks to the designers who are constantly and forever seeking new effects, new materials, new designs . . . beautiful shoes are now within the reach of every woman in America. Truly we have never seen such lovely footwear—priced so interestingly, too, when they are so beautiful—as the stores are now showing.

Materials and Combinations.

It is quite apparent that the most popular materials are patent leather and kid, Reptile skin is shown plentifully in sports shoes and, of course, satin is always good for dressier occasions. The patent and kids are trimmed with novelty leathers and reptilian effects and are stunning and flattering to any foot.

One combination that particularly caught our eye and seemed a very smart bit of originality on the part of the designer was of pastel parchment with cherry patent kid trim, high of heel and with a single strap.

Another was shell grey kid with the new gingham kid, another gunmetal patent trimmed with black patent with a high spike heel, one strap and cut down at the sides. We saw many more, too—all equally interesting from a standpoint of unusual leather and color combinations and many more we expect to see for this is the day of originality of design, glorious materials and clever craftsmanship!

She walks in beauty and steps in Fashion in this Spring's various styles offered for her approval—strap effects, open tie effects, oxford effects and a few gore and step-in effects. A wide range to be sure.

FOOTWEAR for Spring

We feature the CLASSIC Shoes for ladies, misses and children. For Easter, we are well provided with a wonderful array for all ages, and covering all the new shades and shapes to match or blend with the costume they are to complete. They reveal the new and beautiful in 1927 footwear, and our prices are moderate in the extreme.

ABOUT HOSIERY

BY HEDDA HOYT
(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, April 11.—(United Press).—There was a time when women's feet and legs were considered as unmentionables. Shoes and stockings played a very unimportant part in the wardrobe. Today, however, things are reversed and a woman is not considered smartly attired unless her pedal extremities are attractive and attractively garbed. Where its "arms and the man" in the masculine world, it's "legs and the woman" in the feminine world.

Not content with stockings of cobweb transparency, manufacturers have now designed opalescent stockings combined with sheer qualities which make them almost indiscernable when on the leg. Opalescent stockings come in faint evening shades such as pinkish-mauve and flesh-pink since they are primarily for evening wear. The opalescent glow radiating from them casts a flattering sheen over the leg. One might almost call these stockings changeable silk since they seem to take on the coloring of the shoe or frock with which they are worn. Slippers for evening also come in opalescent kid effects this season.

By bracelet stockings, we refer to the stocking which has a ring of contrasting color about the ankle providing a bracelet effect. These stockings usually come in gray shades with black heels which extend as far up as the black bracelet or ankle ring. The ring is of almost half-inch width and gives the effect of the anklet shoe which was popular some years ago. Some women purchase a plain pair of stockings in the same gray shade with black heels and wear one plain stocking and one bracelet stocking at a time. This is attractive for afternoon occasions where one wishest to call attention to the shapeliness of the ankle.

Rhinestone anklets for evening wear are also new. These are merely narrow bands of rhinestones which clasp about the ankle with a tiny snapper.

The Spring Suit.

And, of course, there is always the suit, if spring is in the air. It is especially good this year, for it has the youthful, trim feeling of the moment, and it combines well with the smart sweater-blouses, striped at the bottom. Many of the newest suit coats are suggestive of the cardigan jacket, and there are also numbers of these little jackets designed to be worn over sports dresses in delectable spring colo[urs]

Tendencies and Taste in the Interior

By Marjorie Howe Dixon

You might not believe it possible that this question was asked in all seriousness, "What is the newest thing in antiques?"

It is sad, and a bit disconcerting, just when you've learned to identify a Currier and Ives print, and have absorbed some of the enthusiasm of the collector to find that some one has gone to the trouble of writing a lengthy magazine article to the effect that a Currier and Ives print is in atrocious taste, and closely akin to former bulbous chromes issued with calendars by the local grocer.

For fads and fancies come and go with the collector of antiques as with the fashion of your home and its decoration.

An Old English Room.

It is a far cry between the austere simplicity of a Colonial room in the New England style—pioneer days, and the muchly beruffled Victorian interior, with its abundance of ribbons and sashes, and tidies and cushions. A new arrangement struck a happy medium and called itself just "an old English room." It omitted many of the Victorian flouncings and yet was cozy looking. Its cushioned seats were much more restful to tired bones than are the prim Colonial chairs and settees.

The fireplace was quite properly the center of interest on one wall, and was treated with utmost simplicity. An old portrait in a black frame hung above it with a pair of old rose Chinese jars with lids; on the mantle shelf. At its foot lay a hooked rug. Either side the walls were covered with bookshelves.

Tapestry of Books.

Book shelves can be as dull as dull—or they can be utterly fascinating. An unconventional arrangement made these quite joyful to behold. The colors of the books were delightfully mixed, and then there were gaps. How terrible to the precise person! Yes—an empty place here and there, sometimes filled with a Buddha—sometimes holding a trailing ivy plant. Did you ever think of a tapestry of books? These shelves presented such a colorful fabric with ivy for the grace of folds.

Divans, with their fat cushions downfilled and covered with glazed chintz invited one to rest before the hearth. And then to make one's book more enjoyable, there were small tables with lamps conveniently placed, shedding their soft light.

Old-fashioned Desk.

Across the room, an important-looking old-fashioned desk reigned serenely. It had its [illegible] of large chairs deeply cush[illegible]ts lamp too. The last was m[illegible]en glass bottle, vase-shaped [illegible]water. Why water? Well, [illegible] It deepened the tone of the green and with its faint movement, now and then, added a tiny stir of charm to the room.

Green glazed chintz curtains completed this room with cream net close to the glass. An air of hospitality, of comfort, of easy informality, those qualities so hard to obtain, made this a room of distinction.

Rose-Colored Drapes.

Twin beds in one wild-flower room made two youngsters happy. It is not related whether they fought over the chaise lounge with its quilted rose coverlet or not (for sisters sometimes have slight disagreements) and with a delightful painted secretary, they might both feel inspired to write letters at the same time. That would be tragic. Rose-colored drapes filled the windows over net-glass curtains. And on the wall were adorable old color-prints of wild flowers, below them stilted lettering, laboring with their unwieldy Latin names.

Sometimes an artist has a try at designing children's furniture—and the results are usually charming. Imagine round chairs—really round, all made of rattan and a round cradle. Imagine a covered bed with its French hanging. And do contemplate a toy cabinet with open shelves above, coming to a peak—and a cupboard for the "hurry-up" times below.

Early American Room.

An early American room felt the shelving influence and broke out with the most original ideas. One shelf all across the window-top wore a pongee ruffle edged with red. Another shelf, covered with an old-fashioned pattern in oilcloth, held pots of geraniums, in a sunny window. And inside the curtains were more shelves. Of necessity these were narrow and each held a pretty bit of pottery or pewter. Maple furniture, ladder-backed chairs, a drop-leaf table, a settee—these were all in keeping with one's ancestors' early days.

French Room Attractive.

Not so simple or severe, but equally attractive is a little French room. A figured carpet, and a flowered pattern in net for curtains harmonize pleasantly. Screens are used so often for decorative backgrounds and this room had a smart one, original in treatment. It was covered with stiff-looking prints of buildings, cream-tinted and covered with shellac. In front of the screen stood an inviting arm-chair with a lamp at hand and a tiny tea-table. The tea-table had a glass top on which stood a set of old French china.

To fit in modern schemes of decorations are many beautiful rugs. Copies of old Spanish rugs have been made to fit in the vogue for Spanish interiors. Gayly patterned modern rugs are pretty for sun-porches and breakfast-rooms. Hooked rugs are of great interest.—whether antique ones to fit in with early American interiors, or modern ones made by the housewife herself, in a renewal of old-time craft.

Chinese rugs fit in admirably almost anywhere. Their patterns indicate reserve, both in color and design, and their quality is of the finest. A room need not be at all Oriental in character to use a Chinese rug, most appropriately.

EASTER HATS.

(By Hedda Hoyt, United Press Fashion Editor.)

NEW YORK, April 11 (United Press).—Easter bonnets are adorning Fifth Avenue shop windows this week, their gay colors adding a touch of spring all along the Avenue.

Each shop, it appears, is sponsoring its own special millinery colors, using but one color to a window. One large department store, having three windows on the Avenue, is displaying green, blue and orchid hats only. Their entire display shows the usage of two or three shades of one color on a hat. Monotone effects are entirely lacking, orchid and purple, light blue and bright royal blue and [illegible] and dark green tones being combined.

Several shops are featuring beige hats almost entirely. One shop combines navy with white or red. A pinkish rose shade is another favorite.

One of the interesting things about hats this season is that they may combine several shades of one color and at the same time combine materials. Such combinations as felt and straw or belting ribbon, straw and satin, or ribbon or straw and velvet are popular.

Small hats far outnumber large shapes although large drooping types of milan or hair are included in almost every window as though warning us that they will be popular when warm weather comes. Small felt shapes with narrow rippling brims, felt skull-caps with clusters of flowers or flat ribbon trims over the ear-tabs and felts with upturning brims are all conspicuous. Mushroom-shaped poke effects of straw are also represented. This type of hat is very becoming to most women and they will be glad to find it returned again to fashion. Poke effects carried out in natural-colored bankok trimmed with colorful ribbon bands are noted as well as pokes of colored felt and straw.

Most women will not go in for straw hats until after Easter, felt and straw or straw and satin combinations being preferred. There is a reversible felt shape that is well liked. The most popular colors among reversible felts are black and beige or navy and rose.

Trimming is important this season. Flowers, ribbon or embroidery are used on most of the better-class models.

SPRING sponsors Flash in Haberdashery

Color is going to run riot in men's haberdashery this spring. If a man is so disposed he can be a bird of gay plumage, for the opportunity certainly presents itself as never before.

Almost everything will run to high colors. Shirts will be of gay hues; neckwear promises to be dazzling; intricate motifs will be shown in hosiery; handkerchiefs will flaunt their colors—and so on down the list.

With the great vogue for light and bright-colored suits and topcoats, the furnishing business should be accelerated. It requires taste and judgment and a plurality of furnishings to make a harmonious ensemble.

Important Notes on Dress.

Now we will particularize and touch only a high spot in an article of such length.

White shirts and colored shirts will be about equal favorites. Collar attached and shirts with separate matching collars will start out about evenly, but collar-attached shirts will come stronger as the season advances.

The colored shirts will be light or white of background, neatly striped or figured. The extremely long pointed collars are not so good. The medium type seems slated to rule. Neckband shirts will not be worn as extensively as in past seasons.

Smaller Designs in Neckwear.

Ties will show a tendency toward smaller designs and figures, all-over patterned English effects. There also will be considerable demand (and this is expected to increase as the season advances) for plain-colored neckwear, including vivid shades. Foulards, judging by their vogue at souther and California resorts, will be quite popular.

Golf hose are going to swing back from the "wild" designs of yore and assume less boisterous lines. Small geometrical motifs and more conservative color combinations and plain paste shades are expected to be very good.

In sweaters round and V-neck styles will prevail in popular favor. Crew necks and perhaps high necks will be the preference among the younger men of perfect grooming. The lighter shaker weaves will be liked. White sweaters will be smart for sports wear.

Straighter Style in Knickers.

Knickers seem to be coming in straighter and not so extreme in dimensions. There will be a notable demand for "Shetlands." There also will be plenty of homespuns, tweeds and cashmeres, and linen knickers will prevail for hot weather play.

Flannel trousers in stripe effects will continue to rule. Black stripes, the new "sun-burned" effects will be preferred. Plain whites will be selected by men who desire a change from varying color.

Other Changes Minor.

Among other furnishings needs, such as underwear, belts, gloves, etc., there will be no decided changes from those of a year ago. Of course where it is possible color will be used. Some novelties will be introduced from time to time, but in ninety per cent of the cases they will be short-lived.

LACE AND CHIFFON

Dance frocks for the young girl are almost invariably made of lace and chiffon combined, this season.

FOR THE SCHOOL CHILD

The most practical school costume for the little girl is a plaid woolen tailored blouse, worn over a box-pleated skirt in a plain, harmonizing color.

GLOVES---The Finishing Touch

Fashion, this Easter, feels her way to chic in a thousand and one kinds of novelty gloves. For style in gloves, you know, is a matter of individual taste,—like gowns, homes and husbands.

As a jewel is precious because of its rareness, gloves this season commend themselves to the smart woman by their exclusive touches. A novelty for every occasion and a different novelty for every woman seems to have been the glove-makers' spring ambition.

Two-tone Colors.

By color combinations, by decorative trimmings, and by novelty cuffs—some of them gorgeous affairs—do the new gloves show their chic. The two-tone color scheme is taken over bodily by glove artists. Gloves are no longer just something to cover the hands. They have achieved the position of being the final, completing touch to a costume —the cherry on top of the sundae.

As such they step out in all the colors of the silks, the chiffons, the wools and even the furs that make milady's costumes this spring. The color combinations are achieved by a variety of things. Leathers themselves run the gamut of the spring color card. Two kinds of leather also combine, as French glace kid and a deeper shade of suede for the cuff, to get contrast. In sports we see pik-skin and calf, doe-skin and alligator.

Gaudy Stitching.

Or a kid glove of the new string shade—a light neutral color between beige and fawn—may be positively gaudy with brilliant stitching on its back and a gay novelty cuff of a dozen colored flowers that tone with the costume it completes.

Embroideries lead in glove decorations. Every possible type of embroidery is utilized—from simple hand-stitching or delicate traceries to heavy all-over patterns for turnback or stand-up cuffs in rich silks or gold and silver metal threads.

Laces, appliques of self-material in futurist motifs or tiny nosegays have been deftly adapted for these dressy affairs this spring. Silk ribbons, flowers of French knots, flowers of appliqued bits of colored suede—all these can be found fashioning the cuffs on the new gloves.

Or we have the gloves that get their color contrast by combining two tones of kid. A straw-colored model may come with blue stitchings and a blue cuff with inserts of flag-blue and piped with gold. Lavender glace kid gloves often call for purple or even blue kid cuffs. Banana, chartreuse, and all the other light tints can be found in gloves, most of them with delectable colors in their trimmings.

All dress gloves have the cuff. And it is only the smart street glove for strictly tailored wear that foregoes the pleasure of having that cuff richly colorful. Plain slip-on gloves take their chic from their smooth stitchings in self-color and the texture of the soft suede or chamois from which they are fashioned.

But even for cape gloves the novelty cuff shows its influence in the trick fastenings that this type often employs. Few of them just button or snap shut. They have buckles, rings and some of them have small leather loops on one side and a loose band of leather on the other which slips through to hold the glove shut.

Detailed trimmings, and range of color are cited to prove the peak of importance to which gloves have ascended this year. Colorists, artists in design and decoration and masters in the leather business have all been called in to evolve the creations that bear the name of gloves this spring, and even a cursory inspection of this Easter's glove array make it quite convincing that their effort was not in vain. Veritable works of art are this season's distinctive modes in gloves—well calculated to stir a possessive longing in the heart of every woman who sees them.

SHORT SLEEVES.

Short sleeves, dead and buried these past few years, have been dug up again for summer usage. At least, some of the foremost Parisian designers are sponsoring short-sleeved dresses, many of which are of sports type.

Until now sleeves had to be either long or entirely lacking. Now, however, we find sleeves that extend midway between shoulder and elbow and these may be plain or puffed. For afternoon wear, short sleeves of transparent chiffon are being featured. Other afternoon frocks have bertha collars which partially cover the upper arm.

Summer ensemble suits often have coats with long sleeves posed over sleeveless frocks of matching material. Just now, we notice several long-sleeved afternoon frocks worn with sleeveless coats. We have also seen instances of this mode at the dinner hour when black lace gowns with long sleeves have accompanying sleeveless lace or georgette jackets. The short bolero is also worn with long-sleeved afternoon frocks, but in this case the bolero is usually part of the frock itself and not a separate coatee.

The most becoming type of short sleeve to my mind is when the shoulder of the frock is elongated to cover a portion of the upper arm. Sleeves extending midway between shoulder and elbow seem rather unbecoming to most arms. When one is young, short balloon sleeves or puffs are both youthful and becoming, but matrons find that their upper arms look best when partially concealed by chiffon drapery or flowing panels. Short-fitted sleeves or puffs would be quite as fatal to mature figures as the sleeveless mode. Stout arms should be concealed in some manner and should never be outlined by tight-fitting sleeves. Medium loose sleeves or flowing draperies which extend from the shoulder are far preferable.

SHAWLS AND LEGS.

Plain silk shawls bordered in deep fringe of matching shade are just a bit more fashionable than the embroidered Spanish types at Southern Winter resorts. These either match exactly the color of the evening gown or act as direct contrast. Often the shawl matches the colored satin slipper. Silver slippers, however, still continue to outnumber all other types for evening purposes. Nude hosiery is worn with them quite as often as the silvery shades.

White outfits consisting of one-piece frocks and long coats are very popular at Palm Beach again this season. Some of the newer white coats are trimmed with light beige fur on collar, cuffs and down the fronts. Sunburnt stockings and white shoes complete the white and light beige effect. One seldom wears white stockings with white shoes these days. Legs, it seems must look nude and in Southern climates the sunburnt nude is most effective.

SPRING SUITS.

Suits, ensembles, and long and short separate coats are all included in the spring costume catalogue. Suits are of primary importance due to the fact that they are new after seasons of neglect. Although a few dressy models are shown at recent fashion displays the majority of suits are simple.

Both double-breasted and single-breasted models are shown. Collars may be in outline and finger-tip or wrist length, of mannish lapel type, scarf treatments or entirely lacking. Belts are used on many models extending across the back only or all the way around. Patch pockets on jackets and front pleats on skirts are used on most models. Navy blue, black and beige are favorite suit colors, although greens, lighter blues, mixed weaves and some high colors are noted.

Vestees will probably be as important as blouses for wear with the suits since many women believe that the suit lacks dignity when worn without the jacket. Single animal furpieces are those generally worn with suits. Fox furs are important in the various dyed and natural shadings. One of the newest fox neck-pieces is the white fox pointed in black with black ears and tail tip.

Separate long coats are invariably straight lined and exceedingly simple with accent placed upon seaming and neck-line treatment. While fur trims many separate coats, the long coat which is worn as an ensemble is usually collarless. Often the ensemble coat is unlined to eliminate weight. Both wool and silk coats may be unlined this season. Even suit coats are unlined in many instances.

Opinion seems to be divided as to the popularity of the separate short jacket. In light-weight furs these little wrist-length coats are undeniably chic, especially when worn over little crepe frocks of harmonizing shade. In fabric, however, one doubts whether separate short jackets can be popular except for sports occasions over the jumper frock or one-piece sports model. Calf fur in very light tan shade spotted with white is used for one smart short jacket. Summer-dyed ermine and the new gray-dyed genuine is also used where short coats are considered.

YELLOW KASHA

A charming ensemble for a debutante is of yellow kasha and silk, the dress being of silk with bands of kasha and the coat of kasha with collar and cuffs of silk.

Milady's Best Foot Comes Forward

AND THESE WILL BE ITS EASTER ADORNMENTS

When Milady's foot be dressed. Left to right; glazed gingham pumps, lavender, with patent leather trimmed vamp and heel; elk skin golf tie with alligator saddle; sport slippers of cocoa kid with simulated tongue of beige, and snake skin opera pumps with novelty tip and spike heel.

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, April 11.—When Milady puts her best foot forward in the fashion parade this Easter, it is nine chances to one that the shoe that foot wears will reflect most of the following style points:

It will be fashioned from two kinds of leather.

The two-toned color idea will be emphasized.

A fancy strap, a bow, a buckle, intricate stitching or an ornate cut-out or overlay pattern will decorate it.

Its heel will be a spike—either a modified one for wear with the tailleur or a real spike that is a spike and lifts the foot proudly from the ground, for semi-formal and evening wear.

Last and probably most important in color and design it will be a part of the whole ensemble, and probably will match the purse Milady carries.

But, sum up the styles as one may, words fail to convey the wide range of novelties displayed this spring as the latest words in chic. Individuality in shoes now can be a reality to the woman of taste.

Shoe men have outdone themselves in number of designs and in the novelty ideas executed in the widest variety of skins ever utilized to fashion the footgear of the feminine world.

Varied Leathers.

While glazed kid, calf-skin and patent leather predominate in forming the quarters of the new shoes, the vamp, trimmings and pipings may be made of anything from gold and silver lames for evening wear, to glazed ginghams for street costumes.

Cut-out or overlay designs in contrasting kid which gives the two-toned note to footgear, have replaced the interwoven leather that gave a basket weave effect last season. Many of the so-called sports shoes, designed to be worn with costumes that take the wearer near the tennis court and golf links but never on them, are positively ornate with intricate two-toned cut-outs or overlay patterns.

Sharkskin is the latest addition to the long list of skins pressed into service for women to walk in. Blue is the color, sharkskin usually takes for daytime wear and at night it changes to blonde. Snakeskin and lizard still lead in popularity, however, for nothing is lovelier than the browns of all shades that the former comes in and the soft silvery grays that synchronize with the pastel shades of spring attire.

Alligator is also in high favor. Nothing is trimmier than a smart two-strapped slipper of this that fastens with little mannish buckles instead of buttons. By their fastenings, incidentally, can the smart shoes be known. A trick scalloped strap, an entwined strap, or a twin-strap may meet the other side of the shoe with a bow, a buckle, a jeweled pin or a button of unusual cut or color.

One of the most interesting and most important developments this spring is the new pastel colors shoes step to chic in. Kids and other skins now fashion dainty slippers of the most delectable yellows, greens, blues and lavenders. The Nile green or shell pink ensemble can be a perfect symphony now with matching dainty slippers. Lizard comes in pastel tones too, but more gray lizard is used.

More Comfortable.

To look at some of the new slippers, one might think that shoes have been reduced to a minimum, like the length of skirts and bobbed hair. But as his true in the last two cases, the new styles are far more comfortable than the clumsy old high shoes women of a decade ago bought for their Easter parade. Scientific design and artistic decoration have united to make the new works of art absolutely comfortable

Shoes this Easter merely are one more example of the tendency of the age to beautify and compliment women. The new styles all have slenderizing lines, achieved by their cut and their decoration. Even brogans and gum-soled sports ties are designed so that their saddles of contrasting leather, their fancy tips and stitchings give the foot that desired slender look.

The biggest problem this spring is not to find footgear that suits, but too many styles to choose from. Any costume can be matched in footgear and any occasion, be it daytime or night, has its own style. Footgear is really much too pretty and irresistible! For it is not pains but pangs that the new slippers will give women this year, pangs of desire to obtain at least a dozen pairs!

Prunes and Prisms In a Garden

By Marjorie Howe Dixon

For a little bit of imaginative exercise, there is great grand-mother's portrait to be painted in one's mind. Picture her as a girl. She would sit primly at her embroidery frame, long curls about her bent head, and murmur very softly, "Prunes and prisms."

This was to train her lips into a perfect cupid's bow, or something of the sort. At any rate, this wee maid would presently finish her stunt and with a childish glad cry, would dash away from the tedious sampler, and run for the garden, to romp and play.

As she grew into gracious ladyhood, the garden would become her delight. After a bit, one would see the imprint of the "prunes and prisms" there. One would glimpse that delicate precision of taste, that would know how to place a tiny stone figure in exactly the right place.

Kneels Among The Flowers.

If it were an impish stone figure, she would want it to stand in her perennial border, where it could grin at her as she knelt in her painstaking work among her lovely flowers.

Fragrance of mignonette and lavender with tiny forget-me-nots help bring this picture to mind, with winding walk and a tinkling fountain somewhere, and a handsome old urn overflowing with petunias and "love-in-a-mist."

One thinks of those days as full of a sweet lesiure, in which gardens and good taste grew side by side, so that one unconsciously absorbed those gentle principles, that some have tried in vain to learn. It is not so easy to capture an old time atmosphere in a garden, when "realism," "efficiency" and "speed" are modern shibboleths.

Sun-Dial Useful Then.

Many of grandmother's favorites may still appear in our gardens, in our old fashioned flowers, and in our choice of stone pieces. A sun-dial was really useful in her day, and is still a joy for us. Benches of stone and marble, she knew, and ,wisely used, where a good position would afford opportunity for rest and meditation. A bench properly placed may silently remind you of a lovely view. Sit there a while and enjoy it.

We use well-heads now purely for their decorative value, while grandmother needed hers. Yet she planted rose vines, too, and doubtless enjoyed her clear cold water, so much the more for finding a rose petal floating in it.

There is something about a garden pool that always appeals. And if one can have stone things to go with it, there one can show one's taste. A shell makes a pretty bowl for a fountain, a stone frog belongs at the edge of the pool, and in the tall shrubbery at one end, hermae may stand. You know what they are. A head, sometimes that of a satyr, tops off a tall shaft of stone. They have been called this ever since—well—long before Columbus arrived and discovered us.

Terrace Should Be Secluded.

An outdoor room brings one closer to a garden—not a glassed-in room, a real room, with the sky for a ceiling. Whether the terrace be flagged or of turf, it should supply the quiet seclusion of one's living room, with some of its comfort, too.

Iron table and chairs are so fine in design and workmanship that they have grown in popularity, not only for the terrace, but for the porch and sun parlor, and often stray into the front hall, as well.

For indoor use, there are upholstered seats of damask and velvet, in the iron seats. And one may always take a mass of cushions outdoors, too.

Interesting Tops for Tables.

Small tables have fascinating tile tops, reversible tiles, laid in the rim. It would be difficult to set the tea things thereon. One's guests would be sure to want to take the tiles out and rearrange them, like a game of blocks.

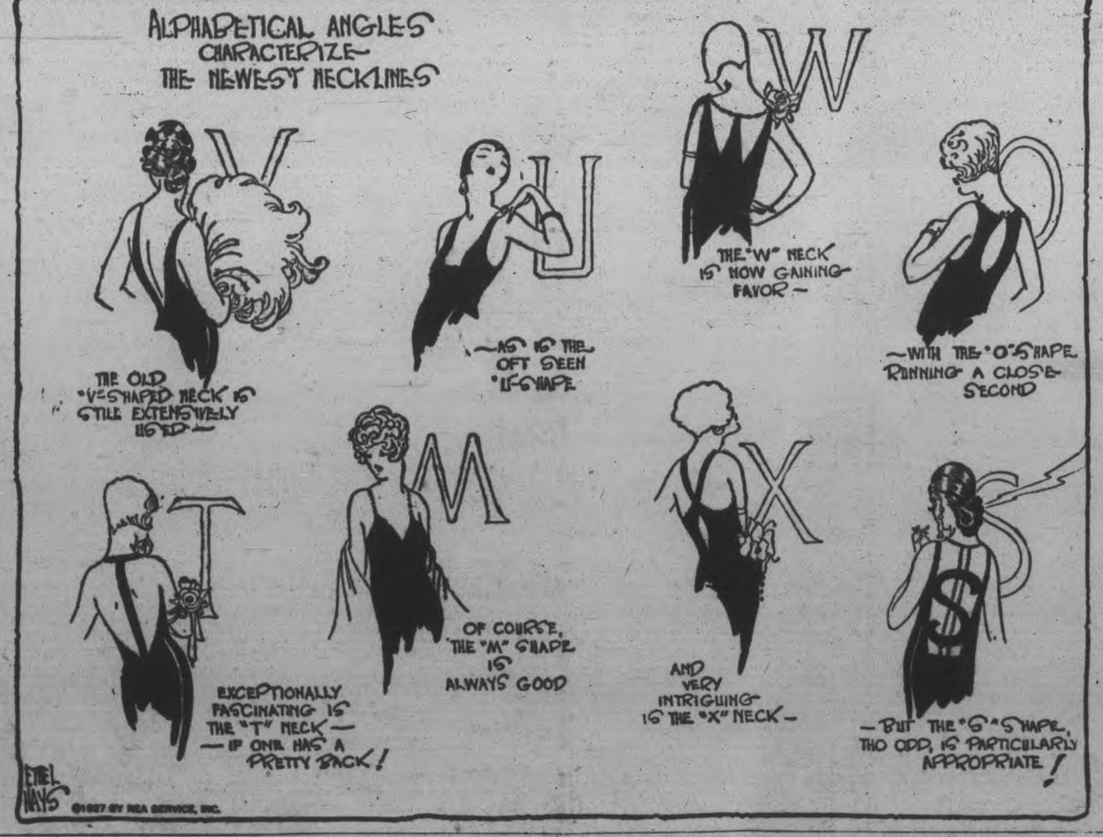
Flower boxes and large urns belong on a terrace, to bring the color of flowers nearer. Boxes have always found homes on window ledges, or just below them, and they also can stand alone on stone supports. Urns always seem to go nicely with steps, standing as sentinels, and holding their contributions in bouquet form.

An oil jar is a stately joy in a garden. It wears a dignified mien, and does not invite you to trifle with it. If you should peep in and find a family of elves keeping house therein, why—you may be sure the oil jar would disclaim all responsibility. You couldn't expect it to get upset about an elf more or less. You might as well expect a chandelier to feel concerned about a cobweb.

Any well-equipped garden has its troop of elves. If you are in doubt about it, well, that is the very reason you never see them. They are very sensitive and always disappear when doubting people come around.

Troop of Elves.

No one but a band of elves would ever take the trouble to sprinkle all the spider webs with pearls of dew in the morning. Now, would they? Of course, if you are going to explain that away, too, why you—you just don't belong in a garden, that's all.



IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE.

FLOWERED SILKS

Floral silks with their air of gracious charm and sheer femininity are being used more for frocks as summer approaches.

SHOULDER PINS

The newest of jewel sets include earrings, bracelets and shoulder pins of matching design and gems. Emeralds and rubies, edged with pearls, in an oval design, form a smart set.

RAFFIA TRIMMINGS

Solid embroidery or raffia in many colors decorates pink or green kid flat purses that are dressy enough to accompany the most exquisite frock.

COLORED SHOES

To grace milady's pace this spring come dozens of colored shoe models. Beige, rose and gray form the vanguard of color. But for afternoon and evening each gown can be matched in slippers in satins, kid and even linen.

ORNAMENTS

By Alma Whitaker

This is one of the things that every woman knows—who has ever succumbed to the lure of ornaments. Oh, but ornaments can be tyrants. There were, for instance, Leonore's rhinestone conceits.

It was when Leonore was tempted to buy her first expensive dress. And that one with the rhinestones captivated her. It was much more expensive than her finances really justified, but the saleswoman pointed out that those lovely rhinestone ornaments could do duty on many another gown. So, of course, the gown was more of an investment than an extravagance.

Oh, yes, we have all been there. So Leonore fell—and those rhinestones have been her chief sartorial tyranny for years. Quite awful not to use rhinestones when one owned rhinestones; quite wicked to consider a gown on which those rhinestones could not be utilized. They have doomed Leonore to horrid sartorial restrictions through the years, chained her to one scheme of color.

Living up to Ornaments.

Ostrich feathers and "a piece of good fur" blighted my own life for a few years in the same way. Brother had sent me two stylish ostrich feathers from Africa—they were stylish that year. But ostrich feathers never were my style. But where is the girl who would consign a couple of grand ostrich feathers to oblivion when they were the height of style? So I cut my dubious dash in feathers that season, never quite able to live up to their glory. And for years my best hat had to have feathers—dyed, made over, curled, glycerined, turned into "tips," plastered down under tulle . . . ugh, the years of my girlhood that were sacrificed to feathers!

And there was the fatal coat which had such "a piece of good fur" for collar and cuffs. That piece of good fur alone justified the price I paid for it. For many a winter after that my coats all had to conform to that "piece of good fur." Nothing but the merciful moth saved me from those ostrich feathers and that fur . . . yet even so I felt bound to feel conscience-stricken that I had let the moth get them.

Now this Leonore of the rhinestones is a film-scenario writer, and she tells me that "ornaments" still haunt her in her work. Producers will insist upon paying huge sums for published books by great names, instead of buying original stories written direct for the screen.

Leonore is Against Ornaments.

And half the time it is the book's "ornaments" that they have bought, literary ornaments that are most unsuitable for screen reproduction. If she could disregard those literary ornaments she could produce marvellous stories infinitely more appropriate for the purpose. But always, always, those literary rhinestones must be considered. . . . Yes, Leonore is strong for the judicious scrapping of ornaments.

And sometimes we writers get an ornament complex of our own. It is quite likely to be an ornamental idea —very flashy and intriguing when we first discover it. It makes a little temporary hit—and forever after we feel constrained to drag that ornamental idea in somewhere. Politicians get it, business men get it, salesmen get it, actors get it . . . some flashy ornament that dazzled us once and keeps us chained to its false glitter years beyond its charm and attraction.

It is rather pathetic, this chaining ourselves to ornaments, ornaments that seem so alluring to-day but which so soon outlive their flashy charms. We own them for a while, but soon they own us and make us slaves.

"Cutting one's loss" in business is a sound maxim that wise men follow. Junking one's ornaments in good time is equally desirable if our dazzled minds can only realize it. Very, very few ornaments are destined to become precious heirlooms.

Beautiful New Silks Have Arrived For Easter

Promises

By Douglas Malloch.

What, after all, are Winter's snows
But promises of Summer's rose?
For these far heights, so white, so cold,
Within their silent canyons hold
The frozen waters of the Spring,
That down their rivers yet will sing
And bring new joy to everything.

What, after all, is absence then
But promise of great joy again?
This thought can make the parting sweet,
The promise of returning feet.
And I can let you go away,
And smiling, if you only say
That you will come again some day.

What, after all, will absence be
If you will but remember me?
I'll scan the wintry heights, and wait,
I'll listen for the click of gate,
I'll watch the melting of the snows,
I'll watch the valley for the rose,
But most of all for you, God knows!

Smart Women Set The Easter Fashion

(By Henri Bendel.)

NEW YORK, April 11.—Easter approaches with the Paris couturiers sceptical and waiting for fashionable women to give them their cues.

If it is pleasing to women, they can make radical changes. But if the established modes with their ease and comfort are too deeply entrenched in feminine favor, they will play ball with their clients.

Independent.

They know you can't force women any more about clothes. You can't convince them a style is good, just because it is new, or prejudice them against another just because it is old.

Style arbiters know that what will determine the spring and summer mode is what the smart women will select for themselves. And until smart women have given the cue, designers must play for time.

So they have not changed lines much, though they are ready to reestablish the normal waistline when the psychological moment arrives. They will lower skirts when women insist, but not before.

Designers Waiting.

They have changed materials very slightly. Chiffons and satins are the most popular materials for daytime frocks, with satin crepe as strong as ever. Until they know how women want to turn, designers are marking time.

Crepes are soft and serviceable and the reverse side may be used for trimming. Satins are very soft and not too thick. Chiffons are less durable than either of the other materials, but they are very popular both in plain colors and in prints.

The vogue for black and white seems to have no limit in Paris, and is worked out very effectively in costume ensembles. There are stunning white satin or crepe frocks to be worn under slim black coats lined with white, and very novel three-pieces made with white overblouses and dark skirts and coats. Black and white prints were never so clean-cut and so well designed.

Illustrating this black and white vogue is the Goupy creation photographed. The skirt is of cire satin with pleats at each side of the front. The blouse is of white surah crepe with long tight sleeves and a surplice line that winds around the back and forms a bow on the right hip. It is piped and trimmed with the black satin of which the skirt is made.

The second model is a Patou frock of plain green chiffon made over a slip of exactly the same shade. Long tight sleeves button all the way to the elbow, and the frock buttons up the back, beneath the big bow at the back of the neck with the streamers that reach the hemline. The skirt is cut in circular shape and is so full it gives the impression of tiers.

Chiffons Simple.

The chiffon dress of this season is very simple in line—almost tailored. It is self-trimmed and depends on line for its distinction. Colors for day incline toward soft greens, the new blues, gray and tans. For evening pale blue and white are particularly liked, although every color is seen. In Paris, every other woman is wearing black chiffon.

Sleeves in chiffon frocks are much plainer than those in satin. The transparent materials of this season, such as ... oval dolly ... chiffons, three ... or a lace ... yellow background.

THE J.C. Turnbull CO. LTD.

SPRING COATS.

Hundreds of fashionably dressed women, encouraged by recent springlike days, have forsaken their fur wraps and are appearing in new spring coats and hats.

The extensive use of beige tones in wraps, gowns, hats and accessories is noted. Beige coats trimmed in ombre lapin, ermine or beige fox are numerous. These are matched in most instances by beige felt hats which offer a change from the brighter felts of red and green which we've been accustomed to.

There are three distinct beige tones which are important this season: Golden beige, banana beige and bisque beige. Bisque and Golden beige are most apparent at present, although it is thought that the banana beige tones will be more popular as summer approaches.

Even women who are still clinging to fur wraps are brightening their costumes by using spring millinery. Blue felt hats in the light shades are favored by many of the younger women. Queen blue and softer grayish blues are much in evidence. Greenish blues are also noted. Very few straw hats of color have appeared to date, although black straws are seen everywhere. The tendency among smart women seems to be to cling to felts as long as possible. The most popular hat worn by youthful women is the skull cap which dips in tabs over the ears. Recent models have very long-pointed ear-tabs with a tiny dip at the back of the neck which follows the hair line.

Among the loveliest of in-between season coats are those of velvet with borders of self-colored beaded embroidery. One very lovely Valencia blue velvet model beaded in self-color was matched by a small blue skull-cap. The beadwork was concentrated about the border of the hem line and upon the wide shawl collar.

ENSEMBLES.

Ensemble ideas in dress have become so popular with the well-dressed woman that many gown houses are designing hats to match their gowns. Now in Paris at present are hats of chiffon made in turban effect. There is no attempt at transparency, however, since the idea is to conform the sheer material to the semi-tailored millinery effects of today.

Flowered chiffon frocks made with side drapery and using shaggy shoulder corsages of self-material are included among the recent afternoon gown collections. Patterns this season consist of small flowers or small geometrical designs.

Among the Spring coat collections are many mint green models trimmed in ombre lapin or red fox fur. Shaggy furs are used on coats of wrap-around type, the fur extending down the fronts to the hem. Most of the Spring coats use fur trimming of some description. Straight coat lines are the rule.

The cape-coat has been entirely neglected for Spring. Except in instances of raincoats we see none of them. For young girls, caped raincoats without sleeves are designed for sports wear.

Snakeskin in a mottled tannish shade is used in banding effect to trim collars, belts and pockets of black and tan cashmere coats. Handbags act as harmonious snakeskin accessories.

Spanish shawls are still considered the most effective evening wraps for Southern resort wear. Beautifully embroidered and deeply fringed, they are being worn over pastel chiffon frocks which have shadings repeated in the shawls.

Flowers that Come In the Springtime Drapes

By Marjorie Howe Dixon

"Flowers that bloom in the spring," sings a popular opera, "have nothing to do with the case."

It doesn't say about the casements, does it? Our windows and some pieces of our furniture blossom annually. A period of cultivation is necessary, of course, and the most careful planting of ruffles, and setting out in order of neat rows of pleats, with borders of fringes, with pins for stakes, to fasten the wayward rows, and one's trusty (not rusty) needle for a hoe, and a spade and a rake.

How to Select Curtains.

As to cultivation, one finds that here, as in gardening, lies the initial step. There are original ideas to cultivate, and practical ones, too, and oh, so many decisions to make. Sunlight and rain in a garden are vital factors—while light, colored, plain or sunny is the chiefest thing in curtaining. The first decision to make is this:

Do you want to see out and enjoy the view, or do you want to shut out the view? A fairly opaque casement cloth will shut out the view as will pongee and some of the other materials. In many cases, where ugly walls are too close, one's desire is to let in the light but shut out offending buildings.

Nets, Gauzes and Scrims.

When one lives in the country or in the suburbs, it seems a great shame to shut out the view entirely. Net curtains and gauzes and scrims will secure privacy and yet enable one to see out. At the same time the light flowing in is tempered according to the material used.

Net curtains are arranged so that an appropriate pattern may be selected to go with the room and its period. There are simple designs for Colonial rooms and elaborate ones for the French periods, and heavily meshed nets for Spanish and Italian interiors.

The color of the glass curtains has much to do with the light. If you wish cool tones, use gray net. Warm tones can be introduced by using cream, yellow or rose net. Herein lie great possibilities for study and careful choice.

Window drapes offer many, many opportunities for thought and for the display of one's taste. Just as muslin and small-patterned chintzes do not belong in a formal room, so heavy damask and velvets would not properly decorate a cottage bedroom. What a wide range of materials there is to choose from!

Then there are the walls to consider. A large pattern in the wallpaper would demand a smaller one in the curtains or a plain or striped material. Where the wallpaper has a small or vague pattern the hangings can be as definite and vigorous as they like.

For formal rooms, damask and velvet and patterned taffetas are used. The services of a decorator may be necessary to decide about valances and just how and where the drapes are to be tied back. Here, as nowhere else, the colors chosen must be exactly right and the treatment of the windows in harmony with the period of the room.

Hand-blocked linens and glazed chintzes are useful in the more informal living- and dining-rooms. Besides these there are many new fabrics, all sunfast, with silky qualities and lovely colors and patterns.

Cretonnes and small-patterned chintzes are lovely in bedrooms. Then there are ruffled curtains in almost endless variety. Scrims, muslins, grenadines come made up, with tie-backs, and valances, and they are ready to hang.

Slip covers are made in many of the materials that have been mentioned. Glazed chintz is a great favorite. It comes in plain and patterned fabrics. Cretonne slip covers can be washed an kept fresh. Oilcloth is used for porch furniture and covers the seats of some of the iron pieces. Cushions of oilcloth have many uses, for the porch, the sun parlor or the car.

The blossoming of the living-room in its new and fresh curtains and the appearance of large pieces blooming with fresh slip covers is an annual event, we all look forward to each year.

Accessories They Are Wearing This Spring

A trip through the stores these days wil convince you that never have the accessories for the feminine wardrobe been so beautiful, so exotic, so exquisite.

All those little "doo-dads" so dear to the heart of every woman and so important to her costume if she would be faultlessly correct and well dressed, you'll find in endless array.

Little Things Count.

"It's the little things that count" is the rule of the well dressed woman this spring and an entire frock may be "made" by such a small thing as a belt.

And speaking of belts, be it known that this little accessory—for so many years regarded as simply something to outline the hips—has become so important that we're going to begin our little story with just what is correct in the "belt line" this spring.

Here are some "belt details": Suede belts in combinations with gold or silver kid, applied in patterns and pulled through or pleated are good. Favored colors are almond green, ashes of roses, henna, Spanish raisin, French blue and gray. Small leather belts are fashionable in lizardine, snake or sharkskin simulations.

Gold jewelry is still very much in vogue. We see it in bangles slave bracelets, in earrings, buttons and belt fastenings. Pearls are still the most popular jewelry for the neck, both for daytime and evening wear.

Showing Dainty Cuffs.

Be it the glove novelty cuff or slipon, decoration is very important. The stores are showing dainty cuffs of tiny rose-buds and another smart glove has leaves of red and green kid appliqued. Reminiscent of the quaint old-fashioned sampler is the embroidery on the cuff of a silk glove.

Polka dots of varied colors are effectively used on a beige capeskin model. On a certain slip-on glove there is an insert of [illegible] Ma[illegible]id.

[illegible] most in demand and beige, white, tan and black are good.

"Around Her Neck"

She'll wear dainty collars or lace, ruffled net, georgette and organdie. Collar and cuff sets are very important and most of them are tailored. Sailor collars and cravats are used in all widths and in all fabrics. Jabots and yokes are stressed.

Last but not least, are the bags for spring. For all the talk about "frivolous womankind," she knows that for shoping her bag must be practical and so we see the simple leather bag holding the very highest position in the bag mode. These are shown in ample pouch shapes or in envelope style with a black strap.

Others are of shirred leather in large boat shapes and flat square bags are much in evidence. One and two-tone combinations of pigskin, alligator and brilliant colored morocco leathers are used. Two leather combinations are favored, too, such as kid with suede.

These Colors Are Desired

Fashionable colors are green, blue and tan. Red is used more as a trimming on black or navy, although we've seen some clever bags. —all in red. Monograms on bags are still very good. On shopping bags, they are very large in gold, silver or enamel and again we see combinations of crystals and black enamel.

For more formal wear, bags are of brocade in pouch shape, hung from gorgeous jeweled frames. Jeweled envelope purses are also smart for evening.

About Little Sister's Spring Wardrobe

Influenced no doubt, by the simple tailored mode of her older sister, we find the fashions for Miss Seven to Fourteen Years characterized by tailored styling and absence of ornamentation.

Trimmings are almost entirely of fabric and the use of two and three-tone treatments are noticed on all the smart little dresses. Wool crepe and crepe de chine are the favored materials.

In wool crepe we see a decided preference in the use of blues, greens and beiges. Flannel is noted, too, trimmed with linen collar and cuffs and tailored flat pearl buttons.

Silk Models Tailored.

In the clever little silk models we see the influence of the tailored mode adhered to again very conspicuously. Also on most of the little dresses the use of two and three-tone color combinations is the most prominent trimming.

[illegible] flowers, fabric cord belts and pleatings in different arrangements carry out the fabric trimming idea that is so much in vogue for spring.

Modes for Littlest Sister.

Infants' adorable little frocks for spring are shown in a wide variety of styles, from basque effects with quaint ruffled skirts to demure prints with simple smocking as their only trimming. Small patterns of soft colorings in prints are highly favored. Quaint florals, vivid dotted and futuristic designs in cotton fabrics are also used in gay little dresses.

Ruffles are seen often on dainty colored organdie which seems to be regaining favor with the smart youngest set. Organdie is seen on collar and cuffs, pockets as well as belts that tie in saucy bows at the back.

THE NEW FLAPPER.

Anyone looking over a group of young girls in a ballroom today would surmise that the flapper had taken a flop. The girl in her teens has lost her appearance of oversophistication and has become as demure in her dress as her Grandmother was. Period gowns of taffetas and tulles, made with semi-fitted bodices of normal waist-line and long full skirts, have transformed the short-skirted flapper into an old-fashioned girl.

Changeable taffeta frocks, with their hem-lines deeply bordered in tulle or velvet and scallop-edged, are those chosen by the majority of young girls. Plain taffetas with quilted hem-borders are also prevalent. One must look like a doll boudoir pillow if one is young this season. Bouffant skirts, slender bodices and ankles partially hidden by long hems are the mode.

The vogue for letting the hair grow long continues to have many youthful followers. Older women, however, are a little less keen on long locks. Some girls look decidedly quaint and lovely with the new hair-dress which draws the hair back off the forehead with sidecombs behind the ears and arranges the back hair in ringlets over the neck. This style is extremely attractive when the period gown is worn. Often long antique earrings matched by short necklaces with pendants are worn with this old-style manner of arranging the hair.

As far as street clothes are concerned, the young girl continues to wear coats or suits of slender lines and short skirts. However, there is nothing blatant in her manner of wearing clothes as there was some seasons ago. Hats are worn straight on the head, hair is almost concealed beneath the hat and about the only thing flapperish is the flopping galosh. Newer than galoshes however, are leather boots of Russian type. Shoes are not worn beneath them as they are merely part of one's attire and not an over-boot.

SMART HANDBAG

Fish skin, with little bands of green leather for trimming and a green leather top and strap, fashion quite the smartest of smart handbags this season.

FUR COLLARS

Flat furs trim the smartest spring coats. Unborn calf used for collar and [illegible] on a beige twill is an

Here's WHAT Mr. MAN will wear this Spring

(By Harry M. Morrison.)

Color, as in no season in the history of the clothing industry, promises to be the greatest magnetic force in the sale of suits and topcoats for spring.

When the buxom Cadillac—the conservative, staid Cadillac—blossomed forth with "500 color combinations" and registered new peaks of success, the day of color had arrived.

When conservative, tradition-tied London tailors present "lustrous cedar wood or mixtures of old plum and gold," the days of dull blacks and dead shades are gone.

Color in Everything.

When color runs riot in furniture, home furnishings and motor cars, in footwear, pajamas, underclothing and suspenders and countless other commodities, the day of color is definitely here—and color can be harnessed as a selling proposition.

The lifeless blacks, drab and dull grays are not potent in their appeal. Man lives not by utility alone, but is motivated by beauty, by color.

For spring the light, bright "sunburned" colors are predicted to rule.

New Blends are Offered.

Tans and sand shades, browns and grays in entirely new blends, enriched with sheenful threads are promikent.

All of which promises to mane this spring one of the most colorful seasons in scores of years.

While color will take the spotlight, style, of course, hasn't been overlooked. The tendency in suits is toward three-button models—the looser effect. The double-breasted suits have seen their vogue. They will sell only sparsely in spring—and then confined mainly to blues. This is according to salesmen's reports for the larger clothiers.

Of course, the two-button Suits, the old stand-by of many years, will continue in favor with a certain class, particularly the business man.

Short Coat for Collegian.

The college type of suit, with its short, straight, boxy coat, six-button vest and wide straight trousers, will continue to intrigue the younger man—and if predictions mean anything there should be an unusual sale of such clothes. For this style oxfords and blues will share favor with the "loud" strange designs.

Among the patterns, herringbones are expected to prove extremely popular, especially in the wider effects. Glen Urquarharts and plaids will be in considerable demand. Stripes, while they promise to interest a great many, probably will not be as popular this season as heretofore.

"Twists" are going to enjoy a considerable headway, as are also cheviots and worsteds.

Notch Lapels Favored.

Notch lapels (square and rounded notches) will be almost unanimous favorites. "Peaks" are gradually passing out of the sartorial picture.

In topcoats it is expected that the regulation button-through model will be the prime favorite, but there are indications that the fly front will be demanded in limited numbers by the younger dressers.

Another style—the raglan—is coming and coming with greater force. There seems to be a feeling in well-informed quarters that raglans will register their real success in the higher priced ranges.

Straight Tubular Models.

Most of the coats will be a trifle shorter than heretofore, with lengths from 46 to 47½ inches, with most models straight and tubular.

As they say in financial advertisements, these forecasts are not guaranteed, but were taken from sources that are deemed dependable.

New Color Creations in SPRING HATS

The most interesting news in men's hat styles this year is the striking "come-back" of the Derby! The college boys, who really are the ones who make or break styles, are enthusiastically adopting the Derby, and it therefore bids well to become popular throughout the country.

From a standpoint of appearance, the Derby always held its own, to a certain extent, looking well, and apparently being a necessary adjunct for dress occasions. But not until this season has the Derby begun to be worn in such large numbers. The "brown Derby" of comic-paper fame also will demand attention, although not nearly as great as its darker brother.

The felt hat of other years continues to be the leader, while sharing popularity with the Derby. Felt hats in Fedora shape, and single crease style styles will be worn this year. The crowns are a trifle lower and noticeably smaller; while brims are either the snap variety or curved. Both bound and raw edges will be seen.

In regard to colors, grays, tans and browns will predominate, with a sprinkling of the ever-popular blue, as well. The variety of shades or "tones" of these colors will be amazingly great, featuring the pastel shades.

Hat bands seem to have settled down into consevativ ways as there will not be enough colorful bands to be seen to amount to anything.

This Year's Straw Hats.

This year the straw hat will make itself "felt" more strongly than ever, so great is the variety from which the particular man may make a selection. Light-weight straw hats will, of course, hold first place, the conventional sailor easily leading the field. Straw sailors will be decorated with gayly-colored bands, while the straw itself will favor white, light brown and tan shades.

The "oatmeal straw" hats will be the big novelty this year. This is a rough weave hat having an "oatmeal" appearance, and coming in a variety of shapes, and several shades.

The variety of brims on straw hats will not be great, as the size seems to be pretty much standardized, being just about the same as last year, possibly a trifle narrower.

Panamas and Leghorns.

A certain percentage of men will favor the "old reliable" Panama and Leghorn hats, as most suitable to their taste. Panamas will be in the customary styles, fedora, optimo and semi-telescope, in the conventional Panama tones. Leghorn straws will be in several color effects, ranging from white to light brown.

The time-honored cap will continue to hold its popularity, although there is nothing startlingly new in cap styles. The one- and eight-piece models are still good, and visors are a trifle wider. Rather loud patterns may be expected this season—all being especially suitable for sports and out-door wear rather than for daily use.

FINE TUCKS.

Spring frocks for street and sport show a wide use of tiny tucks in groups, as trimming for blouse and skirt.

GOLD AND RED.

Gold is being used extensively with red in the more formal evening gowns.

Back To Knickers

Fashions in boys' apparel have undergone a complete right-about-face this year. Temporarily, at least, boys' clothing has ceased to mirror dad's and no longer will the young fellow of the house look like a junior edition of his father.

The young boy this year goes back into the knickers of several years ago—the knickers being cut full and roomy, with a decided bloused effect. Long trousers for the young lads are taboo. Apparently the parents this year will allow their children to appear as children.

Knickers for Younger Boys.

Two-trouser suits will be very popular, naturally, as from a standpoint of economy they make a big appeal to parents purses. Both pair of trousers, however, will be knickers, or in some cases, one pair of knickers and one pair of long trousers. The larger boys, of high school age, will wear long trouser suits, of course.

The coats to this year's suits are very much like the men's—the most popular being high-cut three-button models, in single-breasted styles. In blue serge suits there will, as always, be some double-breasted coats shown—although not as many as heretofore.

Just as men's clothes are employing lighter colors, so will the boys' apparel use lighter shades than last year.

Plenty of Grays to Be Worn.

Grays will be worn a whole lot, while tans, light browns and the light mixtures will enjoy and unprecedented vogue.

The usual fabrics, cheviots, tweeds, worsteds, herringbones, homespuns and serges will be staple favorites, with fancy mixtures following closely behind.

White flannel trousers with blue coats will be in evidence to a certain extent—although they will not be strongly featured. This style is usually suitable for Florida, California, etc., and is not so popular inland.

For Little Fellows.

The smaller chaps' apparel follows practically the same style ideas as the clothing for the older boys; chief among this year's changes is the final dismissal of the long trouser idea, and the almost elimination of the "cunning little vest" so favored last season.

Boys' accessories—shoes, furnishings, hats, etc., have undergone very slight changes—nothing particularly new being shown, with the exception of shirts having extremely long peaks on the collars; and pajamas being shown in a dazzling variety of unusually light colors and fancy patterns. These are the only innovations for spring as far recorded.

Colorful Male

The female will be more deadly than the male where colors are concerned this Summer! Zebra stripes and parrot colors are combined to transform heretofore monotoned male into a gorgeous butterfly.

Knickers, blazer coats, sweaters, ties, shirts and socks are the garments most affected by the present urge for pep in male attire. Four hundred different patterns are being utilized for these items. No longer will the well-dressed male cavort in peaceful monotones. Socks striped in blue and gold must be matched by sweaters, blazer coats or knickers. Even the lowly hat-band must bear the color-note of the ensemble.

Multi-colored striped blazer coats are already the highlights of Palm Beach. These are worn primarily for beach purposes although they may be used to replace smoking jackets about the home. Stripes extend either vertically or horizontally. Sweaters of fairiste weave have wide multicolored horizontal stripes. These will be the smart thing for golf and sports wear, being matched by socks with smaller stripes or checks.

Knickers offer the most fanciful color note since these articles of apparel have heretofore been confined to such shades as tan, gray, white, black and white or pencil stripes. Today they blossom forth in stripes of red, green, blue, yellow—or what have you? Materials are either Palm Beach cloth or silk and wool mixtures. Plaid knickers are considered pretty swanky according to one of the most fashionable Fifth Avenue tailors of men's clothing. Medium and large plaids are used but small inconspicuous checks are taboo.

Shirts both for sports and business wear have regimental stripes in two or more colors. Ties have two contrasting colored stripes of such width that when the knot is tied but one stripe is discernable above the waist-coat.

Business suits run to shades of light browns. Shirts worn with them combine stripes of brown and blue, white, ecru or corn color. Ties follow out the color note in their two-colored stripes. And while the male will be a symphony in brown during working hours he will select colors best suited to his personality for his off-hours. The long-felt urge for color in men's clothing is to assert itself. On with the stained spectacles!

HORIZONTAL STRIPES

Horizontal stripes in sport sweaters are the smartest note for the woman slender enough to wear them.

PRINTED FLOWERS.

Flower designs are printed on black georgette or crepe de chine in tones of coral, beige, and gray.

SMALL TIE.

Small patterned silk ties are the smartest for men. These are red oval dots outlined in black on a yellow background.

VOL. LIX., No. 86 — PETERBOROUGH, TUESDAY, APRIL 12, 1927 — PRICE THREE CENTS

Council Decides Against Offer To Hydro

Diplomatic Relations Severed After Mayor's Futile Attempt To Arrive At Reasonable Price

New Spirit of Unanimity Engendered in Council by Demands Voiced by Hydro's Chairman — Aldermen Cannot Recommend Purchase.

NEW HOLD-UP UNCOVERED BY TIDINGS THAT BUS CONTRACT RUNS TILL MAY 20

Tentative Offer of $300,000 Spurned by Commission, But Definitely Lowest Figure Acceptable Not Made Public—Release of Busses Formally Asked.

No further offer to purchase the street railway and gas plant from the Hydro Electric Power Commission will be made by the City Council of Peterborough. This was the unanimous decision of the council in a private session in Committee of the Whole last night.

The definite severance of negotiations followed the presentation of Mayor W. T. Holloway's report on his conference with C. A. McGrath, Chairman of the Hydro Electric Power Commission. At that meeting, His Worship went as high as $300,000 in an effort to draw from Hydro a final figure that would represent the least that would be accepted. His tentative offer to submit $300,000 to his council for consideration was dismissed without the slightest consideration, the price demanded by Hydro being considerably higher. Originally, Hydro asked $575,000, and the City Council offered $150,000 for both utilities.

After confidently looking forward to April 24 as the end of the deadlock, that being the date on which it was believed the Godfredson Bus Corporation would be released from its contract with Hydro, the Aldermen were startled last night to learn from His Worship that this contract does not expire until May 20. Unless released by Hydro, the Gotfredson Company is unable to run busses in Peterborough before that date, and it is apparently the only concern large enough to take over the business.

Unanimously Opposed

When the Mayor had given his report, all the Aldermen being present, he asked whether the Council wished to enter the gas business at the price demanded by Hydro, leaving the street railway out of the question for the moment. The answer was unanimously "nay", His Worship polling the committee and himself declaring against any such business. He then asked an opinion on the street railway, and a resoluton was adopted, declaring the Council cannot consider submitting the purchase to the people at anything like the price asked by Hydro. The Aldermen were not polled on this question, but only one failed to vote in the affirmative, and he did not register a "nay."

Then His Worship suggested a formal request to Hydro to release the Gotfredson Corporation from the contract which keeps four busses locked up in the street railway barn inactive, while Hydro pays for their hire on the basis of 100 running-miles a day each. There was more discussion on this than on the other two questions, but the resolution passed practically unanimously.

Outside Municipalities

During the discussion an Alderman pointed out the fallacy of the position taken by the other Hydro municipalities in the Central Ontario system in supposing that the scrapping of the Peterborough street railway will relieve them of all responsibility. The valuation placed on this system by Hydro is $475,000, and this will have to be absorbed as a loss by the other municipialities in common with Peterborough. In addition, if Hydro allows the franchise to lapse at the end of ninety days, Peterborough will probably be faced with the cost of tearing up the tracks and rebuilding the

Carroll Leaves To-day To Serve Perjury Term

NEW YORK, April 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Earl Carrol, theatrical producer, to-day will bid good-bye to Broadway, where his name is emblazoned in electric lights over a theatre, and begin his journey to the Federal prison in Atlanta, where he will be known by a number on a tag. Under sentence of a year and a day for perjury because, as he said, he "lied like a gentleman" before the Federal grand jury when he said that Joyce Hawley, model and show girl, did not enter a bath tub at a Washington's birthday party at his theatre, Carrol spent his last day of liberty in Washington in a futile eleventh hour apeal to the Department of Justice for clemency.

OTHER TOWNS WILL ACT IF HYDRO UNLOADS

Port Hope Man Says Interested Municipalities Will Take a Hand.

SILENT NOW.

Looks Foolish For Hydro To Refuse Tentative Offer of $300,000.

PORT HOPE, April 12 (Special to The Examiner).—Prominent business men and civic officials here to-day would not make any comment on the street car situation in Peterborough, when it was pointed out to them that at the meeting of the Peterborough Council on Monday night they had definitely severed negotiations with the Hydro when the latter body had refused to accept $300,000 for the utilities for which the Hydro asked $475,000. Most of them felt that it would be unfair to make any comment at this time as they were not cognizant with all the details. While at least two of them stated that on the face of it that it looked foolish for the Hydro to refuse the offer of the Peterboro Council which would mean the scrapping of the Utilities, they also felt that there must be something else behind it all or the Hydro certainly would never take any such action without some very good reason.

"It would be unfair for us to say anything at this time," said one civic official. "We don't know all the details, and it looks to me that if the other municipalities, even individually, make any statements they may be used at some future time. I feel certain that the Hydro are not willingly and purposely attempting to foist all this upon the other municipalities, and even though it would apppear as if they were turning down a good offer, still there must be something else behind it all or they never would do such a thing.

"I think it is entirely up to the Peterboro people to come to some arrangements, and if this cannot be done then when the whole thing is going to be scrapped and loaded on the other municipalities, the interested municipalities, will certainly take a hand. Until that time comes I think it better that none of the other municipalities should take any stand one way or the other."

SCOTLAND YARD PLACES GUARDS

FOR PROTECTION.

LONDON, April 12. — (Canadian Press.)—Scotland Yard, according to the Daily Express, has ordered special uniformed and non-uniformed police to guar the United States' Embassy in London, while Nicolai Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti are awaiting execution in Massachusetts. These precautions are described as due to Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations in various European capitals.

Blind Girl Aged Eight Travels Alone To England

WINNIPEG, Man., April 12 (Special). — Travelling alone from Weyburn, Sask., to Sydenham, England, for treatment, little Hazel Belnein, eight years of age, and blind, passed through Winnipeg yesterday, en route to Saint John, N.B., over the Canadian Pacific lines. After an attack of scarlet fever, followed by measles, the little girl became blind, and her parents decided to send her to her grand parents living just outside London, where she could get treatment which they hope will restore her sight. So arrangements were made with the Canadian Pacific to have her looked after on her long journey across Canada, and she will be placed in the special care of the nurses on board the S.S. Montnairn. Hazel is a particularly bright child, and was busy with a bowl of cereal when her train pulled out of the station. She feels confident that the English doctors will be able to help her.

BANDITS STEAL $13,000 IN CASH

Escape From Buffalo Post Office With Bank Messenger's Bag.

USE ONTARIO CAR.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., April 12.—Canadian Press. — Two armed bandits held up and robbed Francis McMahon, messenger for the Cataract National Bank, in the main post office today, and escaped with about $13,000 in cash. McMahon had just stepped from an armoured bank car under police guard, and entered the building, when the men covered him with guns at the door of Postmaster Frederick G. Newall's office, took the bag of money he carried, and speeded away in an automobile bearing an Ontario license.

When he jumped out of the armored car McMahon ran into the post office. Patrolman Angus McIntyre, one of the three policemen guarding the armoured car, left the machine and followed the bank messenger into the building. McMahon collided with him at the door as he was running out to give the alarm. McIntyre ran across to the door through which the bandits fled, and fired two shots as the machine sped away from the curb. Neither hit the bandit car it is believed.

BREWERY BOOKS ALL DESTROYED

Burned Three Weeks Before Arrival of Customs Commission Auditors.

ARREARS $6,000.

TORONTO, April 12 (Canadian Press).—The books and records of the Sudbury Brewery and Malting Company up to December, 1926, were destroyed last February, "because we did not want them," Joseph Sampson, accountant of the company, told the Customs Commission this morning. They were burned two or three weeks before the Commission auditors went to find them. Mr. Sampson declared the books were destroyed on instructions of General Manager Bruce. "They were in the way," and after the Sales Tax auditor who visited the plant prior to the Commission auditors, told him the books were not required further by Customs. He was not afraid to show the books to any one.

Chief Commissioner Brown declared that the Sales Tax auditor had better be called to find out what he did say.

A. E. Nash, Commission auditor, stated it had not been possible to arrive at an accurate calculation from available records. The amount of arrears on sales and gallonage taxes, assuming that export sales were taxable, he figured at approximately six thousand dollars.

The numerous bank accounts and banking transactions of Mrs. Rocco Perri under her own name and under the name of Miss Bessie Starkman were also reviewed by Commission. Her transactions involved large amounts, according to N. W. Rowell, K.C.

JURY DECLARES DEATH OF ROSE WAS ACCIDENT

Adds Strong Recommendation That Better Signal System Be Used.

OUT 90 MINUTES

Victim Was Apparently Climbing on Elevator When It Started.

"We find that the late James Rose came to his death April 8, 1927 through being crushed by an elevator in the Cressman Store, Peterborough, and that he met his death purely accidentally while being employed in the said Cressman Store, and that we do not consider any of the employees to blame.' This was the finding of the jury at the inquest held last night.

The jury added a clause urging that an efficient signal system be installed for use during adjustments of the elevator, such as were necessary whenever the car was run below the usual stopping place in the basement, as happened at the time of the accident.

The jury was out ninety minutes.

It was brought out in the evidence that whenever the car went down too far or up too far an automatic device stopped it. When this occarred it became necessary for some one to go up to the top of the store and close the contacts. This caused the car to start up, and when it had come a couple of feet the contacts would be released, stopping it. It would then be possible to control the car from the handle inside it.

It was while the operator, Philip Heffernan, 18, was at the top of the shaft starting the car that the accident occurred. Rose had been asked to stand by, and had apparently tried to enter the car just as it started, being caught between the car and the side of the shaft.

Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young presided. G. W. Hatton, K.C. County Crown Attorney, conducted the case. Detective Sergeant W. Meagher acted as coroner's constable. The Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. and J. F. Strickland were also present.

The jury consisted of Robert Morrison, foreman, J. T. O'Connell, Fred Gilmour, John Kemp, George Schneider, William Welch, John Kylie, James Fowler, James Jopling, Stanley Kerneghan, H. J. McCannon, and Thomas Dawson.

Willis Rutherford.

Willis Rutherford, a chauffeur for the Cressman Co. was the first witness called. He first saw the body hanging in the basement of the store. He came in and went to take the elevator. As it was down he went to cellar and when he arrived at the bottom the elevator was up and he saw Mr. Rose's legs and feet. The elevator was nearly level with the floor. The door was shut but the men were able to open it from outside. Rutherford had some difficulty in describing the doors on the elevator and on the walls of the shaft. He got two other men and lowered the elevator so that these two men could catch the body as it came down.

The elevator stops automatically when the switch is not thrown as the car nears the top or bottom. If this happens the operator has to go to the top to close the contacts in the tower with two sticks. It is then possible to start it again from inside. Some person must have gone to the top to start it. Heffernan generally left somebody there to watch it if he had to go to the top. From the top he could not see the elevator; it was not customary, however, to let it come up more than two or three feet. He supposed that Rose had been intending to take the elevator up to bring the operator down.

Rutherford did not think that Heffernan knew what had happened. The operator had come up later and got his hat.

Rutherford did not know whether the elevator would stop unless the switch were thrown. He imagined that it would tear through the body if the power were still on. He thought, however, that the boy had let go of the contacts, supposing that the elevator was high enough to be started from inside.

The body, when he first saw it, was facing into the elevator as if he had been walking in.

Dr. H. M. Yelland.

Dr. H. M. Yelland was called to the scene of the accident about 5.30. He came with Dr. O'Brien and found the body in the basement. The man was dead and several lower ribs on each side had been fractured. There was evidence of severe crushing in the lower body and a bruise on one eye. The crushing seemed to be severe enough to cause death.

Answering Dr. Young witness said crushing in the space between

Churchill Hits America In Remark On Wine Duties

LONDON, April 12 (United Press). — Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, took a slap at America's prohibition troubles, when Lady Astor, a native of Virginia, criticized the schedule of wine duties in the new budget.

"I greatly respect the noble lady," Churchill replied, "but I do not think we are likely to learn much from the liquor legislation of the United States."

LONDON PRESS LITTLE IN FAVOR OF NEW BUDGET

Churchill Assailed For Increasing Expenditures of Government.

INDULGENCE OF RICH.

Many Clauses Criticized — Conservative Papers Also Hostile.

LONDON, April 12 (United Press). — The press of London reacted coldly to the new budget measures which the House of Commons adopted yesterday, soon after they were presented by Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Liberal organs were frankly dismayed by the new taxes and even the Conservative Daily Mail assailed Churchill for the ever-increasing expenditures of the government. The Morning Post alone endorsed the program wholeheartedly.

The press admitted the proposals, designed to provide a, $7,200,000 surplus next year as compared to the $183,470,000 deficit for the fiscal year 1926-27, offended no principles of sound finance. The greatest criticism was directed at Churchill's plans to utilize the road fund reserve for the budget.

It was called a breach of faith, and some editorial writers pointed out the same balance could have been obtained by reducing army and navy expenditures.

The government's attitude toward last spring's general strike was blamed as the cause of the bulk of the deficit. The new budget is "a still further indulgence of the rich," the labor Daily Herald said.

The budget with a revenue of $4,174,150,000 and expenditures of $4,166,950,000 frankly attempted to raise revenue from foreign sources as far as possible.

Much press criticism was levelled against the section making the annual landlords' tax come due in one payment instead of several, which was designed to bring the entire tax into the 1927-28 budget instead of leaving part of it for the next year.

COST OF ACCIDENTS REVIEWED BY SPEAKER AT PETERBORO'S FIRST 'SAFETY FIRST' BANQUET

R. B. Morley Delivers Address on Accident Prevention at Gathering.

SOLOS RENDERED

Show Movies to Illustrate Different Ways They Are Caused.

Industrial Peterborough was well represented at a most enthusiastic banquet held last night in the Empress Hotel. About 180 of the men of this city who are engaged in industry gathered at the first "Safety First" banquet and meeting held here. R. B. Morley, general manager of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, delivered a splendid address on "The Cost of Industrial Accidents," in which he reviewed the working of the Ontario Compensation Act.

A four-reel picture was shown in which accidents resulting from a person not looking, taking a chance, practical joking, inattention, not caring, not thinking, and carelessness were depicted.

Messrs. Melton and McKinley each rendered solos, which were much appreciated by the gathering. William Tinker of the Canadian Woollens, and W. A. Richardson of the Peterborough Canoe Company moved a vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening. J. H. Vernor of the Westclox Company and W. C. Ackerman of the B. F. Ackerman and Son moved a vote of thanks to the soloists. W. S. Ferguson, president of the local branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association acted as chairman.

R. B. Morley.

"It is a great pleasure for me to have an opportunity to talk to the men of industry of Peterborough to-night," said Mr. Morley, in commencing his address. He then gave a brief review of the Compensation Act. In 1926 there were 65,916 accidents which received the attention of the Compensation Board, of which 400 were fatal, and for the year 1926 $5,800,000 was paid as compensation for accidents. In the twelve years that the Compensation Act has been on the statute books there have been over 57,000 accidents receive the attention of the board, 4,728 of these were fatal, and this province has contributed the sum of $57,300,000 in that time for compensation cases.

This amount represents a large sum of money, but that is not all the cost, for there is that of the suffering of the men and women who were injured. All these things have to be considered with the costs of accidents.

The Workmen's Compensation Act is a form of insurance, and insurance is making self safe for something. Everyone here to-night has a certain economical value to this country, and if he dies in the next five years his loss will fall upon those who are left.

First Record.

Industrial or commercial insurance dates back to the time of the early Greeks, for then money was advanced on the safe arrival of cargoes from distant countries. In 1684 there was formed a friendly society in England, in which a certain number of people paid small fees providing protection for their homes against fire.

Compensation Insurance.

Before the Compensation Act was put on the statute books of Ontario the master ran a certain risk and the employee a great deal more. There was a great deal of litigation between employer and employee. On January 1st, 1915, Ontario led the way in having a Compensation Act put into force. To-day an injured worker is entitled to sixty-six and two-thirds per cent. of his average earning wages while he is off work; $2,000 annual wage is set as a maximum; any portion in excess of this there is no compensation. This is for injuries received while at work and not on the way to or from work. The Act also allows for unlimited medical and hospital attention and artificial limbs. In the case of death the widow will receive $40 a month until her death if she does not marry, and in case of her marrying again she receives a cash payment of $960. Every child receives $10 a month until it reaches the age age of 16," said Mr. Morley.

"It is often said that the wife of a careless man is almost a widow for compensation is paid in the form of pensions to men losing an eye, limb or having some part of the body become useless. These things decrease his earning powers and the pension paid is supposed to make up for this deficiency.

Compensation is money found every year by industry to pay for accident costs. In parts of the mining country in the United States

Constant Sittings Delay Printing Of Paper For House

OTTAWA, April 12, Canadian Press.—The almost constant sitting of the House of Commons, manifested itself at the opening of the Chamber this morning.

Members of Parliament on taking their seats, found that copies of the routine proceedings and orders of the day were not available. Speaker Lemieux explained that owing to the fact that the House sat into the early hours of the morning, copies of the orders of the day had not yet reached the House from the Printing Bureau. Shortly after the necessary printed copies arrived and were distributed among the members.

SITUATION GOOD FOR WORKMEN IN PETERBORO'

Employment Office Reports More Placements Than Ever Before.

GREAT DEMAND.

Both Men and Women Can Be Placed—Factories Need Skilled Help.

The general thought of the public is that work seems scarce in the city: more than in any other in the province. An interview with the Employment Bureau by The Examiner disclosed the fact that the working conditions were never in a better state as they are at the present time. This year has seen more placements in every line of work than any previous one; and right now there are many employers needing men immediately, both in the city and in the surrounding district.

Hugh Robertson, of the Peterborough Employment Office, states that from all their offices in the province comes the same report that they are placing more men and women in positions than ever before.

Farm labor seems to be in greatest demand, and a surplus of this labor seems almost impossible to get at the present time. Although this spring has opened up many jobs for farm laborers, builders

HYDRO ACTION HERE BRINGS SUGGESTION OF OSHAWA MAN THAT SYSTEM BE THROWN OUT

If Loss On Street Railway Must Be Absorbed By Other Towns.

MAKE BEST BARGAIN.

Oshawa Should Investigate Possibility of Generating Power By Steam.

(Special to the Examiner.)

OSHAWA, Oct. April 12. — Severance of "relations" in the diplomatic sense between Peterboro City and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission over the business of the greatly famed Peterboro street railway, now rapidly becoming an "underground" line, since it shut down quietly and completely on the night of March 31 last, caused a number of Oshawa men who have taken a leading part in the protest against increased Hydro rates, to make various comments to-day on this new situation.

One official was heard to say that with the cost of the Central Ontario system as shown, and with the $475,000 of the Peterboro tram line thus likely to be "absorbed" by the unwilling municipalities, with a goodly share of this possible for Oshawa, that this city should go rather specially into the study of the cost of generation of electricity, by means of a steam plant, and if this were found to be approximately that of waterpower and transmission over a long distance, then the Hydro might be invited to lower its rates, or step down and out.

That, however, was not the exact line of thought of G. D. Conant, vice-chairman of the Central Ontario Power Association, who, in the absence from the city of the chairman, F. L. Mason, was interrogated on the matter of the justification or otherwise of Hydro in rejecting the Peterboro offer of $300,000, for the Hydro "assets" in Peterboro.

"Some years ago the government acquired in Peterboro a number of utilities, which for a better word we shall call assets," observed Mr. Conant. "In my opinion, the time to have sold these utilities or scrapped them, or unloaded them, was immediately after they were purchased. This was not done, and nothing need be said about that now. That has gone over the dam. What remains now is that the Hydro Commission must make the best bargain it can with Peterboro, for there is obviously no other municipality which has any desire for the utilities. No other place could possibly use them; they have no value to anybody but Peterboro. The loss, whatever it amounts to, must be taken jointly by the other municipalities and the Hydro Commission. The losses could not," Mr. Conant observed, "be propertly spread over the municipalities in reference to what they might pay for their electrical distribution plant, but would be a factor in the settlement of the basis on which power would be supplied to these municipalities. It is one factor which may mean that these negotiations may fall down because it will have to be shown what enters into the price basis besides sinking fund and legitimate charges. I can only say that the Hydro must make the best of a bad bargain, and the loss must remain in suspense until the price basis of power is settled."

RAIL FATALITY WILL BE PROBED

Inquest Into Deaths Following Saturday's Train Collision.

FIREMAN INJURED.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., April 12.—While two grief-stricken Lethbridge families are waiting to receive their dead following Saturday's head on collision at Seven Persons the authorities prepared for the inquest, which opened at Medicine Hat yesterday afternoon. The fatal crash occurred during the worst blizzard of the year. G. Swanson, engineer, at first reported missing, was later found dead beneath the wreckage caused by the collision of the engines.

C. D. Baines, trainman, was also killed. Lou Ward, fireman, was seriously injured. It is believed that Baines and Swanson were instantly killed. Lou Ward made a heroic effort to save the engineer. He risked his own life, getting both hands caught in the terrific impact of the locomotives. Removed to the Medicine Hat Hospital, an operation was performed, both hands at midpalm being amputated. Part of the thumb of both hands were saved.

Investigation into the collision is proceeding, but as yet no official statement as to the cause of the responsibility has been given out.

Australian Baby Tips Scales At 14 Ounces

Sydney, N.S.W., April 12. — A London Evening News cable reporting the birth of the smallest baby has started a feverish hunt through Australian records, and so far two almost incredible diminutives have been brought to light.

One claim concerns a Victorian girl who weighed only 14 ounces when she was born in 1905. In seven months, however, she weighed 9 1-4 pounds, and was reared naturally. She is now the mother of two children. Another astounding claim tells of an Auckland baby who weighed 31 ounces at birth and had to be fed from a fountain pen filler.

Dainty Peach Step-Ins For Men Latest Peril

WASHINGTON, April 12.—"Step-ins" for men are the latest thing being displayed in a haberdashery shop here. The new "male negligee" is practically an exact copy of the feminine article, with orchid and peach the favorite shades.

The "step-ins" also come in jacquard Madras, with various plaid and loud striped effects, a reminder of things worn by old stage comedians.

FIRE THREATENS HIAWATHA HOME

HIAWATHA, April 12.—On Friday morning, some person threw a lighted match into the long grass on the Manse property.

The pastor happened to notice the smoke, which was fortunate, as the fire started to run quickly. The wind was in the south east and was blowing very steadily. It spread with great rapidity and Mr. Garratt procured a wet sack and fastened to a long stick. It seemed to spread still further. In fact there was a danger of burning the home of Hanlan Howard, whose house is west of the church.

Some weeks ago, Mr. Garratt had burned the grass and when the fire ran that far it burnt out. Otherwise there might have been considerable damage.

Mr. Garrat is badly burned. The flames blew back into his face, singeing his eye brows and moustache. All that saved his eyes were his spectacles. His forehead is badly blistered.

CANADIAN ART ON EXHIBITION

Parisian Exposition For Benefit of Artist Veterans Opened Monday.

HIGHLY PRAISED.

PARIS, April 12. — The Paris exposition of Canadian art for the benefit of artists wounded in the war, was opened on Monday at the Jeu de Paume, Tuilleries gardens. There are nearly 300 entrants, and the exposition, which was organized by the Canadian Beaux Arts commission, is being well patronized.

Among the canvases receiving the highest praise are those depicting Canadian interior scenes and others showing the Rocky Mountains.

The artists most mentioned include James W. Morris, Clarence Gagnon, Horatio Walker, Maurice Cullen, Lawrence Harris and Arthur Lismer.

The French president was among the first visitors. He was received by the Earl of Crewe, British ambassador to Paris; Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian trade commissioner and Vergen, director of the French National museum.

FENCES BURNED IN SOUTH DOURO

Fire Starting in Strawstack Does Considerable Damage.

BURNS GRASS, TOO.

DOURO, April 12.—Fire starting in an old strawstack on the farm of Frederick Walsh, in the south eastern part of the township, yesterday afternoon burned a great deal of grass and fencing before it was extinguished.

The alarm was rung on the rural telephone at one o'clock and a great many neighbors responded. They were finally able to quench the flames after fences on Walsh's land, and on the adjoining farms of Thomas Sheehan and Francis O'Connor had been burned.

MICHAEL BORODIN HAS DISAPPEARED

Canton's Red Advisor Vanishes From Troubled Area in China.

LONDON, April 12. — (Canadian Press.)—Michael Borodin has disappeared from active work in China, the Daily Express says, and aside from those in the secrets of the Cantonese government, no one knows what has become of him. Moscow, which has always disavowed Borodin in his capacity as adviser to the Cantonese government, is ignorant of his present whereabouts.

The name of Borodin was mentioned repeatedly at the time the British were negotiating with Eugene Chen, the Cantonese foreign minister, after the anti-British outbreaks at Hankow some months ago. It was charged that the Russian was prompting Chen to assume an intransigeant attitude.

Borodin's wife was among a group of Russians arrested when the Shantungese troops seized the soviet steamer Pamiat Lenina a few weeks ago. The Russians were charged with being on a propaganda mission against the northern Chinese cause.

Many Odd Instruments Used In Cubist Music Causes Delicate Hearers To Flee From Hall

NEW YORK, April 12 (United Press).—A riveter, perched atop of an embryo sky-scraper in noisy Manhattan yesterday, listened to the soul-wrenching clatter of his trade, grinned appreciatively, spat into space and remarked to his companion:

"Us artists are getting appreciated at last."

He referred to the formal apotheosis of the machine age in Carnegie Hall last night, where 3,000 persons heard the ultimate in cubist music—George Antheil's Ballet Mechanique.

A score of men and women sat on the stage and released an indescribable crashing uproar through the medium of whistles, bells, sheets of tin, ten hand-played pianos, a player-piano, bass drums, cymbals and a clattering wind-machine, like an airplane propeller, making 1,200 revolutions a minute.

The effect was devastating. Here and there men and women rose and fled precipitately, to be followed by jeers from hardier souls among the Greenwich Village modernists, who were luxuriating in the heavenly harmony. Boos, stamping of feet and shouts arose from parts of the house, but contrary to expectations, there was no rioting.

Man In Silk Trousers Halts Paris Exchange

PARIS, April 12. — The first appearance in Paris of a young Parisia in knee breeches momentarily interrupted the Stock Exchange operations.

Following an earnest campaign conducted during the winter by a group of advanced Frenchmen in favor of the return to knee trousers as more simplified form of dress, a tall youth, son of a dress maker, appeared at the Bourse yesterday during the height of trading. He wore blue silk breeches, a white silk stock and old-fashioned buckled pumps. An ordinary sack coat and vest and conventional hat and stick completed the apparel.

The brokers stopped their strenuous labors while a large crowd gathered to admire the young man's courage. A young minutes later he continued his promenade along the boulevards.

OLD MASTERS

Death, be not proud, though some have called thee
Mighty and dreadful, for thou art not so:
For those whom thou thinkst thou dost overthrow
Die not, poor Death; nor yet canst thou kill me.
From Rest and Sleep, which but thy picture be,
Much pleasure, then from thee much more must flow;
And soonest our best men with thee do go—
Rest of their bones and souls' delivery!
Thou'rt slave to fate, chance, kings and desperate men,
And dost with poison, war and sickness dwell;
And poppy or charms can make us sleep as well
And better than thy stroke. Why swells't thou then?
One short sleep past, we wake eternally,
And Death shall be no more; Death, thou shalt die!

FIVE POWERS PRESENT NOTES TO CANTONESE

Contains Three Demands From Canton Authorities for Nanking Disorders.

FULL REPARATIONS

Issue Warning Unless Cantonese Comply Would Take Necessary Steps.

SHANGHAI, April 12 (A.P.). — The Nanking disorders of March 24, which resulted in the deaths of seven foreigners, yesterday resulted in the delivery of identic notes at Shanghai and Hankow by the five principal foreign Powers in China containing three demands upon the Cantonese government.

There was no official reaction to the communication delivered at the Cantonese Foreign Office here by the Consul-Generals of Great Britain, the United States, France, Japan and Italy, the Cantonese officials stating merely that their duty was simply to transmit it to the higher authorities.

The only Chinese comment made in Shanghai was by Quo Tai Chi, Cantonese Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, who said that the note did not suggest any means of determining those guilty of the Nanking disorders, and predicted that the first reply might include a suggestion that a joint commission be formed for the purpose of investigating the incident and fixing the guilt.

Demands Made

The demands made upon the Cantonese were as follows:

1.—Punishment of the commanders and troops responsible for the killing and wounding of foreigners, for the indignities to which others were subjected and for the material damage done.

2.—A written apology by the commander-in-chief of the Cantonese armies and a formal promise to abstain from violence against foreigners' lives and interests.

3.—Full reparation for the injuries and damages.

In the communication the Powers warned that unless the Cantonese proved their intention to comply without delay, they would be compelled to take such steps as they considered necessary.

No Comment

In asmuch as the contents of the communication delivered by the Consuls-General had been generally anticipated, yesterday's development was greeted with comparative indifference both by foreigners and Chinese in Shanghai. No comment was forthcoming officially from the foreign authorities here on the note. Unofficially, however, it was indicated that the note was regarded as mild.

No report had been received last night from Hankow to indicate how the Cantonese authorities there looked upon the note, the last word received from there on the Nanking incident coming from Foreign Minister Eugene Chen, who stated that the Nationalists would assume full responsibility if it were proved that their troops were guilty.

Already much speculation has developed as to which of the two wings of the Cantonese regime, which have been at odds some time, will reply to the Powers.

Commissioner Expelled

Within an hour after Quo Tai Chi, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, had made his comment on the communication, the Nationalist News Agency announced that he had been expelled from the Kuomintang party (the Cantonese political organization) because he had been improperly appointed to his post by General Chiang Kai Shek, the Cantonese generalissimo. Although no confirmation could be obtained directly on this, it was stated in reliable foreign quarters that the announcement was correct.

Rumors also persist that Chiang Kai Shek, who has been in disagreement some time with the policies of the Hankow civil government, will shortly be deprived of his command. These rumors have grown particularly numerous in view of the Cantonese reverses reported in the region of Pukow, where the Northern forces have advanced across the river. Various reports received here from the fighting front say that the Cantonese have met a serious defeat and some even state that an envoy has been sent to the Northerners to negotiate a truce.

Breach Growing Wider

It is reliably known that the breach in the Cantonese political organization is growing wider with General Ching heading the moderate faction and Chen, with others at Hankow, leading the more radical wing.

Should the Moderates win, as Quo Tai Chi insists they certainly will, then the question will arise as to who will answer the Powers' notes. In responsible foreign quarters it was stated, however, that the responsibility for the Nanking disorders will still devolve upon the Cantonese, regardless of who are temporarily the leaders.

The Cantonese in Shanghai express the opinion that the edge of the Powers demands was somewhat taken off by the announcement of Quo Tai Chi that the Cantonese have made certain demands on the British Consul respecting the alleged violation of Chinese sovereignty by the British in the last few days.

ADMITS COMPANY CONTRIBUTED MONEY FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES

H. C. Hatch, Manager of Gooderham and Worts, Tells Board.

SPEND $25,000.

Says Campaign To Make Ontario Wet Would Promote Sales.

TORONTO, Ont., April 12.—(Canadian Press.)— Amounts contributed by the Toronto distillery of Gooderham and Worts, Ltd., for political purposes, and "to get the people of Ontario to vote wet rather than dry," were revealed to the Royal Customs Commission yesterday afternoon. To an interested commission, H. C. Hatch, President and manager of this Toronto distilling firm explained certain "special payments" which appear in the books of the company. A list of these payments filed before the commission by A. E. Nash, auditor, was presented to Mr. Hatch for explanation. His answers to questions put by R. L. Calder, K.C., commission counsel, and also by members of the commission itself, were almost inaudible from the body of the court room.

Questioned By Counsel.

Explanation of a specific item of $25,000 paid to cash for sales promotion," was asked for first by Mr. Calder.

"Well, in the first place, I would like to ask the indulgence of the commission," said Mr. Hatch. These payments were more or less private, and I am not very anxious to answer these questions."

"They appear in your books," said Chief Commissioner Brown.

"Yes," agreed Mr. Hatch.

"We want to ascertain the object," remarked Commissioner Roy.

"I do not object to giving the object, but I do object to giving the names because they are the names of personal friends of mine. That particular one on top was used for political purposes."

Commissioner Roy — "Campaign funds?"

Mr. Hatch—"For political purposes, yes."

Chairman Brown— "That is the $25,000?"

Mr. Hatch—"Yes."

"What about the cheques entered and charged to legal sales counsel?" asked Mr. Calder.

"They were used for payments to the Distillers' Association," for mutual protection, and largely funds like the Moderation League," replied Mr. Hatch. "We were trying to get the people of Ontario to vote wet rather than dry," he explained. "There are no political funds in that as far as I know."

Mr. Calder then asked about payments marked "sales promotion." "You have quite a number of them here," he informed Mr. Hatch.

'Sales promotion is used in two ways, part for political funds and part for commission on sales," Mr. Hatch stated. "Any that are commissions on sales were reported as 'commission' in our income tax return, and no doubt the recipients paid tax on them. Anyway we reported them."

"Those payments entered under sales promotion which were for political purposes, campaign funds and so on, were those taken into consideration when calculating the Income Tax?" asked Mr. Calder.

"Yes," replied Mr. Hatch. "We applied for exemption on those, and the Taxation Department refused to allow it and we paid taxation on all those accounts," he added.

"The Income Tax Department did not suffer?" queried Commissioner Wright.

"Not from that sheet," replied Mr. Hatch, indicating the auditor's record.

"How did you come to put political funds under sales promotion" asked Chief Commissioner Brown.

"After all, it is promoting sales in many cases," was the reply.

The Chief Commissioner was still perplexed.

"I do not quite understand it," he said.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

SONG AND DANCE.

I think I could go to a show
And really enjoy it a lot,
But there is a reason I know,
One reason I know I can not.
The dancers are wonderful, yes,
As airy and light as the spring,
And I would enjoy it, I guess,
If they just didn't try to sing.

For, fellows, you dance very well,
And that's what we want you to do;
We don't expect dancers to yell,
Nor look for grand opera, too.
Oh, how it would shorten the acts
And make the performance go bing!—
If dancers would get down to facts,
If they just wouldn't try to sing.

And, as for the ladies, well, they
Are deadlier yet than the male;
Their dancing is sprightly and gay,
Their singing should land them in jail.
Some acts should be seen and not heard;
Now, yours is a wonderful thing;
In fact, we would think you're a bird,
If you just didn't try to sing.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : The Betrayal of Jesus

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

At the Last Supper, Jesus warned Peter he would deny His Master thrice, before the cock crowed twice. After Christ was seized by His enemies in the garden, Peter followed to the high priest's house and sat and warmed himself by a fire. (Mark XIV : 54)

A maid of the high priest accused Peter of being a disciple. He denied it. Peter went out on a porch and the cock crew. (Mark XIV : 67-68)

Again a maid said, pointing to Peter, "This is one of them." For the second time Peter denied Christ. (Mark XIV : 69-70)

For the third time, Peter was accused of being a disciple. Cursing and swearing he denied Christ again. The cock crowed for the second time, and Peter, recalling the prophecy of Jesus, went out and wept bitterly. (Mark XIV : 70-72)

MINOR ACCIDENTS WELCOME CORNER

Dairy Wagon Overturns in Ditch—Wagon Wheels Come Off.

WELCOME, April 12.—A number of minor accidents happened around the corner this week. On two different days a wheel dropped off a wagon, causing some delay and inconvenience to the drivers.

When the Glenwood Dairy wagon was going to Port Hope a bolt broke. The driver unhitched the team and drove them into an adjoining farm yard. In his absence a heavy gust of wind started the wagon down a slight incline and turned it over in the ditch.

There was a very heavy thunderstorm on Wednesday afternoon, although of very short duration. The suddenness with which it came reminded one of summer days.

News Briefs.

The funeral of the late Mr. Greenaway, of Hampton, was held in Welcome Cemetery on Wednesday. Mrs. Morrish Osborne and Mrs. Ben. Dickenson, of Morrish, are daughters of Mr. Greenaway.

There was a large representation from all the appointments at the Quarterly Board meeting of the circuit on Thursday afternoon.

The play by Wesleyville talent, "Pickwick vs. Bardell," a breach of promise case, was given in Newtonville Town Hall on Wednesday night. The attendance was not large. The play was exceptionally well given.

UNITED CHOIR GIVES CONCERT

Splendid Programme Given By Songsters of Millbrook Church.

OLD TIME SONGS.

MILLBROOK, April 12.—The "Old Tyme Concert" given by the choir of the United Church on Wednesday evening provided a programme of a most entertaining and attractive character.

The attendance was the only disappointing feature, the number present being considerably less than the excellence of the entertainment warranted; probably the fact that other events intervened, and the lack of sufficient advertising, accounted for the basement being only about three-quarters full for the occasion.

The stage was very quaintly arranged as an old-fashioned parlor, with mantel and fireplace, upholstered rocking-chairs, silk piano drape, lace curtains, and antimacassars for the chair backs. Candles in brass holders, and a big lamp with china bowl, furnished the light; odd little bronze figures were the ornaments on the mantel shelf.

The costumes are deserving of special mention. Shimmering silks and satins, dainty lace shawls, fans, coiffures piled high upon the head, with roses and fancy combs as ornaments, large picture hats, with curling ostrich feathers, fans, long chains and ear-rings, bracelets, small bonnets flower-laden or the becoming poke bonnet style, fichus, panniered waists, and those of polonnaise design, long trains, ruffles, necks square-cut, or high collars, all the quaint, rich styles of the mid-Victorian era were displayed by the ladies, the men adopting the Prince Albert coats, chiefly, with white vests, collars and ties being of varying fashions.

A promenade of all the characters taking part, with Ernest L. Burnham presiding at the piano, was a popular opening feature, and this number was succeeded by a chorus, "There's Music in the Air," the singers being unseen.

A solo, "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree," was sung by Mr. W. H. Coombe, Miss Estelle Hetherington playing the accompaniment, the singers in the wings joining in the chorus. A piano duet by Misses Ella Elson and S. Hetherington, and a recitation, "Aunt Jemima's Courtship," with "The Young Itinerant" as encore, given by Miss Dorothy Crossley, were numbers preceding a song, "The Gypsy's Warning," by Mrs. G. W. Sayles (in gypsy attire), her daughter, Miss Marjorie Sayles, taking the part of the high-born lady who comes to have her fortune told, first crossing her palm with gold.

The entire choir was artistically grouped on the platform for the next number, a round, "O How Lovely is the Evening," the demand for an encore bringing a similar selection, "Sweetly Brays the Donkey;" a piano solo, "Old Black Joe" with variations, was played by Miss Elson, and the male quartette, Messrs. H. J. Anderson, W. H. Coombe, V. C. Lambert, and M. McDowell, sang "Sweet Rosalie," with "Three Black Crows" as encore.

When the curtain was next drawn it showed "Uncle Joshua" (Mr H. W. Johnston), typically gotten up with snow-white hair and goatee, rubber boots, white shirt and black tie, minus his coat and with vest unbuttoned, seated in a low rocker before the grate, half asleep and dreaming of a piece of music which he suddenly wakens to find "Aunt Mirandy" (Mrs. Johnston) looking very handsome in white taffeta, silk lace shawl, fan hanging from a ribbon band at her waist, and high shell comb in her white hair, playing softly upon the piano. They sing together, "Before the Lights were Lit," and then the young folks, "Ezry" (M. McDowell), and "The Girls" (Ella Elson and May Byam) arrive and the new four-part song, "Silver Threads Among The Gold," gives pleasure to themselves and the listeners. When the visitors leave for home, because the night is dark, Uncle Joshua offers Ezry the loan of his lantern—one that evidently dated back at least two generations, being of pierced tin with a candle inside, a tiny chimney allowing the smoke to escape.

Succeeding numbers were: a reading, "Courtin'," by Miss S. Hetherington; a solo, "The Choral Dance," by Mr. Coombe; a Pantomine of "Old Black Joe" (Mr. G. W. Sayles in genuine darkey make-up), Mr. Anderson singing the solo off stage; a full choir anthem, "Blessed be the Lord Forever," and a piano solo, "Ben Bolt," with variations, by Miss Elson.

The concluding item, a one-act comedy, "A Matrimonial Adventure," kept the audience convulsed with laughter from start to finish.

Mr. Robb (G. W. Sayles), a wealthy bachelor of over forty summers, decided to advertise for a wife, and instructs his maid, Rosaline (May Byam) to show in the applicants. Secretly in love with her employer herself, this matter is a great grief to Rosaline, but she obeys instructions.

The first to arrive is Miss Neta Landau (Mrs. P. Stinson), looking quite charming in her flowered dress, and Mr. Robb, who has arranged a list of questions he intends to ask in each case, proceeds to elicit information. Falling down on the sweeping and dusting Miss Landau is dismissed and "Miss Mary Pickford" (Edith Sheppard) is shown in. Her dusting demolishes one or two ornaments from the mantel, and Rosaline, smiling cheerfully, shows her to the door.

"Isabelle Guess" (Miss Marjorie Sayles), very stylishly attired, next arrives, but her indignation when asked regarding cooking is so extreme Mr. Robb decided "he had better rub that question off."

"Miss Annette Stewart" (Mrs. G. W. Sayles) sends in her card and while her playing and singing pass muster, her reading is so atrociously bad, and her housekeeping of a like order, her exit is hastened, to Rosaline's delight.

"Miss Billie Burke" (Miss M. Duncan), is so loquacious regarding the demands for pocket money, a fine car, dresses from Paris, etc., which she is making of her future husband, as well as in listing her own accomplishments, that the list of questions can hardly be asked at all. However, when Mr. Robb does get in his say, stressing his belief that "woman's place is the home and not gadding about," the atmosphere becomes quite cool, and when he presumes to ask if she can sweep, the lady indignantly flounces from the room.

Not bothering with sending in any card the Widow Maloney (Mrs. F. Smith) rushes into the room, with six children (P. Stinson, the twins, Mary Burnham and Bernice Smith, G. E. Burnham, Thelma Ball and M. Challice), in her train, and fairly takes Mr Robb's breath away as she describes amazing ability of her "brood" ("I only brought six, and left the other five at home"), and makes each demonstrate, in song, mouth organ solo, and recitations, what he or she can do. "They are very smart, Mr. Robb, they take after me," is her modest boast.

Perspiring freely, the unhappy bachelor gentleman finally uses diplomacy to get rid of the noisy flock, and their talkative mother, and is not very happy to hear Rosaline say, "O Sir, There is a very tall lady at the door; shall I let her in?"

This caller, however, is Mrs. Eustace Vipond (Miss M. E. Needham), "married and not a widow," and her business has nothing to do with the advertisement which she has not even seen, but to ask a "small donation for our Ladies' Aid." "Come another day when I am over this trouble," is Mr. Robb's reply, still agitated from the "bunch" he has just dismissed.

In the end Rosaline's quiet charms appeal most strongly to the "man in search of a wife," and after his proposal has been happily accepted he demands of his audience that they express their appreciation of his "wise selection."

A massing of all the characters upon the stage preceded the singing of the National Anthem. It is possible the entertainment may be repeated in the near future, if not locally, then at some nearby point.

Mention was also made of the cavalier attitude assumed by the officers of the Central Ontario Power Association, in the formation of which Peterborough was a leader. Mayor Holloway is first Vice-President of the Association, but he was not notified ofa visit to Hydro Friday. The committee interviewed Hydro ostensibly on matters connected with the taking over of their distributing plants in which Peterborough is not interested, but occasion was taken to discuss matters vitally affecting this city. And Mayor Holloway, the second highest officer in the Association, was ignored in the invitations, and was not present to protect Peterborough's interests. On the Mayor's suggestion, no action was taken.

Definitely Committed

There was a relaxation of the tension that has marked the last few council meetings, when a definite step was taken last night. The Aldermen appeared relieved by the settlement of the question, and the demands made by Hydro brought a spirit of unanimity that has hitherto been lacking.

A new spirit of looking at the transportation question from the viewpoint of the people was also discernible. It is difficult, the members of the Council find, to ascertain in any definite way just what the majority of the ratepayers desire, since half a dozen in as many minutes will express as many diverse opinions. The people turn to the Aldermen for guidance; for prophecy almost, as Belshazzar turned to Daniel. And the City Council must interpret what the hand is writing on the wall, or be thrown to the lions.

As they gathered in groups after the meeting, discussing the situation, all expressed the belief that they had on this occasion at least carried out the wishes of the people.

JURY DECLARES

the elevator and the wall would be sufficient to cause death.

Dr. J. M. O'Brien.

Dr. J. M. O'Brien corroborated the evidence given by Dr. Yelland. He supposed death was due to the shock of the injury.

B. Hickey.

Butler Hickey, an employee of the Cressman Company, who helped in the removal of the body, first knew of the accident when Rutherford called him. He looked in the door and saw Mr. Rose's head just below the main floor between the elevator and the shaft. He and Mr. Girvin, a customer, went down cellar and took the body out when Rutherford lowered the cage.

Hickey thought that the body had jammed the elevator; if it had gone higher the head would have been severed. Mr. Hickey said he had gone up to the top to see the elevator and he judged that it was customary to raise the cage two or three feet. He supposed that the operator had gone to the top to start the elevator and expected Rose to come up.

He did not know anything aobut procedure of testing the elevator but supposed that the inspector would see the janitor. The boy would know from the top, whether the elevator had stopped but would not know what stopped it.

Juryman Fowler asked if Mr. Rose would be getting in or out of the elevator. Hickey supposed that he was going in, but would not say whether he got in before the elevator started or not. He wouldn't suppose the man would take a chance on getting in as the car started.

Elwood Girvin.

Elwood Girvin, a customer, helped Mr. Hickey catch the body of Rose and lay it on the table.

George Wensley.

George Wensley, an employee of the company, was dressing the window. He came to the elevator to go up to Mr. Benson's office, but found the door closed and went back to the window. He heard later that some person had been hurt but didn't go to see the body. When he finished his work he went home.

Darrel Rose.

Darrel Rose, a son of the deceased and an employee of the company, was on the third floor. He was told his father was hurt and went downstairs. When the doctor came he heard that his father was dead.

His father was in good health and not subject to fainting spells.

The witness knew the method of starting the elevator. He surmised that his father had struck his head going into the elevator; possibly just as it started, and had fallen down to be crushed.

Rose had been working for the company for nine years and knew the elevator to be in good condition. He repeated the evidence of the method of starting the car with the contacts at the top. He told one of the jurymen that the elevator man could be notified by some person yelling up the shaft.

Harold Rose.

Harold Rose, another son of the deceased, is not at present employed at the store but was formely employed at the store, as janitor, and was succeeded by his father. His father was in charge of keeping the elevator in shape but did not run it very much himself. The only way for a person in the tower to know where the car was would be to walk over to a trap door and look down.

It was customary for the boy to go to the top and start it.

It could have happened by the man starting to crawl into the car just as the man at the top touched the contacts again. He didn't think any man in his right mind would try to get into the elevator as it started. The speed of the elevator would depend on the condition of the contacts.

The accident could also have occurred if the car had been started just as his father had been stepping in. The only way to make sure the man was in the cage was by yelling down the shaft.

Witness told Dr. Young that the man at the top could not see if there was anybody in the elevator.

He told a juryman that he, when there, had always made sure that he was inside before the boy got to the top to close the contacts. He would always have the boy call down the shaft before closing the contacts.

Wilbert Ford.

Wilbert Ford, a department manager on the second floor, said Mr. Cressman senior, had come to him and told him there had been an accident and instructed him to take charge of the first floor. He did not see the body, nor did he know anything about the accident.

Ford said that the elevator was inspected monthly and produced papers from the elevator company.

Philip Heffernan.

Philip Heffernan, 18, the elevator operator, was the last witness called. He had been operating the elevator for about seven weeks. He received his instructions from Mr. Benson and Mr. Rose. Rose had showed him how to run it. After that he had full charge. Benson had also showed him how to run it.

On the night of the accident Mr. Rose was in the basement?

Yes.

Did you know he was there?

Yes.

The elevator was below the floor?

Yes.

Did you talk to him? ?

Yes. I asked him to stand by the elevator and he said' sure'.

Did you intend it to go to the roof??

No. I intended it to go just high enough that he could get into it. He had supposed that he had just held the contact long enough to raise the car a short distance. He intended to walk down and get in himself as he had done before. He had not intended to have somebody come up.

These stallings had occurred ten or twelve times but he never intended to have anybody ride in it. He had had it go as high as the first floor but could not tell where it was. He had no instructions to have anybody ride up. Having somebody bring the car up would avoid such an accident.

The boy first knew of the accident when he came down to the first floor and saw the elevator door being opened. Mr. O'Brien had told him to go home.

Answering Dr. Young, witness said he was accustomed to calling down to see if there was anybody on. He had not done so on this time.

Mr. Hatton asked if he might have made two contacts. Witness said he might have.

A juror asked where Mr. Rose had stood and if Rose could see the witness by looking up. Witness said Rose stood near the door and could not see him.

He had expected Mr. Rose to take charge of the elevator as soon as it moved, but did not expect him to come up for him. He had supposed that Mr. Rose was in the car when he closed the contacts, and that he would come to the first floor with the car and stop it there. Dr. Young asked that Mr. Hickey be recalled and asked him if he thought the body would stop the elevator. Mr. Hickey said he thought it would.

Darrel Rose was recalled and said that the throwing of the switch in the car closes the contacts. The elevator would, he thought, tear a body to pieces. The car was probably stopped by the boy releasing the contacts. The boy had probably just gone up and pushed contacts in for a moment. The man in the car would have no control of the car while the boy held the contacts in.

Dr. Young called attention to the fact that the operator was not very experienced, but that he neglected to call down as was his usual custom. The reports showed that the elevator was in good condition, but it seemed to have a crude way of signalling. Rose might have guessed when the elevator would start or the boy might have closed the contacts twice. He expressed the opinion that the body would stop the elevator.

TURKEY OR HORSE?

PHILLIPSBURG, Kansas. — Turkey is good to eat, but rather high. Think of the steaks you could get from a nice fat horse! Recently Mrs F. J. Fuller sold an auto load of turkeys, one bird bringing $10. In Hill City on the same day a man sold four horses for $10, the same price the turkey brought.

A BELLEVILLE VIEW.

Toonerville Trolley has been the name hurled in derision at the Peterborough street railway by some district newspapers who discern a vein of humor in the closing down of that system by the Hydro-electric Power Commission of Ontario, compelling Peterborough folks to walk to work and elsewhere. Pete Examiner comes back with the snappy retort that the loss occasioned by the scrapping of the Pete street railway will be borne by the Central Ontario system and not by the Province; also that the street railway was a customer for fourteen thousand dollars worth of power each year, for which there is no immediate market. Now what do you know about that? Here we have been keeping the Pete street railway running and the Petes from walking at the expense of a considerable annual deficit, and now the corpse promises to be as expensive as the living liability. Like the Siamese twins, it was bad enough to carry two live personalities on a frame built for one, but it was much worse when one personality died, and the living personality disliked being chief mourner at the funeral from the hearse inside looking out.—Belleville Ontario.

PLAY BALL!

The opening of the major baseball leagues today is an event in which Canadians are only a trifle less interested than their cousins across the border.

Hundreds of thousands of people in this country, very few of whom have ever seen a big league game, will listen over the radio or scan the newspaper bulletins tonight to ascertain the scores of the opening games.

The interest displayed is a wonderful demonstration of the effectiveness of publicity.

The sporting page of the newspaper is responsible.

People read so much about the heroes of the diamond that they became long-distance fans, picking their favourite teams, although they never see them play, and studying the batting averages of players, who are but names to them, as faithfully as if they could go out every afternoon and see them in action.

The game itself has passed through an exciting winter, with scandals, charges of "sloughing" games, the transfer of famous stars, the appointment of new managers, and other exciting developments that have kept baseball more or less continually before newspaper readers.

The result will probably be bigger gate receipts, and on this side of the international line a greater interest than ever in the progress of the major leagues.

GOING TOO FAST.

It was not until a number of offenders had appeared in Police Court for violation of the regulation that the rule requiring drivers of cars entering upon a through street to bring their machines to a stop was adequately observed.

Apparently the same kind of treatment is necessary to teach a lot of drivers that through streets are not speedways.

The fact that traffic coming into each thoroughfare must stop is being regarded by too many automobilists on through streets as a license to drive fast, and the result is that intersections are being crossed at a much greater speed than the law permits and at too fast a rate to be safe.

This condition is true on several sections of the streets designated as through thoroughfares, and if it is allowed to continue the whole effect of the full-stop plan will be thrown away.

Drivers who persist in passing intersections at thirty miles an hour should be called upon to furnish an explanation before the Coroner finds it necessary to hold an investigation on his own account.

Motorists who cannot drive with a reasonable regard for the safety of others ought to be kept away from the steering wheel.

CADET TRAINING.

The annual attack has been made in the House of Commons upon the appropriation for cadet training in Canada's schools, the assault upon the grant being led as usual by Miss Agnes MacPhail and J. W. Woodsworth, M.P., who apparently look upon opposition to cadet training as one of the chief reasons why they are in Parliament.

The argument advanced by them that through such training a love of war is kindled in the hearts of young Canadians is sheer nonsense.

It is safe to say that not one school boy who was a member of a cadet corps in this country before 1914 thought for a moment that he would ever be called upon to face active service.

The training was accepted as every other feature of school life was accepted, and certainly did not inculcate any affection for militarism.

The time, of course, did come when the services of young Canadians were needed, and doubtless former members of cadet corps made better soldiers because of their training therein, but surely that is not a logical argument why cadet training should be abolished; on the contrary, it affords an excellent reason why the system should be continued.

A cadet corps instils some idea of discipline, makes smarter and healthier boys and gives a better spirit to the community life of a school—all excellent causes for encouraging the movement, especially as the only opposition is the fear that such training will make the boys of Canada want to declare war on somebody.

IT'S A GAME THAT TAKES A MAN.

Earnest efforts are being made by the Canadian Lacrosse Association to revive interest in Canada's national summer game, the present year being regarded as particularly opportune, in view of the Diamond Jubilee celebration, and of the fact that Canada will be represented at the Olympic Games next year by a representative lacrosse team.

The Examiner wishes the movement every success.

Lacrosse, a game handed down by the Indians, is a red-blooded characteristically Canadian sport that in its chief features is equalled only by the other great Canadian game of hockey.

Like the national winter pastime, lacrosse calls for a highly developed manhood; it requires strength and physical fitness, skill and self-control to a very high degree.

Some unknown Canadian poet has caught the true spirit of the game in the following lines:

"I'm one of the old lacrosse boys—a friend of the 'Gutted Stick;'
I tell you the old game's got me. At times I think I am sick
Of the days that it takes for training, of the games that are earned and lost.
'I'm through!' I say, when we put away our sticks with the autumn frost;
But when May comes on the West Wind—'tis then that I feel the pang
At the thought of the fun I'm missing and you find me back with the gang.
I've done my stunts in the scorching heat, a heat that no one knows
Who has not lived for a summer in 'Our Lady of the Snows.'
I've felt the grass afrizzle; and I've felt my tongue hang out,
While the sweat on my neck and forehead ran like a water-spout;
I've seen the field awhirling and never really knew
How I nerved myself for another sprint and stayed till the whistle blew.
There are jolts, and you bet you felt them when you got the body fair;
You take your bumps and give a few—in the end you call it square.
Sometimes you shed a tooth or two; your skin is not always whole;
But it's worth it all when you grab the ball and score the winning goal.

"You know that the crowd is with you; you can hear the loud-mouthed fan—
'Go down on the home, for the love of Mike,' or 'Everyone cover his man.'
And Oh! how your blood goes leaping when the boys in the bleachers roar,
'Bore in on the nets and break the tie, now's your last chance to score.'
You have pulled out games by a hair's breadth or you've cracked beneath the strain,
But they all have a thrill in the after years when you play them over again.
So get the field all ready, and put the nets in place,
The teams are padded and ready and the ball is there to face.
I'll be out to do my darndest, if I am only an also ran,
For this is the sport for Canada! It's a game that takes a man!"

PUBLIC SERVICE.

Premier Ferguson is inclined to think that too many able men are so deeply interested in merely monetary success, that the public life of the country is suffering. We should put our best efforts forward, he believes, toward encouraging the best and most capable men to take an active interest in the affairs of the Province and of the Dominion and give the country the benefit of their judgment and ability.

The Premier deals with an important subject. It is unfortunately true that many of our very best men are not attracted by public life and that the public service suffers by reason of their inattention. In many cases, however, the reason is not far to seek. It lies in the attitude of a not inconsiderable section of the public which is forever seeking to impute improper motives to men who are really trying to do something worth while. Many a man who would have gone far in politics has stayed out of the game for this very reason. "Why should I subject myself to criticism and abuse, sneers and insinuations that are certain to come if I enter public life?" he would ask when his friends urged him to seek office of one kind or another. And one must admit that plenty of justification for adopting an attitude of this kind could be found.

One of the first things we must do, if we are to attract more high-grade men to public life, is to correct the notion so widely held that "All politics is crooked and all politicians are crooks." This is, of course, one of the most absurd and unjust statements ever made, but who among us has not heard it repeated time and again? It is such a silly charge that it is hard to think of a sensible man making it, yet one has heard it from persons otherwise quite normal. It represents, of course, a bad state of mind. It is the careless utterance of someone who probably knows of a dozen or so political crooks and can recall perhaps half a dozen glaringly crooked political deals. So, with nothing more than that to work on, politics and politicians are all crooked in his eyes. This is one of the things that discourages many good men from entering the arena of public service. They feel that their motives will be mis-interpreted. They know, from the experience of others, that some of their acquaintances will be asking, insinuatingly, "Well, I wonder what Blank is after?" and so on. It is discouraging. It has kept many a good man from starting and driven many another good one out.

We have many fine men in our public life and the percentage of them who are anything but honest and above-board is negligible. If this were not so the national structure and the Provincial structure would be in ruins. It is true, however, that we do not always secure the most able men for the various positions that are open from time to time. The reason, to no small extent, lies in the public attitude mentioned above. It follows, therefore, that if the people at large want more big men in public office, it will be necessary for them to first change their own attitude.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Have a heart on Saturday; help the Humane Society.

A close examination of the list of war vessels in Chinese waters fails to disclose the presence of any unit of the Canadian navy. That should be reassuring to Miss Agnes MacPhail.

Peterborough's plans for the Diamond Jubilee celebration are steadily gaining momentum. Every local citizen has doubtless resolved to remain at home this Dominion Day.

Crooks have found a new way of securing revolvers. They just hold up a Toronto policeman and take his gun from him.

It is a fact, as The Fourth Estate points out, that the newspaper is the only daily visitor that goes only where it is wanted.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., April 12 (Canadian Press)—Owing to the weakness that prevailed in the North American markets on Saturday, there was very little demand from foreign buyers for grain over the week-end and Montreal exporters reported business dull.

There was no change in the condition of the local market for coarse grains yesterday, business being quiet and prices steady.

The flour market was without any new feature to note, the trade in spring wheat grades being quiet and prices were unchanged. The trade in winter wheat flour was also slow, but values were steady.

The millfeed market was moderately active and firm. The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet.

An active business was transacted in eggs and prices ruled steady. The receipts were 3,711 cases.

The feature of the butter trade yesterday was the decidedly weak feeling that developed and prices scored a decline of three to four cents per pound. This was attributed to the steady increase in the make here and the arrival of New Zealand and Australian butter coming to hand. Final sales of eastern townships No. 1 pasteurized were made at 40c per pound and No. 2 grade at 39c per pound, while New Zealand and Australian were quoted at 40 1-2c to 41c per pound. A moderate amount of business was done.

Owing to the above a weak feeling prevailed in the jobbing market and prices were reduced five cents per pound. Finest creamery butter was quoted at 40c per pound in solid packages, and at 41c per pound in one pound blocks. The receipts were 302 packages.

The cheese trade continued inactive, but prices were unchanged. The receipts were 141 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 12 (Canadian Press)—Blizzard reports from Alberta and Saskatchewan, Canada, emphasizing news of interference with spring crop seeding, had a bullish effect yesterday on wheat. At one time, however, May and July wheat touched a new low price record for the season. Closing quotations on wheat were irregular at 5-8c net decline to 7-8c advance; with corn 3-8 to 1 5-8c down; oats unchanged to 3-8c off and provisions varying from 17 cents loss to 10c gain.

Persistent slackness of eastern demand had a bearish influence on the corn market and indirectly affected oats.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, April 12 (Canadian Press)—Cattle 19,000; best heavy steers $13.75; bulk better grades with weight $12.50 to $13.50; long yearlings $12.25; bulk vealers late $10.00 to $10.50; sprinkling at $9.50.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

NORTH MONAGHAN OPINION

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir.—If you will kindly allow me a small space in your valuable paper, I would like to say a few words in favor of the Cooney and Jopling Bus Line Service. I don't know Mr. Cooney personally, but he must be a very fine man to have met this emergency as he has done, handicapped as he has been. And he would, I feel sure, have had more busses here had he known what was going to take place. Of course those which he has cannot be everywhere at once, but I am sure that every right-thinking person will agree with me, that he is certainly doing his level best to accommodate everybody, both inside and outside the city. Some people may ask, "And how did Mr. Cooney meet the emergency?"

I'll tell them; by putting every available vehicle and man on the road, that he had at his disposal to give the people service. I am a resident of North Monaghan, and I asked a Hydro man a few days ago, what was going to be done about the street cars, and he replied, "I don't know."

No, they don't know, and I ask you city people, "Do they care?" Those who have their own cars in use all the time are all right, but what about those who can't afford a car? Oh, well, they'll have to use Shank's Pony, while the City Fathers are peacefully sleeping (the sleep of the just, shall we say?).

Here I would like to say a word to just a few of the merchants. Some of them (I hope and believe they are in the minority) seem to be kicking a little about the residents of North Monaghan and other places outside the City getting transportation. To them, I say, Go and take off your hat to Mr. Cooney and say, "Thank you, for bringing the outside people in to spend their money." We people don't live within the limits, because we prefer the nice clean, healthy country air, and a nice garden, but we do spend a lot of money in Peterboro. Surely all the right-thinking people in the city understand and appreciate this.

And now I wish to say, Good luck to you, Mr. Cooney, and please accept a sincere, Thank you!

I believe I am speaking for all the Crawford's Grove people in saying this, and I hope the majority of the city people too, and now thanking you, also, Mr. Editor,

I remain,

A CAMERON ST. RESIDENT.

P.S.—Why don't the citizens of Peterborough get together and demand a vote on this question? There's a man they can depend on, waiting to give them good service, or haven't they the right? Do they have to sit still and see what's going to be given them?

REPORTS READ ANNUAL MEETING

W. M. S. of Knox United Church Hold Meeting at Lakefield.

ELECT OFFICERS.

LAKEFIELD, April 8.—The Annual meeting of the W.M.S. of Knox United Church was held on Tuesday afternoon, March 29th in the school room of the church. The reports showed a splendid year's work in the Woman's Auxiliary, the Mission Band and the Young Women's Auxiliary, with the allocation of $275 being exceeded by more than $10.00 which was most gratifying to all the members. The report of the secretary showed an excellent organization, there being 34 names on the roll and there is an average attendance of 16. The honorary presidents, Mrs. Peter Baptie and Mrs. Thomas Hendren are a link with the past as they are pioneer members and have seen the society develop from small beginnings to be a strong organization.

During the year, eleven regular meetings were held and one special meeting which took the form of a picnic on the manse grounds, and the members of the W.M.S. of Knox Church, Peterborough, were entertained.

The work of the Home Helpers was especially mentioned for, although seldom priviledged to attend the regular meetings they lent their prayers and sympathy to the work.

The funds raised during the past year have been entirely voluntary offerings and the fact that the society was able to go well "over the top" in their allocation, speaks well for the interest.

During the year the society suffered the loss of Mrs. P. L. Jull, who removed from the village, and who had efficiently filled the office of president for several years. Mrs. Burgess was appointed to fill her place and Mrs. Porter was appointed secretary in place of Mrs. C. S. Tanner, who resigned in September last by reason of ill health.

During the year the society suffered the loss also of Mrs. G. G. Hendren, and Mrs. Arthur Crowe, by their removal from the village and the temporary removal of Mrs. Grant.

Even a successful and happy year has its note of sadness and in the passing of Miss Fanny Roy, the society lost a faithful member, who, although by reason of ill-health she was not able to be a regular attendant, never failed in her support and contributions A reference was made to the late Mrs. Cameron Smith, who, although her connection with the society was severed at the time of the Union, had been a faithful member during the years of her residence, giving generously of her many talents in the service of the branch. The passing of Miss Alice Fitzgerald and of Mrs. S. Ridpath was also noted with deepest regret.

The year's work reached its climax in the Easter Thank-offering service which was held on Sunday, March 27th, where Mrs. Yale gave a forceful interpretation of the great W.M.S. convention, held in London in 1925.

Miss Craw and Mrs. Tanner ably led the society in prayer on that occasion, and Mrs. Burgess and Mrs. Wesley in clear firm voices read the Scripture lesson and the responsive readings respectively. A chorus of boys and girls of the Mission Band sang "We Are Little Sunbeams" and appropriate music was rendered by the choir under the able direction of Mrs. J. R. Hull, which added greatly to the effectiveness of the service.

Make Presentation.

Following the secretary's report at the Tuesday meeting, Mrs. W. J. Charlton read the following address and Miss Bella Hamilton presented Mrs. Robert Carter with a life member's certificate and pin:

Lakefield, March 29th.

Dear Mrs. Carter:—

At this, the first real annual meeting of the W.M.S. as an Auxiliary of the great United Church of Canada we find ourselves in a reminiscent mood.

As we review the past, we regret the circumstances that forced a division in our ranks as a society, but we are delighted to find so many of the old names remaining on our list.

We feel, Mrs. Carter, that you are one of our oldest and most cherished members and it is our happy priviledge this afternoon to rejoice with you in the improved condition of your health. We are indeed grateful that you have been permitted to attend our meetings so regularly and to cheer us with your presence and smile of approbation

We deeply appreciate the cheerful and sympathetic response with which you have always met our demands for help with our W.M.S. work from time to time.

As we recall the dark days of the war and realize the great sacrifice you made to help to keep us free, it is with feelings of love that we delight to honor you to-day.

A slight token of our esteem we ask you to accept this Life Membership Certificate and W.M.S. pin, from the Auxiliary of Knox United Church, Lakefield, and we earnestly pray that you may be long spared to go in and out among us.

Mrs. Carter was completely taken by surprise but said a few words of thanks for the gift, and the loving thought that prompted it.

Mrs. J. R. Hull and Mrs. G. E. Renwick sang a duet which was very much enjoyed, and Mrs. Porter recited a poem of her own composition, "'Tis Eastertide," which beautifully expressed the Christian conception of Easter and what it has meant to mankind.

These officers were elected for the ensuing year.

Honorary Presidents—Mrs. Peter Baptie, Mrs. Thomas Hendren.
President—Mrs. F. J. Burgess.
1st vice-President—Mrs. A. Davis.
2nd vice-President—Miss B. Hamilton.
Secretary—Mrs. J. A. Porter.

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH

SINUS OR ANTRUM TROUBLES.

Only those people with a tendency to catarrhal disorders can develop trouble in the sinus or antrums.

What's that? You say you don't even know what a sinus or antrum is? Well, I assure you that many who are reading this article do, and they have suffered the tortures of the damned in trying to get rid of the pain produced by these disorders.

There are several hollow or honey-combed spaces in the bones of the face. Certain ones of these are called sinuses and others are called antrums. These spaces can easily fill up with catarrhal mucus, as the blood and lymphatic circulation through the bones of the face carried the same nourishing material, and also the same waste material, which goes to all parts of the body. If excess quantities of this waste mucus are thrown out through the membranes of the nose, it is called "catarrh." If, however, the same kind of waste collects in a sinus or antrum, there will be great amount of pain and distress which is similar to the kind of trouble produced in the mastoid process when the hollow in the mastoid bone becomes filled with mucus or pus.

If the pain in a sinus or antrum becomes acute, the nose specialist usually punctures the bone and allows the pus to drain off. While this relieves at the present time, it is liable to produce more trouble afterwards, and patients, with this trouble, have repeated attacks every few months if the real cause is not removed.

The fasting and diet treatment is the only treatment I know of which will completely empty out the pus from these cavities, and a rigid diet must be adhered to in order to prevent a recurrence of this disorder.

A fruit fast should be taken for a week or ten days, and then followed by a diet absolutely free from starchy foods or sugars of any kind. This strict diet must be kept up for at least a year, and it may be necessary to take an occasional fast if there are any signs of the trouble reappearing.

Treatments to the diseased area may be given with electricity or heat. This will sometimes assist in the absorption of the waste material.

Take warning and do not have these cavities operated upon until you have tried my suggestions.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

BAD JOURNALISM

(By Dr. Frank Crane.)

I recently read two articles which illustrate the difference between bad journalism and good.

The poor article was by one who shall be nameless and the good one was by Damon Runyon, a well-known writer and justly famous.

Mr. Runyon was to report the Browning case, and in his first article about it he tells just what Browning's real name is and what the trouble is all about and this notwithstanding the fact that everybody is supposed to know it.

It shows that a good article in a newspaper ought to furnish in a resume all about a case and not assume knowledge on the part of the reader which many readers do not possess.

The poor article was one written about henequen. It goes on to tell all about henequen's decline in Mexico because of the great supply from the Philippine Islands. It discusses learnedly the whole matter, in which it says that every resident of Yucatan has a vital interest and it is also of interest to the world.

Notwithstanding there are thousands of people who do not know what henequin is, the article never explains this matter.

Of course you can look up the word in the dictionary and find out about it in the encyclopedia, maybe. But newspaper readers do not have encyclopedias and dictionaries handy always.

The article should first have explained what it was all about.

Too many newspaper articles are written on the same theory that the negro barber had once shaved Senator Mason of Illinois. The Senator had gone into a town in Southern Illinois to make a campaign speech during an election. He went into a barber shop to get shaved and to change his collar. It was about noon. As the barber was shaving the Senator he said, "Senator, you oughta bin heah this mornin'. Mr. Jones of Kentucky made the finest speech I ever heard. He spoke for two hours. I could listen to that man all day. It was the most eloquentes' speech I ever heard."

"Well," said the Senator, "I am sorry I wasn't here. What did he talk about?"

"Well," said the colored barber, scratching his head, "he didn't just say."

Too many articles are written without just saying what they are all about.

HIAWATHA YOUTH MAKES DYNAMO

Supplies Power For Bicycle Lamp From Front Wheel.

HIAWATHA, April 12.—A novel electrical contrivance has been arranged by Brooken Adams, a Hiawatha young man. One might almost term it an invention. He is an enthusiastic cyclist and as he is employed as a farm labourer can travel only after his work is done. This means that, when he is returning home to the farm, unless the moon is exceptionally bright, he must have an artificial light.

The mechanism consists of a little dynamo, attached to the front wheel of the bicycle. He made several parts and is delighted with it. The faster he travels the brighter his light is.

The light is much better than that which can be utilized from two dry cells. Last year he used that source as his supply. Only one fault is found with the system. In damp weather, the power seems to leak away to the earth.

CAN. WOOLLENS BUYS NEW MILLS

Milton and Otonabee Properties Purchased—Board Meeting Soon.

MONTREAL, April 12.—Canadian Woollens, Limited, has recently acquired two additional spinning mills, which development is proving advantageous to the company in the maintenance of its yarn supply and in helping to eliminate the competitive factor. The larger of the two mills is the Milton Spinning Mills, of Milton, Ontario. The other is the Otonabee Spinning Mills, of Peterborough, Ontario. The current business of the company is shaping up fairly satisfactory and the business which it is obtaining from the automobile industry for the supply of various fabrics is helping along.

The board meets on April 20, when the figures of the annual report for the fiscal year ended November 30, last, will be approved. The showing to be contained in the statement will be rather better than the preceding year as to profits, although operations are still being carried on with a close margin of profit on turnover.

In the meantime the mills are fairly busy and 1927 is shaping up well.

AT THE GRAND

SIR HARRY LAUDER.

Sir Harry Lauder and his company of entertainers will be at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night.

The little Scot comic is always sure of a welcome wherever he appears, but interest is accentuated this season by the fact that he is now making his first tour of the United States and Canada in three years. During the interim he has completely circled the globe, appearing in his unique entertainment in all the principal cities of India, in Shanghai and Hong Kong, China, in the Straits Settlements, South Africa, Australia and other far-away countries. It was, it is said, the most memorable and successful of all his world tours.

As Lauder is unlike any other entertainer, it is impossible to compare him with any of the other famous amusement stars. His songs are his own, his method of presenting them are peculiarly Lauderesque, he has a voice of sweetness and penetrating power that registers every line he sings, and his remarkable ability as a comedian enables him to present his characters with life-like fidelity.

This season Lauder comes to us with a repertoire of new songs, which he will offer in addition to the best and most popular of his old favorites, and with special scenic settings to fit each characterization. Some of the new songs to be given here were great hits during his recent London engagement, following his world tour. They include "I'm Lookin' for a Lass tae Love Me," "Th' Boss o' the Hoose," "Susie Maclean," and others equally characteristic.

Sir Harry will be assisted by a company of European and American entertainers, and an orchestra of fourteen musicians.

AT THE REGENT.

COMEDY MAKES HIT.

Marie Prevost Scores in Film "Up In Mabel's Room."

Marie Prevost and her compatriots in fun provided much merriment at the Regent theatre yesterday when "Up in Mabel's Room" was shown for the first time here. The presentation was a huge success.

"Up in Mable's Room" provides a delightful evening of laughs over a chemise which a young innocent husband gives his bride who later divorces him ,and then hold the chemise (on which is embroidered "Mabel from "Garry" over the head of Garry, who poses as an innocent bachelor. Garry, of course, tries frantically to retrieve the elusive chemise, aided by his faithful valet.

Marie and the rest of those who at one time or another are caught "up in Mabel's room," including Harrison Ford, Phyllis Haver, Harry Myers, Sylvia Breamer, Paul Nicholson, Maud Truax, Carl Gerard, Wiliam Orlamond and Arthur Hoyt—are all kept busy demonstrating some delightful theerems in fun.

They conclusively prove that Mabel's room is the world's busiest boudoir; that doors are inventions for creating circumstantial evidence; that beds are things to hide under rather than to sleep in; that one's signature on a blank check is far less dangerous that one's signature on a chemise; that some husband tend to business and others to monkey business, and that many a peril looms ahead for the giver of autographed lingerie. The feature is well worth while. Don't miss it!

RAISING FUNDS FOR LABRADOR

Local Branch of Grenfell Society is Starting Campaign.

A campaign to raise funds for the Dr. Grenfell Labrador Mission has been put on by the local branch of the Grenfell mission.

Dr. Grenfell has a marvellous record of 35 years "carrying the love of God" to the people of Labrador. At present he is on a tour of Canada explaining his work to the people of this Dominion and asking aid so that the work which he has started might go forward with greater strength than ever.

He delivers an illustrated lectur which shows the land of Labrador, its resources, its scenery, the Grand Falls and the work which he carries on Extracts of an address given by Dr. Grenfell in St. John recently follow.

Insulin Gives Boon.

Dr. Banting's discovery of insulin was giving hundreds of thousands of lives yearly on this continent and enabling the workers in Labrador to give the love of God to the distressed people of that land. The rugged mountains were not barren, he assured his audience, and then as proof he showed pictures of cliff with standing-room only for the big gathering of puffins. He spoke of the luxuriant vegetation which covered the mountain slopes. It was the Polar current which made the coast of Labrador cold, but his pictures of the fertile valleys admirably bore out his assertion regarding their productiveness, timber of all kinds being seen rising to magnificent heights. He had seen 80-foot spars taken from those forests, he said. He told of his attempts at keeping a herd of reindeer and hoped to develop this enterprise on a large scale.

Resources of Fur.

Dr. Grenfell spoke of the natural resources in fur and said furs were now all paid for in cash and brought good prices. The Hudson Bay Company he warmly commended for its methods of dealing with the trappers, and he said that the company was working side by side with his mission in establishing industrial work among the people. While furs had been a profitable venture fishing, he said, had been very poor, prices being below the maximum for living. He told of the co-operative stores which he had established which had brought all kinds of opposition, but had eventually proved their usefulness to the people and were now well established.

Grand Falls Pictures.

His pictures of the Grand Falls in Labrador were among the most remarkable of all. The water, he said, fell 400 feet in the last mile before it reached that tremendous chasm and dropped 360 feet. Similar to the famous Victoria Falls on the Zambesi River in Rhodesia, the waters of the Grand Falls swept round a sharp curve at the base of the falls. He had never seen the falls himself, Dr. Grenfell said, but he had arranged to have motion pictures made, and at Hollywood he had selected the prima donna who would star in the motion pictures, and although she was receiving a high salary and appearing in the Miracle Play, she had consented to go to Labrador for nothing. The Indians would not go near the falls, he said, because they believed they were the home of God. The spray of the falls could be seen for 20 miles.

Hospital Shown in Turn.

The various hospitals, schools and other institutions which have been established under Dr. Grenfell's leadership were shown in turn. When the hospital at Battle Harbor, which was erected in 1893, was on the screen, Dr. Grenfell told of an eminent eye-specialist from the United States who had given his services and paid his own expenses each summer for 17 years to treat eye cases at that hospital, and when an Anglican clergyman who was cured of blindness by him had declared he would live to repay that specialist, the eminent doctor had replied, "You more than repaid me by giving me the chance to do it."

Dr. Grenfell also showed a picture of a baby that had been "sent down by mail boat" to the hospital, and he said he could not but feel gratitude that a mother would trust him with so precious a charge. The first hospital at St. Anthony had been built by the people of that district and he had been in charge of the commissariat department for the men in the woods cutting down the timber for the building. Later, a concrete, thoroughly modern building, with up-to-date plumbing and heating had been built entirely by the Labrador boys, and he related with pride what splendid success Labrador orphan lads had achieved when sent to Upper Canada College. Labrador men out of work, who could not read or write, had built him a very fine schooner. He showed photographs of members of his staff, and paid tribute to their devoted service, and throughout his address it was always the work of everyone or the work of others which he stressed. One picture showed a group of Eskimo on the hospital boat having their ailments attended to, and Dr. Grenfell paid a high tribute to the sterling qualities of these people.

Collecting Children.

He was collecting children, Dr. Grenfell said, and he showed some of the waifs of humanity, some of the orphan children and some other small folk who had come under his care. Concerning each he related a pathetic story, but every story had a happy ending and the child grew up to give useful happy service. Some were trained nurses, some dieticians, some were helping their own people in Labrador, some were making good in the outside world. They were "wreckage of the Labrador coast" salvaged to splendid purpose.

Dr. Grenfell showed several pictures of the fine intelligent dogs, of the dog sleds used in winter time and to his dogs also he had unstinted praise to give. A dog's sense of direction, he said, was greater than a man's and a dog often saved his master from grave peril of falling over a snow-covered precipice.

As the last pictures were being shown Dr. Grenfell said he was getting to be an old man now and must lay down the torch some day. He asked the friends in Saint John who were carrying on a little branch of the work here to continue its support. He pleaded for an increase in membership, saying Archdeacon Fleming and Miss Frances Stetson would gladly enroll others. It was a privilege, he felt, to serve the splendid people of that land, for which he predicted a great future.

WORKMAN KILLED IN KENORA MILLS

Falls On Revolving Drum and Is Hurled Against Beam .

KENORA, April 12.—A fatal accident took place on Monday morning in the grinder room of the Kenora paper mills, when Gebhart Cramon fell from a platform, striking a revolving drum, which in turn flung him violently against an iron beam, his skull being badly fractured. Although nobody saw the accident, it is believed that Cramon was using a wrench and lost his balance, falling to the revolving drum beneath. Death was practically instantaneous.

Deceased was born in Denmark, and is survived by a brother in Kenora and a mother in Denmark. He was a young man, and had been employed in the mills only a short time. Coroner J. A. Kinney is investigating the case.

WHITBY CHIEF UNDER INQUIRY

Council Names Committee To Investigate Two Charges.

TRIP UNDER FIRE.

WHITBY, Ont., April 12. — The Whitby town council last night spent three hours in camera discussing two charges against Chief of Police Chas Lavery, of the Whitby police force, finally appointing a committee under the chairmanship of Mayor J. W. Bateman to go farther into the matter.

The charges themselves are still somewhat vague. The first has to do with an alleged trip taken by the chief while off duty which at least two members of the council insinuate was accompanied by certain irregularities. The other charges introduce an element of humor into the situation. It appears that Lavery while performing his duties on the night of April 2 encountered a gentleman of the town in a condition of at least partial intoxication. Whether the chief's handling of the gentleman was as gentle as it might have been is still a matter of conjecture, but the incident has been described as a set to ,which resulted in the chief's opponent being removed to the hospital, while Lavery himself admits a sore shoulder as the result of the encounter.

The meeting Monday night was attended by the chief, who put up a strong defence, supported by Reeve Jackson, who pressed for a thorough investigation, which he declared was the only fair way of dealing with the case. Councillor James M. Kenny, on the other hand, was in favor of drastic action, moving a resolution asking for Lavery's immediate resignation. Reeve Jackson moved in amendment that the matter be held over and a committee appointed to probe the charges. It was not however until many hot words had been passed from both sides that this amendment was finally carried, and the Mayor, Reeve Jackson, Councillor J. M. Kenny and Councillor Charles E. Broughton chosen as the committee of inquiry.

At one time in the proceedings the clang of the fire bell broke in upon the proceedings. Councillor David Mowat also holds the position of fireman and found himself torn between the importance of his two duties. He finally decided however in favor of the conflagration, and hastened from the meeting which had in fact temporarily adjourned pending the possibility of greater attractions.

Speaking to the repreesntatives of the press, Mayor Bateman declared himself as opposed to the meeting of the council behind closed doors. He had he said wished to have an open discussion but had been overruled by his council.

Chief Lavery at the conclusion of the meeting expressed his willingness to appear at the resumption of the investigation.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE — CLII—America's First Train. — by MAX HAHN

IN 1813 A PHILADELPHIA MAN BOLDLY PREDICTED THAT THE TIME WOULD COME WHEN PEOPLE WOULD TRAVEL 20 MILES AN HOUR IN STAGE COACHES PULLED BY STEAM ENGINES. WE CAN LAUGH ABOUT THE PROPHECY NOW, BUT IT WASN'T LAUGHABLE THEN. AMERICA WAS SLOW TO ADOPT THE ENGLISH ENGINES, WHICH WERE NOT SUITED FOR HILLS AND CURVES.

MUCH OF AMERICA'S EARLY RAILROAD PROGRESS IS DUE TO THE FACT THAT PETER COOPER, A BALTIMORE MAN, WAS PERSUADED TO BUY A LARGE TRACT OF LAND. AFTER BUYING THE LAND COOPER DISCOVERED THAT THE PROPERTY WOULD BE A WHITE ELEPHANT UNLESS HE SUPPLIED TRANSPORTATION. TO SAVE HIS INVESTMENT COOPER WENT TO WORK AND BUILT THE TOM THUMB, THE FIRST MADE-IN-AMERICA LOCOMOTIVE.

THE NEW LOCOMOTIVE ANGERED A STAGE COACH PROPRIETOR. HE SAW THAT THE ENGINE WOULD TAKE HIS BUSINESS AWAY FROM HIM UNLESS LUCK FAVORED HIM. SO HE CHALLENGED COOPER TO A RACE. AFTER A SLOW START COOPER FORGED AHEAD.

BUT LUCK WAS NOT WITH THE OWNER OF THE TOM THUMB. WITH VICTORY ALMOST WITHIN REACH SOME MINOR ENGINE TROUBLE DEVELOPED AND THE HORSE-DRAWN COACH WON THE RACE. STEAM ENGINES SOON BECAME NUMEROUS AND BEGAN TO BE A BIG HELP IN DEVELOPING COMMERCE IN AMERICA.

H.E.P.C. MEMBERS VISIT BELLEVILLE

Confer With Committee of Five From Central Ontario.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 11. — That terms will be announced and a general policy will be framed under which municipalities served by the Central Ontario power system may purchase and become possessors of their local electrical distributing plants and services was the main feature of an understanding arrived at after a conference held Saturday between the Hydro-Electric Power Commission and a special committee of five representing the recently formed Central Ontario Power Association.

All the members of the Hydro Commission, which is composed of Hon. C. A. Magrath, chairman; Hon. Robert Cooke, C. A. Maguire, F. A. Gaby, Chief Engineer and W. W. Pope, secretary, were present at the conference. The special committee consisted of ex-Mayor F. L. Mason, Oshawa, president of the Central Ontario Power Association; ex-Mayor Gordon D. Conant, of Oshawa, second vice-president; J. O. Herity, Belleville, secretary-treasurer; Mayor Thomas Holgate, Bowmanville, and Henry Fullerton, Cobourg.

At the conference, which lasted for more than two hours and a half, every phase of the power situation in the Central Ontario district was discussed with the utmost frankness. The members of the commission showed the most complete disposition to do their best to elucidate what is admittedly a knotty problem.

Man Escapes From Car At Bottom Of Canal

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., April 12.—Aubrey Treusch, 25 years old, of this city, had a remarkable escape from drowning in the Welland Canal. While motoring over the canal bridge near Allanburg his steering gear broke and his car veered into the railing, smashed through and plunged with him into thirteen feet of water. The car, fortunately for Treusch, rested on all four wheels on the bottom, and the young man turned the door handle and with a vigorous kick or two escaped from the auto. He rose to the surface, and despite a heavy overcoat, swam to safety.

He received a nasty gash on the forehead which required four stitches and aonther on his hand. When he emerged from the auto, he still grasped part of the broken steering gear of his car. He was brought home from Welland late Sunday night and was reported to be out of any danger to-day although suffering considerably from shock.

In all there were nine motor car accidents over the week end on Lincoln county highways and in the city, all of which involved property loss, but no serious injury to motorists. Five of the accidents took place on city streets.

The motor car of Treusch was still at the bottom of the canal to-day, but will be lifted out.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, finds with his chums, Freddy and Arch, an easy way to earn money—working as dancing partners, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, to get funds to finish school, goes. At the Inn he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on—Sally, the cigarette girl. Reciprocating his interest, she warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the Inn, who eagerly dances with him.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

During the two brief encores to that first dance with her Bob was making plans to get away from the captivating Mrs. Hammond. He had undeniably enjoyed the physical sensation of dancing with the gorgeous, mysterious creature, but he was alarmed by the queer sense of oppressiveness, of being entwined, that came over him in flashes when the dancing had ceased; and he had only the social contact with her.

In the dance her body, pressed close to his, had felt warm and supple; firm yet gently yielding, like a young girl's body. There was none of the softness of maturity about Mrs. Hammond. Yet, now, when the syncopating had ceased, Bob experienced a queer revulsion of feeling against that body. He felt that, quiescent, it would be cold, like a snake's.

He bowed, anxious to be off, when he had escorted her back to her table.

But Mrs. Hammond had not the faintest intention of excusing him; in fact she was not a little surprised at noting his eagerness to leave her. It had been her lot to have partners, heretofore, who stuck like leeches, who curried the favor of her grudgingly bestowed partnership, who fawningly recognized the great honor and distinction entailed in a dance with her.

He bowed, anxious to be off.

Her selection had counted great guns in this roadhouse before today.

And here was an upstart fidgetting to get away from her! Palpably afraid that she was going to signify her intention of selecting him for another dance! It was not from sheer nervousness, either; not from any sense of being overwhelmed in the presence of royalty.

It was downright independence, indifference!

A new experience indeed, for the wealthy, wilful Mrs. Hammond. Her first, and most natural, impression was one of annoyance, of injured prestige.

Then suddenly it dawned upon her that here at hand was what she had been looking for all the time, through so many weary afternoons; here was what she had sought, dance in and dance out, these many months. Here was her thrill!

For she was the huntress!

She, who for her white body and glorious beauty, had been hunted to satiety—to the point of disgust with men. Perhaps she had not recognized herself what it was she had been seeking in the way of a thrill. She had not given it a great deal of thought. It had been an almost instinctive hunt, a haphazard diversion—entered into to kill time. But now that she was face to face with the experience, with the sensation, she knew that it was what she had been hoping to encounter.

A man—a clean, manly, strong, wholesome man—who was not ready upon first sight of her to fawn and squirm and wheedle and chase after her. A man who in the self-sufficiency of his strength, be it spiritual or mental or physical—or, better yet, all three!—was not of a mind to instantly submit his manhood at her beck and call, as tribute to her beauty and money.

Yes, this was her thrill. To hunt a man!—rather than to be hunted by a man!

Suddenly the world seemed an interesting place to the pleasure jaded, wealth surfeited, woman. Had she no money, had she no experience, she would have felt a primeval joy in pursuing this man. In trying to capture his interest, inflame his manhood, goad him into a passionate desire to possess her. Hers was a battle elemental, for which she needed only the lure of her beautiful body and face, the tantalizing clasp of her slim hands. But, being equipped with the other advantages as well, she instantly and unconsciously tried to exert them.

Tingling, glorying, she reveled in the ecstasy of her newfound thrill. Found—at last! With glinting eyes, with quickened heart, with tremulous words she charged to the subtle attack.

"Why, Mr. Ward, you do seem positively anxious to desert me!—"

"Oh, no, Mrs. Hammond, it isn't that exactly, but—"

"See, there is some other woman, I suppose, with whom you would rather dance?"

"No!" Bob countered desperately; "I only—"

"Then why so many excuses? Why can't you at least be—I might say, polite—and sit down with me a moment?"

Bob slumped awkwardly into a chair, facing her. He felt defeated, chagrined. His face was flushed—he could tell from the heat in his cheeks; and that only served to add to his discomfort, because it exposed him to the enemy.

Enemy? After all, why enemy? Wasn't Mrs. Hammond simply a lovely, lonesome lady who had signified a slight interest in him—nothing to grow panicky, certainly not conceited, about? Would it be so terrible, he found himself questioning his inner consciousness, if Mrs. Hammond should take a definite interest in him?

But—there! That fickleness which alarmed him so, that disloyalty to the ideal he had discovered in little Sally Smith, and the idealism which he had cherished as a shining banner to uphold his own conception of worthwhile womanly character and virtue, were nothing more nor less than the spell this woman was weaving over him. She was hypnotizing him!

She was saying, softly, almost coyly, while she leaned her ivory elbows upon the polished table and rested a delicately moulded chin on her cupped hands, "May I call you Bob? Mr. Ward is so—unfriendly. And we want to be good friends, don't we—Bob?"

Bob nodded helplessly. "Yes, Ma'am!"

She laughed musically at the "Ma'am!"

"It's a long time since anyone said 'Ma'am' to me—under just these circumstances. It sounds awfully nice—awfully old-fashioned, Bob!"

Bob grinned sheepishly, and wished she would not put just that little touch of intense intimacy, express personalism, into her manner and speech. It was most disconcerting. Got a fellow all balled up; got his signals crossed.

"You are an old-fashioned boy, aren't you, Bob?" Somehow Mrs. Hammond found herself asking this question with an anxious catch in her voice—a vague fear that perhaps his answer would prove that she had read him wrong; that he was not the unsophisticated, wholesome boy he appeared at first blush. That his shyness was just boorishness. She hung anxiously on his answer.

Bob, for the first time, stared full into her face without embarrassment as he sought to find words to express his answer. He was not a Puritan. He was honest and canny enough to appreciate how stilted and silly it would seem for him to ejaculate some platitudinous answer. So he found great difficulty in framing a reply. Finally he drawled:

"A little mixture of old-fashioned and new-fashioned, I guess. I don't care much what slant other people want to take on life. That's their business. For my part, I want to be old-fashioned in fundamentals, in manners, but quite up to date in ideas, if you know what I mean?" He grinned in an engaging manner.

Mrs. Hammond was totally pleased by his answer; altogether rid of the fear of disappointment. She was, in fact, quite charmed. Here was a man who, in addition to looming as a most interesting physical quarry, showed a mentality quite above any she had previously encountered in her—err-r-r hunting!

She had found, heretofore, as wise men had found of her sex, that the best-looking were the dumbest. "Handsome but stupid" was as true of men as "beautiful but dumb" was of women. True of butterfly men, at least. Mrs. Hammond purred gaily, deep in her naivety there, at the idle thought that compared her to a butterfly man. He was anything but that! Else and'd have powdered his wings are near

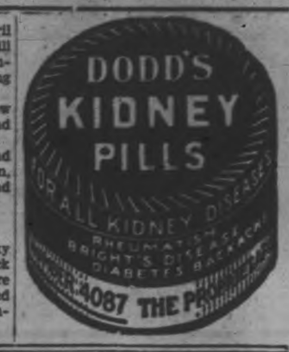
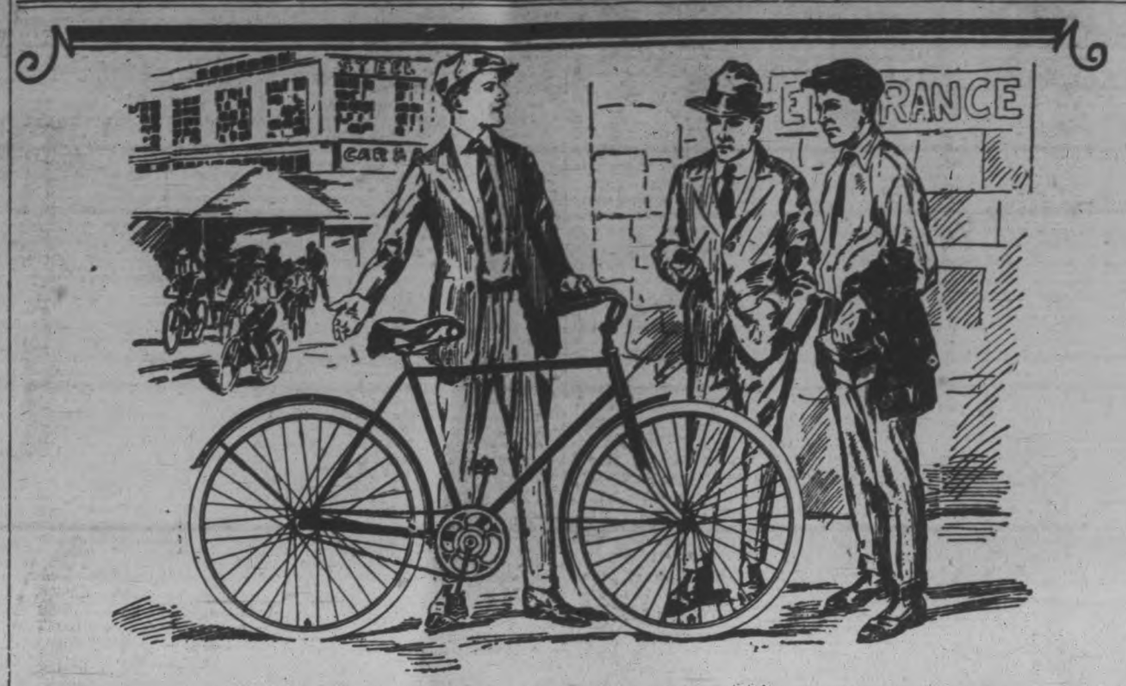
The superstition that it is unlucky to pass beneath a ladder dates back to the time when wrongdoers were hanged from a ladder propped against a wall when no tree happened to be handy.





"You fellows could ride, too?

"A few dollars down and a two-spot a week is all I'm paying for this Beauty"

"IT was Tom who tipped me off about the new easy payment plan for buying C-C-M's. Sounded reasonable to me—I thought I'd look into it.

"Saturday, when I got my envelope, I dropped around to the bike store. The fellow there was a good head—showed me his stock of wheels, and I sort of took a liking to this one here.

$2 WEEKLY and a small payment down

"Do y'know, I didn't think we could get this payment business fixed up so quick; thought I'd have to wait a day or so before I could ride. But no, I paid down ten bucks, signed a paper promising to pay two dollars weekly and inside of twenty minutes I was riding home!

"Why don't you fellows try riding for a change? It's a sight easier than walking and a lot faster!"

* * * * * * * * *

This litte story is typical of thousands more which tell how popular has become the easy payment plan by which you can now buy C-C-M Bicycles.

No longer need a workman deny himself the convenience of this easy and speedy means of riding to work; no longer need a boy sigh in vain for the delights of a C-C-M; both can attain their desire on the basis of easy weekly payments of about $2.00.

You, too, will find your nearest C-C-M dealer pleased to arrange this method of easy payments. As before mentioned, the first payment is small, and the weekly instalments are hardly noticeable.

Why deny yourself longer? This very week you can, if you will, be riding a smooth-running C-C-M, enjoying "transportation independence" and feeling the benefit which comes from bracing rides in the open air.

There were no seconds present when an affair of honor was being debated by the two wealthy Carrington brothers in a New York street but that deficiency was more than compensated for by the host of legal aides who supported the contestants when they glared at each other in police court. Colonel Edward Codrington Carrington of Chicago, left claimed that the battle had been a duel with canes but his brother, Campbell Carrington, right, maintained it was merely an assault upon himself. Years ago, Anna Walsh, centre, was wooed by both brothers and finally picked the florid and grandiloquent colonel as her husband. In the present altercation, however, she is opposing her husband and supporting his brother.

In addition to earthquakes Japan has experienced this winter in certain sections an unprecedented snowfall. According to advices received in Canada, snow has been so heavy in the district of Fukui in Northern Japan, that railway traffic, other transportation facilities and power transmission have been completely interrupted. Heavy snowfalls which began in January, have continued, and as far as the eye can reach, every object is snowbound. Fukui is a silk weaving centre and serious interruption has occurred in the mills due to frequent interruptions of electric current. The accompanying pictues from Fukui are in striking contrast to the pictures of the cherry blossoms or of earthquakes which are more frequently used to describe the Japanese landscape.

PRESENT PLAY AT BAILIEBORO

"Path Across the Hill" Given by Y.P.S. of United Church.

GOOD CAST

BAILIEBORO, April 12. — The Young People's Society of the United Church put on their play, entitled "The Path Across the Hill," in the church on Friday evening.

The roads and weather were all that could be desired for the occasion, and before the time for commencement arrived the church was filled to the doors, many had to stand at the back and in the entrance during the entire programme as the seating capacity was entirely taken up.

The first act opened as a kitchen scene in Ruth Conrad's home, showing the happy contented life that was lived by an aged grandfather and his two grandchildren, Ruth and Walter. Everything goes along fine until a summer boarder arrives in the person of Robert Post, who accuses Grandpa of having embezzled bank funds from his father's bank fifteen years previously. Grandfather, however, begs him to keep the secret from Ruth as his grandchildren do not know of this great sin, but Post is determined to bring the guilty man who has escaped justice all these years to justice, and the first act ends leaving the old man in great sorrow and distress.

The second act in the same room found the old man doing his best to persuade his granddaughter to go away so that she will not witness her dear one being imprisoned. Ruth refuses to leave her grandfather, and he even breaks his engagement with a neighbor, Grandma Davis, whom he was engaged to be married to. During the second act Post falls in love with Ruth, and he is persuaded to not punish Grandpa. Grandpa proves to him that after all he was not guilty, but only took the blame to shield, his son-in-law, Ruth's father, who did embezzle fifty thousand dollars from Post's father's bank, causing his father's ruin and his mother's and father's death. Post leaves town, declaring never to return again. Florence, Ruth's cousin, comes to pay her a visit and wins the affection of Doctor Reid, the young village physician, whom Ruth is engaged to, and they run away and get married. Walter, who is a very careless boy, thinking only of having a good time, also runs away to the city without telling his folks.

The third act finds circumstances altered. Grandpa and Grandma get married. Dr. Reid and Flo return and their marriage is a very unhappy one. Flo's mother would not receive them in her New York mansion. Walter is arrested in the city for bootlegging. He gets out of jail, and decides to live a careful life. He returns and starts to work for college, and becomes engaged to Lutie, a neighbor girl. Post returns and asks Ruth to marry him, and she accepts him. Zuzu, the cook, goes to the city on a vacation and brings home a husband, Salamander Alexander John Henry Jones who is a colored man like his wife. They add much humor to the play throughout, with their hearty laughter and southern speeches.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Samuel Crawford, Grandpa—Fred Barnard.

Robert Post, the visitor — Will Lang.

Walter Conrad, Ruth's father — Geddes Harper.

Dr. Jimmie Reid, with ambition—Karl Lang.

Salamander Alexander John Henry Jones, Zuzu's choice—Charlie Barnard.

Mrs. Davis, Grandma — Miss Lottie Earl.

Ruth Conrad, nick-named Bobbie —Miss Edna Wallace.

Flo Gray, Ruth's cousin — Miss Dorothy Falls.

Lutie, a neighbor—Miss Kathleen Bateman.

Zuzu, the cook—Miss May Earl.

An excellent musical programme was provided between acts by the Millbrook male quartette, composed of Messrs. Walter Coombe, McDowell, Anderson, H. Johnston, V. Lambert. Each number was heartily encored and enjoyed by all. Mr. Ernest Burnham of Millbrook also delighted the audience with a cornet solo. Mr. Wilfred Johnston of Centreville also rendered a violin solo which was greatly applauded.

The door receipts amounted to ninety-five dollars.

Much credit for the success of the play was entitled to Mrs. Robert Harper, who acted as a capable instructress, and gave much time in assisting in every way possible.

COST OE ACCIDENTS

it is called "Blood Gost," which is really very descriptive, said the speaker. The Act has done away with industrial litigation and has made towards a promptness and certainty of payment two things which are of vital importance to laborers.

It is the duty of industry to make some effort to prevent accidents and to meet this end there has been organized the Industrial Accident Prevention Association. There are 18 classes of industry and 15 of these are members of the association. The association has an able band of inspectors, who go throughout the province teaching the industrial workers and pointing out the hazards. The men and women have more to gain to-day than the employer; for to one the compensation costs blood and to the other it costs dollars and cents. The inspector does not enforce rules and regulations, but his attitude is one of education and co-operation rather than legislation and compulsion.

In closing the speaker said: "Compensation interests everyone, and each of you gentlemen can do something in your own plants so as Peterborough will be put in a more favorable position in regard to her rating with the association." Mr. Morley mentioned the fine record of the Westclox among other firms in Ontario which have run a year or more without an employee losing time through accident. "Safety must be stirred up by thought, word and deed and these have to follow in sequence."

ADMITS COMPANY

"A campaign to make Ontario wet would increase sales, would it not?" elucidated Mr. Hatch. "I am sure that you would rather we put it in there that way than that we we come up and called it a 'snake fund'."

Further Examinations.

The examination of Mr. Hatch was brief, and at its conclusion, Mr. Calder said that it had been the intention to call Messrs. Herbert Hatch and L. J. McGuiness. These witnesses were not available at the moment, but counsel stated that they would be on hand to-day. According to evidence, these two men, under the name of Hatch and McGuiness, obtain a large proportion of the United States' business of Gooderham and Worts.

Earlier in the sitting, H. O. Sleeman, former manager of the Sleeman Brewery in Guelph, was given a month in which to produce books and records required by the auditors. Certain books of this brewery, which is now changing hands, have been mislaid, but as conveyed to the commission to-day, Mr. Sleeman says he can reproduce the lost books from available records. He was told to do so.

The complete morning sitting of the commission was devoted to hearing recommendations and suggestions made on behalf of the Commercial Protective Association and other organizations by R. P. Sparks, of Ottawa. Mr. Sparks is head of the Association. He recommended, first and foremost, reduction in the number of ports of entry into Canada. He advised the establishment of an expert board of Dominion Appraisers. The preventive service should be strengthened by the appointment of expert and clever officers, he said. He suggested the designation of specific roads crossing the border for international traffic. At the conclusion of his evidence, Mr. Sparks was thanked by Chief Commissioner Brown who said that recommendations made would receive the consideration of the commission.

FALL OF WATER DRIES MARSHES

Trappers Now Have Difficulty in Getting To Traps.

CATCH IS POOR.

HIAWATHA, April 12.—The water in Rice Lake and the Otonabee River fell at least a foot in the past few days.

Last Saturday it commenced, and by Wednesday the swamps and marshes were almost dry.

This makes it difficult for the trappers to get to their traps.

Most of them wear long rubber boots, and in the swamp they find walking very sticky and perhaps miry.

Two veteran trappers when discussing the matter of low water, stated that the chances now for making a big haul are very slim.

The number of rats taken is very small and will likely influence the market in a favorable manner for the people selling.

One of these men claimed that the lowering and raising of the water levels killed many rats last fall. Dead rats are frequently seen in the marshes and along the shore.

Last year's longer season, he thought, had nothing to do with the scarcity.

When the rats built their houses last year in the summer and fall the water was rather low. The early frosty nights prevented them from making their nests higher when the water rose. Thus they were forced to move or be drowned.

Mr. George Wakefield, who manages the Harris Fraser muskrat farm, near Hiawatha has given the habits, food and housing of rats considerable study claims that these houses the rats build are for feeding purposes only. Their homes are in burrows in the shore. If this is true, then the low or high water could not have a bad effect, though they might starve.

Another trapper laughed, when low water was mentioned, thinking that the cold, nippy evenings when the frost covers the traps with a coat of hard water, was the cause of the small success in the number of pelts being dried over cook stoves and behind heaters.

This man said when the ice leaves the lake the levels will raise. The water from the upper rivers and lakes of the Trent System will cause it to do this.

The rain on Tuesday and the mild evening following caused many a discouraged trapper to think that there was fun in trapping after all. The rise in temperature resulted in a large run of rats.

Trappers sometimes find funny rats in their traps. So far the following have been found this year, a black bird, a crow, a star nosed mole, a black wild duck, and last Saturday morning, one man opened his trap and released a baby "muskie." It was about a month old, dead but perfectly formed. It can be seen at the Lakeshore House.

TRAPPERS DISPUTE TRIAL POSTPONED

Charge of Theft Laid By One Against Another at Brighton.

ORLAND, April 12. — The trial which received a partial hearing before Magistrate Floyd in Brighton last Friday, was postponed. Considerable local interest was taken in this trial as it was the first occasion where trappers 'troubles were aired in court. It appears that Jacob Oliver summoned Harold Shepard for stealing a rat and some traps, but as one material witness was not present it was laid over. Mr. Kerr, of Cobourg, was of the opinion that this trial did not come within the jurisdiction of Magistrate Floyd.

Cecil Goodfellow, who underwent a serious operation in Belleville Hospital a few days ago, is reported doing well.

William Reddom will be moving to this village next week as he has about completed repairs on his dwelling here.

Maple syrup vendors are out with their goods and the quality seems much better than last year.

A very few farmers have started ploughing and some say they are soon going to plant potatoes.

The bad places in the Campbellford-Brighton highway are about all dried up and the going is good except a short place near Mrs. Poole's, where it is quite rough yet.

Mrs. William Wilson is moving into the home she purchased recently from C. A. Lawson.

C. McMurter, who has been in the employ of J. W. Kemp for the last two years, has hired to Jacob Clark for the coming season.

Cream trucks are making their appearance again ,which is one of the signs of spring, yet many farmers fear that the heavy frosts if continued will damage the fall grain and new seeding.

AMENDMENT DELAYS PEACE RIVER VOTE

District Member Moves To Refer Report Back To Committee.

OTTAWA, April 11 (Canadian Press).—Concurrence by the House of Commons in the report of the Standing Committee on Railways and Canals respecting the Peace River outlet was held up this morning, when D. M. Kennedy (U.F.A., Peace River), proposed an amendment. The amendment was ruled out of order, but was allowed to stand as a notice of motion, and the report therefore laid over for consideration of the House at later date. Mr. Kennedy's motion, which will be debated before the report can be concurred in, would refer the report back to the committee for amendment.

SAP RUN GOOD AT HIAWATHA

Frosty Nights and Warm Days Aid Farmers' Efforts.

WORK ALL NIGHT.

HIAWATHA, April 12.—Owing to the continued frosty nights and sunshiny days, farmers of this part of Otonabee, have experienced great runs of sap from their sugar bushes.

Messrs. Peter Thomson, Madden Howard, Ben Taylor, George Paudash and Sam Williams have tapped.

Mr. Peter Thomson, who has more than four hundred trees tapped and has a modern evaporator, has spent a number of nights boiling the sap in his sugar house, which is close to the River Otonabee.

So far he has made more syrup than last year and people from the village, Keene, and Peterborough, are steadily buying it.

Mr. Thomson takes great care that the sap does not stand long in the buckets which are attached to the maple trees. This accounts for the lightness in colour of his product.

The other men are also working at night, to keep the buckets empty.

One of the treats of the spring season, "The Sugaring-off Party" so far has not yet been enjoyed.

IT'S STILL WET.

NEW YORK. — England, France and Greece are just as wet as ever, according to William E. ("Pussyfoot') Johnston, who returned recently from Europe. His campaign trip began last July. He says the people have not much time to give to the thoght of prohibition because they are too taken up with other national issue:, but that "they will come around all right."

Scout News and Notices

THIRD PETERBOROUGH 'VIMY' TROOP.

Whew, what a night! There was enough excitement crammed into last Friday's meeting to satisfy even the wildest of the Scouts. It seemed as if some might have a serious attack of heart failure before the end of the meeting. The competition was so close that no one knew who would be the ultimate winner until the last minute of the meeting. The Hawks started the meeting 9½ points behind the Hounds, and then proceeded during the meeting to quickly overcome this lead. By means of hard work they managed to get to 1 point behind the leaders, and there they stuck. The final standing was: Hounds 345¼, Hawks 344¾, Chickadees 321½, and Wolves 241¾. The prize to the winning Patrol will be awarded the Hounds at the first meeting after Good Friday. This meeting will take the form of a council fire meeting, at which stunts of various kinds will be performed by each Patrol. It will be given over entirely to songs and stunts.

Friday's meeting was spent in competitions of various kinds, points being given in the competition. The first game was 'Scout law baseball.' The Chickadees proved victorious in this, winning 5 points, with the Hounds second.

A knot tying race followed which the Hounds won, after a bad start. The Hawks finished second, the Chickadees third.

Then came the great event of the evening—a "blow ball tournament." The Hounds and Hawks each sent two competitors to do battle. After great expenditure of wind and energy, the Hawks managed to score the two goals necessary for victory.

The Wolves and Chickadees then took their turn at the table and the Chickadees won out.

The Hawks and Chickadees were rather short of wind by this time, so were allowed a short rest, while the Hounds and Wolves fought it out to determine who won points for third place. The Hounds won out and earned two points.

The Chickadees and Hawks took their turn, and the Hawks proved to have the better wind and won.

The Hawks had identified a large number of birds and earned a point for each.

When the points were posted, the Hounds were found to be ahead by four points, but the vigilant Hawks discovered three errors in the computation which pulled them up 3 points.

P. L. Jack Gray had been promised that he would have a chance to try his signalling. If he passed, he earned three points for the Patrol. Jack made a great attempt, but in the strain of having everything dependent upon him and with the rest of the Troop watching, he lost out, becoming confused on several of the letters. The final standing therefore left the Hounds winners by 1 point, and they immediately called for three cheers for the Hawks.

The Hawks have had the rather hard luck to be beaten out in the last night of competition on two successive occasions. In the previous competition they were eliminated by the Wolves only on the final night. Better luck next time Hawks!

Some six or seven Scouts are going on a two-day hike on Easter Sunday and Monday. They have a good camp location about eight miles from the city, on the bank of a small creek. It is high and dry, and a good time is guaranteed for those who can come.

BERLIN. — The first railroad in Germany, built 91 years ago, from Nuremburg to Fuerth, Bavaria, six miles, was sold as junk recently.

LITTLE PLOWING DONE AT MARMORA

Farmers Waiting Till After Easter to Continue Farm Work.

MARMORA, April 11. — A little ploughing has been already done in this district, but most farmers appear to be waiting until after Easter before getting down to this feature in earnest. The long series of frosty nights apparently have not affected fall wheat or rye. Clover on every hand is showing good growth.

The maple syrup season is said to be one of the best for many years.

Passes Examinations.

Mr. John Finegan, junior, has received word of passing the examination set by the Eastern Dairy school at Kingston, at the close of their 1927 session. Son of a distinguished cheese maker, this young man was successful in obtaining 762 marks on the eleven subjects tried. He has been engaged as maker at the Silver Leaf factory near Deloro, where, for a few years, his father made cheese.

OTONABEE ROADS BEING PUT IN SHAPE

Three Graders Working Near Mather's Corners at Present.

MATHER'S CORNERS, April 12.—Mr. Ambrose Dorris, township road superintendent and the grader men are putting the roads in shape.

The three graders are busy, two on the Keene road and one on the eleventh line, that branches off one mile west of here and goes to Hiawatha.

The new gravel, which is being spread near Keene, helps now, if it did sometimes cause annoyance during the winter.

Mr. Richard Lees, M.A., public school inspector, called at the school recently. He was favorably impressed with the methods Miss Mary Douglas, the teacher was using.

Mr. Mark Manley and his son Harvey returned on Tuesday morning from Hiawatha, where they spent a busy week cutting firewood.

Mr. Mervin Mather has finished putting a new crank shaft into Mr. William Anderson's milk truck.

L.O.B.A. LODGE BEING ORGANIZED

Grand Lodge Officers Present at Preparatory Meeting at Brighton.

GOOD SPEECHES

BRIGHTON, April 12. — The membersof L.O.L. No. 186 Brighton put on a social evening in their lodge rooms on April 8, with the object in view of organizing a L.O.B. lodge to work in conjunction with L.O.L. No. 186.

The three speakers of the evening could hardly be equalled along the line of organization and loyalty.

Bro. J. R. Ross took the chair and called the Rt. Hon. Wor. Grand Organizer, Bro. H. A. Graham to the platform, and then in his easy way delivered a fine address explaining the object of the meeting, paying a flattering compliment to the large number of ladies present, which showed that their efforts were not going to be in vain.

He then invited Bro. Harry Phillips to introduce the speakers of the evening. Bro. Phillips with his usual cheery and eloquent delivery congratulated the brethren on their success in securing such able speakers as he was able to present to his audience.

The first speaker of the evening was Major J. F. B. Belford, who delivered a rousing address along the lines of loyalty, and asked the ladies to raise up in their might and protest vigorously against those who were in high positions disclaiming British action and lauding Russia in the present controversy in China.

Taking the attitude of Miss Agnes McPhail in sending circulars to the public schools in her riding as an example of the above, he asserted that while she might take that course in British territory the same action in Russia would not be tolerated and capital punishment would result.

Referring to the object of the meeting, he said that with the prospective assistance of a Ladies' L.O.L. that 186 will give a good account of itself.

Rt. Wor. Bro. Graham on being called upon responded in a very able manner, citing several places where Orange lodges were nearly down and out and were now in a flourishing condition as a result of co-operation with the L.O.B. lodge.

He also gave some interesting data about work of the legislative committee of the order and charitable work, for the association now has homes for Protestant orphans in every province in the Dominion except Quebec. Ontario leads in this work as it possesses a magnificent home north of Toronto which is entirely paid for and cost $375,000 and at present shelters 146 children between the ages of two and twelve years.

Mrs. Reginald Gillespie of Perth, on being called to address the meeting, stated that she was sorry she could not come up to the high standard that Bro. Phillips had led those present to expect from her, as she was only a substitute and a substitute was never as good as the real thing. Mrs. L. Clarke of Cornwall, who is the L.O.B. Grand Organizer of Ontario East, could not be present and had sent her to fill her place.

She described how a few Hamilton ladies had conceived the idea of organizing in 1889 what was then known as the Ladies Protestant Association and the following year received permission from the Grand Orange Lodge to assume the title of L.O.B.A.

Since that time the growth has been phenomenal and the work accomplished has been a surprise to the promoters.

Mrs. Gillespie is also an excellent elocutionist, demonstrating the fact by a recitation entitled "Foreigners Views of the Statue of Liberty" which depicted the matter of fact view of John Bull and the economic idea of the Scot and the ludicrous idea of the Irish and Chinese. It finished up with the explanation of the Yankee who, stated that it was, without boasting in the leas, the most significant statue that was ever erected, and that fresh laurels were added to the already long list by the typical slogan, "We won the war."

The result of Mrs. Gillespie's address was the applications of sixteen ladies as soon as the meeting was over and prospects are excellent for at least fifty charter members, and no town of its size will be able to exceed, if indeed equal, Brighton in Orange ideals and principles.

After the meeting a sumptuous repast was served to the enjoyment of all present and a long to be remembered meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

DELORO TROOP.

DELORO, April 12.—The 1st Deloro Troop of Boy Scouts held its first investiture ceremony on Tuesday night in Deloro Hall. The following were invested with the Tenderfoot badge:

Patrol leader—Norman Smith.
Patrol leader—Michael Callery.
Second—George Mantle.
Second—George O'Neill.
Scout—William Skinner.

The above mentioned boys are now officially recognized as members of the Boy Scouts' Association in Canada with the right to try for higher proficiency badges on different subjects.

Following the ceremony, some warming up exercises were carried out and scout games were played, concluding with three innings of knot baseball. The Ram patrol defeated the Bull patrol by the score of 1-0.

Around the council fire, the troop further showed its skill in the rendering of improvised songs. The meeting wound up with the fifth chapter of 'Boys of the Otter patrol.' The boys were anxious to get into the sixth chapter, but that was held in store for the following week.

MILLBROOK TROOP.

MILLBROOK, April 12.—The Millbrook Troop of Boy Scouts continues to function actively following the comparative lull in regular meetings because of the winter sports. Twenty-one members were present at this week's meeting.

Two boys, Henry Raper and Donald Rutherford, have recently passed their Tenderfoot Test, were initated as "Registered Scouts", and took the oath as follows: "I promise on my honor to be loyal to God and the King, to obey the Scout law, and to do a good turn daily for other people."

Henry Raper is the first of the boys who entered the Troop as a Cub to have passed this test, and become enrolled as a scout after reaching the age of twelve. Donald Rutherford is the second boy, of those who became members of the Troop after the change when those from the Presbyterian church were included, to pass this test.

Scoutmaster E. H. Barnes conducted the enrollment ceremony, Assistant Scoutmaster Lynden Russell presenting the Scout Badges.

The Patrol Leaders again conducted classes in Tenderfoot work for those who have not yet passed this test, the Assistant Scoutmasters conducting classes in Second Class work for those sufficiently advanced to prepare for the next grade of tests.

Announcement was made that a special meeting had been held at the home of Scoutmaster Barnes when Patrol Leaders had been named, and their Seconds been appointed as follows:

Patrol Leader, Burton Russel, The Beaver Patrol; Donald Rutherford to be Second.

Patrol Leader, Edward Nattrass, The Eagle Patrol; Gerald Raper, Second.

Patrol Leader, Albert Doak, The Bull Dog Patrol; Henry Raper, Second.

Henry Gray was appointed Scoutmaster's Patrol Leader, Edward Budd, with his duties as secretary-treasurer of the Troop.

The Scoutmaster and his assistants are prepared to meet any who are ready to pass tests, so that all who are now associated with the Troop may become registered scouts by the time 'hikes' and other summer activities are to be carried on.

Easter Monday is the date set for the first hike, and the Patrol Leaders are busy making plans for this occasion.

Boys living in Millbrook and vicinity who are eligible for membership in the local Troop will be welcomed, and duly instructed in the necessary steps to become fully fledged Boy Scouts.

Few Days' Use of Uratabs Stops Annoying Bladder Irritations Getting-Up-Nights.

Those who know the trials and discomforts of Bladder Weakness should be interested in this letter: "I have been bothered with Bladder Trouble for more than 3 years. A burning irritation was almost constant—and I was obliged to get out of bed perhaps five or six times during a night. Then I heard of Dr. Southworth's Uratabs and, without much hope of help, tried them. Wonderful relief came within a few days, and I now feel my trouble is practically ended. Am very grateful for what this grand medicine has done for me, and will always use Uratabs whenever I feel it necessary."

No matter what your age may be, if you want to end days of troublesome annoyance and nights of restless misery due to Bladder Weakness and Irritations—you should try the amazing value of Dr. Southworth's "URATABS" at once.

Dr. Southworth is a well-known practicing physician of nearly 50 years' successful experience. URATABS are made from his own special private formula and Bond's Drug Store and all druggists are authorized to supply them on guarantee of money back if not satisfactory.

A REMARKABLE RACE!

When the Santa Fe's new crack train, the Chief, raced into Los Angeles on its first run inaugurating the 68-hour service between Chicago and Los Angeles, it set a new train schedule for speed between Albuquerque, N. M., and Los Angeles, but it failed to break the remarkable record made by the Pontiac Six last spring between these two points. The Chief, the new train, takes 25 hours and 26 minutes to make the run, while the Pontiac Six set a time record of 23 hours and 29 minutes, just lacking three minutes of slashing two hours off the best train record.

It was only fitting at the inauguration of the new fast service on the Santa Fe that the Chief train should be welcomed at the Los Angeles station by the Pontiac Six and Chief Yowlache as representative of the Indian Chieftain Council. It was a fitting reception in that the name Chief and the names Pontiac both perpetuate the memories of the fast fading race. And incidentally because the Pontiac is the symbol of speed between Albuquerque and Los Angeles.

To Engineer Walter Reid, for more than 25 years an active engineer in the service, fell the honor of guiding the first Chief into Los Angeles, and as he alighted from his cab, Chief Yowlache pulled up in the Pontiac Six, climbed out, firmly grasped the hand of the little engineer, and in the name of that great Indian Chief, Pontiac, congratulated him on his remarkable speed and the dependability he has displayed in his 25 years of service.

"What would old Chief Pontiac have said if he had been told that some day the White man would race across the continent, taking but 68 hours from Chicago, and enjoy comfortable beds and meals while doing it!" mused Chief Yowlache. "We have come a long way since his time."

BRANTFORD DOCTOR BURNED TO DEATH

Incendiary Blamed For Fire at Lapeer, Michigan.

LAPEER, Mich., April 12—Horribly disfigured by burns, the body of Dr. William A. Gossman, 50 years old, a former resident of Brantford, Ont., was taken from the ruins of the farm home of Mrs. Stuart Havers, nine miles north of here, early yesterday. The home, together with its contents and large barn adjoining, was destroyed by a fire which, according to the Sheriff's officers, was of incendiary origin.

It is believed that the physician had been called professionally to the Havers home during the night, and after rendering medical aid to a patient there had fallen asleep in the living-room. Dr. Gossman leaves a wife and daughter, Jean, at Brantford.

House Was Entered.

IMLAY CITY, Mich., April 12.—At a Coroner's inquest here last night to inquire into the death of Dr. William A. Gossman of Brantford, burned to death in a farmhouse fire at the home of Mrs. Stuart Havers of Lapeer, Mrs. Havers, who is a widow with nine children, testified that while Dr. Gossman was at her home three men forced an entrance, demanded liquor, and when it was refused them threatened to "get" the physician.

The inquest was adjourned until to-night after police had taken into custody three men suspected of knowledge of the affair.

have had little or nothing to do, but these are expected to pick up with the coming of warm weather when building starts in earnest. Mr. Robinson states that inside of two weeks or so, the list of applicants should be pretty well cleared up, unless they are flooded with outsiders seeking work in Peterborough.

At the present time, skilled mechanics and draftsmen only are required for labor in the factories, and it is almost useless for any others save those mentioned to apply for work just now before the busy season starts.

Female help is much needed in private homes to assist in the work of annual house-cleaning, and the Employment Office cannot possibly supply the needs of many women requiring domestic aid. Restaurants are also demanding waitresses, and it is easily seen that there is no lack of work whatsoever for female labor.

The general outlook is very good from the working man's point of view, for, according to the Bureau records, Peterborough ranks among the highest for ability to give her own citizens active labor.

WISER THAN THE WISEST.

Dictionary Preserves Many Relics of Ancient Wisdom.

A wise man has said that a language often will be wiser, not merely than the ignorant, but even wiser than the wisest who speak it. He likens it to amber in embalming and preserving the relics of ancient wisdom, although one is often somewhat puzzled to decipher its contents

Sometimes it locks up truths which at one time were well known, but which in the course of ages have passed out of sight and been forgotten. Again it holds the germ of truth, of which the genius of its framers caught a glimpse in a happy moment of inspiration. This is why language is so important in every age and to every person.

Being the best vehicle through which to study language and acquire new words, the dictionary is a necessity to everyone desiring to advance. In this day of intense competition words can literally be turned into dollars. So the dictionary offer is a boon to all readers. The coupon printed elsewhere in to-day's paper shows how to acquire it.

CONCEALED FULLNESS

The prediction of several seasons ago that wider skirts would bring a return to fatter figures has been disproved. Most of the French coutturieres, while favoring fullness, so contrive the lines of their frocks that the bodice and hips fit closely, and the pleats or gathers appear suddenly, well below the hip line.

Flounces set almost as low as the knees give a charming Spanish effect and create a graceful line in the dance. A lace ruffle or line of fringe adds further sweep.

BLACK LACE

Both black and ecru lace are important trimmings for the new spring lingerie.

DIMITY FROCKS

Smart hostesses are actually appearing in morning frocks of dimity, gingham and other humble cottons.

TO MATCH HAT

If you are wearing a red, henna or rose hat, your lipstick must match it in tone.

BRIGHT NASTURTIUMS

Boutonnieres for the new spring suits and street frocks are made of six or seven rather large, brightly colored nasturtiums.

NATURAL STRAWS

The natural tones of straw are to be very smart for spring hats. Trimmings are chiefly navy blue twill ribbons and narrow black bands.

CIRCULAR SKIRTS

A number of circular skirts are being used in gowns for evening wear The materials may be finely ruffled lace, net or taffeta.

NEW COLORS

Quiet blues and mauves are first in favor for daytime wear. For evening, black and the rose shades of red are most popular.

FOR STOUT WOMEN

A slenderizing line for stout women is the surplice closing of the blouse, sometimes edged with shallow scallops.

Large, Red Pimples Covered Her Face

Miss Mable Moore, Blenheim, Ont., writes:—"A short while ago my face was covered with large, red pimples. I tried several remedies, but all failed. At last a friend advised me to take and I took three bottles. I will never regret the day I did this as my face is entirely cleared up.

My mother has taken B.B.B. for headaches, and she hasn't had the least sign of a headache for a long time."

This valuable remedy has been on the market for the past 43 years; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SAINT and SINNER

Banning began to read Chester Hart's love letter to Cherry in a deep, romantic voice, which made Chester writhe with embarrassment:

"'My own, darling Cherry: Every day that I don't see you seems like a year. I thought when we were engaged you would let me come to see you every day, but I hardly ever see you. The other night I saw you at "Ye Olde Logge Cabin" with Chris Wiley, and Cherry, I wanted to kill him, I was so jealous. But I remembered what you had told me about Chris—that you hated him, but had to go with him sometimes to try to get back some letters of yours that he had, so he wouldn't bother you after we are married. Cherry, let me get them letters for you. I'll pound him into a jelly if you say so, and he won't be able to frighten you any more.

"'Oh, Cherry, I love you so much that I can't sleep for thinking about you. I didn't know anybody could love a girl as much as I love you. You are so little and sweet, Cherry, and to think that you are all mine. Are you still wearing my ring around your sweet little neck?'"

There was more of the letter, but Faith did not hear it, for Cherry was crying silently, her head laid against Faith's breast, her cold little hands tightly locked in Faith's comforting fingers.

Whether Banning was merciful, or whether he wanted to speed up the trial, confident that he had impressed upon the jury the fact that Cherry had been engaged to at least two men simultaneously—Bob Hathaway and Chester Hart—and that she was engaged to at least one other when the announcement of her engagement to Ralph Cluny appeared in the papers on Sunday, October 3, Faith could never know, but he did not offer any more of Chester Hart's love letters to Cherry.

When Churchill received the witness for cross-examination, his first question was asked in a deliverately sneering voice—

"Mr. Hart, were you ever called a 'gay Lothario' by your friends?"

"I—I don't know what you mean," Chester stammered, and the audience tittered joyously before the judge's gavel stopped them.

"No, I don't suppose you do," Church ill nodded with hypocritical sympathy. "Now, Mr. Hart, will you describe the engagement ring which you say you gave to Miss Cherry?"

"I—er—it was a—a diamond," Chester stuttered, his face going redder than ever.

"A real diamond?" Churchill prodded, for he had been prepared for this line of questioning by a whispered comment from Cherry.

"Yes, sir—I mean, no, sir," Chester confessed, with head hanging, and hanging, and again the audience tittered with glee.

"Is it not true, Mr. Hart, that Miss Cherry told you, when you saw her after her announced engagement to Mr. Cluny, that she had thrown your ring away after she had discovered that it was practically worthless?" Churchill persisted cruelly.

"Yes, sir, she did!" Chester blustered with sudden rage. "And it was not worthless; I paid twenty-five—"

"Confine your answers to yes or no, when the questions call for such answers," Judge Grimshaw reminded him.

"That is all, Mr. Hart, and thank you!" Churchill bowed ironically as he returned the witness to the prosecution, but Banning would have none of him and dismissed him summarily.

When Churchill was again in his seat, Cherry leaned forward and spoke in a low voice, but audible to the reporters. "Thanks for showing up that cheap skate, Mr. Churchill."

"Call Mr. William C. Warren," Banning instructed the court crier.

"Bill Warren!" Cherry gasped. "Surely Bill won't turn on me. Oh, haven't I any friends left?"

Good-looking Bill Warren proved a difficult witness for Banning to handle. It was soon evident that Bill had come to court under protest, and only because he had been subpoenaed.

"Now, Mr. Warren, do you know this defendant, Cherry Lane Wiley?"

"I do! She is a very dear friend of mine!" Bill answered rapidly, before Banning could stop him.

"Confine your answers to yes or no when the question calls for a yes or no," Banning frowned. "Your honor, I ask you to have the last words of the witness stricken from the record."

His request was granted.

"Mr. Warren, I now ask you if you have ever been engaged to be married to this defendant?"

"I have not!" Warren answered emphatically.

Banning frowned angrily; it was clear that he had expected exactly the opposite answer. "Now, Mr. Warren, I ask you to remember that you are under oath. Did you not have hopes of marrying Miss Cherry, hopes which she encouraged—"

Churchill's tumultuous objections were sustained by the smiling judge.

"I am going to show you a letter, Mr. Warren, and ask you if you can identify it," Banning spoke sharply, as he handed the missive, in its envelope, to Bill Warren.

To the surprise of everyone in the courtroom, Judge Grimshaw demanded a private view of the letter before the witness could draw it from its envelope.

"I will not permit this letter to be introduced, or any other similar letters from this witness, in view of the testimony he has just given," the judge ruled.

"I enter an objection and ask that it be noted in the record!" Banning stated grimly. "Your witness!" he waved toward Churchill.

"There is no need for me to cross-examine Mr. Warren," Churchill smiled broadly. "He has already made a very good witness for the defense."

"Call Mr. Albert Ettleson!" Banning barked at the court crier.

Albert Ettleson, minus his coonskin coat, was flashily dressed in a tightly fitting suit of black and white checks. A broad cravat of red and white striped silk intensified the rich color on his fat, swarthy cheeks, and his small, pig-like black eyes glittered with interest and vanity as he settled into the big chair after taking the oath.

"Your name?"

"Albert Ettleson," the witness stated proudly.

"Your occupation?"

"I am a traveling representative of the Tip-Top Gas Range Company of Indianapolis."

"Are you acquainted with the defendant, Cherry Lane Wiley?" Banning asked.

"Sure!" Ettleson grinned.

"When and how did you make her acquaintance?" Banning demanded.

"Why, it was this way," Ettleson settled more comfortably in his chair and spoke with a confidential leer. "I was in the city here, on business for my firm—I make this territory regular—stopping at the Randolph Hotel, last summer it was. Let me see— it must have been August. Yeah, about the middle of August, because I was in Chicago on August 17 and I'd just come from here. Well, about the middle of last August I was sitting in the lobby of the Randolph and Cherry dropped her handkerchief—you know how it is!" he grinned wickedly. "And I picked it up and got into conversation with her and then I took her to a show that night—"

Banning interrupted Albert Ettleson's loquacious account of his acquaintance with Cherry to ask:

"You are a married man, Mr. Ettleson?"

"Why, yes, sir, I am." But Ettleson was not embarrassed. He was enjoying himself.

"Now, Mr. Ettleson, may I ask if you and Miss Cherry continued your friendship on your succeeding trips to this city, and if you became closer friends?"

Over Churchill's objection, Ettleson was instructed to answer.

"Well, we did a lot of petting," Ettleson admitted, with a leer.

"Now, Mr. Ettleson, I submit a telegram and ask you if you can identify it," Banning asked pleasantly.

Ettleson accepted the yellow slip of paper, nodded, then said, "Yes, it's a message I sent to Cherry."

"I will ask you to read the telegram," Banning directed, exuberant over his victory.

Ettleson's voice was shamelessly loud and clear as he read: "'Sorry cannot make it this week-end. Somebody suspicious. Don't worry. Writing full instructions. Love and kisses. Albert.'"

"Now, Mr. Ettleson, will you tell the jury about those 'full instructions' referred to?" Banning directed.

"Why, we were planning to go away together. I was going to meet Cherry here on Saturday and take her to New York with me—"

Churchill's angry objection was sustained and Banning varied his method of examination.

"Did you subsequently write to Miss Cherry embodying those 'full instructions' in a letter?"

"I did."

Banning accepted a letter from an assistant and placed it in Ettleson's hand. "Do you identify this as the letter referred to?"

Ettleson looked the letter over carefully, then nodded. "Sure! That's my letter to her."

In spite of all that Churchill could do, the letter, giving Cherry full instructions as to the meeting in Darrow on September 2, was admitted into the record, and was read aloud by Banning. It was lush with terms of endearment and carried the specific promise:

"You be good to me, girlie, and I'll be good to you. I've already spoke to Dillingworth, and he says he'll give you a try-out in the musical comedy he's rehearsing now. I've got it all fixed up for you to meet him as soon as you land in New York, and I bet you in another six months you'll be the toast of Broadway, for they don't come any cuter or prettier than my little Cherry-Blossom. I'm enclosing a money order for two hundred dollars, honey-child, and if that ain't enough we'll fix it up when we meet in Darrow on Sunday."

"May I ask, Mr. Ettleson, if the money order for two hundred dollars was enclosed and whether, to your knowledge, it was cashed by this defendant," Banning asked, almost licking his lips with satisfaction.

"Sure! I sent it, she cashed it and spent it!" Ettleson got across in spite of Churchill's objections.

"And did you meet the defendant in Darrow, as arranged, on September 26?"

"Sure! She come in on the 3.40, a train that leaves here at 2.52, and I met her at the train."

"Go on with the story of that meeting in your own words, Mr. Ettleson." Banning took a chair and leaned back, smiling with supreme satisfaction.

"I hired a car and we drove around 'til dinner time. We had dinner at the Munson Hotel in Darrow, then rode around some more, and then got our bags from the hotel and went on over to the station to catch the 9.28 for New York."

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

For Wednesday, April 13, 1927.

(Copyright, 1927, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Astrologers read this as a threatening day, thoroughly in keeping with the ancient superstition regarding the thirteenth of the month.

Agriculture is subject to a planetary government that is very menacing, indicating losses through storms and uncertain markets.

Farmers may find comfort in the prediction that days of discouragement will be followed by a period of real prosperity.

All who raise wheat and grains have the forecast of unusual profits. New demands for fruit also are foretold.

There is a sign to-day menacing the aged and it is foretold that many who have won fame will end their careers this year.

Astrologers foretell that 1927 is to be a time of great upheavals and equally great beginnings.

Science is to make remarkable discoveries that start changes as remarkable as any that have been introduced in the last fifty years, it is prophesied.

Irrigation of arid lands will attract much attention in the coming summer when men will prepare for imperative needs of the future more surprising than any they can foresee.

Newspapers are to find the censorship problem one of extreme interest to them within the year, astrologers predict.

Mars is in a place supposed to encourage intrigue that will produce new international problems for Uncle Sam.

Washington, D. C., is to have questions to decide, relating to the future of the South and West, which will cause bitter political agitation, astrologers prophesy.

Canada, also, is to present some sort of an embarrassing situation in which trade and immigration are involved.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have rather a hazardous year, in which they will do well to attend strictly to business and financial affairs.

Children born on this day probably will be interested in industrial enterprises. Both boys and girls are likely to have a practical trend of mind.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

This navy blue collarless coat has a gray lining which is left loose in front and ties with two bows, giving the effect of a separate tunic.

In a season like the present, when black plays such an important role, linings assume a position of much importance. If you buy a colored cape or coat, you take it for granted that the lining shall either match the wrap or be of some neutral tone. If you buy a wrap of black, you look to the lining. For with black the contrasting color is very important. Even if the lining is beige or gray, you must consider it, because it should be the tone carried out in accessories—stockings, etc. And it has happened more than once in shops where ready-made wraps are sold that a wrap that pleased a customer perfectly in other respects was finally not chosen because of the lining.

One of the prominent French dressmakers has been using linings of striped silk—blue and white, or red and white. A furrier in Paris writes that the old figured and flowered linings are quite out of date, and figured linings are not used by the tailors or dressmakers save for a coat or jacket that is to be worn over a figured frock. But these new barber-pole linings are considered quite smart.

Premet has made a new sort of lining that is meeting with much approval. His linings are of soft pliant material and are extended up over the outside of the wrap in the form of a collar that ends with scarfs that tie at the front or side.

In place of a large flower on your shoulder for evening you may wear a large bow of soft ribbon if your prefer. But there is no sign that the shoulder flower is losing ground in any way. Many of the new flowers are sold with a small safety pin attached. The pin is laid against the stem of the flower and wound around many times with green silk thread. If your flowers are not already provided with a pin, a good plan is to buy small gilt safety pins or those plated with enamel and attach them to your flowers in this way. It is not wise to have the flower sewed on the frock, since even a light wrap crushes it, and it is therefore well to havee som easy way to reattach it when the wrap is removed. Enormous tulle bows are made to wear on the neck. These are sometimes attached by means of narrow tulle band that fastens about the neck with very small snappers. With a tulle bow of this sort the shoulder bow or flower is dispensed with.

FASHION NOTES

BY HEDDA HOYT

(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK April 11.—(United Press).—Flowing cascades of flowers are the present shoulder corsages for evening purposes. Usually one large flower is worn on the left shoulder with streamer ends of buds and leaves falling toward the rear. The more recent placage for the flower is at the rear of the shoulder with just a suggestion of the corsage showing from the front.

Have you noticed the quantities of blue kid shoes which smart shoes shops are displaying? It is predicted that blue shoes will become apparent when the Spring mode for blue costumes is launched. Red shoes are also shown but thus far, these have only been worn for evening purposes.

One sees very few pearls worn by the select gathering at the Metropolitan Opera these days. Gowns are decidedly low cut, particularly so at the rear, and necklaces of any sort are entirely absent. Pearls have become so popular for daytime, including sports wear, that fashionables find them no longer chic for evening purposes.

Hair ornaments of any sort are also missing at formal evening gatherings. The hair is either bobbed in latest fashion, piled high on the head or sever ly knotted at the back without headbands, combs or ornaments.

Center-straps of rhinestones can now be purchased at the shoe counters. These are easily attached to evening slippers and add a glittering effect that is desired on most sandel models. Of course the rhinestone center strap requires a shoe that is specially suited for its purpose That is, a shoe which either has an ankle strap to which the top of the center strap may be attached or a shoe which is designed to tie in front. Some center straps are extremely beautiful, being made of metal set with rhinestones in ornate design. They clasp to the vamp and have a slide at the top through which the ankle strap of the shoe extends.

LONG ROPES OF PEARLS

Long ropes of heavy pearl beads are being used with dark afternoon beads. It is smart to wind them several times around the throat.

LARGE FLOWERS

Prints and lining materials show designs using huge flowers as a motif.

(Report of M.H.O. Toronto, Continued from Thursday)

These figures seem to bear out in a very striking manner the experience in Copenhagen, where, under the advice of Professor Bang, greater precautions have been taken to eliminate tubercle bacilli from the milk supply than in any other large city in the world. The result was that comparing the tuberculosis mortality in Copenhagen in 1912 with that of England and Wales, it was found that the mortality from tuberculosis in Copenhagen had fallen from a point considerably above that of the English curve, for an early period, to a point then definitely below the curve, the two lines converging at a point representing the period after Bang's advice had begun to be followed. This, of course, is in addition to the general precautions against tuberculosis that had been taken in both countries. The uniformity of the findings of all these investigators is inspiring and convincing, their conclusions being that, conservatively estimated, 25 per cent. of all cases of tuberculosis in children under sixteen years of age is of the bovine type.

It is apparent then, that tuberculosis, contracted from the cow, through the medium of the milk, exists in children to a degree that cannot be longer disregarded by Departments of Public Health and demands immediate action.

Furthermore, there is the additional danger of infection with the human form from someone suffering from tuberculosis handling the milk with contaminated hands or sneezing or coughing over a vessel containing milk.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND MAZIE'S BALL

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Uncle Wiggily! Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" called Mazie Wogglejig, the little wooden girl, as she ran after the rabbit gentleman one morning. "Wait a minute, please!"

Mr. Longears had just left the bungle-ump to look for an adventure. He thought all the Wogglejig children were at school. But Mazie lingered.

"What is it, my dear?" asked Mr. Longears, turning around so Mazie could see his pink nose more plainly. "Why aren't you at school?"

"I'm going right away," Mazie answered. "But I just wanted to ask if you had twin pennies."

"Twin pennies?" chuckled the rabbit gentleman. "What are twin pennies, pray tell?"

"Two—two pennies are twins," answered Mazie. "If you had twin pennies and you didn't want them, and if you gave them to me, I'd buy a rubber ball to bounce."

"Oh, so you'd buy a bouncing ball, would you, Mazie? Well, you wouldn't play with it in school, I hope."

"Oh, no!" promised the little Wogglejig girl. "You may come to school and watch me, if you wish. I'll buy the rubber ball on my way, and I'll skip fast so I won't be late."

"Well, I may as well go to the Hollow Stump School as anywhere else," said Mr. Longears. "Here are your pennies, Mazie. Now you skip on ahead and buy the rubber ball. I'll hop along after you and we will go to school together. But mind you! No bouncing the ball in class!"

"Oh, no!" promised Mazie. Cross my legs and hope to fly, wrinkle my nose and close my eye. I'll not take the ball out in school."

"Very well then," chuckled Mr. Longears. He gave Mazie the twin pennies and soon the little Wogglejig girl had bought a rubber ball. Then she and the rabbit gentleman hurried on to school.

"You are just in time, Mazie," said the Lady Mouse Teacher. "In another second you would have been late. But I should have forgiven you because you brought Uncle Wiggily to us. Go to your seat, Mazie. Uncle Wiggily will sit on the platform with me and perhaps he will tell us a story."

Mazie went to her seat, with her rubber ball in her pocket. She smiled at Uncle Wiggily who sat on the platform with Miss Mouse, to show that there would be no playing with the ball in class. Then Uncle Wiggily told the animal children and the Wogglejig a little story. After this there were a few lessons and then it was time for recess.

"Now I can play with my rubber ball!" cried Mazie. "Can't I, Uncle Wiggily?" she asked.

"I think it would be quite jolly!" answered the rabbit gentleman. "I'll help you have a catch." And when Mazie took out her rubber ball, all the other Wogglejigs as well as Sammie and Susie Littletail the rabbits, Johnnie and Billie Bushytail the squirrels and Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow the puppies cried:

"Where'd you get the ball, Mazie?"

It is flowers! shrieked a Blue Jay.

"Uncle Wiggily gave me twin pennies and I bought it," she answered.

During recess there was much fun with the rubber ball, and it was drawing close to the time when the children would have to go back in school when, all of a sudden, under the fence crawled the Bob Cat. He twisted his silly little tail and yowled:

"Now, I'll get Uncle Wiggily!"

The rabbit gentleman started to hop away but there was no time. The Bob Cat jumped at him, but Mazie quickly ran forward and said:

"Here, Mr. Bob Cat. You can't bite Uncle Wiggily until you have a catch with my rubber ball. Stand up and catch the ball!"

"Pooh! That's easy!" snickered the bad chap. "Throw me the ball and after I grab it in my paw I'll bite that rabbit."

Mazie threw the rubber ball. The Bob Cat put up his paws and caught it and squeezed it. But as he did so, a lot of water squirted out of the ball full in his face, wetting his whiskers all over.

"Wow!" howled the bad chap. "I'm soaked! Zoopie!" and, dropping the ball, under the fence he crawled again and ran away.

"That's funny, Mazie," said Uncle Wiggily, after thanking the Wogglejig girl for saving him from being bitten. "When we were playing catch with your rubber ball there was no water in it."

"I know it!" laughed Mazie. "I ran to the brook and filled my ball with water as soon as I saw the Bob Cat. I played a good trick on him; didn't I?"

"Indeed you did," said Mr. Longears. "I'm glad I gave you twin pennies for the ball." So all was well.

In Peterborough Churches

The typical significance of the furnishings of the table as set by orthodox Jews in observance of the Jewish Passover, in their relationship to Christ, were explained by the Rev. Wm. Allan, Sunday evening, to a congregation which filled St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. A table, as set for the Passover Service, occupied a prominent position on the pulpit. It was the concluding address in a second series, delivered by Rev. Mr. Allan recently, in relation to the Hebrews as God's chosen people, the first series having been given a year ago. The speaker commented on the great interest which had been shown by the public in these two series, an interest which had exceeded his expectations. His own interest in the Jews dated back to his boyhood days in Scotland when one of the leading branches of the Scottish Presbyterian Church, as a result of the study of prophecy in relationship to the Jewish people, had sent several delegations of prominent Presbyterian ministers to the Holy Land, including the famous Robert Murray McCheyne, and the Bonnars. This interest had been increased by his own study of the Scriptures, as well as through an acquaintanceship made years ago with Rev. Mr. Rohold, a well-known Hebrew then living in Glasgow, and now engaged in Christian work in Palestine. During his pastorages in Australia, and particularly in New York, Mr. Allan met many Jews, as a result of which his interest in them had been still further increased.

Scripture Lesson.

The Scripture reading was taken from the twelfth chapter of Exodus in which is recounted the establishment of the Passover Feast, as given as a perpetual memorial to the Hebrew race. After pointing out that the Lord's Supper is observed in many different ways in different parts of the world, Rev. Mr. Allan stated that there are several methods of observing the Jewish Passover, but fundamentally they are the same. Calling attention to two lighted candles on the Passover Table, as set before him, he explained that the mother of the family lights these candles as a sign of welcome to the heavenly Visitor whose presence is looked for in connection with the observance of the feast. To the youngest member of the family is accorded the honor of opening the door to see if the expected guest, believed by many to be Elijah, has arrived. On failure to find him, the father is expected to say, "If not this year, then perhaps next year; if not here, then perhaps in Jerusalem."

Attention was next called to three cakes occupying a prominent position on the table. These were piled one on top of the other. It is the custom to remove the centre cake and break it in two. One piece is put under a pillow and the other piece, sometimes, is nailed to the ceiling. On a plate on the table were three eggs. These are not always used, but sometimes are. There was a dish of salt-water. The eggs are dipped in the water to signify the bitter lot of the Jewish race. There were also some bitter herbs, and crushed apples, these being a reminder of their days of bondage in Egypt. All these features of the table are symbolical. They are very remarkable, especially when the twelfth chapter of Exodus is read and it is noted that it was required that a real lamb of a special kind had to be offered as a sacrifice, and at a special time. The shed blood of this lamb was never sprinkled on the doorstep, where it would be trampled under foot, but on the top of the door and on the sides.

Rev. Mr. Allan asked how it is that orthodox Jews do not offer any lamb to-day in connection with the Passover Feast, and answered the question by pointing to a prophecy in Hosea which predicted that for many years the Children of Israel would be without a king, without a price, and without a sacrifice. For almost 2,000 years now, in the observance of the Passover, they have not utilized the Passover lamb, and thus have fulfilled the prophecy that they would be without a sacrifice.

Mentioning briefly Jewish explanations of why three cakes are used, including one that the top cake represents the Jewish High Priest, the middle one the Levite, and the lower one the Children of Israel, the speaker pointed out that this explanation admits the need of an intercessor between the people and the High Priest as the representative of God. To enlightened Christians these three cakes represent God the Father, Christ and the Holy Spirit. The breaking of the cake represents the broken Body of Christ. The portion of it placed under the pillow speaks in figure of His burial, while the portion fastened to the ceiling speaks of His Ascension. To many, also, the taking down and burning of the piece on the ceiling prefigures the second advent of Christ in judgment. In the same way, the wine in one of the goblets on the table speaks of the shed blood of Christ.

Calling special attention to the words in the twelfth chapter of Exodus in which God said that when he saw the blood of the Passover Lamb he would "pass over" the Jewish homes bearing it. Rev. Mr. Allan pointed out that God did not say that judgment would be averted, when He saw Jewish tears, Jewish loyalty to ritualism, or any other substitute for the shed blood. All the Jewish sacrifices centered around the shedding of blood. In this connection it was declared "without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sins." Calling attention next to the prophecy in the sixty-third chapter of Isaiah in which reference is made to Christ in the words, "As a sheep before his shearer is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth." Rev. Mr. Allan challenged the Jewish interpretation of these words, which claims that the sheep represents the Jewish race by pointing out that they have not as a people been dumb or suffered in silence. The words, he said, referred only to Christ their Messiah, who when led out before the Jewish High Priest, refused to speak, and who later, while dying on the Cross, prayed, on behalf of His enemies, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."

The greatest sin of all which Jews should confess in connection with their Passover Feast is their rejection of their Messiah, Christ. It was at the instigation of their leaders that the crown of thorns had been placed upon His head. The great opportunity of every Jew to-day is not to accept Christ as their Messiah, but as their personal Savior and Lord, who some day is coming as King of Kings, and Lord of Lords.

UNION QUARTERS ARE INVADED BY MODERATES

Split Between Cantonese Groups Widens To Open Fighting.

MANY ARRESTED.

Raiders Kill 12, Arrest 600, and Seize All Arms.

SHANGHAI, April 12 (Canadian Press). — The split between the Moderate and the Radical section of the Cantonese has developed into fierce fighting at several points. Moderate groups, in one case using field guns, have attacked Radical gatherings in Shanghai, Hangchow, Nanking and Amoy and disarmed large numbers of Radical Laborites. In Shanghai the fighting occurred early this morning when raiders attacked every known union centre, twelve being killed and six hundred arrested. Many Unionists were arrested.

Seven machine guns, three hundred rifles, many pistols and bombs and much ammunition were seized. Three hundred and fifty laborers in one building refused to surrender until field guns were brought up. The headquarters of the General Labor Union now is occupied by Chinese troops, and the chairman of the Union is missing.

British Boycott Started.

SHANGHAI, April 12 (Canadian Press). — A definite anti-British movement which may take the form of a boycott similar to those recently declared at Canton and Hong Kong was launched in the native section of Shanghai to-day. The anti-British League was organized at a meeting attended by the Kuomintang political party, the women's association, University students, Laborites and others.

Demands Unjust.

PEKING, Apr. 12 (United Press). —The Nationalist Government believes the five-power protest against the Nanking riots is unjust, the Cantonese spokesman in Shanghai telegraphed the United Press here to-day. "Nationalist circles feel it was unjust of the powers to demand reparation and apologies for the Nanking incident on the basis of the statement of fact made by the powers," the spokesman wired. "The facts should be ascertained by a joint commission, since the Nationalist investigation indicates the facts are not as stated by the Ministers."

American Women Leave.

PEKING, Apr. 12 (United Press). —Mrs. John V. A. MacMurray, wife of the United States Minister, left Peking to-day, and the unrest and apprehension among the American colony here appeared to be spreading to the British and other foreign communities.

Wives of several other members of the Legation left with Mrs. MacMurray. American women recently have been evacuating Peking in considerable numbers.

Japanese Send Destroyers.

TOKIO, April 12 (United Press). —Four Japanese destroyers left the naval port of Maidzuru to-day for Shanghai.

Cantonese Raid Radicals.

SHANGHAI, April 12 (Canadian Press).—Armed Chinese acting under the orders of the Moderate Kuomintang leaders, raided four places in the native districts of Chapei, Mantano, and Pootung, early this morning, routing Radical Laborites. Twelve Chinese were killed, six hundred were disarmed, and guns and ammunition were seized as part of a programme to eradicate Extremists from the Kuomintang (Cantonese political organization).

THIRTY MILLIONS PASSED BY HOUSE

Estimates Of Several Departments Go Through Commons.

OTTAWA, April 12. — (Canadian Press.)—Estimates totalling more than thirty million dollars were passed before the House of Commons yesterday. After those for national defence had been disposed of, those of the Department of Customs and Excise were passed in short order and in the early hours of the morning, previous to adjournment, the estimates of the Post Office Department precipitated a debate regarding postal service in the Maritime Provinces.

The estimates passed were as follows: National defence, $16,708,327; Government air services, $3,892,233; Naval services, $1,725,000; Customs and excise, $11,841,000.

Lady Destroys Money So Husband Won't Get It

NEW LONDON, Conn., Apr. 12 (United Press).—Declaring she was "going to die" and did not want her husband to have her money, Mrs. Joseph Stasiak tore a bundle of bank notes to bits in the county jail here.

Probation Officer Lynch sent the torn bills to the Treasury Department at Washington, where they were pieced together and $386 returned to Mrs. Stasiak.

Fear Of Rust In Kansas Lifts Prices For New Crop

CHICAGO, April 12 (Canadian Press) — Prospect of damage from rust in parts of Kansas tended early to-day to lift prices of new crop deliveries of wheat. May wheat, however, was inclined to sag. Opening unchanged to 1-4 cent higher, wheat soon scored gains for July and September, whereas May underwent some decline. Corn, oats, and provisions were easier, corn starting at 1-8 cent off to 1-8 cent up and subsequently showing a slight general setback.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 132 1-2, July 127 3-8. Corn, May 71 3-4, July 76 5-8. Oats, May 43 1-2, July 44 1-8.

Advance In New York Following Irregularity

NEW YORK, April 12. Canadian Press. — The stock market turned upward again this afternoon after an early period of irregularity. American Can, which is believed to harbor a large short interest as a result of recent pessimistic reports concerning the can industry, was quickly bid up two points. In the later rally, International Nickel, Union Bag and Paper, and several of the food and tobacco shares also recorded brisk gains. Rails were rather quiet, although Atchison, Texas and Pacific and Reading, reached new high ground. The failure of President Bernet of the Erie to give any definite assurance to stock holders at the annual meeting as to the resumption of dividends on the preferred issues, brought about a little selling in those issues.

Wright Hargreaves' Advance Features Standard Exchange

TORONTO, April 12. Canadian Press. — A 22 point advance by Wright Hargreaves was the feature of trading on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. The market on the whole was quiet with losses outnumbering the gains. Wright - Hargreaves was in demand and closed at 10.85. Teck Hughes was strong and advanced 5c a share to 6.94. Lake Shore strengthened 5c to 18.60. Dome Mines sold off 5c to 8.20. Coniagas declined 5 to 3.70, while Canadian Lorraine was off 4 1-2 to 31. Keeley dropped 3 points to 1.40, while Central Manitoba Gold was off 3 to 1.20. Nipissing gained 5 to 7.80. Amulet was up 2 to 1.18, and Noranda 5 to 21.70; International Nickel advanced 3 points to 53.50.

Nickel and K. E. Hotel Feature Toronto Trading

TORONTO, April 12.— (Canadian Press.)—International Nickle monopolized the trading and featured the market on the Toronto stock exchange to-day, when, with a turnover of over 30,000 shares it advanced to the new high for all time at 54 and closed for a gain of 3 3-8 points at 53 1-2. King Edward Hotel experienced a spectacular rise to sixty, which figure represented a gain of nine points. The balance of the market was irregular, with price movements being narrow. Cosmos gained 1 3-4 to 23 1-4. Industrial Alcohol was off 5-8 to 29. British Columbia Fishing advanced 3-4 to 86 1-4. Bell Telephone was off 1-2 at 149 1-2, as was Brazilian at 134. Seagram eased 1-4 to 24 1-2, while Page Hersey gained 3-4 to 69. The unlisted section was active and in the main firm. Central Manitoba Gold was off five points to 1.20, while Walker gained 1 5-8 to 44 1-2. Other price changes were insignificant.

Princes Are Rival Exhibitors At World Poultry Congress

OTTAWA, April 12 (Canadian Press).—Heirs to the Throne of Great Britain and Spain will vie with each other at the World's Poultry Congress being held here from July 27 to Aug. 4 of this year. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales recently announced his intention of exhibiting some live birds from his farm in Cornwall, England. Yesterday word was received that H.R.H. the Prince of the Asturias, heir to the Spanish Throne, intended exhibiting some fowls from his own poultry farm.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 12.— (Canadian Press.)—Hope for the safety of the men missing from the Gloucester schoner 'Commonwealth' since early last Friday morning, when the vessel burned and sank, was practically abandoned to-day when the Canadian Government steamer 'Arleux' advised that she had arrived in the vicinity of the disaster but could find no trace of the lost dories. The United States' ice patrol cruiser 'Tampa' also arrived in port with no tidings of the missing men.

Fayo Marbe. American actress, who was hired by a London, England theatre for a thirty-two weeks' run at $500 a week. During rehearsals, the contract was cancelled because it was said Miss Marbe's American accent was unsuitable to the British stage. She appealed to the courts and was awarded $16,000 salary, $15,000 for damages inflicted on her reputation and $500 for a defamatory letter, alleged to have been written about her.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Dan Cupids activities are said to be strongly centred about the marriageable royal beauties of Europe, of whom there has never been such a galaxy since the war. They are of all ages. For instance, in the centre is Princess Ingrid of Sweden, not quite 17, for whom several thrones have been prophesied. Left, top to bottom, are Irene of Greece, aged 23, who evidently is at present without a country, and Eudoxie, sister of the King of Bulgaria, who was 29 years old last January. Right, top to bottom, are Ileana of Rumania, "Beauty of the Balkans", who at 18 is one of the most irrepressible of this galaxy of princesses, and Beatrice of Spain, who will be 18 in the summer, known the world over for her tomboyish pranks.

LEGION NOTES

Last night the Canadian Legion Hall was crowded to capacity when some 600 veterans and their friends gave expression of their approval of the evening's programme that had been prepared for their entertainment, by vociferously applauding each delectable number.

One of the features of last night's concert was the splendid rendition of high-class operatic music by the Peterborough Rangers Band, under the able direction of Lieut. W. H. Peryer, who officiated in the dual position of chairman and conductor.

The rendering of "The Yeoman of the Guard," one of Sullivan's operas, brought forth thunderous applause. A Humoresque, entitled "The Lightning Swith," composed of numerous airs welded in a continuous blend of harmony, made a great hit.

Community singing was indulged in at the request of the bandmaster, Lt. W. H. Peryer. Old time favorites introduced were such songs as "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Alice Where Art Thou," "Annie Laurie," etc., to all of which the audience responded heartily.

Another favorite march "Colonel Bogey," was played by special request, and was heartily appreciated, and the bandmaster and members of the band are to be congratulated upon the high class entertainment provided. All will look forward to the summer concerts, which are so much enjoyed by the public.

The Ladies' Quartette, composed of Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Kitney, Mrs. McKinistry, and Mrs. Monks, was loudly encored.

Mr. A. E. Everett, in his popular singing of "Sing Me to Sleep," accompanied by the band, received an encore, being loudly applauded on each occasion.

Mr. Ted Markham, Peterborough's versatile comedian, rendered some pleasing numbers in his own inimitable way, causing roars of laughter. Teddy's numbers never grow old.

The concert was opened by the chairman of the social entertainment committee, who thanked the committee for their efforts in providing the programme, and to all members and their friends for the support given by their attendance.

At the conclusion the Vice-President, Comrade J. Abraham, spoke briefly, apologising for being late, and thanking the comrades and their friends for turning out in such large numbers, which has been the means of making the series of winter concerts a success. He also thanked Lt. Peryer and the members of the Peterborough Rangers' Band, Comrades Everett and Markham, and the ladies, and all who had been instrumental in making the concert such a success. Thanks are due to Comrades Everett, E. G. Abraham, Fisher, Hurrle, McGill, Payne, and the chairman, through whose efforts such pleasant evenings were made possible for the members and friends throughout the winter.

The evening concluded with a dance that lasted until after midnight, when all went home, having spent an enjoyable evening.

The sale of tickets for the Chesterfield Suite, Library Table, and Bridge Lamp will conclude on Wednesday, April 14th. Those not having tickets will do well to remember the date.

The death of the widow of the late Mark Black, a veteran of the Crimean and Indian Mutiny Campaigns, took place at her residence on Saturday last. The funeral service was held at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning, and was attended by the following members of the Canadian Legion, who acted as pall bearers, J. Abraham, F. Miler, C. Nixon, and S. Whatley.

Tomorrow night a luncheon will be tendered to Sir Harry Lauder, on the occasion of his visit to Peterborough. The arrangements are in the hands of a joint committee of the Canadian Legion, members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion, the Caledonian Club, and ladies of the club.

The catering is in the hands of Mrs. Mills, Mrs. T. McArthur, and S Whatley, who will make the necessary arrangements.

R. Hendry, G. Lowe and R. French, together with Dr. Sutton and J. Abraham will make arrangements to escort Sir Harry to the Opera House after the luncheon, accompanied by the Pipe Band.

The luncheon is open to the members of the Canadian Legion, ex-service men, and members of the Caledonian Club, and will be served at six fifteen o'clock sharp. Tickets may be obtained at the main entrance of the Legion hall. An admission of twenty-five cents will be made to cover expenses.

Remember the date, Wednesday, April 13th, at 6 o'clock.

COMMISSION CALLS FOR PERRIS AGAIN

Wants More Evidence Before Closing Sitting at Toronto.

TORONTO, April 12. — (Canadian Press.)—The Royal Commission wishes to ask Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Perri some further questions, but these two witnesses are, according to advice at present, not at home. If they can be reached and arrangements made to have them here to-morrow, it is possible that the Commission will stay over and examine them then. If not, it seems likely that the Toronto sittings will conclude to-night. Mr. and Mrs. Perri will probably be called in Windsor, Ont., if they are not examined here.

AGED LONDON MAN MADE OWN COFFIN

C. E. Anderson Buried Today in Casket Made Years Ago.

LONDON, Ont., April 12.—Charles Edward Anderson, aged resident of East London, and nephew of the first Mayor of London after it became a city, who died on Sunday, was buried to-day in Woodland cemetery in a coffin he made with his own hands many years ago. He had engraved on the plate his name and the legend, "Born June 2, 1842." Now another date is added, "Died April 10, 1927."

Anderson was a cabinet-maker and builder, and was interested in many valuable properties in the East End. According to his estimate, the coffin he made for his wife, who survives him and the one in which he is now being buried, cost about $600 each. In the bottom of each was placed a fine moss mattress and also soft, warm woollen blankets. The caskets were stored until death called for them in the family mausoleum in Woodland cemetery.

OBITUARY

GEORGE U. HILL.

The death occurred this morning, after a short illness, of George U. Hill, a life-long resident of Lakefield. The deceased was seventy-six years of age. He has been an active member of both the L.O.L. 1835 and the Sons of Lakefield, and a member of St. John's Anglican church.

The funeral will take place from the residence of A. V. Hill, Bridge street, to St. John's church, where a service will be held with the Rev. Mr. Creighton officiating. Interment will be made at the Hillside cemetery.

MRS. SARAH JOHNSON.

One of the oldest residents of Peterboro County passed away yesterday in the death at her home, 14 McGill street, North Monaghan, of Mrs. Sarah Johnston, widow of the late Matthew Johnston.

The deceased came of pioneer stock, her father, the late Alexander Donnelly, having settled in the township of Smith early in the last century, before the arrival of the Peter Robinson immigrants. It is recorded that he walked from Smith township to Toronto to record the deeds of the property upon which he had settled.

After spending her early days in Smith, Mrs. Johnston moved to Otonabee, where she lived for a number of years, before her marriage to the late Matthew Johnston, of North Monaghan, who pre-deceased her twenty-seven years ago. She was almost eighty-four years of age, and her entire life was lived in the three townships.

The late Mrs. Johnston enjoyed the affection and esteem of a very large circle of friends in the district, who have heard of her death with deep regret.

Surviving relatives are a sister, Miss Mary Donnelly, who lived with Mrs. Johnston, three sons, Bruce, township clerk of North Monaghan, Sherman, at home, and Percy, of Kinistino, Sask., and one daughter, Mrs. Fred Finnie of Peterboro.

The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from 14 McGill street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

In death we do the same.
Often we think of you, dear Willie,
And our hearts are sad with pain;

Could we hear your voice again.
You are gone but not forgotten,
Never shall your memory fade,
Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger,
Around the grave where you are laid.

No one knows what bitter pain,
We have suffered since we lost you,
Home has never been the same.
To hear your voice and see your smile,
That meant so much to us.
We think of you in silence,
Your name we oft recall,
But there is nothing left to answer
But your picture on the wall.

Senators-Bruins Tied 1-1 At Capital City

ANOTHER 80 MINUTE BATTLE ENDS IN ONE-ALL TIE SCORE

Boston and Ottawa Play Fast Hockey in Opener at Ottawa.

END LISTLESS.

Both Teams Play Defensively Towards Close of Struggle.

OTTAWA, April 12—A capacity audience packed the Auditorium here last night and saw the Boston Bruins and Ottawa Senators wage a titanic 80-minute hockey battle for National Hockey League honors that ended in a one-all tie. Seldom has such a bitter, hard fought battle been seen on local ice.

The Bruins, battling for a life in the N.H.A. finals, staged a courageous fight and their wonderful defensive strength defied the herculean efforts of a smooth working Ottawa forward line that had perhaps a shade the best of the front rank duel. Winkler was at his very best and turned back at least a dozen Senatorial thrusts that seemed destined to reach the back of his net.

Cutting out a terrific pace from the opening whistle the teams skated themselves into a state of exhaustion and the final overtime period was a series of long shots, the uncertainty of this method keeping the crowd in a constant state of frenzy. As the game drew to a close and it was evident that only a helping hand from Lady Luck would decide the contest, both teams used very careful tactics and what had been a whirlwind exhibition for seventy minutes tapered off to the verge of listlessness.

Ottawa—Goal, Connell; defence, G. Boucher and Clancy; centre, Nighbor; left wing, Dennenay; right wing, H. Smith; subs, Adams, A. Smith, Finnegan, Gorman, Kilrea and Halliday.

Referees—Dr. W. J. Laflamme, Toronto; Billy Bell, Montreal.

The summary:

First Period

1. Boston, Herberts (Oliver) 7.24

Second Period

2. Ottawa, Dennenay (Clancy) 15.15

Third Period

No score.

Overtime Period

No score.

Final score—Ottawa 1, Boston 1.

Penalties — First period (Hitchman, Shore, G. Boucher, H. Smith); second period (Shore 3, G. Boucher, A. Smith, H. Smith, Frederickson, Clancy); third period (G. Boucher); overtime period, (G. Boucher, Herebrts.)

PETERBOROUGH SOLDIERS LOSE TO LINDSAY RANGERS IN INITIAL GAME OF THE SOFTBALL SEASON

Errors in Local's Infield and Outfield Prove Costly.

SMOKER HELD

Dunkerly and Wescott Both Good on Soldiers' Side.

The softball season opened last night at the armouries, when the Rangers of Lindsay, surprised the Peterboro soldiers with a 16-2 victory. Dunkerley, pitching for Peterboro was the real light of the local team, but was not supported at all by the outfield or the infield, for many of Lindsay's runs were due to errors by the Petes. McKeown, the Lindsay pitcher, showed great skill in pitching form, by holding the locals down to two hits in the whole game. A nice triple by J. Brown in the seventh brought three men hurrying home, and this seemed to give the Rangers spirit to pile up the score on the locals.

Wescott, playing first for the Petes, played a g od game, both at the bag and in handling the bat. In the last inning he raised the fans spirits by making a triple steal, but these were soon shattered when the side was retired a few minutes later.

The umpires were Munro, French and Trennum.

The line-up:

Peterboro,		Lindsay.
Dunkerley	pitcher	McKeown
Fields	catcher	Brown
Wescott	1b	Bronton
Coursey	2b	Carewe
Maudsley	3b	B. Brown
Heard	ss	Sutcliffe
Mongraw	ss	Murphy
T. Griffin	lf	J. Brown
J. Griffin	rf	Stewart
Guest	sub	M. Murphy

Immediately after the game the visitors were entertained by the players and members of the regiment at a smoker in the reception rooms of the armouries. Here Major Winterbottom welcomed the Lindsay regiment in his usual jovial manner and expressed the wish that the two regiments could again soon meet for more activities, such as they had last night.

Mr. Brown in answering Captain Winterbottom's address thanked the local regiment for the kindness and good sportsmanship shown to his regiment in their short visit here.

Mr. Edward Markham gave a comic song called "The Flowers," and after some sing songs by both regiments, refreshments were served by the members. Music was provided by the DeLaval Orchestra under the direction of A. Nicholls.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE IS REORGANIZED

Campbellford Circuit Likely To Have Six Teams This Year.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 12.—The Softball Association held its annual meeting in the Public Library Saturday night and elected the following officers: President, J. H. Bell; Vice-President, Rev. C. D. Daniel; Secretary-Treasurer, Hylton Beattie. With these gentlemen at the head of affairs, softball appears to be in for another banner season in Campbellford. From present indications, there will be six teams in the race.

The champion clubs are nearly intact, and Manager Jimmie Gay is very optimistic about the chances of his team retaining the Campbellford Cloth Co. Cup.

The Hydro has plenty of players of ability, and is sure to be hanging around the top.

St. Andrew's are considered the dark horses. They have been working quietly all winter, and have rounded up a team that is sure to be a championship contender.

The Mill and Millionaires will both start the race with strong teams, and it is more than likely the Weston Shoe Co. will be the sixth team in the loop.

With the League cut to six teams instead of eight, the class of ball will no doubt be faster and the teams better balanced.

The meeting went on record as favoring the 12-inch inseam ball, and practically decided to affiliate with the Ontario Softball Association.

The use of a finger mitt for the 1st baseman as well as the catcher was also favored.

Another meeting will be held shortly to arrange further details for the coming season.

SOCCER TEAMS ENTER LEAGUE

Three Teams, Perhaps Four, May Form the Schedule.

WEEK END GAMES.

The regular meeting of the Peterborough and District Football Association was held last evening in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, with President Vincent Stewart in the chair, and a full board in attendance.

Three Teams Enter

Official notification was received from Thistle, Quaker Oats and Massey clubs, intimating that they will participate in the senior league games. In all probability the Canadian Packing club may enter an eleven before next meeting, so as to complete the fourth team.

Referees Wanted

The executive request the names of gentlemen who are willing to officiate as referees for the ensuing season before Thursday evening, when an executive board will meet to discuss referees' application.

Game Good Friday

Arrangements were completed for a soccer game on Good Friday between the Thistle and Quaker Oats at King Edward Park. Kick off at three o'clock.

Saturday Match

If it is at all possible, the Masseys will play a game against a selected eleven on King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon.

Signing On Players

No player will be signed before the official papers are distributed at the next meeting and entry fee must be paid before they participate in the schedule match. There will be no entry fee for the for the Holloway Injured Players' Cup, which will be played in the beginning of the season.

TRENT RIVER NEWS.

TRENT RIVER, April 12.—Mr. W. C. Inkster has just completed a number of fine boats known as the "Kingfisher." They are built of British Columbia cedar, 18 ft. long 3 seats. They are made specially for fishing and will be sure to fill the bill when the season opens.

You'd Be SURPRISED!

BY BILLY EVANS

Bill Doak, who deserted the National League to sell real estate in Florida, is back again, this time with Brooklyn.

The return of Doak to the big show reminds me that a slight mental slip on three different occasions kept him from the book of no-hit fame.

Always regarded as a great fielder, he momentarily lapsed in the very thing he is supposed to excel, and thereby lost a chance that comes to few pitchers, not one no-hit game, but three of them.

Doak's slips are famous in National League history.

In 1920, pitching against Philadelphia for St. Louis, he was leading, 5-0, going into the eighth inning. Cy Williams dribbled a slow teaser down the first base line. Jack Fournier fielded the ball, but found Doak still on the rubber when he started to toss to first. That was the only hit of the game.

Two years later, May 11, 1922, the Cards were playing the Giants. Dave Bancroft, first man up, hit a slow roller to Fournier for what should have been an easy out. Doak failed to cover and Bancroft beat Fournier in a slide for the base. That was the only hit.

A month later, against the Phillies, Doak went into the seventh inning leading 1-0. Curt Walker, now with the Giants, bounded to Fournier and once again Doak didn't cover. Chalk up the only hit of the game.

Three rank scratches, made possible by mental lapses, deprived Doak of boasting a remarkable record—three no-hit games.

ICE STILL FIRM ON RICE LAKE

Trappers Report Not Many Muskrats in Marshes This Spring.

ROADS DRYING UP

BAILIEBORO, April 12. — The ice still remains quite firm on Rice Lake, and it will take several fine warn days yet before it will be sufficiently rotten enough to jam to any great extent in the winds. In some of the marshes the ice has gone out far enough to enable the trappers to shove their canoes around to their traps, but a great many are still frozen up quite firm.

On Wednesday the trappers were still walking across the ice from one marsh to another. Upon questioning the various trappers in the Rice Lake vicinity it is the general opinion of the trappers that there are not many muskrats in the marshes this spring. They claim that they are getting completely trapped out.

The catch this season so far has been very poor. One trapper owning possibly the earliest and best marsh on the Otonabee River has caught over one hundred muskrats, while sixty-five is about the extent up to the present that has been caught on the lake, and many who have good marshes have not as yet succeeded in catching twenty rats.

At this time last year the ice was quite good on the lake. Logs were drawn to the saw mill at Bewdley up the lake as late as April 10, 1926.

The highways are now getting into good condition for motoring again. The highway between Peterboro and Port Hope is now in excellent condition for motor traffic.

The side roads are also drying up very quickly and considering the bad condition of the roads last fall when it froze up, the roads this spring are splendid. The path masters are keeping the drags busy smoothing down the ruts and on many of the side roads the dust is flying. So far this spring there have been very few boo holes in the road beds.

The farmers are anxiously awaiting some fine warm weather when they can get started to work on the land. It would only be a few days if the weather would warm up, until spring work would be going on in full force.

In South Monaghan fall wheat and new seeds have stood the winter frosts and are looking fine. All that is now needed is the real spring weather to start everything in the rural districts growing and another prosperous year is looked ahead to in this vicinity.

The farmers are now engaged in pruning their orchards, preparing their seed for sowing and doing odd jobs to fill in time until the spring work commences.

In Greater London there are almost 1,000 elementary schools, 70 secondary schools, and 260 technical and evening schools.

FANS AWAIT OPENING OF MAJOR LEAGUE

Aged Whips and Impatient Youths Await "First Thrown Ball."

YANKS STRONG

Veteran Players for Athletics Expected to Win American Pennant.

NEW YORK, April 12 (Canadian Press).—Aged whips topped by wise old baseball heads, and the more resilient wings of impatient youth anxious for a first taste of major league glory, quivered alike yesterday as the hammer lifted on the gong to announce the opening of another baseball season.

Pennant winning predictions were tabled for future reference, all official statements were in and all that remained of the preliminaries was to stage a few parades and toss out the first ball on eight major league battle fields.

But the "show me" attitude of the fans, an annual skepticism, brought his critical gaze to the aged legs of Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins and Zach Wheat, novitiates gathered in the Philadelphia fold to add the punch, experts believe will bring the American League flag to the Athletics in September. However, he will watch closely the New York Yankees, champions in 1926, for out in the sun gardens, where pop bottles provide liquid refreshments and occasionally ammunition, the American League champions have a $71,000 "punch" of their own that overshadows even dope sheets.

Last year the Yanks were picked to wander in the gloom of the second division because of a kid infield that could hit but wasn't expected to do so well on ground balls, and a pitching staff that was canny but ancient as pitching staffs go. But the "punch" of the Babe and his mates pulled the club through. Now, although the kids of the infield are veterans, another year has been added to the arms of Herb Pennock, Bob Shawkey, Urban Shocker, Dutch Ruether, and Waite Hoyt. Ruth, however, again may deliver the deciding blows.

Despite the widely prevalent expectation that the Yankees and Athletics will club it out between themselves, there is at least a suspicion among the fans west of the Alleghenies that if the pennant race is to be decided on "punch," Detroit will be reckoned with.

Although critics foresee Pittsburgh and New York locked in a titanic struggle from the start in the National League, the bleacher expert likes the appearance of the Giants, for they are a gang of sluggers. Rogers Hornsby, clouting in the form that brought him championships, furnishes a marked contrast to the second base situation in the Pirate outfit where Hal Rhyne, a comparatively weak sticker, has the call over several rivals.

"There's base hits in them outfield," the fan muses as he runs his eye over the lines of Eddie Roush, George Harper, All Tyson, Reinie Mueller, chief among the Giant gardeners. But, in rebuttal, the Pirates have such clouters as Pat Waner and Hazen Cuyler in the outer works, plus an infield cordon with stars such as Traynor and Wright who rank well up with the Hornsby-led Giant cast.

The St. Louis fan, undismayed by the fact that only three out of two score experts expect the world champions to repeat, looks for Frankie Frisch to make him forget Hornsby and support the slugging of Southworth, Bottomley, Lester Bell, and Manager Bob Farrell.

Sharpshooting aces of the major league clubs are slated to take the firing lines today for the major leagues' opening battles.

The twirling champions of 1926, George Uhle of Cleveland, and Ray Kremer of Pittsburgh, both have drawn opening day assignments as well as the veteran world's series hero, Grover Alexander of the Cardinals.

Here are the probable mound selections of the getaways:

American League.—Wait Hoyt of the Yankees vs. Eddie Rommel of the Athletics at New York. Stanley Coveleskie of the Senators vs. Bryan Harris of the Red Sox at Washington. Earl Whitehill of the Tigers vs. Tom Zachary of the Browns at St. Louis. Al Thomas of the White Sox vs. George Uhle of the Indians at Cleveland.

National League.—Jess Petty of the Robins vs. Bob Smith of the Braves at Boston. Burleigh Grimes of the Giants vs. Hal Carlson of the Phillies at Philadelphia. Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Cardinals vs. Charley Root of the Cubs at Chicago. Ray Kremer of the Pirates vs. Pete Donohue of the Reds at Cincinnati.

DELORO BALL CLUB TO HOLD MEETING

MARMORA, April 12.—The annual meeting of the Deloro Baseball Club will take place at the Hub Dining Rooms on Friday evening. Last year's Intermediate champions expect to field a strong team again this summer, practically all last season's players being available.

BASEBALL TEAM FOR WARKWORTH

Cory Zufelt Trying to Organize Team in Percy Village.

WARKWORTH, April 12.—Cory Zufelt, who is interested in baseball, purposes in the near future to try and organize a baseball team for the coming season. There is plenty of material to make a good team and no doubt if a team is organized it will enter a league if possible.

NATIONAL LEAGUE FLAG CHASE HELD BETWEEN THREE TEAMS

Pirates, Reds and Cards Rated as Leaders in Race.

NATIONAL OUTLOOK.

Robins, Phillies and Braves Fail To Impress as Possibilities.

By BILLY EVANS.

Five National League clubs, to my way of thinking, are entitled to be ranked as 1927 pennant contenders. The other three must go into the also-ran class.

In order to get the proposition more definitely before fandom, I am going to immediately eliminate three clubs—Boston, Brooklyn and Philadelphia—from serious consideration.

I cannot hold out much hope for "Stuffy" McInnis, new manager of the Phillies. I fear he is to follow in the footsteps of his predecessors and finish last. The pennant stuff simply isn't there.

While I cannot figure Boston as a pennant contender by the wildest stretch of imagination, still I can see where the Braves have enough strength to be troublesome.

Brooklyn will get pretty good pitching and should offer a fairly good offence, but I fear the stability of the infield will be the cause of much worry for Manager Wilbert Robinson.

To the Phillies is consigned last place, with Boston and Brooklyn fighting it out for sixth place, the Braves having a slight edge.

Having placed the three clubs that on form do not loom as pennant contenders, let us discuss the five that appear to be decidedly in the running.

Since the St. Louis Cardinals won the pennant last season, also the world championship, they are deserving of initial consideration in the matter of pennant possibilities.

Unquestionably, the holdout situation has hampered the spring training of several of the Cardinal stars. Even should they sign before the opening of the season, it strikes me that the condition of several will have been seriously retarded because of failure to agree on terms.

Another angle that enters strongly into the Cardinal situation is that of manager. The club will be piloted by Catcher Bob O'Farrell, a great receiver, making his debut as leader.

Will the quiet, soft-spoken O'Farrell be able to get as much work out of his players as the dominant Hornsby? I doubt it.

"O'Farrell has a chance to repeat if they let him alone," says former Manager Rogers Hornsby, "but unless he asserts himself, he will have at least two other executives managing the club for him. That will be fatal."

I do not like the chances of the Cardinals to repeat nearly as much as I would if the same aggregation as last year were representing St. Louis. The odds are certainly against the Cardinals.

McGraw has a good-looking ball club. Incidentally New York has John McGraw as manager, which is some item. However, I have my serious doubts as to his pitching staff. If it comes through for him, McGraw is going to be a contender all the way.

Of the other National League contenders, the Pittsburgh club impresses me most. It seems to have no weakness and is well supplied as to reserves. It is a much better club than it showed last season. Dissension then robbed it of much of its strength. Despite this, the Pirates always had a chance.

Donie Bush is a capable, aggressive, resourceful manager, who will get everything possible out of the club. I would say that he has dropped into a pretty soft spot as manager. He has a fine chance to go over in his first year.

Cincinnati has great pitching. I would rate its twirling staff the best in the National League. That feature alone entitled it to serious consideration in trying to pick the winner.

Chicago is the mystery club. It didn't look like a first division team to me last spring, yet it finished fourth, with a percentage of .532. It was the dark horse of the race, a contender most of the way and by its showing added much interest.

On paper, the Chicago club of this year is no more impressive than last. Yet it has two strong points, a mighty good manager and a very efficient pitching staff, featuring Charley Root, Tony Kaufmann, Percy Jones, Fred Blake, Guy Bush and some capable reserve performers.

Of the five contenders, I would rate Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis as the most formidable, with the possibility they might finish in that order, while New York and Chicago form the second tier of probable winners. Boston, Brooklyn and Philadelphia bring up the rear.

BIG LEAGUE RACE GETS UNDER WAY

Pennant Contests Open This Afternoon—International To-morrow.

NEW YORK, April 12.—(Canadian Press.)—Baseball pennant races in the American and National Leagues opened to-day with more changes in the line-ups of the sixteen clubs than the fans had seen for many years.

The outlook for to-day's games was good, with fair weather prevailing in most points. President Coolidge, despite a lame wrist, planned to toss the first ball in the American League opener at Washington with Boston.

Baseball writers lean strongly to a duel between Pittsburgh and New York for first class honors in the National League. Philadelphia Athletics and New York Yankees are pronounced favourites in the American League.

The International League opens to-morrow.

WONDERFUL AUTOMOBILE ROADS.

The most wonderful automobile road in America, the Banff-Windermere Highway 104 miles in length, is in danger of losing its well earned laurels by the opening of another, and if possible, more wonderful road, the Great Divide Highway between Field and Lake Louise, which was completed last summer. But Prof. Laird's tour "Across Canada and Back," which leaves Toronto by Canadian Pacific Railway July 25th, 1927, for a 21 day trip, includes both these drives in his itinerary, and they are only a small part of the wonders to be seen. There is Banff, the beautiful; Lake Louise, the Pearl of the Rockies; Emerald Lake, second only to Lake Louise in beauty; the Yoho Valley ,one of the most marvelous Valleys in the world, with Takakkaw Falls over 1,200 feet in height, pouring into it, and all the magnificence and grandeur of 600 miles of Rocky Mountain scenery. Vancouver and Victoria, those marvelous Pacific Coast cities, as well as Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, are only a few of the places to be visited, and three great bodies of water are also on the route, the Great Lakes, the Kootenay Lakes and the Strait of Georgia between Vancouver and Victoria.

Write for illustrated booklet of this marvelous trip to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Toronto, or to Prof. Sinclair, Macdonald College P.O., Que.

VALUABLE FURS IN LECH WINDOW

Exhibit of Fox Pelts, Silver, Cross, and Red, On Display.

An exhibit that runs into high values is shown in the window of William Lech and Sons. It is made up of fox pelts only, in three varieties, silver, cross, and reds. The fur is part of the purchase made by William Lech and Sons at the fur sale held in Montreal a few days ago, when $1,500,000.00 worth of furs were sold to buyers from all parts of America and Europe.
The value of the display that fills the north window may be realized when one considers that silver fox skins are worth $100 to $150, cross foxes, $50 to $100, and reds, $18 to $20. Knowing that cross foxes show a mixture of red and silver, and that silvers are well described by their name, it is easy to identify the different varieties shown.

Busses Released By Hydro To-day

Mayor is Notified That City's Request Has Been Granted

One Large Bus Will Be Added Immediately and Full Fleet Will Be in Commission Within Three Months, It Is Expected.

NO DEFINITE DATE HAS BEEN SET FOR INAUGURATION OF NEW SERVICE

All Busses Except Four No w in City Will Be Large, 28-Passenger Equipment—Be tter Service Than Ever Before Is A nticipated.

The transportation problem in Peterborough has solved itself, as predicted by Mayor W. T. Holloway a fortnight ago. His Worship received notification from F. A. Gaby, Chief Engineer of the Hydro Electric Power Commission, this morning, that the Gotfredson Bus Corporation has been released from its contract with Hydro. This means that the four busses now in Peterborough can start service immediately, and others will be added.

The contract between the Gotfredson Corporation and Hydro did not expire until May 20, and under its terms the busses could not run on Peterborough streets except under Hydro's orders. Following the definite breakdown of purchase negotiations on Monday night, the City Council formally asked the H.E.P.C. to release the bus corporation, and today's action indicates that Mr. Magrath has acceded to the request.

The Mayor is assured by the Gotfredson Corporation that adequate service will be given, commencing with the four busses now here and one large 28-passenger bus that will be brought in at once. This fleet will be added to until full service is given, promising to be better than the old street car system. All busses added will be large and roomy, and the full complement is expected to be in commission within three months. The city will then make a permanent arrangement with the Corporation.

No Notice Yet

At a late hour this afternoon no instructions had been received by the superintendent of the street railway system. Mr. Clifford had not been notified that the busses are released.

Neither had several of the motormen received intimation of an intention to commence operation of the busses.

Refund Given.

A note of finality is given the closing of the street car system by the announcement made to-day that monely paid for street car tickets will be refunded on return of the ticket. The advertisement is printed elsewhere in The Examiner.

The distinctive feature of elm wood is that it endures for ages if exposed to alternate wetting and drying. For that reason it is used for water-wheels, mill-gates, and pumps.

Civilian Aviators Try To Make a New Record

MINEOLA, N.Y., April 13.—(Canadian Press).—Clarence D. Chamberlain and Bert Acosta, civilian aviators, were still in the air at noon in an attempt to win the world's duration flight record. If they are able to remain aloft until 6.42 tomorrow morning they will have broken the record of 45 hours 11 minutes set by the Frenchmen, Drouhin and Landry.

In a message to-day they said everything was running fine. They stole occasional 'cat naps' during the night.

ROYAL COUPLE IN CAR WRECK

King Christian Hurled From Berth When Sleeper Leaves Rails.

NARROW ESCAPE.

COPENHAGEN, April 13 (Canadian Press).—King Christian and Queen Alexandrina had a narrow escape during the night when their sleeping car was derailed as it was leaving the ferry connecting the islands of Meeland and Funen. The King and Queen, en route to their seaside villa at the Skaw, on the northern extremity of Jutland, were asleep when the car left the rails. King Christian was hurled out of his berth. Railroad officials commented that it was little short of a miracle that the car did not overturn.

ROYAL CUSTOMS COMMISSION CONCLUDES SESSION AT TORONTO

Will Re-open Sittings in Windsor After Easter Holidays.

TO PROBE EXPORT.

Five Breweries' Records Now Missing. Two Managers Say "Books Burned."

TORONO, Ont., April 13. — Canadian Press. — The sittings of the Royal Commission on Customs in Toronto, concluded last evening. The commission has adjourned over the Easter holidays, and will meet next at the City Hall in Windsor, Ont., on Thursday, April 21. During the Windsor sittings some matters which were opened up in Toronto but not concluded, will be resumed. Among these will be the further examination of Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Perri of Hamilton. While both these witnesses took the stand during the Toronto sittings, evidence given since in regard to Mrs. Perri's bank accounts and certain transactions in which she is said to have participated require explanation. The export movement of Canadian liquor to the United States will probably bulk large in the sittings at Windsor.

The Toronto sittings of the commission have, according to A. E. Nash, commission auditor, covered all matters which were brought up or could be dug up here. Before adjournment last evening Mr. Nash took the stand and reviewed briefly the work which he and his associates had done in Toronto. He said that 48 different firms were investigated by the auditors exclusive of distillers and brewers. The firms looked into included four dress companies, four silk companies, five hat companies, two manufacturers' agents, two wall paper importers, eight importers of monuments, and several general merchants. Out of the 48 investigations only 24 showed results which necessitated the filing of reports before the commission. This has been attended to.

Licenses to be Cancelled.

The sitting yesterday afternoon was featured by a recommendation from R. L. Calder, K. C., counsel for the commission, that the licenses of three brewing companies be suspended or cancelled, because of the destruction of books and records required by the auditors. The companies in question are the Sudbury Brewing and Malting Company, the Soo Falls Brewing Company and the

'LAW' CANNOT BE ENFORCED

Non-Corporated Villages Have No Right To Regulate Speed.

O.M.L. ACTS..

Frank Stinson, secretary of the Peterborough Automobile Association, received a letter from the Claims Inspector of the Ontario Motor League in Toronto to-day in regard to old motor signs that were placed in non-corporated villages in the early days of motors.

It seems that Bridgenorth and other villages which have no right to the name have O.M.L. signs on the outskirts which demand that the motorist slow down to the rate of 15 miles an hour. In the League is a clause stating that all non-corporated villages are to be regarded by the motorist as a county highway and the speed for that is set at the rate of 25 miles an hour.

Any person that has been forced to pay a fine for "speeding" could easily have it refunded, for this law has been in force for some time, but not until the matter was brought before the Touring Department by some unlucky tourist, that was "caught," did the League realize that these laws were being enforced by county constables.

Mr. Stinson told The Examiner to-day that plenty of money was being spent in order to bring tourists to Peterboro and to the Kawartha Lakes, and this was a very poor form of hospitality to show them, and strongly advised that this matter be attended to immediately.

FEET FOR SHOES.

PAWNEE CITY, Neb., April 14.—A farm boy gave Fred Shannon a check for $2.95 in payment for a pair of shoes the other day. The check came back. Shannon wrote the boy and the next day a letter and a package came. In the package were the feet of 30 gophers, on which there is a bounty of 10 cents each. The letter said that since the merchant had given him shoes for his feet he was returning feet for his shoes.

ROADHOUSE OWNERS HELD FOR MURDER

Held By Detroit Police in Connection With Machine Gun Killing.

DETROIT, April 13.—Eddie Fletcher, aged 26, lightweight pugilist, and Raymond Bernstein, aged 23, his partner in the operation of Green Oaks Inn, a roadhouse on even Mile Road, were booked on charges of Murder yesterday in connection with the triple machine gun killings at 106 East Alexandrine Avenue, two weeks ago. The men sought as roommates of the gangsters who manned the weapon, were picked up early yesterday and the charge lodged against them four hours later.

Fletcher and his pal, grilled by detectives, insisted that they were not connected with the murders. Both admit rooming at the apartment, but so they contended, they moved out three weeks before Frank Wright and two friends were lured to their death by a demand for ransom for "Fish" Blumfield, downtown gambler. They said they were not together on the night of the slaying.

Tailor Held By Police For Hold-up of Bank Messenger.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., April 13. — Fred Battaglia, a local tailor, is held by the police as a suspect in connection with the hold up and robbery of the Cataract National Bank messenger in the post office here yesterday. Cash totalling $1700 was found in the house, one of the bills being of recent issue to the Cataract Bank, and apparently had never been used. Two revolvers were also found. Battaglia has a prison record.

ONLY WRECKED BUILDINGS LEFT TO MARK SITE OF TEXAS TOWN WHERE TORNADO KILLED FIFTY

Spurious 'White House' Nails Dollar Each In Washington

WASHINGTON, April 13. — "Buy some nails made in England which were in the original White House," shouted a workman on the White House today as sightseers stood about the edifice. He asked a dollar for such souvenirs and sold a number of them before he was stopped by the police.

The nails are hand wrought, and since some of them were black with age the salesman did not have much trouble in having the souvenir hunters believe they were the original nails. The nails however were placed in the White House after it was burned by the British, and were made in this country.

Girl Telegraph Operator Worked Throughout Storm To Call Help.

TWO MILE SWATH.

Thirty Bodies Recovered and Reports Say Death Toll May Mount.

ROCKSPRINGS, Texas, April 13 (Canadian Press). — At least 62 lives were lost and about 150 injured, some fatally, by the tornado which struck this inland town last night. Sixty-two bodies have been recovered and thirty-three identified. Of the injured, twenty were expected to die before night. Most of the unidentified dead were Mexicans.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 13 (Canadian Press). — A mass of wrecked buildings to-day marked the site of Rocksprings, where at least 62 persons were killed, and more than one hundred injured last night in a tornado that virtually wiped out the town. A severe electrical storm followed the tornado, hampering rescue work and adding to the suffering of the injured. Thirty bodies have been recovered. All communication with Rocksprings was cut off last night, and before authentic reports were available, it was stated that more than 125 were dead. Gladys Lowery, the town's telegraph operator, worked throughout the storm to get relief from nearby towns, and shortly after three this morning, in a brief message, insisted the dead would exceed one hundred, despite other reports that half that number perished.

Relief Workers Busy.

Relief workers to-day took possession of Rocksprings, which is more than a hundred miles west of here, in the heart of the grazing district. Many of the houses destroyed were of frame construction. About one-quarter of the residents are Mexicans.

The tornado came from the northeast and razed all but a few buildings, roaring down a two-mile path.

HARRY LAUDER IS TICKLED BY PORRIDGE CITY

Met at Norwood By Examiner Reporter, He Praises Canada.

A LITTLE EARLY.

Admits He Might Better Have Postponed Ontario Visit a Month.

(By Staff Reporter.)

Aboard C. P. R. Montreal-Toronto train, 3.30 p.m. — Sir Harry Lauder, 'the entertainer supreme," arrived in Peterboro on the 3.40 C.P.R. train from Ottawa this afternoon.

The little Scot comic is a most pleasing man to meet and converse with, for he has that characteristic Scotch hospitality. When interviewed by an Examiner reporter on the train his message to the people of Peterboro was that he hoped they had not forgotten him since a visit 10 years ago. He was sorry he had been so long in coming back, but probably he will be back again, for it is only his fourth farewell tour.

Sir Harry showed an interest in the city of Peterboro, and he inquired about the industries. When told of the large electrical works, and that here was the home of "Oatmeal Porridge," he said, "Ah! that's the stuff!" that is what has made the big men of Scotland and the fine Clydesdale horses, too."

The singer thought he was a wee bit too early coming into the province, but he would keep up his spirits in hope of coming back again.

Sir Harry said he enjoyed the bareness of the trees "or there is a certain beauty in them, but he added he would like to see this province in blossom time.

"One thing you people have is plenty of room and my, this country has a great future."

This tour is taking Sir Harry over parts of the United States and Canada. He has been as far west as Kansas City and Nebraska, and today was coming from Ottawa, which he called a fine city.

AT THE STATION

Over a thousand people crowded around the back entrance of the parlor car on which Sir Harry Lauder was travelling when the train pulled into the station. Mayor Holloway, Aldermen Ackerman and Macdonald were present to extend the civic welcome. The Caledonian Band played several selections and then led a large parade of motor cars up George Street.

The arrangements for the reception of Sir Harry were made by a joint committee of the Canadian Legion and the Caledonian Club. The visitor will be entertained at the War Veterans' Hall on Murray Street, when he will receive members of the two organizations and their ladies. At 7.30 he will leave for the Grand Opera House, probably escorted by the Caledonian Pipe Band and representative citizens.

Flags were displayed on George Street in honor of the great entertainer, and homage is being paid him by the citizens of Peterborough who can boast Scottish descent, and by all those who love the old Scottish songs he interprets so well.

Within forty-eight hours after their arrival in America, William Schroeder and his sister Anna, two recent immigrants from Germany, had enrolled in a Buffalo evening school.

CONVENTION CALLS 3,000 KIWANIANS

International Gathering To Take Place in Memphis in June.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 13.—The latest reports from the Kiwanis International convention office here show that nearly three thousand Kiwanians have already made hotel reservations and all arrangements to attend the 11th annual convention, June 6-9.

"Judging from the registrations and general conditions, Kiwanis will have its largest and most successful convention this year," said Merton S. Heiss, convention manager, to-day. "Never before have plans been so effectively carried out to make a Kiwanis convention a success. Not only is Kiwanis ready to welcome the visitors, but also the city of Memphis. The Kiwanians and visitors who come here in June will have the opportunity of experiencing Southern hospitality and witness some of the customs of the Old South."

Ralph A. Amerman, of Scranton, Pennsylvania., president of Kiwanis International, and George W. Zeigler, of Philipsburg, Penn., in charge of the convention programme, are both enthusiastic over the speed in which plans are being carried out to entertain and assist Kiwanians and guests in June.

"Everyone of our members will find the June convention of interest to all International. We have arranged our convention sessions to adequately care for all Kiwanis business affairs and our entertainment will be both novel and typically Southern," says Mr. Amerman.

The social engagements of the convention will include a religious musical, all Kiwanis Night, Memphis Night, and a reception to the International president. Memphians will aid during the entire convention in entertaining the guests. During the afternoon business sessions for Kiwanians, all ladies will be guests at special social occasions.

JUBILEE PARADE TO BE BEST YET

Procession, as Outlined, Will Be of Great Size and Variety.

LINE-UP IS PASSED.

A parade that promises to have nearly as many people in it as on the sidelines is being prepared by br. J. J. Craig and his energtic committee for the Diamond Jubilee celebrations here on Dominion Day. A rough outline of the order of the parade was approved by the committee at a meeting last night, and the chairman was authorized to prepared a list for next meeting of the different floats to be given and the organizations best fitted to prepare them.

The first part of the parade will consist of the militia units, the British Legion, and the City Council. Then will follow the historic floats and floats representing the provinces. Children from the various schools will march between the floats to give variety.

The comic section will come next, and R. H. Turner was charged with the task of approaching a number of clubs to ask them to put on parts of the parade. He reported that one organization had already agreed to put on a burlesque of Uncle Tom's Cabin. Then there will be floats from the various manufacturers, to represent Canada's resources, industries, and progress since Confederation. Opportunity will also be given for the fraternal societies to march in procession, probably following the floats of which they have charge.

A suggestion that will be passed on to His Worship Mayor Holloway and the general committee is that letters be sent to all the villages and municipalities of the county inviting them to hold their celebrations in Peterborough. Those who accept will be asked to arrange floats for the parade.

The matter of securing bands for the procession will be taken up immediately, as it is feared that other places may seek the services of the Peterborough bands for the occasion.

Tentative plans for the marshalling of the procession call for the organization at Central Park and the disbanding at the Exhibition Grounds, but the details of this will be left to a later date, when the approximate length of the parade will be known. R. H. Turner suggested that the Oval would provide more room for arranging the parade, and would be free from motor cars, so it was decided that, wherever the parade is formed, the police will be asked to keep all traffic away for the time. When the list of sections, with an outline of what each would probably contain, has been read by the chairman, J. A. McKone suggested that the only place to marshall it would be out on the Chemong Road.

MRS. MAE HILL DENIES NEWELL OBTAINED LIQUOR AT HER HOME ON THAT FATEFUL SUNDAY NIGHT

Had Talked About Horse Deal While at the Hill Home.

WAS INTOXICATED.

Argument By Counsel Postponed in Liquor Charge at Norwood.

(By an Examiner Reporter.)

NORWOOD, April 13.—The case against Mrs. Russell Hill, arising out of the death of Hugh Adams, was adjourned here yesterday, after the evidence of both Crown and defence had been heard. The summing up by counsel and the judgment will be given at a later date, when it is expected that the report of the Government analyst on the liquor seized at the home of Mrs. McCarthy, and supposedly bought from Mrs. Hill, will be available.

The death of Hugh Adams occurred after he had been drinking with Thomas Newell. At the inquest Newell swore that they had bought liquor on Sunday, March 27, from Mrs. Hill.

The case was heard before Police Magistrate O. A. Langley. County Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C., acted for the Crown, and the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for Mrs. Hill.

When the court opened, the Town Hall was crowded to the doors with interested citizens who gave a very attentive and interested hearing throughout the whole proceedings.

Newell made a clear breast of everything he knew about the case, although some of the evidence was that which a man would not desire to give so readily about himself.

Deny Selling Liquor

The defence denied selling liquor to Thomas Newell and Mr. Gordon built up a very strong case on the evidence that was corroborated practically in every respect by the five witnesses called. Newell, they claimed, was intoxicated when he came to the Hill home on the fateful Sunday, and that he did not ask for liquor but that he talked about a horse deal which he and Davis Hill had had, and which horse Mr. Newell wanted delivered that night.

The evidence submitted by the Crown was the same as that given at the inquest held to find out the cause of the death of Hugh Adams; a few new witnesses were called, but their evidence did not add to the strength of the Crown's case.

Mrs. Hill gave as her reason for going to the McCarthy home on Tuesday after the death of Hugh Adams, that she had heard her name and that of Thomas Newell were being connected with the death of Mr. Adams, and she wanted to find out if Mr. Newell had in any way been approached by officers. At their meeting that night, she swore, she asked Newell if he bought any liquor from her on Sunday and he said emphatically that he did not.

Thomas Newell.

Thomas Newell, a resident of the village of Norwood, was the first witness called for the Crown. On Sunday, March 27, the witness had occasion to go to the defendant's house, where he saw Russel Hill, Davis Hill and another man and woman. The witness asked if there was anything to drink, and Mrs. Hill went into a room and brought out a bottle of moonshine and put it on the table. He paid $2.00 for the bottle and then went to his sister's home. At the home of his sister, he and the late Hugh Adams drank part of the contents. Just before supper they wanted another drink and his sister told them there was nothing left in the bottle. In the evening he got a second bottle from Mrs. Hill and took this one to Hugh Adams' home, where they drank it. By this time, the witness said he had become intoxicated and he did not remember whether he went back to the Adams' home that night.

Broke O.T.A. Often

The witness claimed, on being examined by Mr. Gordon, that he was not intoxicated when he went to the Hill home the second time. Mr. Newell agreed that he had broken the O.T.A. often, perhaps 30 or 40 times. On the Monday after the drinking spree, the witness got "soft stuff" to drink in Hastings, and in coming home with Russel Hill he bought a bottle of wine.

Margaret McCarthy

Thomas Newell, the first witness, lives with his sister, Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, who was the second witness to be called. About six o'clock that evening the witness said she exchanged the partially filled bottle with an empty one, and when they enquired for more liquor, she told them there was none left in the bottle. At ten o'clock that night Mrs. McCarthy went to the Hill home to look for her brother. She found him there, and he started home with her, but after going a short distance he returned to the Hills, and did not come home until after midnight.

SHARP REPLIES ARE PREDICTED TO TWO POWERS

Cantonese Foreign Minister Expected To Criticize Britain and U. S.

"WICKED" SHELLING.

Conciliatory Notes Will Be Sent Italy, France and Japan.

HANKOW, April 13. — (Canadian Press.) — Eugene Chen, Cantonese foreign minister, is expected to reply on Friday with separate communications to the five power protest note regarding the Nanking outrages. It is said Great Britain and the United States, who used guns to defend their nationals, will receive sharp answers. Chen is expected to evade the issue, accusing them of "wicked, uncalled-for bombardment, wrecking civilian homes and killing people without cause." According to reports, Italy, France and Japan will receive conciliatory notes.

Foreign circles at Shanghai believe General Chiang Kai Shek, Cantonese military commander, will reply civilly and promise satisfaction.

Will Pierce Mont Blanc Countries To Share Cost

GENEVA, April 13. — The Italian Government has taken the first step toward piercing a tunnel under Mont Blanc by accepting a project for the immediate construction of a new railway line thirty-two miles long, from Aosta to St. Didier, at the foot of Mont Blanc. This line, which will cost 37,000,000 lire (about $1,780,800), will eventually be extended to Chamonix.

The French and Italian Governments have been negotiating since 1910 for piercing Mont Blanc. It is now stated that they have arrived at an arrangement regarding the share of the expenditure each shall pay. The new line would bring London, Paris, Turin and Milan several hours closer through one of the longest tunnels in the world.

CLAIMS SECRET RATE IS CHARGED ON IMPORT COAL

Col. Thomas Cantley Tells Commons Is Lowest in Canada.

AGAINST LAW.

Says It Was Made Originally With Grand Trunk Railway.

OTTAWA, April 13 (Canadian Press).—Col. Thomas Cantley (Conservative, Pictou) charged in the House yesterday that a secret rate existed on foreign import coal—a rate which was the lowest in Canada. "Since the issue of the Duncan report," Col. Cantley said, "it has been discovered that for a number of years there has been in existence a secret rate on foreign import coal of 54 cents per gross ton for 140 miles. This rate is 12.3 per cent., of the class to which the traffic belongs, or 3.4 mills per ton mile and is the lowest rail rate in force in Canada. "It would be remembered," Col. Cantley proceeded, "that in January of last year, members of the House asked the Government to put into force a special rate of 3 1-2 mills per ton mile on a small tonnage of coal from Nova Scotia to Montreal as a temporary relief. This request was refused, and the rate had never been available to Nova Scotia coal."

Col. Cantley's charge brought Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, to his feet, with the declaration that the law did not provide for secret rates. Mr. Dunning wanted further information and the number of the schedule.

Col. Cantley replied that he could not give the number of the rate schedule, but that the traffic originated at Point Edward, Ont., and was on shipments to Hamilton. Officially the rate had been made with the Grand Trunk Railway.

"So far as I know," added Col. Cantley, "the Board of Railway Commissioners do not know anything about it; no one else knows anything about it except the railway company and the parties enjoying the rate. It has been in existence for ten or twelve years or more. It was originally made with the Grand Trunk Railway and has been continued up to the present time. That is my information and I think it is correct."

Illegal Proceeding

"There is some illegal proceeding if that is being done," was Mr. Dunning's comment. "I should like to get enough information to check it up." Col. Cantley contrasted recommendations of the Duncan report with legislation brought down by the Government to implement them and emphatically protested against the failure of the government to take action on steel bounties along the lines of the report.

Three Conservatives from the Maritimes dissociated themselves from the stand taken by Col. Cantley. Dr. Murray MacLaren of St. John Albert; R. K. Smith of Cumberland, and Hon. W. A. Bleck of Halifax, declared that they would be prepared to give the government a reasonable time in which to put into effect remaining recommendations of the Duncan report.

$7.00 Rate to Ontario

Earlier in the day, speaking on the Alberta coal rate, which occasioned the discussion, Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of Interior, said it was hoped the $7.00 rate from Alberta to Ontario would be secured which would enable the movement of from a million to a million and a-half tons. If that rate were not secured, he added, "I would even go so far as to suggest, as a member of the government, that we do something in this matter just as we did in connection with freight rates in Nova Scotia."

NOME, Alaska, April 13. — (Associated Press).—B. H. Merrill, aviator, and his two passengers, Hilkey Robinson and Edgar Broadway, missing since last Wednesday, have been found alive and well.

Soon after the men hopped off from Nome, on Wednesday morning, for Candle, Broadway radioed, a blizzard arose. In the storm, they passed Candle and landed at Kewalik, an eskimo village, 65 miles north-east of their destination.

TORONTO FIRMS WILL FEEL TAX

Increase Is Shown in Export Figures For Rubber Goods.

MAY ERECT PLANT.

TORONTO, April 13.—The application of the McKenna duties with the rebate for preference in the Churchill budget in Great Britain has given the exporters on rubber goods from Canada a decided shock.

C. H. Carlisle, of the Goodyear Rubber Company, speaking of the duties, said yesterday:

"We are the largest exporters of rubber goods from Canada to the British Isles and the application of a protective tariff of 23 3-10 per cent. puts Canadian products off the market there. It is a tax that absolutely prevents Canadian competition. We are exporters to 87 other countries, and our trade is so large that we don't feel like losing it.

May Build In England.

"While nothing has been decided, we may erect a factory over in England, and from a standpoint of competition, the British tire manufacturer will be worse off instead of better. The duty is a heavy one, and when one has regard to the fact that we buy our rubber and cotton in England, bring it over here and then pay twice the wages to have the goods made for export it is easy to understand what a great protection is the duty against imports into England."

In the year 1926, Canada exported to England tires or casings to the value of $11,616,505; inner tubes, $2,103,484, and solid tires for trucks, $283,712, or a total of $14,003,701. For the ten months of the last fiscal year the total exports have grown to $14,177,288, of which $11,896,168 is for tires and casings, $2,03,146 for inner tubes and $243,974 for solid tires.

Matches and Wines.

The duty placed on imported wines and matches will not affect Canada. Last year Canada exported no matches to England, but in 1925 sold $44 worth. Canadian wine merchants say that the duty will give an impetus to the sale of South African and Australian wines, against those of other countries.

FARMERS BUSY AROUND KEENE

Some Men Have Started Ploughing—Land in Good Shape.

FALL CLOVER GOOD.

KEENE, April 13.—Quite a number of farmers were ploughing and cultivating on Monday, the ground working up very nicely for so early in the season.

Mr. F. D. McIntyre is sowing a field of peas right away and will have his tractor working full time in a couple of days.

It is a little too early to make any estimate on the fall wheat.

The cold winds and frost during the last ten days will no doubt do some harm, although the wheat has not started to grow this spring which will help some.

Clover is looking very good especially on the seeding where the crops were flattened out with last summer's wind and rain and the long stubble is helping to keep out the cold winds.

Jury Awards Verdict Favoring Both Sides

BOSTON, Apr. 13.—The ideal jury—absolutely unbiased— was revealed here when George Kimball, clerk of the Superior Court, opened the verdict of the 12 good men and true who had heard the evidence in six personal injury cases against the Boston Elevated Railroad. The jurors, it was discovered, had awarded money damages to each of the plaintiffs, but had found for the elevated company. Judge Whiting, who presided, ruled a mistrial.

WILL OPPOSE LEGATION VOTE

Conservatives To Challenge $500,000 Vote To Run Canadian Legation.

OFFER CONTRAST.

OTTAWA, April 13.—The half million dollar vote for a Canadian legation at Washington will not pass the House of Commons unchallenged. Conservative members are preparing an attack as are the U.F.A. and Progressives.

The government had hoped that the vote would pass without much opposition, but the Tory board of strategy has decided it shall be opposed. It is reported that Mr. Phillips, the coming American minister to Ottawa, intends to take up residence in the Roxborough Apartments and establish his offices in the new Metropolitan Life Building. The most expensive quarters in the Roxborough, Ottawa's most exclusive apartment house, run less than $3,000 a year; offices in the Metropolitan Building about the same amount, making a total of $6,000 for quarters and offices.

Admitted that rents in Washington are much higher, there is criticism in the capital that from the orginal vote of $80,000 cut to $60,000 when Premier King was in opposition, there is a big jump to $600,000 for the first year. When the amount of $130,000 was discussed in the present session comment was made that this was the first year and expenses would be heavier than usual. The $600,000 touch is considered extravagant. It includes the main estimates of $130,000 less $30,000 saved in rent and the new vote of $500,000.

Conservative leaders will make no present comment on the item but say they intend to oppose it on the floor of the House. U.F.A. leaders express the same opinion. The government's explanation is waited for before definite criticism will be voiced. It is possible the vote may ultimately pass, but not without debate and possibly on division.

Two Whales May Keep Fishing Fleet In Port

CAPE MAY, N.J., April 13.—The Boston and Gloucester mackerel fleet, composed of 110 boats, was forced to suspend fishing activities here because of two whales that are within a half mile of the Cape May beach.

The whales, each more than fifty feet long, which have been seen in this vicinity for the last few days, came within a quarter of a mile of the beach.

Fishermen fear the whales would get into their nets and destroy them if they ventured out. The nets are each 900 feet long and cost $4,000 apiece. They say it is probable one whale is mortally hurt and that the other accompanied it into shallow water, as whales seldom forsake one of their number until it is dead or stranded.

We have tramped the ways together,
But we're clasping hands at the cross-roads now
In the Fiend's own night for weather;
And whether we bleed or whether we smile
In the leagues that lie before us,
The ways of life are many a mile
And the dark fate is o'er us.
Here's luck!
And a cheer for the dark before us.

You to the left and I to the right,
For the ways of men must sever,
And it well may be for a day and a night
And it well may be forever!
But whether we live or whether we die
(For the end is past our knowing),
Here's two frank hearts and the open sky,
Be a fair or ill wind blowing!
Here's luck!
In the teeth of all winds blowing.

LABOR UNIONS CALL STRIKE AT SHANGHAI

Protest Raids By Moderate Wing of Cantonese Political Organizations.

ISSUE CIRCULARS.

Charge Moderate Side With Playing Into Hands of Powers.

SHANGHAI, April 13 (A.P.).—A general strike was called last night by the labor unions in protest against the raids on labor union halls by the moderate wing of the Cantonese political organizations under orders from General Chang Kai Shek, Cantonese generalissimo, who is at odds with the radical civil government in Hankow.

The strike will be effective throughout the international settlement as well as in the native city. The leaders asserted that more than 50,000 went on strike yesterday in answer to the call, and that many more are expected to go out today.

The leaders admitted, however, that they believed the strike would not last long.

Protest Again Raids

Two mass meetings were held in the native city yesterday to protest against the raids, at which the strike call was decided upon. The meetings originally were called to celebrate the return of Wang Ching Wei, former chairman of the Cantonese executive committee, from France, but developed into protest meetings.

The strike includes the Seamen's Union, which are mostly operative on Chinese ships. The seamen issued a circular urging the Chinese to consider the downtrodden conditions of their fellow workers and charging the moderate Cantonese with playing into the hands of the Powers.

Later it was reported that a small mob attempted to storm the boundary barrier in the international settlement, on seeing that this was impossible, the crowd threw the circulars into the barbed wire and set fire to them, burning several posts.

Parade Meets

After the meeting thousands of union members paraded to military headquarters and petitioned General Pai Tsung Chi, the Cantonese military commandant, for protection. General Pai replied that if the union men would abandon the Communists, would not join radical unions, would disarm and behave themselves, he would guarantee them protection.

Eventually the mob dispersed, pledging adherence to the strike.

The settlement police do not expect any disorders, but some suspension of business is likely to take place temporarily.

FACE NEW PROBLEMS.

SHANGHAI, April 13. — Serious reverses on the Yangtse battle front and outbreaks of fierce factional fighting at Shanghai and elsewhere, between moderates and radicals, are problems now facing the Cantonese who only a few weeks ago were hammering northward in a definite threat on Peking, the seat of the northern government.

The factional controversy between the military and moderate wing of the Cantonese regime and the civil and radical wing, which has its seat at Hankow, rumbling for many weeks, flared into active conflict this morning when plain clothes men, acting under the direction of General Chang Kai Shek, Cantonese generalissimo and leader of the moderates, raided the headquarters of the Cantonese red labor unions in Shanghai, Hangchow, Nanking and Amoy.

Twelve Persons Killed.

Fighting resulted, and in Shanghai 12 persons were killed and many wounded in the various struggles. The raiders, armed with machine guns, pistols and bombs, attacked every known union centre, in one case bringing up field guns to overawe 350 laborers. In one building about 600 laborites were arrested.

Similar raids were carried on in Hangchow, Nanking and Amoy, although there was comparatively little fighting in the latter place. Martial law was declared in Amoy, while in Shanghai orders were issued forbidding meetings, strikes or demonstrations of a mass nature as a precaution against radical activities.

Yesterday afternoon demonstrators attempted a march on the Chinese military headquarters in Shanghai as a protest against the morning raids, but the marchers were dispersed by soldiers who fired a few shots.

Yesterday's raids on the union headquarters followed closely on the heels of the dismissal on Monday of Quo Tai Chi, Cantonese commissioner of foreign affairs at Shanghai, by CHICAGO, April 13.—(A.P.)—Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade by unanimous vote last night denied all trading privileges to the Armour Grain Company, which for forty years has been one of the leading firms transacting business on the exchange. The decision was ordered effective at the close of business next Saturday.

FOUND PLANS FOR MILITARY

Said Official Account Concerning Peking Raid on Soviet Embassy.

REPORT OF AGENTS.

PEKING, April 13.—(A.P.)— The documents seized by northern troops last week in raids on the Soviet embassy compound included detailed plans for various military operations, said an official account issued last night by the northern authorities.

This account said the seizures included plans for the Soviet government to supply and organize cavalry in Mongolia and Manchuria under the command of General Feng Yu Hsiang, leader of the Kuominchun armies, who is an opponent of Marshal Chang Tso Lin, the Manchurian war lord and moving spirit in the north alliance.

The documents also contained, the northern account said, reports of Soviet military secret service agents in the provinces of Honan, Shensi and elsewhere. Plans of the Manchurian and Kuominchun armies, confidential letters and reports of the Russian commander of Feng Yu Hsiang's army, letters between military experts appointed by Moscow and the leaders of the Cantonese and Kuominchun troops and communications between the Soviet military attache at Peking and his subordinates urging closer relations between the Kuominchun leaders and the Soviet representatives.

Protests Outrage.

General Chiang Kai, Cantonese generalissimo, had telegraphed the Soviet charge d'affaires at Peking condolence for the raid conducted by the northerners which he described as an unprecedented outrage directed by federalistic powers who fear that their influences are failing.

"The powers have not spared any effort in stirring ill feeling in China," he declared, "and they now have resorted to a very dangerous measure with a view to undoing the work of the revolution. If this should lead to international complications, they would be responsible."

SAP RUN OVER AROUND NORHAM

Quality of Syrup Better Than Usual—Seed Grain Scarce.

POTATOES PLENTIFUL.

NORHAM, April 13.—Contrary to the usual custom the sap has already ceased running and a number of sugar makers have taken up their buckets. The week preceding Easter Sunday is commonly regarded as the best sugar week of the season. Several producers claim the syrup this year of superior quality and give as the reason the fact that when the sap began to run it flowed forth more freely than usual. Frogs may be heard almost every evening piping a merry melody. Unless hindered by heavy rains it looks as though seeding will commence in a few days. Several farmers have been ploughing. Potatoes are more plentiful and lower in price than was expected. Seed grain is scarce and higher in price than usual, the reason given being that the quality last harvest was effected by the excessive rains. A good deal of the grain threshed a year ago was unfit for seed.

William McNaught suffered a loss recently by fire of his sap house, including the entire equipment. The loss is estimated at about $600.

Several members of the family had been in the bush boiling down until eleven o'clock at night and went away leaving on a big fire. The next time someone returned to the sap bush the whole plant was discovered in ashes. It is thought that a spark had blown out and set fire to the building.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THINGS INVISIBLE

I heard a wildbird sing last night
Up yonder on the hill
That song half sadness, half delight—
It was the whip-poor-will.
Ah, who has ever seen the bird?
But, oh, how many hearts have heard
Him singing in some far-off spot,
Although their eyes could see him not.

And so, I think, the sweetest thought
That thrills the human mind
Is like the cadence we have caught
From birds we cannot find.
Thoughts of the absent are more dear;
I think, than when the loved were here;
And who shall say that hearts forget?
Ah, then we love them better yet.

Men think the pleasures near at hand
Are things to most desire.
I know that splendors weary and
I know that honors tire.
But still old memories we invite
To come and comfort us at night—
Yes, when men weary, as they will;
They turn to things invisible.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : The Trial of Jesus

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy. D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

Caiaphas sends Jesus to Pilate, the Roman governor, who, after a questioning, says he can find no fault in Christ and suggests to the chief priests and elders that He be punished and released. But the enemies of Jesus cried, "Crucify Him!" (Luke XXIII : 1-21)

"Pilate took water and washed his hands . . . saying, I am innocent of the blood of this person: see ye to it." (Matthew XXVII : 24)

Still the cry of "Crucify Him" came from the mob. Pilate then scourges Jesus and orders His crucifixion. (Matthew XXVII : 26)

Jesus was dressed in a purple robe, a crown of thorns placed on His head and a reed in His hand. Jeeringly, the mob shouted, "Hail, King of the Jews!" He was then led away to be crucified. (Matthew XXVII : 28-31)

Going To Prove That Prophet Jonah Could Live And Did Live in Whale's Belly For Three Days

OMAHA, Neb., April 13 (A.P.).—With the aid of stereoptican slides and the citation of recent scientific discoveries, the Rev. O. G. Bellah of the Memorial Seventh Day Adventist Church here, hopes to prove conclusively that Jonah actually lived three days and three nights inside a whale. He has billed his lecture as "Jonah's Modern Apartment Inside the Whale."

"It was not necessarily a whale," he explains. "It might have been a sea mouster many times the size of a whale. I have slides to prove that it is possible that Jonah was able to stand up and walk around inside the whale. There was plenty of room. Of course, it was dark, and he had no food and no water, even though he did have a soft bed and plenty of fresh air."

MRS. MAE HILL DENIES NEWELL OBTAINED LIQUOR

Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Hill came over to Mrs. McCarthy's home where the witness accused her of giving liquor to her brother. Mrs. Hill told her that she did not, for he got it by the post. Her brother, the witness claimed, was intoxicated when he went to the Hill home. "Mrs. Hill said to my brother on that visit, 'I never gave you any liquor,' and my brother answered, 'No, you never did.'" Mrs. Hill asked if there was any liquor in the bottle, and witness told her it was empty; then Mrs. Hill answered, they could not do anything with that.

Mrs. Elizabeth Adams

Mrs. Adams is the widow of the late Hugh Adams. On the day of his death he went early in the morning to see his aunt, Mrs. Drain, and did not return until eight o'clock in the evening. He came home alone and was intoxicated. Later Mr. Newell came in and she saw a bottle in Mr. Newell's hands. She did not see them drinking, but heard them pull the cork out of the bottle. The witness tried to take the bottle from them, but was unable to get it.

Mr. Hatton then questioned the witness about people going to the Hill home. Mr. Gordon objected, as in the charge which was laid, the information had to be restricted to selling, as a general charge of having for sale was not laid.

In the cross-examination, witness did not see either men go to the barn of the Hill's, but saw both of these men go to the barn at Mrs. McCarthy's.

Viola Adams

Miss Viola Adams is a daughter of the late Hugh Adams. She said she saw her father about 5.30 in the evening going from Mrs. McCarthy's house to the barn. She saw Newell about 4.30 go into Hill's. At about 8.30 her father had returned home and he along with Newell was sitting beside the stove. Her father was rather dull and Mr. Newell was talkative.

Ruby Blake

Miss Blake, who is a friend of Viola Adams, went to the Adams' home about 4.30 on Sunday afternoon, March 27. The witness saw Mr. Newell go and come from the Hill's and in both cases he was walking straight.

Ernest Graham

Ernest Graham was a new witness, who was not called at the inquest. On Monday night following the death of Mr. Adams, he was at the McCarthy home. Mrs. Hill came over, and the witness heard Mrs. Hill ask about a bottle of liquor, but was not quite sure what was said.

Cecil Patterson

On Sunday night Cecil Patterson drove a man out to the Hill home, and later called for him. The witness did not think the man was intoxicated when he came out, and he saw no liquor.

Constable N. F. Maker

On March 30, Constable Maker seized liquor at the home of Mrs. McCarthy, which Mrs. McCarthy said was that which she had exchanged the empty bottle for. Constable Maker brought the bottle into the City of Peterborough, and there sealed it and sent it to Toronto to be analyzed.

The Defence.

Mrs. Mae Hill was the first witness called by Mr. Gordon. Mr. Newell, the witness said, came to her home on Sunday afternoon of March 27, and at that time there were present Davis Hill, Herman Parks, Mrs. Davis Hill, Russel Hill, and Mrs. Russel Hill. Russel Hill asked Newell if he came to see his woman, and Newell, with a few adjectives, said he did not, and that he came to see about a horse he had bought from Davis Hill. Newell was intoxicated, and he received no liquor from her, witness said. He made quite a racket about the horse and pulled out from his pocket a large roll of bills, saying he could pay for the horse. Davis Hill left to get the horse, which was on their farm in Dummer.

The witness said there was no liquor that day in the house or barn. At about 8.30 that night Newell returned, and this time paid for the horse, making Mrs. Hill count the money twice. Newell left, and in a few moments returned, staying until 11.30.

Thomas Newell came to her home on Monday and wanted to know if she knew where he could get any liquor, and she answered in the negative.

On Tuesday night she went to Mrs. McCarthy's, and Mrs. McCarthy blamed her for giving Newell liquor on Sunday. Witness said she asked Thomas Newell, who was present, if she did, and Newell said no.

On cross-examination, witness said Newell left the house the same time as the other visitors that day, and Newell never asked for any liquor. He returned later in the evening, and he appeared to be intoxicated more than the first, and on the third time he came back wanting to know if he had paid for the horse. The Monday following was the first time Newell ever had asked her for liquor.

Mrs. Davis Hill.

Mrs. Hill said she was at the Hill home on Sunday, March 27. Witness swore that there was no liquor sold to Newell and that he was pretty well intoxicated. Newell paid for the horse in eight ten dollar bills and one five, and five dollars had been paid previously to bind the bargain.

Russel Hill.

Russel Hill, husband of Mrs. Mae Hill, corroborated the story of his wife about the horse. On Monday he said he took Newell to Hastings, and on the way home Newell bought a bottle of wine.

Other witnesses called by the defence were Davis Hill and Herman Parks, whose stories corroborated that told by the other witnesses.

The Crown recalled Thomas Newell, and he stated he paid $90 cash in nine tens for the horse at the time the horse was delivered. Mrs. Adams, Viola Adams, and Ruby Blake were also recalled and questioned on the time of departure of Mr. and Mrs. Davis Hill and Herman Parks and that of Thomas Newell. These witnesses swore that the Hills and Herman Parks left ten or fifteen minutes before Newell, instead of at the same time as the defence witnesses had sworn.

JUBILEE PARADE

It was decided that no automobiles except those carrying floats, would be included in the parade, it being felt that the presence of a long row of cars, decorated only with a flag or two, would be neither educational nor amusing.

It was also suggested that it was time for the publicity committee to get busy with advertising, preferably some bills on boardings all over the country.

There were present Chairman J. J. Craig, Secretary Fred Hills, Mrs. George Lynch, Mrs. J. A. McKone, R. H. Turner, G. A. Gillespie, A. J. Reynolds, K. Throop, James Abraham, and J. A. McKone.

the Hankow authorities, who declared that he had been illegally appointed by Chang Kai Shek. Quo yesterday afternoon issued a statement declaring that he would ignore the order.

He said that the orders from Hankow would serve only to bring to a showdown the question as to who would dominate the Kuomintang organization, the Reds or the moderates. He was confident, he added, that the Reds eventually would be forced out.

News from the Yangtse front, meagre at best, told of the occupation by Chinese troops of the houses of foreigners, and the offices of the Standard Oil Company at Chinkiang. This city, which is about forty miles east of Nanking, was captured by the Cantonese several weeks ago, but late reports have said that the northern drive of recent days has forced the Cantonese to evacuate it.

Sweeps Onward.

Other reports received in Shanghai indicated that General Chang Tsung Chang, the Shantung leader, who was driven out of Shanghai several weeks ago by the Cantonese, is now close to Pukow, across the Yangtse River from Nanking. His airplanes were reported to have bombed Nanking Monday.

General Sun Chuan Fang, original defender of Shanghai, is also conducting a drive on the Grand Canal and has reached a point on the Yangtse opposite Chinkiang. His troops have taken up positions along the bank of the river as far as a point opposite Kiangyan, which is half way between Nanking and Shanghai.

Advices from Peking also stated that the leaders of the Northerners there have shown no intention of acceding to the demands of Soviet Russia in its note protesting the raiding by northern soldiers of the building attached to the Soviet embassy.

ROYAL CUSTOMS

Kakabeka Falls Brewing Company Mr. Nash reported that it was impossible to make a satisfactory audit because the books were missing and the officials of the companies stated that they had been destroyed after review by sales tax auditors.

Finally after listening to representations by L. J. OFlynn, appearing for the three breweries, Chief Commissioner Brown consented to hear evidence from the sales tax auditors in Windsor before making any recommendations. He warned the officials, however, that at present he was satisfied the books had been destroyed deliberately. "I would be disposed to recommend that the licenses be cancelled and renewal refused until there was a complete change of management," he said. Further evidence will be offered in this case on the opening day in Windsor.

Books of no Use.

The first witness during the Toronto sittings, J. H. Bertram, Collector of Customs at Toronto, was one of the last. Yesterday he was examined briefly just before adjournment in regard to certain departmental regulations. Chief Commissioner Brown told him that it would be advisable to adhere to the regulation which requires the examination of one package in ten even though the result was a great congestion in the examining warehouse. It had been represented that the Toronto warehouse is quite inadequate to hold all the packages which should be sent up.

The collector said he was doing this.

The Commission adjourned.

BETHANY, April 13.—The funeral of the late William Mulligan, who passed away at Nicholls Hospital, Peterboro, on Thursday, was held on Sunday afternoon from the United church. Long before the time of service the church was filled the center seats being reserved for the mourners and the Orange brethren of Lodge No. 1020 of which the deceased was a member. Quite a number of people could not get into the church at all. The service was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. A. Poulter. After the service the funeral cortege wended its way over the hills to St. Mary's cemetery where the remains where laid to rest. The bearers were old neighbors, Richard Wilson, Offa Staples, James Neil, William Neil, Norton Mills and Cephas Staples.

Among those from a distance were Mr. McKimm, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burns of Peterboro; W. A. Fallis, ex-M.P.P. of Millbrook; Mr. and Mrs. William Rowan and son, Harold, Millbrook; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. J. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. S. Stinson of Janetville, and a number of others.

. . . CHRONICLER OF FACTS . . . SIFTER OF RUMORS AND OPINIONS . . . MINISTER OF THE TRUTH THAT MAKES MEN FREE.

A DESERVED TRIBUTE.

The tribute paid by Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defense, to the patriotism of the personnel of Canada's militia units is most gratifying to those who are familiar with present conditions in the militia.

The Minister informed the House of Commons that he had, as the result of an investigation, found that men in command of units were giving freely out of their own purses in order that the units might be kept up and the interests of the men maintained.

As a matter of fact, out of the 807 units Canada there are 219 units in which 24 per cent. of the officers and men pool their pay to help maintain their units, while in 57 per cent. the officers alone pool thein pay.

The Minister of National Defense does well to bring general attention to this situation, and he is equally sound in his declaration that whatever is done in the line of training, even with a small force, should be done along the lines of the greatest efficiency.

Canada owes a good deal to the patriotic citizens everywhere who are giving freely of their means and time to keep a skeleton force of trained men together, and it is pleasing, in view of the pin-pricking criticism that is often heard, to know that due credit has been given them in Parliament for what they are doing.

THROUGH WITH THE HYDRO.

In deciding not to make an offer to the Ontario Hydro Commission for the purchase of the street railway and gas plant, the City Council will have the general approval of the citizens.

When the Commission took the position that an offer as high as $300,000 would not be considered, the matter was settled then and there.

The people of Peterborough have not the slightest desire to pay even $300,000 for these utilities.

Two wrongs never yet made a right.

If the Ontario Government in purchasing these utilities, along with the other property of the Seymour Power Company, paid a lot more than they were worth, the city of Peterborough has no intention of duplicating that error in judgment.

As a matter of fact, if a proposition were submitted to the people to purchase the street railway and gas plant for the $150,000 offered by the Council, The Examiner has grave doubts that the purchase would be approved by the ratepayers.

The decision of the Council means that Peterborough is through so far as Hydro's provision of street railway accommodation is concerned; the contract will expire at the end of June, and a striking demonstration of how Hydro management converted a street railway into an underground line will have been concluded.

WHERE CANADA GAINS.

Several features of the British Budget are of direct interest to Canadians, who will benefit by the increase in customs duties on several articles announced by Mr. Churchill.

Canadian tobacco growers, thanks to the British preference and the increased duties on tobacco, will find themselves in a very advantageous position.

The new Budget provides for an increase in duty on unmanufactured tobacco from 8s 2d per pound to 8s 10d, increasing the price of tobacco in the British market, but with Empire-grown tobacco enjoying a tariff preference of 25 per cent.; the increase will be greater in the case of foreign tobacco, thus giving Canadian producers a material advantage that will prove a further stimulus to tobacco production.

Canadian tire manufacturers will find plenty of sunshine in the fact that Mr. Churchill's Budget includes automobile tires in the McKenna duties, thus providing a 33 1-3 per cent. preference to tires manufactured in Canada and other parts of the Empire.

With the United States manufacturers of tires facing a situation that puts one-third more duty on their products than has to be paid on Canadian tires, Dominion firms should be able to secure a large part of the trade.

SLASHING THE ESTIMATES.

In a stormy session last night, Henry J. Soupbone, of Bruce avenue, slashed family estimates for 1927, despite the strenuous objection of so-called uncontrollable spending bodies, which include Mrs. Soupbone, Lizzie Soupbone, Oswald Soupbone and little Ignatz Soupbone.

In all, $78.32 was lopped from the budget, which enables Mr. Soupbone to strike a rate of 13 mills, without pawning his shirt.

"This family," said Mr. Soupbone, who occupied the chair, "is getting to be a joke all along the street. Last year we made down payments on a radio, a sedan, an electric sewing machine, an iceless refrigerator, a new chesterfield, an orthopedic gramaphone and an automatic back-rubber for the bathroom. Now, every time there's a knock at the front door, you all hike down to the basement and pretend there's nobody home. As a result, I have had to rent bigger offices in order to accommodate enraged instalment collectors. This must stop!"

Mr. Soupbone then went through the 1927 estimates clause by clause. Mrs. Soupbone, he said, would have to do without a new spring coat and the old rug would be good enough for the living-room until next winter. Lizzie might as well understand right now that she couldn't buy new stockings every week. She would also have to cut down to two pounds of chocolates a fortnight. Oswald's request for a new roadster with yellow wire wheels, green hood, pink fenders and blue top was out of the question. It would also be as well if he rolled his own. And little Ignatz would have to refrain from running out to the ice cream cone wagon four times a day.

Mr. Soupbone's ultimatum dropped like a bombshell in the family circle. Mrs. Soupbone said she would consult a lawyer and might take legal action. But up and down both sides of Bruce avenue harassed fathers have hailed Mr. Soupbone's drastic action with glee, and a general slashing, lopping, cutting, hacking, paring, slicing and shaving is expected to result.

With the $78.32 which he expects to save this year, Mr. Soupbone came down town this morning and made a cash payment on a player piano.—Border Cities Star.

IN OUR OWN HANDS.

Spring of 1927 ought to be a memorable one in Canadian history. There are signs everywhere that the spirit of prosperity has taken hold of the people and that Jubilee Year will mark a definitely stronger feeling of confidence in the upward swing. Maritimes hope is revived by promise of results from the Duncan Report. Quebec's development is receiving a new impetus from the prospect of substantial British investments. Ontario's Northland is revealing additional sources of wealth almost weekly, and the projected extensions of the T. & N. O. to Rouyn and beyond Cochrane toward James Bay will invite the adventurer farther afield. Manitoba's mineral resources are attracting greater attention than ever before, while industrial progress in that Province has shown renewed life. There as well as farther west the prairies are steeped in optimism, founded upon three years of success. Aggressive British Columbia is thumping ahead with remarkable growth in shipping and industry, while its natural resources continue a basic factor of great wealth.

The story is told in climbing railway earnings, bank statistics, new construction, immigration, and trade. The figures recently published by the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific speak volumes. Building permits for the first three months exceed those of the same period in 1926 by $93,000,000. Foreign trade for the twelve months ending Feb. 28 amounted to $2,280,000,000. The increase of $100,000,000 in imports showed the buying power of the people and the demand for raw materials for manufacturing purposes. The great movement of new population toward our shores and boundaries indicates again, as it did in pre-war days, that the world is making a path to our doors.

This is Canada's century and Canada's generation, and Jubilee Year may well prove to be the year of permanent emancipation from doubts and fears. It depends upon the people of the country. At present there is not a cloud of consequence on the horizon. What the future is to be lies with those who now have a stake in the country, whether it is business, land or employment. Boosting builds towns, and it will build a country. We need both population and capital, and they can be obtained easily if the present shareholders in the Dominion work, talk and think for national unity and progress as well as for community advancement.—The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Have a heart on Saturday. Help the Humane Society.

Moved and carried, that the City Clerk write the Hydro Commission something alone this line, "Just for that you can keep your old street railway."

The laughter of other Central Ontario municipalities over the scrapping of the Peterborough street railway has given away to a sickly silence as these places realize they'll have to pay for their fun.

If the Hydro Commission really want to sell the street railway we hasten to offer the suggestion that they try an Examiner want-ad.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, April 13 (Canadian Press). — The foreign demand for grain in the Montreal market yesterday showed some improvement, and a moderate amount of business was done in wheat and low grades oats with the Continent.

The only business of importance in the domestic market was the purchase of several loads of No. 1 Northern wheat at 17 3-4c per bushel over the Winnipeg May option, c.i.f. Montreal for loading at the opening of May. The trade in coarse grains was quiet, the demand being only for odd cars, and prices were unchanged.

There was some demand from foreign buyers for Spring wheat grades of flour and some business was worked for nearby shipment, but apart from this the market was quiet and steady. The trade in Winter wheat grades was quiet but firm.

A fair trade was again done in all lines of millfeed and values were unchanged. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet and prices ruled steady.

Prices for all grades of eggs were well maintained under a good demand. The receipts were 4,025 cases.

The weakness that developed in the local butter situation on Monday was again a feature yesterday and prices dropped another three cents per pound, making a net decline in two days of six to seven cents per pound. The outlook is that they will reach a still lower level before the close of the week. The easiness is attributed to the increased arrivals. Sales of New Zealand and Australian finest creamery butter were made at 37 1-2 to 38c per pound, and Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized was quoted at 37c per pound. The receipts were 532 packages.

The demand for cheese continued extremely dull, but prices were unchanged. The receipts were 208 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 13 (Canadian Press).—Wheat tightened up yesterday but corn dropped to a new low level for the season. Wheat was influenced by reports of unfavorable weather conditions southwest and of further delay to seeding operations northwest. No buying support for corn developed except from industries here and from previous speculative sellers who could collect a profit.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as Monday's finish to 1-2c higher, with corn 3-8 to 1 1-8c off; oats 1-4 to 5-8c down, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 40 cents.

All deliveries of corn reached new low record figures. Shipping demand here was extremely slow. Oats sympathized with corn.

Provisions were affected by a decline in the hog market.

IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES

ANSWERING "A BELIEVER"

Rev. Wm. Allan, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, preceding the sermon on Sunday evening, replied to a letter signed "A Believer" which appeared in The Examiner on Saturday. In this letter "A Believer" criticized remarks made by Rev. Mr. Allan recently, as reported in The Examiner, concerning the frequency with which the Lord's Supper should be observed. Mr. Allan explained that as he will not have an opportunity at the next two Sunday evening services to answer any questions as he had been doing of late, he felt that it was proper to make some reference to "A Believer's" letter.

"If this 'Believer'," said Mr. Allan, "is no more capable of judging another's heart than in this letter he seems capable of quoting the Word of God correctly he would be well advised to keep quiet till he is a little better informed.

"Were I sure of his identity I should ask him where he gets his authority for what he says is a 'Scripture statement, e.g., 'As oft as ye eat this bread, and drink this wine ye do show forth the Lord's death till He comes.' From that text, as I know it, he has left out one word, and put in three words which have no right to be there. If he knows the correct quotation—which I have reason to doubt—and was trusting to his memory when he wrote his letter his memory is not as good as it ought to be when he uses it in the realm of controversy!

"If he were as apostolic as he professes to be he would live up to the letter and spirit of Acts 2:46-47. He would break bread every day; he would have all things in common with other believers; and he would sell his possessions and goods, and part them to all as every man had need. I am quite sure he has not done this or we should have heard of him long ago!

"On the other hand, if he wants to follow the example of his Lord why does he not observe the Lord's Supper at night? When he says, 'It is not as seldom, but as often,' he is evidently straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel. If he had studied the text a little more before writing he would have seen that the time element and the thought of frequency in his own thought read into the text, and the fact of the death of Jesus is the thought of the Spirit as expressed by Paul.

"Then he says, 'Why not every year then?' To which my answer is, "Why not?"

"Is it not a fact that what the Passover had been to Judaism the Lord's Supper was to be to the Christian Church? Both of them speak of redemption through blood, and both look for the coming of Christ. And the Passover was observed only once a year!"

A Thought For To-day

Whilst walking in a crowded city street the other day,
I heard a little urchin to a comrade say:
"Say, Chimney, let me tell youse, I'd be as happy as a clam
If I only was de feller dat me mudder
tinks I am.
She tinks I am a wonder an' she knows her little lad
Could never mix with nuttin' dat was ugly, mean or bad.
Oh lots of times I sit and tink how nice 'twould be, gee whiz,
If a feller was de feller dat his mother thinks he is."
You still can learn a lesson from this small unlettered boy.
Don't try to be an earthly saint, with eyes fixed on a star;
Just try to be the fellow that your mother thinks you are.

On New Year's Day the town of Wray, Colorado, witnessed its first church wedding in 16 years.

CAUSES OF DROPSY

Readers are constantly writing me to find how they can cure "dropsy." This is one of the most difficult questions for me to answer by correspondence as there are so many causes of dropsy which are entirely different in their nature.

Probably the most common dropsical condition is that produced as the result of heart derangements. If there is a poor tone of the heart muscles and valves, there is a correspondingly poor tone in the whole circulatory system. The walls of the veins and capillaries will be flabby and the blood will easily stagnate in different parts of the body, especially in the extremities. When the heart valves leak, this condition of sluggishness of the circulation becomes more pronounced. The ankles swell, especially for those who are on their feet a good deal, and the swelling finally extends up the limbs to the abdomen. In severe cases, there will be abdominal swelling and eventually this will crowd up against the thorax and cause difficult breathing because of the interference with diaphragmatic action.

In certain forms of kidney trouble, the kidneys are unable to throw off a large enough amount of urine and water is thus retained in the tissues. When this is the cause, the ankles first begin to swell, as in the case of heart derangements, and the progress of the swelling is much the same.

A physician is able to tell the difference between the two kinds of dropsy conditions by making a careful examination. In one case the circulation of blood is defective and, in the other case, there is stagnation of the lymphatic circulation.

In certain diseases of the liver, there will also be a "water" dropsy, produced as the liver becomes engorged with toxic material.

The usual treatment given for any of these conditions of dropsy is to place the patient's feet higher than the head in order to get rid of the congestion in the lower extremities. This treatment, however, does not accomplish any real good if the internal cause of the disorder is not removed.

If you know that the dropsy is produced by heart trouble, you can then take a certain diet and adopt a daily regime which will be helpful in bringing about a cure of the heart derangement.

If dropsy exists because of kidney trouble, another kind of treatment can be taken by the patient which will remove the cause of this kind of dropsy.

If any of my readers, who are suffering from any form of dropsy, have been properly diagnosed by their physician but are not receiving good results, wish to consult me by mail, I will be glad to have them write giving me a history of their case after which I may be able to send some helpful suggestions regarding diet, exercise, and a suitable home treatment.

WHY IS S-W-P BETTER?

BECAUSE quality is the first and foremost ingredient in every can of S-W-P.

Quality is the first idea in the mind of every Sherwin-Williams man.

The Sherwin-Williams business was built on quality and Sherwin-Williams quality is standard for the whole world.

S-W-P is better because the quality of the color pigments is better, the lead and zinc are better, the oil is better.

S-W-P is ground finer, mixed more thoroughly, spreads smoother, brushes easily and covers most.

S-W-P is made to a formula which has been tested by time and exposure to the severest weather conditions. Behind this formula stand the best paint brains in the world.

The reasons for the superiority of S-W-P go back to the policy of the founder of the Company more than 60 years ago and spread out to the mines and the fields, the mills and factories whose products form the raw materials for the largest paint and varnish manufacturers in the world.

This Guide Will Help

The Sherwin-Williams Household Guide Manual charts all the common requirements for paints, stains, varnishes and enamels, and shows at a glance what to ask for. Get a free copy from the nearest S-W Agent or write Sherwin-Williams, 897 Centre Street, Montreal.

SOVIET TRYING TO FREE WOMEN

Wants Them To Participate in Buildig Country, Says Trotsky's Sister.

HOLD MANY POSTS.

BERLIN, April 13.—(United Press.)—Marriage, according to the Soviet conception of that State is merely "an arrangement of loving couples," instead of "a business deal sanctioned by the church," Madam Olga Kamenev, a sister of Leon Trotsky, told a Berlin audience on Tuesday.

"Marriage consists more or less of a permanent conjugal life," said Madam Kamenev, who is the wife of the Soviet ambassador to Italy. "Divorce merely requests a declaration from the husband or wife in case either party desires to quit the union.

"We have prostitution in Russia, but fight prostitution, not prostitutes; in this connection the police are more active against men than against women."

The Soviet's goal, she continued, is to liberate women so that they can participate in rebuilding the country.

"Of the 328,000 magistartes in the Soviet union," said Madam Kamenev, "224,000 are women. Eighty-four thousand women are delegates to the village and county soviets. Child mortality, which was 50 to every thousand persons under the Czarist rule, now is 17."

GUELPH VETERAN IS 90 YEARS OLD

Sgt.-Major W. J. Clements Went Overseas When 79 Years Old.

GUELPH, Ont., April 13.—Sergt.-Major Wm. J. Clements, Guelph's oldest veteran, yesterday celebrated his 90th birthday. Born on St. Helena Island, and a soldier practically all his life, Mr. Clements had the distinction of being the oldest man to enlist in Guelph during the Great War, joining the 34th Battalion at the age of 79, and proceeding as far as England with that unit.

He comes from a family which is noted for longevity. His father died at the age of 92, while his grandmother was 90 when she passed away, and taking all these facts into consideration, with his own good health, the sergeant-major feels that his chances of reaching the century mark are excellent.

KINGSTON TEAMS IN INTERMEDIATE

Circle Six and Victorias Plan To Enter Higher Series.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 13. — Circle Six Baseball Club has reorganized and advanced from junior to intermediate rank. It is hoped to establish an intermediate league in this section of Ontario. The officers elected are: Hon. President, J. F. Sowards; President, James Kane; First Vice-President, J. M. Root; Second Vice-President, W. J. Arniel; Third Vice-President, G. Pappas; Secretary-Treasurer, H. F. Thomson; Executive, A. C. Hanley, A. J. Evans, Bert Booth.

As a result of the abandonment of the Central Ontario Baseball League, as a fourth team could not be secured, the Kingston players may be distributed with Victorias and Circle Six should they form an intermediate league, and the probability is that they will. It is likely that "Bubs" Britton will go to Northern Ontario for the summer, while Harry Batstone will return to Toronto. Cairns is already in Windsor, but the remainder of the team is still in the city.

Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL.

"Don Mike", a story of the days of dashing dons and valiant vaqueros, was chosen by Fred Thomson as his latest starring vehicle for F.B.O. which is coming to the Capitol Theatre tomorrow when it begins a three day run. The locale is southern California at the height of its romantic history. A remarkable note of accuracy has been attained due to the vast research work which was made in order to recreate the original atmosphere and background. There is all the splendor and thrill of those bygone days which featured daring chivalry and free-and-easy knife throwing. Fred as the gallant and hospitable "Irish-Spaniard" Don Mike, has the most interesting role of his career, and presents a brilliant characterization that is charged with sincerity and virile power. Ruth Clifford is the lovely lady wooed by the hitherto indifferent Don, while others in the cast are: Noah Young, Albert Prisco, William Courtright, Tom Bates, Norman Marie and Carmen Le Roux. Silver King again amazes and delights his admirers with his endless source of new stunts and his proximity to human intelligence. Lloyd Ingraham is the director and also contributed the continuity made from the original story by Frank M. Clifton.

AT THE REGENT.

"THE THIRD DEGREE."

"The Third Degree," the Warner Bros.' production, starring Dolores Costello, which opens next Thursday at the Regent Theatre, is as gripping a police melodrama as its name suggests.

"The Third Degree!" Words that carry a connotation of horror and miserable injustice; nagging, bullying, brow-beating, torture, forced confession; the modern version of Inquisitions.

Happily, the "third degree" in this country has, to a large extent, given way to more scientific, less painful, and infinitely more accurate methods in police departments. Bewildered prisoners no longer writhe on a stool of agony, a blinding light flooding their weary eyes, with harsh voices in the darkness beyond threatening, cajoling, insisting, demanding, questioning them until their senses reel and the earth seems to be staggering crazily through trackless space. They are no longer slapped awake or roughly shaken by manicured paws out of the darkness, tempted with food, with drink, tempted with promises of freedom and leniency and rest to confess a terrible crime of which they are guiltless.

Woven around this barbarous institution, with the gay background of a circus, "The Third Degree," reveals in a startlingly realistic manner the endless romance, adventure, sacrifice and heartbreak for which it has been responsible.

Miss Costello appears as the wife of a third degree victim. Louise Dressler, as the mother, is featured in the supporting cast, which includes Jason Robards, Rockcliffe Fellowes, Kate Price and Tom Santchi. "The Third Degree" was adapted by Graham Baker from the Charles Klein play. Michael Curtiz directed.

INGERSOLL, April 13. — While Baggageman Frank Smith was making a trip to a semaphore east of the Canadian National Railways depot on Monday night the jigger he was riding was thrown from the track.

A quantity of iron and coal, investigation showed, had been placed on the rails. When returning to the depot a short time later Mr. Smith again encounered the same obstruction on the track. Chief Molmes made an investigation with the result that the blame is attached to a 9-year-old lad. It is said there was sufficient material on the track to derail a train.

YOUNG PEOPLE PRESENT PLAY

Under Auspices of Peterborough U.F.O. in the W.O.W. Hall.

PROLOGUE RENDERED.

The Young Peoples' Club of Gilmour Church presented a three act play, entitled "My Wild Irish Rose" last night in the W.O.W. Hall. The play was held under the auspices of the Peterborough U. F. O. and a large audience of both city and country people attended the play.

Preceding the play a small prologue was rendered; a quartet composed of the Misses Young, McGregor, Mann, and Mr. Paul sang "My Wild Irish Rose"; then Miss Jean Scott in verse form related the composition of the play itself.

Scenes in the play were first of an Irish peasant's home, and later in an English lord's mansion in Dublin, where Lord Fitzgerald lived. The first act opened in the country where the Creighton family lived, and it was here that the rich artist, Lord Fitzgerald, fell in love with the pretty Irish girl, Rose. Being greatly attracted by the beauty of the girl and thinking nothing of his social standing, Fitzgerald marries the girl and takes her away to his home at Dublin. The poor peasant girl at first finds that "learning city manners is not all fun" and has to receive many rebukes from her husband's society friends, but her brother who has been away in America returns and she finds that her husband has been true to her all the time, and keeping secrets from her only in order to aid her brother to return to Ireland.

Cast of characters: Callum McCormick, Gordon McGregor; Morris Fitzgerald, Clare Grant; Clarence Creighton, Charley Moore; Archie Pennywitt, Clarence Mann; Michael Pepperdine, Seward McMullen; Shawn McAilly, Dawson Paul; M. Mary McCormick, Leila Sanderson; Widow of Hannigan, Cora Grant; Eilleen Fitzgerald, Margaret Mann; Lady Agnes Barricklow, Isobel Anderson; Pegeen Burke, Beatrice McGregor; Rose Creighton, Betty Edgar.

Between the acts the audience were favoured by two songs by Mrs. Young, and recitations by little Ruth McNeely and Miss Metcalfe.

Immediately following the play a meeting of the U.F.O. was held with the president, Mr. E. A. Scott in the chair.

LONDON, April 13.—(United Press.)—A detachment of Northern troops sailed down the Yangtze river in junks and landed near Woosung, fifteen miles from Shanghai, according to reliable but unconfirmed information, Sir Percival Phillips said in a special dispatch to the Daily Mail to-day. The Morning Post's correspondent said the Nationalists were concentrating at Quinsan to stem the Northern advances.

FATALLY CRUSHED BY STREET CARS

WINDSOR, Ont., April 13 (Canadian Press).—Oscar St. Pierre, of Detroit, was fatally injured last night, it is believed, when he was caught between two street cars at Ouellette Avenue and Park Street, Windsor. Norman Butler, 29 years old, 623 Ouellette Avenue, and J. B. Potvin, Hickory Street, Ford, who were with St. Pierre, suffered cuts on the head and arms.

The men were crossing Ouellette Avenue on their way to a meeting of Ottawa University Alumni at Prince Edward Hotel. Failing to notice the approach of a northbound street car they were crushed between the moving car and another which was taking on passengers at the corner.

St. Pierre suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. He and his companions were rushed to Hotel Dieu in the police ambulance.

When he attempted to board a fast moving freight train in the C.N.R. yards last night, James Blanchard, 32 years of age, of West Virginia, suffered serious injuries. His arm was caught in a ladder rung as his foot slipped and he was dragged almost 100 feet before the train was stopped. Blanchard, who is expected to recover, is at Hotel Dieu.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, finds an easy way to earn money—working as a dancing partner, of afternoons, for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but, beggars can't be choosers! At the Inn he sees the prettiest, sweetest, girl he has ever laid eyes on—Sally, the cigarette girl. Reciprocating his interest, she warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the Inn, who finds her "thrill" in Bob—she is the hunter, not the hunted!

Were there panther men? Mrs. Hammond wondered, as she studied Bob. At least that was an apt simile in Bob's case, she decided.

For there was a good deal of the dignity, the grace, the broad-backed lissome-flanked qualities of the full-grown panther in Bob Ward.

Aloud, she said in answer to his expressed philosophy of deportment and ambition, spoken so many full minutes before:

"I think I do see what you mean, Bob. I take it you mean that in your career, your chosen profession, whatever it may be, you want to measure up to the finest, the most ultra-modern. You have real purpose, genuine ambition, creative imagination! You feel that any real progress human society has made, after all, has come about only in an intellectual way. That, socially and morally, we—the human race, that is—have retrograded. That the manners of fifty years ago combined with the intellectual attainments of fifty years hence, make up the ideal formulae of character and personality for which the young, earnest man of today should aim."

Bob was enchanted to find such a sympathetic, intelligent appreciation and understanding of his philosophy. He felt himself swiftly thawing under the radiant sun of this woman's smile, under her insight of a fellow's slants. He felt himself wondering why he had been so absurdly afraid of her; then he began to forget that he had ever been afraid. Bob, certainly, in the wide reading and book knowledge that was essential to the background of a college engineer degree, had come across a description of how men, in the arctic, overtaken by exhaustion and freezing, are lulled by a false sense of warmth and sleep. Giving in to it, they succumb, unknowingly. In the tropics, too, he had read of engineers, overcome by heat, passing into a soothing lassitude—which was but a forerunner of delirious, comatose dissolution.

He danced this time with less self-consciousness.

But Bob was not remembering those things now. No simile, in that respect, projected itself into its relaxing physical and mental defensiveness.

He was beginning to like Mrs. Hammond immensely. Radiant, yet intelligent. Incredible!—yet, when found, certainly nothing to be run away from, as a little boy might run away from a crafty big red-spot spider.

Bob, ingenuous, and simplicity and courtliness personified because he could not be otherwise, felt the heat going out of his cheeks, and an earnest respect suffusing his eyes.

"Yes, Mrs. Hammond—that's just what I mean. I don't think it's an impossible combination, nor an odd one. That's why I just don't fit into this sort of thing—easily."

"That's why you haven't been here before, isn't it? And you didn't want to come, did you—Bob?"

He was appalled by her mind-reading. "No, I didn't want to come!"

He flushed, uneasy for fear she might take offense, but was quickly reassured by the frankness of her smile.

"Was it—for money?"

"Yes. To pay my board, and my tuition. It's my last year, you see. I get my degree in June. And it means everything in the world to me." Somehow he had easily and rapidly fallen into a freedom of speech with her, a comradery. That was it—she made a fellow feel companionable, at ease. He could talk to her like to his chums—or to his mother.

"What degree are you working for? Oh, wait a minute. See if I can guess!"

He was pleased. "Three chances!" he laughed.

"B. S. in Engineering. You want to be an engineer—a mining expert!"

"Someone's been telling you," he charged. "Madame Leonine!"

"No," she said quite sincerely, I guessed it honestly!"

"How?"

"Well, there are many clues that a woman like me, who has had experience in meeting all sorts and conditions of men socially—and, incidentally, despising most of them—can find. For instance, you have big hands. Good for football, and for rod and level. No good for offices, or lawyers' brief cases. Good for surgeons, but there are other things that show you're not thinking of surgery. Your eyes, to be exact. They have a faraway look. The horizon searching look. The telescopic vision peculiar to men who follow lonely professions—the sea, or exploring, or pioneering, or engineering. Then, every line of your body exudes love for the outdoors. You are essentially a man of action. Not a man who can sit cooped up under the burden of a Ph.D. or LL.D. and plan or describe the work of the rugged chaps far off on the hills. It's easy enough, Bob. You haven't the social graces of anything or anybody else than an—engineer!"

Bob chuckled excitedly. Sally and all other people and things were not in the forefront of his mind now. This facile tongued woman with the compelling, shrewd eyes was filling his immediate picture. Oblivious to everything but the absorbent nature of her personality, he leaned forward to surrender his interest unreservedly. His mental interest, that is. Somehow, strangely, his physical self still reacted from her. He said:

"I'm awfully glad to hear someone talk this way. I'm awfully glad to talk to you about these things, Mrs. Hammond—"

She quickly caught up and realized upon the boyish ingenuousness. She leaned toward him intently, with a slow smile, and said:

"You may call me—Delia. Call me that, won't you, Bob?"

A bit startled, but pleased—where ten minutes ago he would have been flustered, scared—Bob turned the suggestion and the name over in his mind. Then:

"That's a pretty name, Delia. It has a sort of Biblical sound to it!"

"Heavens, Bob," she laughed, "I hope you're not going to remind me of Delilah and Samson—and intimate a similar fate for your locks!"

"No, I never thought of that!" he blushed.

"Well, call me Delia—and I'll call you Bob."

"I'd like to Del—error—Mrs. Hammond—only it sounds kind of forward!"

"Not at all, inasmuch as it's my suggestion. And so long as we are going to be dancing together often, it would be so awkward for us to remain formal. Please don't think it merely tax manners, Bob—it's convenience, and friendship, that's what!"

"Very well, I'll be glad to!" Bob declared.

How she loved him for that boyish simplicity. Another man—any one of the young lounge lizards who infested the Palisado Inn, preying on the passion mad women, young, middling, and old, would have gushingly raved to her over the "privilege" and "honor" of being asked to call her by her first name. Bob just took it as matter of fact good fellow-ship.

"Hear!" she exclaimed suddenly, "the dance! Let's get up, and have it, Bob!"

He rose readily and led her out upon the floor. And he danced this time with less self-consciousness; reciprocating her quiet abandon to the paganism of the jazz. He was not thinking, this time, of who was watching him. He did not rouse himself, either, to glance at Sally more than two or three times—and then she seemed rather misty and remote. Unreal.

Now they were back at their table. Bob had not offered to leave Mrs. Hammond after this dance, because it seemed the natural thing to attend to her until she was seated, and then sit down across the table from her.

Madame Leonine did not come up to bother them. Madame Leonine, who was adept in reading signs in the faces of matinee ladies, knew by the cynical wisdom of her kind that the wealthy and fashionable Mrs. Hammond did not want to be bothered. Knew that Mrs Hammond was finding her thrill.

As, indeed, Mrs. Hammond was!

THREE SUBJECTS BEFORE PREBYTERY

Cadet Training, Ministers' Salaries and Presbytery Boundaries Lead.

NORHAM, April 13.—The Cobourg Presbytery of the United church of Canada is scheduled to meet in Baltimore United church on Thursday, April 21st at 10.00 a.m. Three outstanding subjects to be dealt with at the meeting are:

Cadet training in High Schools. This was widely discussed at a number of meetings last year and a diversity of opinion was disclosed.

The standardizing of ministers' salaries rests very largely with the members of Presbyteries. The General Council has recommended that a minimum stipend be $1800 with permission to deduct $200 from assessable amounts on circuits where a conveyance is necessary. The above includes a free furnished manse or parsonage and moving expenses to be paid by the charge receiving the minister. Another question of debate ever since the birth of the United church has been that of the bounds of Presbyteries.

The resolution passed some time ago by the committee appointed last fall to confer about the matter reads:

1. That there be a Lindsay Presbytery consisting of all the charges in the present Lindsay Presbytery, excepting those in the County of Peterborough, with the additions from Cobourg Presbytery of Port Perry and Scugog, making 31 charges in all.

2. That there be formed a new Presbytery to be called the Peterborough Presbytery to be called the Peterborough Presbytery, this to consist of the charges within the County of Peterborough, with the following additions from what is now a part of the Cobourg Presbytery, Cavan, Frazerville, Bethany, Millbrook, Campbellford, Seymour, Hastings, Warkworth, and Norham, 29 charges in all.

3. That there be a Cobourg Presbytery consisting of the present Cobourg Presbytery, with the above named charges transferred to the above mentioned Presbyteries, 45 charges in all.

JAPAN CRUMBLING SAYS SCIENTIST.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—The island empire of Japan will sink into the Pacific, according to Dr. Levi F. Noble, of the United States Geological Survey. But it will take 10,000 years.

Japan is slowly crumbling, according to Dr. Noble, falling off along the east coast. Periodic cataclysms such as the upheaval of 1923 are to be expected in Japan, he said.

The Afghans style themselves the Bani Israel, or Sons of Israel, and claim descent in a direct line from Saul.

Natives of Iceland sometimes beat up a moss which grows there, cook it as cake, and eat it with milk. They call it "bread from the stones."

The text in the book reproduced above is from "The Life of Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal," by Beckles Willson, Cassell & Company Limited, London.

CRAIGELLACHIE—Symbol and slogan of romance and achievement, of stubborn fight and ultimate victory.

As Sir Donald Smith, afterwards Lord Strathcona, drove the iron spike that linked the rails from Atlantic and Pacific, he symbolized the spirit of an old Scottish chieftain. The clans of the indomitable MacKenzies, McTavishes, Stuarts and McGillivrays; the Frasers, Finlaysons, McLeods and McLauchlins, with all their fighting traditions, seemed to "stand fast" behind him as his blows resounded through the solemn mountain pass.

What wonder that Great Britain's Queen that night cabled her congratulations on the completion of a work which Her Majesty regarded as "of great importance to the whole British Empire."

The task of driving this final spike was allotted to Lord Strathcona as a tribute to his faith and his loyalty to the vision of a great transcontinental railway. Had he not poured his personal wealth into the undertaking when the Government assistance had proved inadequate?

His spirit, and the ideals of those other Titans with whom he was associated, are alive today in the hearts of his successors, who likewise cherish high aspirations for the world mission of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Craigellachie, the name of the station near which the last spike was driven, is named after one of the wildest and loveliest of the glens of Scotland and "Stand fast Craig Ellachie," the historic battlecry of this clan, was the message cabled by George Stephen (Lord Mount Stephen) to his fellow directors in one of the fiancial crises of the railway's early history.

SPRING WORK NOT STARTED

Land is Too Sticky Yet for Cultivation—Fall Wheat Poor.

BURNBRAE NEWS

BURNBRAE, April 13.—Spring seems to be rather an uncertain quantity this year and local farmers are undecided about starting spring work. While a few have started plowing and are able to make a job of it, most farmers here find that the frost has not yet entirely left the soil and consequently the ground is very sticky and the horses are severely handicapped. A few days of good drying winds put a different shade on the plowed fields so that on Saturday last a number of cultivators began work. However, no rush is anticipated until the holiday week, as there is practically no growth yet.

While wheat still shows signs of life local farmers fear that both wheat and clover will be at the best but half crops unless a warm rain comes almost immediately. For the last two weeks there has been a regular routine of hard frosts and warm sunny days with, consequently, much heaving of wheat and clovplants. This sort of weather was a boon to the sugar-makers and after a not too promising start the crop of maple syrup proved one of the heaviest in recent years.

Cheese Factories Open.

Cheese factories are again swinging into action as the flow of milk increases with more cows freshening. Rylstone factory opened on Thursday and Prince of Wales gets under way early this week. Some of the others will be right behind. While there is nothing definite as to the cheese market yet it is thought that fair prices will rule for the start. Creameries have been paying high figures for churning cream as the butter market seems very strong, and a good many farmers will continue to turn the separators for a few weeks after the factories open.

PRESIDENT VISITS HAVELOCK LODGE

Head of Rebekah Assembly Pays Official Visit.

HAVELOCK, April 18.—The official visit of the president of the Assembly of Ontario, Sister E. Brett of Windsor, was the special feature of the regular meeting of the local Dorcas Rebekah Lodge on Thursday evening, April 7. The Havelock Lodge was also delighted to have as guests: District Deputy President Sister L. Fuller, Past President Sister M. Watt and other officers of the Golden Link Rebekah Lodge of Peterborough, Past Noble Grand Sister J. White of Toronto, and Noble Grand Sister Milliken of Perth.

The President of the Assembly of Ontario, Sister Brett, in the course of her address, congratulated the local officers for the splendid delivery of their charges, especially commending Past Noble Grand Sister M. Sexsmith for having committed entirely to memory the oral part of her work, which was long and tedious to memorize. She also commended the work of the present Noble Grand, Sister Easterbrook, and asked for the co-operation of the members with this officer, who is untiring in her efforts to make the local Dorcas Rebekah Lodge a success.

District Deputy President Fuller also addressed the meeting, expressing satisfaction with the work.

Noble Grand Sister Milliken expressed approval of the entire work being done without the use of the ritual, which she considered a decided improvement.

At the conclusion of the speeches Sister Brett was presented with a silver sugar and cream set and a bouquet of carnations, and Sister Fuller with a silver nut bowl and bouquet of carnations as a memento of their visit to Havelock. The presentations were made on behalf of the Lodge by Sister M. Williams and Sister S. Campney respectively.

Both Sister Brett and Sister Fuller made suitable replies, thanking the Lodge for the gifts.

After the business of the evening had been concluded a sumptuous repast was served in the dining-room.

The music throughout the evening was played by Sister Minnie Williams.

LEAGUE MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Devotional Department in Charge of Service at Zion.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Apr. 12.—The convenor of the devotional and religious fellowship department, Mr. Thomas Fry, was in charge of the regular league service at Zion on Thursday evening with Gerald Barnum as leader. With over sixty in attendance, the Whites further increased their lead in the contest, having nineteen present with a total of thirty-five points. The meeting opened with a rousing song service conducted by the president, Mr. Fred Barnum. The programme consisted of a devotional talk by Mr. Fry, readings by Mrs. Fred Barnum and George Brunton, and the topic by Rev. Mr. Daniel on the organization and aims of the United church. Conducted as an informal talk, this topic proved most interesting and several members passed opinions on the duties of the church in spreading the gospel at home and abroad and being of service to all within the community. The organization of the church is designed to meet all these needs. There will be no league service next week on account of the annual congregational meeting being held on Thursday evening.

The local Dramatic Club will present the play, "Dust of the Earth," in Hastings in the near future. A number from that place were in attendance when the play was given here and were greatly pleased with it.

EASTER SATURDAY NEXT, APRIL 16TH.

In the past the City and District has supported this cause whole heartedly, and on Saturday it is the wish of those in charge that you be as liberal in your response as circumstances will permit.

The need of an organization such as the Peterborough Humane Society is very apparent, and to carry on the work which the officers do gatuitiously it is necessary that funds be collected in the manner in which it will be done on Tag Day or Violet Day, Saturday next.

Underwriters' Inspector Satisfied With Performance of Engines.

Testing the water pressure of the city's old engine and of the new pumper, the underwriters' inspector expressed himself as satisfied with the showing of both. Under a net pressure of ninety-five pounds, the old engine discharged an average of 735 gallons for half an hour.

Under a net pressure of one hundred and twenty-five pounds the new pump discharged 940 gallons for the same length of time.

J. J. TURNER SPEAKS.

Gives Address To King George Home and School Association.

An open meeting of the King George Home and School Association was held last evening in the kindergarten room, when a very interesting address was given by J. J. Turner, on "Cotton," in a description of its various usages from the time of its discovery to modern days, also outlining various methods of manufacture, weights and values.

A musical programme included a guitar and mouth organ duet by the Misses Naish and Cranham, vocal solos by Mrs. Davies and Phyllis Rome, a vocal duet by the Misses T. Foster and A. Somerfield, a piano solo by Marion Jaquith, an auto harp selection by J. Forbes, and a reading by Velma Scott.

During the business session of the meeting, arrangements were made to have one of the teachers take a group of fifteen or twenty of the boys to spend a week at a cottage on Rice Lake, some time in May.

It was also decided to co-operate with the Quee Alexandra Home and School Association in sending a delegate to the annual meeting of the Home and School Council in Toronto in May, each society to pay one-half of the delegate's expenses.

SKYSCRAPER FIRE HARD TO FIGHT

Many Engines Needed To Pump Water To 38th Story.

NEW HOTEL BUILDING.

NEW YORK, April 13.— Watched by hundreds of persons in Central Park and at windows of the Plaza Hotel and other buildings in the vicinity, firemen last night were at the difficult task of fighting a spectacular blaze in the thirty-eighth storey of the new hotel Netherland, under construction at the north-east corner of 59th street and Fifth avenue.

Three alarms had been sounded at 8.30 o'clock and the firemen were making little headway against the blaze, above which floated, whipped by a north-east wind, a huge flag, illuminated by the leaping flames.

Traffic was diverted from 59th street and Fifth avenue to 57th street and Sixth and Madison avenues. Scores of firemen were being carried to the lofty blaze on the steam and electric hoists used by workmen, elevators not yet having been installed. Sparks were carried for blocks, into the shrubbery of Central Park and to the roofs of many clubs and homes of the wealthy in the neighborhood. Across the street is the Metropolitan church, members of which watched the firemen work.

Flames were roaring in a supply of lumber and wooden framework on the thirty-eighth floor of the structure, which, when completed, will be of forty-four stories. By "Siameasing" engines, the fire fighters succeeded in forcing streams up through the standpipes to the firemen who were straddling girders and perching on perilous points.

Reserves from four precincts were maintaining fire lines four blocks away. The glare of flames were lighting the upper east side for a large area. The origin of the fire was not determined.

The casualties were mostly among Communists. The general strike called by the Red Labor unions as protests against the raids has rendered nearly a hundred thousand workers idle. General Pai Tsung Chi, Cantonese Commander here, issued an official proclamation dissolving the General Labor Union.

Pickets Attack Soldiers.

SHANGHAI, April 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Twenty pickets of the Shanghai General Labor Union were killed this morning when they attacked the headquarters of General Chiang Kai Shek's Cantonese troops in the Chapei district, north of the International Settlement. The attackers were apparently angered by Chang's raids on Red labor unions yesterday.

The attack followed a procession through the district, the troops firing on the Laborites.

HOW TO REDUCE VARICOSE VEINS

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will help reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic cases of Piles are often entirely absorbed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. Bond's Drug Store, McDermid Co., Ltd., and McDermid & Jury sells lots of it.

FASHION HINTS

Colors for Spring which are meeting with most approval are black and navy blue. Navy blue, after seasons of oblivion is returning full blast. Back and white magpie effects are well represented. Next in importance to black and navy, shades of beige rule. Beige coats are particularly numerous. A pinkish beige, almost a complexion shade is very well liked for dress purposes owing to it's flattering qualities. Grays, brighter blues, blues, light greens, rose and off-pink shades follow in preference where coats, suits and gowns are concerned.

Plaid coats made on straight lines are well liked for sports wear this season. As a rule they are trimmed with collars of black or black and white monkey fur. Monkey fur will be generously used on both cloth and silk coats this Spring. Perhaps it has never had a greater vogue.

Have you seen the new bracelet frocks? The fad for wearing ten or twelve bracelets on one arm has been utilized by gown manufacturers this season and numerous bracelets of bangle type are sewn to the underseam of the sleeve of the gown. So far, we have seen bracelets used only on semi-sports frocks. For instance, a light green jumper frock has ten of these gold bangle bracelets attached to the seam of the left arm. Bracelets are attached about a quarter of an inch apart being sewn to the sleeve with heavy silk thread

Many frocks which seem to be in two pieces are actually in one this season a

The Frock of Two Materials is Smart This Season

This chic little frock is very modish. The skirt, having an inverted plait at each side and a box-plait at front and back, is joined to the bodice over which is arranged a band of contrasting material, the same being repeated in the binding on the square neck, bands on the long sleeves, cuffs on the short sleeves, and the chic bow at the neck. NO. 1566 is in sizes 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 8 requires 2¼ yards 36-inch material, or 1¾ yards 54-inch, and ¾ yard 36-inch contrasting. Price 20 cents the pattern.

Home sewing brings nice clothes within the reach of all, and to follow the mode is delightful when it can be done so easily and economically, by following the styles pictured in our new Fashion Book. A chart accompanying each pattern shows the material as it appears when cut out. Every detail is explained so that the inexperienced sewer can make without difficulty an attractive dress. SAINT and SINNER

"Go right on, Mr. Ettleson. You boarded the train?" Banning prompted.

"Sure. We was in our drawing room fifteen minutes before time for the train to pull out."

"Then what happened, Mr. Ettleson?" Banning encouraged him.

"Well, about two minutes before the train was due to leave, we was interrupted by a banging on the door, and before I opened it I got my automatic pistol out of my bag—"

"You were afraid of trouble, Mr. Ettleson?" Banning suggested.

"Yeah, under the circumstances," Ettleson conceded with a knowing smile. "I thought her family might try to make trouble for me. Well, I opened the door, and there stood Miss Faith Lane—"

"You recognized Miss Lane?" Banning asked. "Do you see her now?"

"Yeah, there she sits on the left of the—the defendant." Ettleson had the grace to stumble over the word.

Faith ushed darkly, but her eyes, regarding him with steady scorn, did not falter.

"Anyone else with her, Ettleson?"

"A chap that Cherry called Bob—Bob Hathaway," Ettleson stated. "There he sits right behind Miss Faith Lane."

"All right, Ettleson. What happened?"

"Well, this Hathaway chap lit into me as if I'd been a dog, called me dirty names—"

"Such as?" Banning prompted.

"He called me a damned fool and a fat swine, and other names like that," Ettleson lowered. "We had quite a little argument and Hathaway took my gun away from me, and then Miss Faith and Hathaway took the girl and her bags and got off the train. That's the last time I've seen Cherry until today."

"Just one more question, Mr. Ettleson. Did this defendant return the money you had sent her?"

"She didn't. She had spent it on clothes," Ettleson grinned.

"That is all, Mr. Ettleson. Your witness, Churchill."

But Banning must have realized that his witness had suppressed a great deal of the truth, for he walked up and down nervously as he waited for Churchill to plunge heatedly into his cross-examination.

"Ettleson," Churchill began with scorn sharpening his voice, "was this defendant, Cherry Lane Wiley, your mistress at any time before or during the Darrow episode?"

Cherry gasped and Faith's flushed face went suddenly deathly white.

Ettleson's florid color deepened and one forefinger scratched nervously at his short black mustache. "No, sir."

Churchill succeeded in having the judge rule out the last part of Ettleson's answer, but it was easy to see that the defense lawyer was immensely pleased with the first half of that answer.

"Now, Ettleson, I want to ask you if Miss Cherry knew before she boarded that train for New York that you had engaged only a drawing room for the two of you."

"I—I don't know. She didn't ask," Ettleson answered sullenly.

"Isn't it true, Ettleson, that Cherry tried to escape from that drawing room when she knew that you were to occupy it with her, and that you locked the door?"

Banning's objection was overruled, and the witness was compelled to answer. "Yeah, I locked the door. She'd taken my money and she knew what I wanted—"

"That will do, Ettleson. Confine yourself to direct answers of my questions," Churchill snarled at him. 'Now, Ettleson, I want you to tell us just a little more about what took place between you and this defendant before her sister an Mr. Hathaway arrived on the scene to rescue her."

"I—I tried to make her be good to me," Ettleson growled, and he had the grace to flush more deeply and drop his eyes.

"And she resisted your advances?" Churchill persisted triumphantly.

"She fought like a wildcat," Ettleson admitted sullenly, to the amazement of everyone in the courtroom.

Through the tense stillness Cherry's wild weeping broke suddenly, and reporters noted that three men in the jury wiped their eyes of sympathetic tears. Banning's precious witness was proving a boomerang.

Churchill left the witness, Albert Ettleson, for a moment, to lean compassionately over the weeping prisoner, his hand patting her shaking little shoulder with fatherly solicitude. Then he whirled with furious anger upon the deflated, squirming traveling salesman, and shot a question at him:

"Ettleson, did you not admit to Mr. Hathaway and to Miss Faith Lane while they were in the drawing room of the Pullman that you had promised to marry Miss Cherry as soon as a divorce could be arranged?"

Over Banning's heated objection, the judge ruled that Ettleson was to answer.

"I—I did say something like that—yes," he admitted.

"And Ettleson, isn't it true that you were lying? That you had no intention of divorcing your wife to marry this innocent girl that you were planning, with all the wiles of an experienced man of the world, to seduce?"

"I—I—" Ettleson's hunted eyes roved wildly about the courtroom, then settled for a terrified moment upon a slight figure that hovered near the door. Mrs. Ettleson had just been admitted as a spectator of her husband's shame upon the witness stand. The philanderer was caught between the horns of a dilemma. If he replied that he had intended to divorce his wife and marry Cherry, his wife would probably leave him, and if he denied that such had been his intention, he would brand himself as a liar and an unspeakable cad.

"Answer the question, Ettleson!" Churchill commanded him sternly.

"I—I was lying," Ettleson muttered. "But Cherry ought known I didn't mean—"

"That will do, Ettleson," Churchill shouted at him. "Now Ettleson," he went on with his cross-examination, "is it not true that you whined to Hathaway that Cherry had 'pulled the I'm-a-good-girl' line and threw a fit when she found you had taken a drawing room for the two of you? Aren't those practically your exact words to Hathaway when he forced his way into the drawing room with this child's sister to rescue her from you?"

"Yes," Ettleson admitted, before the judge had had time to listen to Banning's objections.

"Now, Ettleson, is it not also true that Cherry Lane was trying her best, small and weak though she is, to escape you when her sister and Mr. Hathaway came to her assistance?"

"I told you she was a cheater, played me for a sucker," Ettleson admitted sullenly.

"Answer the question, Ettleson. And, your Honor, I ask that the witness' first answer be stricken from the record."

After the judge had so ruled, Ettleson answered sullenly, "Yes."

"That is all, Ettleson," Churchill flicked the dismissal at the deflated, squirming witness contemptuously.

Banning made sorry work of the rebuttal.

"Now, Ettleson, I will ask if you knew anything of this defendant's reputation, anything which would lead you to act as you did?" Banning asked.

Churchill's objection, on the ground that the witness' answer would be hearsay evidence, was sustained, and Albert Ettleson was dismissed.

"Call Henry Brown," Banning instructed the court crier.

When a grinning, uneasy colored boy took the oath, Faith recognized the Pullman porter who had shown her and Bob to the drawing-room occupied by Ettleson and Cherry.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Collar and cuffs of small wooden beads in two shades of blue are shown in the circle. They are attached to a spring frock of blue crepe de chine. The bracelet below the circle is made of carved wooden plaques, and the long neck chain is made of plain and carved green wooden beads.

In the window of an expensive jewelry shop where diamonds and emeralds and rubies glisten in chaste platinum settings there is a little collection of bracelets in a prominent position. These bracelets are bangles about as big around as a slender little finger in lovely shades of brown and over them is an inconspicuous little sign announcing the fact that they cost but a dollar each. Women who would never thiffk of buying bijouterie at a shop so noted for its fine wares and high prices have gone in to buy one of those charming little bracelets, but just as many have been bought by women who might if they chose wear diamonds and emeralds and rubies. So far as intrinsic value goes they are worth no more, but to the woman seeking something "just right" to go with a new brown or beige costume they are priceless.

Wooden jewelry—if you can speak of anything wooden as being jewelry—is enjoying a decided vogue, but it has not become so popular as to be commonplace. One of the prominent French dressmakers has used bracelets of wooden beads in lieu of cuffs on some of her new frocks, and links of wood also form collars to add to some of these frocks.

Bracelets are even more fashionable than ever and well-dressed women no longer confine themselves to slave bracelets of gold, jade, onyx and other stones. Among some of the new frocks there are sleeves trimmed with bracelets. A half dozen silver or gold bracelets are clasped around the wrist to look like cuffs on some of the new frocks. In Paris at present there is a decided vogue for bracelets and necklaces of fine Bohemian beads that look like diamonds or emeralds or other colored stones. They are strung on white cord—or preferably on fine silver chain—and are considered the appropriate ornament to wear with plain little georgette or satin day-time frocks.

Since snakeskin is still so popular it is not strange that gold bracelets and necklets of snake formation have been revived.

If you are planning to take advantage of low spring and summer prices at the furriers' you may be interested to know that the short fur coat is coming back into fashion. Most of these short coats are made in wrist length, the thinner furs being used. Burunduki, broadtail, sheared lamb are among the furs often used for this purpose.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1927

Good and evil aspects contend today, according to astrology. Early in the morning benefic stars have influence, but the busiest hours are not well directed by the stars.

Trade and commerce may be affected at this time by uncertainties that merely preface a period of extreme profit and activity.

Certain lines of manufacture may be pushed with vigor before midsummer, and our ships will carry the products overseas in quantities not transported since the end of the World War.

President Coolidge and members of his cabinet now come under a rule making for continued filth in their statesmanship and increase in public confidence.

Honesty and straightforwardness may be looked forward to in business transactions under this direction of the stars.

Men may be expected to be frank with their wives and women probably will be inclined to avoid small deceits.

This is read as not a favorable planetary government for big financial transactions and the rule may affect the stock market.

Again immense fortunes are to be made rapidly in the United States and new millionaires are to multiply.

Women are well guided under this configuration which foreshadows success in certain important public movements.

One of the peculiar signs of the times will be much feminine interest in the lower animals at a time when man, the highest animal, is in greatest peril, owing to wars and threatening troubles of various sorts.

There is an encouraging sign for love affairs today, which will be auspicious for engagements to marry, for women will assume the initiative.

Weddings today should be fairly fortunate for, while there may be a tendency toward dissension there should be progress and prosperity.

Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid all temptation to speculate. This is a year when it will be wise to listen to advice from women.

Children born on this day may have an embarrassment of talents. Early marriage in which there is a practical life partner will go far toward assuring success.

Wild Raspberries

from Muskoka give McLaren's INVINCIBLE Jelly that Matchless Flavor!

"DIFFERENT", "Distinctive", "Subtle", "Zestful". Delighted women use these and kindred words to express their opinions of McLaren's "Invincible" Raspberry Jelly. Invariably, too, other members of the family detect the natural, "real fruit" tang and marvel at the fullness of the flavor.

The explanation lies in the addition of the actual juice of Muskoka wild raspberries to just enough highly-refined gelatine to assure that tender consistency that is another "proof of quality" in McLaren's "Invincible" Jelly. These luscious wild raspberries are crushed while dewy fresh and are sugar-sweetened, so that you get the full benefit of their well-known, enticing flavor.

By the same distinctive process, the actual juices of choice fresh strawberries, cherries, pineapples, grapes and currants are made the foundation flavors for other "Invincible" Jellies.

Good grocers everywhere have

Say "INVINCIBLE" when buying to be sure of getting the jelly with the wild raspberry flavor. Also specify "Invincible" when ordering:

BOY SCOUT NEWS

FOURTH PETERBOROUGH TROOP

Last Thursday night's troop meeting of the 4th Peterborough Troop of Boy Scouts will be one that will be remembered for some time to come. Two scouts, Harold Chadwick, of the Owl Patrol, and Leslie Welch, Patrol Leader of the Crow Patrol, were presented with cloth badges, signifying they had passed the requirements for the Second Class Badge.

What is a Second Class Badge? Well, it means that after a recruit has successfully passed a few tests on knots, signs, uses of a scout staff, knowledge of our Union Jack, scout salute, the meaning of the scout law and promise, he is invested into a troop, and is known as a Tenderfoot scout.

Then comes the Second Class tests, for no real, live scout wants to remain a Tenderfoot. The tests for this badge are much harder to pass, and to know everything thoroughly, it should at least take six months steady practice and study.

The first requirement is one month's service as a Tenderfoot, but it really means more advanced Tenderfoot work, such as having a knowledge of the history of some other country's flag knowing the uses and how to tie a half a dozen more knots, also a few more trail signs.

The second requirement is to have an elementary knowledge of first aid, such as the rules of a first aider, how to avoid infection, bleeding and tourniquets, triangular bandaging, also how to carry a patient, etc.

The third test is to know the semaphore or Morse sign for every letter in the alphabet and for the numerals. A scout must be able to read short sentences for this test also.

The fourth test is to develop the habit of observation in the boy, to teach him to keep his eyes open and to develop his memory for he must follow a track of signs, boot marks, etc., half a mile in twenty-five minutes' time, or remember sixteen out of twenty-four well assorted small articles, after one minutes' observation.

Fifth, a scout must go a mile in twelve minutes at Scout's Pace." This is a test in judging distance by time, not an athletic feat. The sixth requirement is to lay and light a wood fire in the open, using not more than two matches. No paper or birch bark to be used. This test has to be passed a number of times as well as the cooking test which follows, which is to cook a quarter of a pound of meat and two potatoes in the open, over a campfire.

Last of all he must know the sixteen principal points of the compass, also learn how to set a map.

With the presentation of these badges to Scouts Chadwick and Welch, went the troop's earnest appreciation by giving them three hearty cheers and a tiger, that made the roof creak.

Mr. T. Anderson has purchased a new car.

Mrs. Ellen Christie returned home on Monday from a month's visit to her son in Toronto.

JUBILEE PREPARATIONS

Several delayed communications have come to hand, giving names of representatives from organizations. These nominations had been taken care of and assignments made. Thomas McMurray, of the Trades and Labor Council, is on the Sports Committees. Mrs. Bugg will be on the Music Committee, representing the Women's Voice Choir.

The Booths and Grounds Committee came together on the evening of April 5, and elected Mr. T. Brown as Chairman. A very encouraging report comes in from this committee that all details will be taken care of, and it asks for a meeting of the General Committee to consider suggestions as to lighting, etc. Also, if there will be one or two nights' entertainment.

The Committee on Community Dancing met, and having large confidence in the abilities as an organizer of A. J. Reynolds, elected him Chairman. Mr. Reynolds is also on the Parade and Procession Committee, but can no doubt arrange to function on both activities.

The Evening Sports Committee has selected J. R. Corkery as Chairman, and is awaiting instructions from the Executive Committee before getting to work to map out a programme.

Although only received yesterday Paul Manning was nominated to represent the local Engineering Club, and to assist in doing all things proper. Though not in a structural sense, there will be considerable engineering to do Mr. Manning should find himself right in the swim. Others would use the term "running" or "tooling things," but engineering is a much nicer way of putting it.

The Secretary of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I. O. D. E. advises that Mrs. J. K. Hughes, of 512 Weller street was named as representative of the above organization. A good selection.

It is advised that at an early date the various arms of the Peterborough Garrison will get together for the purpose of discussing the important part that the Militia will take in the procession.

Thursday afternoon a meeting of the Women's Council, was called to confer with a Mr. Kenogg, whose company is putting on pageants at several points in Ontario. Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Mowat, Mrs. Munro and Miss Hamilton heard what would be proposed in the way of such a feature. And on Tuesday next, a Toronto man will meet the Committee of the Council, to make other propositions. A fee will be asked for the production of such a pageant, those locally interested to see that music, lights, stands, backgrounds, etc. to be supplied, as required. It is stipulated that the pageant would be put on in the evening, as the scenic effects are much more attractive than if given under the blazing sunlight. If this were accepted and carried out, it would leave the afternoons open for the sports and other attractions before the grand stand.

A cheerfully cheerful letter comes to hand saying that the Kiwanis Club will be very glad to give every assistance in its power to the General Committee to make the Day one of the biggest in the history of Peterborough. That is the right spirit, just what was expected from Kiwanis. With Rotary having sent in a manifesto expressing similar intentions, both Clubs will be asked to take up with the General Committee things that may prove to be features of the procession, or in connection with other attractions of the day.

It is expected that as the arrangements for the demonstration develop that other groups will catch fire and begin to devise and plan for a share. All will be welcome. The grand aggregate of the Day will be made up of units, each doing their best to excel and interest. The city looks for a larger amount of unpaid and freely given work than has ever before been manifested. It is said that this is the young man's period. So let the young man get to work and give evidence of interest, ingenuity, helpfulness and willingness to catch hold and lift. As it is the women, to a man, are coming forward with offers of help.

SOO IN TROUBLE OVER TROLLEYS

Street Car Company Must Make Next Move Says Council.

FRANCHISE RENEWED.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Apr. 13. — The Soo's transportation facilities are causing the City Council considerable worry, and it is evident that that body will take action immediately unless the charter of the company is renewed.

As the situation now stands, the transit company must come to the city with a proposition. The city followed out the terms of the old agreement by granting a renewal of the franchise to the company under the same conditions as the old one. The city had the alternative of granting the renewal or taking over the street railway at a price to be determined by arbitration.

A firm of wine merchants still doing business in London was established in 1667 and its ledgers date back in unbroken sequence to 1699.

RADIO INSPECTOR TELLS EXPERIENCE

Department Inspector Gives Address To Radio Club.

Many questions were asked regarding possible radio interference, and these were fully and clearly explained by Inspector R. S. McWatters of the Department of Marine and Fisheries (Radio Branch) when he spoke to the Peterboro Radio Club at its meeting last night.

Mr. McWatters is at present on tour in this district, investigating interference complaints. He has with him an up to date car fitted with apparatus for this work.

Lantern slides were shown by the speaker, illustrating many instances which causes discomfort among broadcast listeners.

According to those present much noise is being heard over their sets, and the inspector offered to deal with as many complaints as possible during his stay here. He intimated that as this newly found endeavor of the Radio branch is self-sustaining, and depends solely upon the revenue from licenses purchased to carry on further its work, many more licenses would have to be purchased than than hitherto. In some localities prosecutions have followed the neglect, and good results have been obtained.

When one considers the work these men are doing, and the service rendered, the price of a license is not burdensome.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Harry Huffman and responded to by all present.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Men have spent large portions of their lives in perfecting a single piece of furniture. The famous cabinet of Louis XIV, which is nearly twenty feet long and contains 687 drawers, 130 of which are secret, is said to have taken its maker seventeen years to construct.

Parents Enjoy Programme at Queen Mary Home and School Meeting.

An open meeting of the Queen Mary Home and School Association was held last evening in the kindergarten rooms. After the usual routine business had been transacted, a very interesting programme was presented by the pupils under the tuition of the teachers.

The splendid way in which the programme was given showed the time and interest taken by the teachers in training the children, special mention being made of the orchestra, which exhibited exceptional musical ability. The ladies of the society were very much pleased at the interest shown by the parents, every available seat being occupied, while many were unable to secure standing room.

The programme, which was announced by the president, Mrs. C. R. Banks, in the chair, opened with a selection by the orchestra, composed of pupils from the Senior Fourth "A" room. This was followed by a chorus given by five pupils from Miss Thomas' class, a chorus, "How to be Healthy and Happy," by the "Queen Mary Helpers," a branch of the junior Red Cross Society, from Miss Mackey's room; a recitation, "How the Stars were made," as told in a child's own words, by Gladys Gilbert, from Mrs. Goodwill's class; a chorus, "Children of Holland," by pupils of Miss Kearns and Miss Stubbs; a selection by the orchestra; a reading by Keith Jackson; a chorus "Catch the Sunshine," by children from the classes taught by Miss Madill and Miss Stenton; a drill by Junior Fourth pupils, taught by Miss McNaught and Mrs. Craig; a piano duet by pupils of Mr. Wagar, Aileen Beach and Ruby Jackson, and a selection by the orchestra.

The banner competition was won by Miss Madill's rooms.

The Apex Electrophonic

—interprets the very soul of music

THAT which others are now attempting has been already accomplished in the APEX ELECTROPHONIC. It brings out in every instance all that is in the record—all the individualism of the vocalist or the instrumentalist—all the true tonal qualities without exaggeration, distortion or blatancy. Every note—half note—even the most subtle tone inflection is reproduced with absolute fidelity.

The Apex Electrophonic is new. There is nothing with which to compare it except the performance of the artists themselves.

Advance At New York Despite Selling Flurries

NEW YORK, April 13 (Canadian Press).—Speculators for the advance continued in control of the price movement in to-day's Stock Market, despite frequent flurries of selling in various groups. The advance took place in face of several unfavorable trade developments, such as the decline in freight car loadings, reported slackening in the production of and demand for steel, and a further downward readjustment of crude oil prices and the retention of relatively stiff call money rates. Numerous gains of two to ten points were partially offset by a few new weak spots. Superior, Otis and Midland Steel Products Preferred recorded sharp gains. Rails were relatively quiet, although moderate gains were recorded by Southern Railway, Louisville and Nashville, and Denver and Rio Grande Western Preferred. Oils experienced a sinking spell during the morning, but rallied again in the afternoon. Amusement shares were bid up briskly at the expense of an overcrowded short interest. Baldwin and Timken were prominent in the rise of the equipments.

Corn Reaches Lowest Price Dragging Down Other Grain

CHICAGO, April 13 (Canadian Press).—Corn dropped to-day to the lowest price which May and July deliveries have reached yet this season. Wheat, oats and provisions weakened also, being affected by sympathy with corn. Talk was current that the Armour Grain Company difficulties might result in bringing about heavy deliveries of corn on May contracts.

Opening at 3-8 cent decline to ¾c advance, corn receded all around. Wheat started unchanged to half a cent up and later showed losses.

Chicago opening: Wheat, May 132 3-4, July 127 7-8; corn, May 70½, July 76; oats, May 43 1-8, July 43 3-4.

Mining Corporation Up; Canadian Lorraine Falls

TORONTO, April 13 (Canadian Press) — A firmer feeling was in evidence in the trading on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day. Mining Corporation led the upward movement with a gain of 17 cents to 3.65. Dome Mines was stronger and advanced 15 cents to 8.40. McIntyre was up 15 cents to 25.05, Wright Hargreaves six to 10.98, and Bremier five to 2.15. Hollinger dropped five to $20.70 and Amulet three to 1.15. Lake Shore was stronger to 19.49, up 34 cents. Canadian Lorraine was a weak spot, declining 5 1-2 cents to 22 1-2. Central Manitoba Gold moved up two to 1.22.

Nickel Weak At Toronto; Drops On Profit Taking

TORONTO, April 13. Canadian Press. — Heavy profit taking in International Nickel featured the market on the Toronto stock exchange to-day. Nickel was again the most active issue to figure in the trading, and it was also a weak spot, selling down to 53 3-8, a decline of 1-8. Cosmos Imperial Milling was a strong and active feature. It sold up 1 1-4 points to 25 1-4. The preferred was up 1 to 97. Canadain Oil scored the widest gain of the day with an advance of 4 5-8 to 135. British Columbia Fishing declined 1 3-8 to 85 5-8. Industrial Alcohol was prominent in the transactions and gained 1-4 to 29. Massey-Harris was off 1-2 to 33. King Edward Hotel moved up one to 55. Seagram eased 1-8 to 24 1-4. British American oil featured the unlisted section with an advance of 1 3-8 to 27 7-8, in a large turnover. Walker was in demand and gained 2 points to 46 3-4. G. and W. was firm and unchanged at 60.

EASTER MEETING.

St. Andrew's W. M. S. Had Very Large Attendance Yesterday.

The Easter offering meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S., was held on Tuesday afternoon with an unusually large attendance. Mrs. J. W. Gordon, the newly elected president, was in the chair.

The meeting opened with the usual devotional exercises, followed by a short business session.

Responsive reading of the Easter message was in charge of Mrs. W. F. Nelson. Mrs. H. F. Doig contributed a beautiful vocal solo, "Nailed to the Cross," so appropriate to the Easter season.

The principal feature of the meeting was an address by Mrs. Longle, a returned missionary from West China, who brought a wonderful message of love and labor from the Orient.

The speaker told of the very pathetic side of the life of the unchristianized Chinese and of the love and patience required to win them for Christ. She also expressed her ideas of the circumstances leading up to the present situation in China. Mrs. Longley is a woman of charming personality and a tr missionary in every sense, and it was a privilege and pleasure to hear her. Miss Lancaster pronounced the closing prayer after which a social time was spent.

CAN RISK SEEDS FOR EARLY CROP

Gardner Loses Little if Frost Kills Two or Three Early Rows.

GAIN IF THEY GROW.

Vegetable seeds cost but a few cents It is a good plan to plant a few short rows of hardy varieties, such as spinach, radish, lettuce, carrots, and beets as soon as possible. If they come through, a considerable gain has been secured in earliness; if frost cuts them down, the loss is really trivial.

The Lawn.

Lawn work should be done early. This is the only time of year to use a rolled on the ordinary plot of grass. Later on it does more harm than good. A good rolling in the spring, however, is of great value, as it firms the earth, pushes the plants back into the soil, and smooths out uneven places. A roller is a fairly expensive implement, but one can usually be rented from the nearest hardware store or two or three neighbours can club together to make a purchase It is also a good plan at this time to go over the lawn with a rake. Wherever patches of bare ground are showing the soil should be loosened with the rake and grass seed sown thickly. Cover these re-seeded spots with a piece of poultry netting or rough trellis work to keep away the sparrows. It is also advisable to feed the grass with a good fertilizer early in the spring. Many experts advocate pulverized sheep manure, although the claim is sometimes made that this introduces weed seeds. An application of nitrate of soda; one ounce dissolved in a gallon of water and sprinkled with the ordinary watering can is sufficinent for four square yards, will give the lawn a good start and the grass that dark green color which is so desirable. Repeat every ten days early in the season. It is very important to keep the sward in healthy condition as vigorously growing grass will crowd out most weeds.

Include Marigolds.

Not only do marigolds make a wonderful showing during the early summer and in the fall, but they will bloom right through the hottest weather in August, when many of the other plants droop and wither. They require very little care when once established, only asking the gardener to remove all fading bloom. It is a very useful family of flowers, easily grown and a whole garden could be planted with it alone. The different varieties of marigolds range from six inches to four feet or more in height and run the entire scale of yellows, from sulphur to the richest oranges, and in addition have wonderful velvety shades of scarlet, maroon, crimson, mahogany and brown in the French section. Most imposing, perhaps, are the tall African sorts. These grow rapidly, making fine well-branched plants after the first terminal bloom has appeared, and produce a succession of huge balls four and five inches in diameter, until a killing frost. They need staking, as they become top-heavy. The African marigolds should be planted well back in the border, or will make a very suitable hedge for dividing lawns. The French are more ornamental from the individual flower standpoint and can be procured in a wide range of sizes. There is also an English marigold known also as the calendula or pot marigold. This has pretty, thick foliage, grows about 8 inches high, is an everlasting bloomer from early summer until fall, and, when once established, will seed itself every spring. All the marigolds may be sown just as soon as the ground is ready or can be planted indoors and transplanted.

Beets and Carrots.

No garden is complete without a few rows of those old standbys, beets and carrots. These may be had in a variety of styles to suit different purposes. Thus for canning the small round beets are considered the best and for early baby corrots the shorter types of this vegetable are advisable. Both can be sown just as soon as the ground is ready, and further plantings for later use put in at intervals of two weeks up to the 1st of July. They should be sown in rows from twelve to sixteen inches apart and about one inch apart in the row. When the plants are up well, thin to three inches apart, and later take out very other one of these for early use; the beets for greens or pickling and the carrots to be used in the ordinary way, soaking the seed over night before planting will hasten germination. In planting, do not cover with more than about one-half inch of soil. The later plantings can often follow such early crops as lettuce, spinach and radishes.

Just as soon as the water clears away, get the sweet peas in. Plant them in a shallow trench.

Heavy clay soils can be loosened up by heavy applications of strawy manure and the digging in of a few ashes and plenty of garden refuse.

Most gardens, especially those which receive heavy applications of commercial fertilizers every year, should be sweetened up with a dose of hydrated lime. About one pound to every two square yards is sufficient.

MARCONI LIKELY TO BE RELEASED

Rota Considers Application For Annulment of Marriage.

ROME, April 13.—(Canadian Press.)—The proceedings for nullification of the marriage of William Marconi, wireless inventor, and the Hon. Beatrice O'Brien, daughter of the fourteenth Baron Inchiquin, were considered by the Rota, or Ecclesiastical Court, at a meeting yesterday. The sentence is expected to be pronounced within a few weeks.

Proceedings thus far have caused the belief to be expressed that the annulment will be granted.

The cause presented for nullification of the marriage lies in a condition established before the marriage of the Marconis in 1905, that they could separate whenever they wished.

Pair Of Black Horses Live Together 18 Years

The little village of Warkworth, nestling among the hills that surround it on every side, has a pair of horses whose owner, John O'Shea, values more, perhaps, than any of his other possessions. They are a pair of blacks which may be seen almost any day doing a certain amount of leisurely drawing on the village streets. Occasionally, they break into a modified form of prance, just to vary their ordinary walking gait and do it always in unison. The two, who are full sisters, have never been separated a day since birth. They work always together and spend the night together in a double stall. Even when driving a light buggy, their owner hitches up the pair, for the one left behind on solitary occasions when its mate was taken out of the stable always appears to be heart-broken. The pair were formerly the property of Sam Clarke, ex-M.P., of Cobourg, and everyone who has been the two devoted beasts together hopes that they will never be parted. They are eighteen years old.

A number of strong boxes, which the late ex-Sultan Mahmud VI. left behind when he fled in exile from Turkey have been opened in the presence of Government officials, and found to contain jewels worth $150,000.

Terry of Giants Poles First Homer in Nationals

LAST YEAR CHAMPS DEFEATED BY CUBS IN OPENING BATTLE

Hero of 1926 Series Driven From the Mound in Third.

ALLOWS FIVE RUNS.

Packed Park Watch Chicago's New Mayor Throw Sphere Into Action.

NEW YORK, April 13 (Canadian Press) — The St. Louis Cardinals, world's champions of yester year, were snowed under when they met the Cubs in Chicago for their first regular scheduled, and so on, National League of the season. The score was 10 to 1, Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran hero of the championship series of 1926, was driven from the mound in the third when the Cubs got five runs, and Earl Webb, new outer garden man for the Cubs, smacked two circuits. First Baseman Charley Grimm, a former Pirate made a third homer for the Cubs. Charley Root held the chammpions to seven hits and did not seem in peril.

Forty two thousand persons, including Baseball Commissioner Landis, saw Mr. Hale Thompson, Chicago's new mayor, hurl the sphere into action.

Pile Up Score

At Philadelphia the vaunted attack of the New York Giants brought down the Phillies, 15 to 7, while 22,000 fans looked on silently. Bill Terry, George Harper and Rogers Hornsby made one home run per man and the New Yorkers made 16 hits against Hal Carlson and Arthur Decatur. Al Tyson smacked a triple, two doubles and two singles in six times up.

Barnes and Fitsimmons for the Giants allowed 11 safe blows but kept them scattered.

The Pittsburgh Pirates scored two runs in their first inning at Cincinnati and that was all they needed, the Reds failing to do better than one. Three hits and sacrifice fly nailed their first formal appearance for the Pirates. Grantham and Waner got one, Cuyler sacrificed and P. Waner drove a clean hit for the necessary tallies. Hargrave made the sole run forcing in the fifth on an error.

Braves Defeated

The borough of homes and churches gained an initial advantage at Boston where the Brooklyn Robins licked the Braves, 6 to 2.

Harvey Hendrick and Max Carey figured in the batting rallies which clinched Brooklyn's victory. Bob Smith, starting on the slab for Boston failed to survive the third inning. Mogridge, who replaced him, fanned nine batsmen but was nicked for three runs in the seventh, two of which came home on a double by Hendrick. Petty allowed only two hits in the first six innings.

With Bases Clogged

PHILADELPHIA, April 13— The honor of poling out the first home-run in the National League this season yesterday fell to Bill Terry of the Giants, who smashed out a circuit drive with the bases full in the fifth inning of the game between Newark and the Phillies.

PLAYERS COMPETE BILLIARDS MATCH

Melbourne Inman Reduces Opponent's Lead of 655 Points.

LONDON, Eng., April 13 (Canadian Press cable)—When the first day's play in the professional billiards championship match of 8,000 points between Tommy Reece and Melbourne Inman finished at Truston's Hall last night the latter had reduced his opponent's lead of 655 points which stood at the end of the interval, to 376 and was still in play.

Continuing last night Reece was only able to make two shots. He brought his break to 1,151 with a score of three, but gave away to Inman when he failed at a very difficult cushion stroke. Inman showed much improvement over his play of the afternoon and in reducing Reece's lead gave a masterly exhibition. The scores at the adjournment were: Reece 2528; Inman, 2152 (unfinished).

During the afternoon play Reece evolved a new stroke which was named "the pendulum cannon." He created it when he jammed the balls in the right top pockets and evaded the rule against more than 25 ball-to-ball cannons by finely skimming the balls after playing off the cushion.

ENNISMORE NEWS.

ENNISMORE, April 13.— Mr. and Mrs. S. Sullivan of Peterboro spent Sunday the guests of friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Murphy motored to Douro on Sunday to visit the latter's mother, Mrs. B. Leahy.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Easton, of Lakehurst, visited the latter's mother, Mrs. J. McGuire on Sunday.

A few of the farmers here are already at work on the land.

The recent cold winds and frost at nights have done considerable damage to the fall wheat and clover.

A number in this district have met with great success in the sugar bush as there has been a splendid run of sap. Reports this last week are that the run is nearly over.

During the past week a number of men were engaged with their teams, drawing gravel on the county road, which has greatly improved it.

Up to the present, the trapping has not been very successful but the trappers expect it will be better when the marsh opens. One trapper found a mink in one of his traps recently.

PESTS EARLY.

DALLAS, April 13.—Reports of pests in Texas cotton have come unusually early this year. The leaf worm has appeared a month early in many parts of the cotton belt. Two kinds of wingless May beetles, of a black or brown color, have been noticed.

WILL OPEN BASEBALL SEASON FOR LEAFS

When the International League season opens today at Jersey City Manager Fohl of the Toronto Leafs will make his pitching selection for the first game from the above pair—Jim Faulkner and Claude Satterfield. It is more than likely that he will give the southpaw the assignment, not only because of the general good form he displayed against the Pests last season, but on account of the fact that he has shown much ability this spring.

YANKEES TAKE HEAVY TOLL FROM ATHLETICS

American League Champions Go Into Action For 8-3 Victory.

RUTH FANNED.

Ty Cobb Shows Old Time Speed Playing For Philadelphia.

NEW YORK, April 13 (Canadian Press)—Sixty five thousand fans saw the Yankees, American League champions, go into typical lambasting action in the season's opener yesterday and brush aside the Philadelphia Athletics, 8 to 3. Babe Ruth didn't do it. He fanned twice, popped once and was yanked for a pinch hitter in the sixth. Breaking out with a cluster of sizzling drives in the fourth and fifth, the Hugmen hammered Lefty Grove, Connie Mack's speed king, and took advantage of breaks in the Athletics' defence. Waite Hoyt pitched smoothly all the way.

Playing his first game in a Philadelphia uniform, Ty Cobb showed his old time speed with a nice bunt, a race to third on a short single and a run scored while Lazzeri was throwing out Branom.

Opens Game

President Coolidge saw a tame game in which Washington, though outhit, scored a six to two victory over Boston. Slim Harris, usually a puzzle to the Senators wasn't so effective and was yanked after four innings. Stanley Coveleskie worked four innings for Washington, Marberry completing the game.

Tris Speaker playing his first game in a Washington uniform, had the honor of catching the president's opening throw. It was the first time in years that Walter Johnson, laid up with a bad ankle, did not start for the Senators.

Adds to Record

At Cleveland George Uhle, who led the American pitchers last year with 27 victories, started off yesterday with another, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 2. Uhle won his own game, driving in Cleveland's first with a single and then coming through in the ninth with a double that brought the winning run. He was wild, passing seven men and hitting one, but in the pinches he tightened. He allowed only six hits and Chicago had fourteen men left on bases.

The Detroit game at St. Louis was postponed because of rain.

LOOKING FOR CLOSE FIGHT

President J. C. Toole Expects Hard Struggle in International League.

OPENS TO-DAY.

NEW YORK, April 13. Canadian Press. — Strengthening of all the clubs, reflected in unusually successful training camp campaigns, yesterday was seen as the forerunner of a close International League race this year by President J. C. Toole.

"I look for a closer and harder fought struggle than we had last season, when five clubs were in the fight for the pennant until the last three weeks of the season," he said.

The campaign will get under way with three games to-day, sending champion Toronto Leafs against Jersey City at Jersey City, taking Buffalo to Reading and making Newark at home to Rochester. Baltimore will not start until Thursday, receiving Syracuse on the Oriole grounds.

President Toole assigned as umpires for the Leafs' game, Gerald Hayes, L. C. Fyfe and R. M. Clarke.

In spite of reorganizat tangles encountered since the close of the 1926 race at Reading and Rochester, President Toole forecast prosperity for the league.

"We have new and complete stadia this year at Newark and T ronto," he said, "while there are prospects of a new stadium at Rochester. Reading is in better shape than last year and Baltimore will have a reconstructed team. All the other clubs are strong and confident, so that there is every expectation of a keenly fought and successful race for the 1927 championship."

IT PAYS

We are frequently asked if it pays to spend so much time in reconditioning and inspecting our used cars before they are offered for sale. The answer is that a great many of our used car purchasers come back when they want new cars. Doesn't that pay?

DISTRICT DEPUTY VISITS PERCY LODGE

Masonic Brethren Hold Banquet, With Many Guests Present.

WARKWORTH, April 13.—A pleasing event took place on Wednesday evening when Rt. Wor. Bro. Buchanan, D.D.G.M. paid his official visit to Percy Lodge 161 A.F. & A.M.

Mr. Buchanan is the first member of the local lodge to hold this important position.

His purpose in visiting the lodge was to bring greetings of the Grand Lodge of Ontario and also to suggest to the local brethren any significant changes that have been recently enacted in the policy of the Grand Lodge together with his personal message as the representative of the Rt. Wor. Provincial G.M.

His message included his criticisms and commendations challenging all present with those lofty ideals which all true Masons should be ambitious to meet.

This was one of the most unique occasions in the history of the lodge.

The secretary of No. 161 A.F. & A.M. reports the highest percentage of increased membership for years.

After conferring the initiatory degree all were seated for a sumptuous repast. Then the programme of the evening followed which included the following toasts interspersed with singing. Toasts to King, Grand Lodge, Rt. Wor. B. Buchanan, D.D.G.M., visitors and the visitors to Percy Lodge. These were ably proposed and responded to. Wor. Bro. William H. Snooker and Bro. Lorne Darling sang solos very acceptably.

Many other visitors were present from Campbellford, Colborne, Brighton and Hastings besides the following: Rt. Wor. F. C. Bonnycastle and Wor. Bro. Harry, Campbellford; Dr. Robertson, M.P.P., F. M. Brintell, and W. F. Wilson, Colborne; Bro. Palen, Brighton; Wor. Bro. W. F. Fowlds, Rt. Wor. William Learmouth and Wor. Bro. Johnston, Hastings.

Wor. Bro. Roy Mallory, Master of Percy Lodge 161 A.F. & A.M. presided.

THEY LIVE LONG.

LONDON, April 14.—Clergymen live long in Britain, but astronomers are giving them a lively race for the laurels. Recent statistics placed the average age for astronomers royal at 75 1-2 years. The life span of every royal astronomer from John Flamsteed, the first astronomer royal, to Sir William Christie, who died in 1910, was included in the figures. Open air life was given as one reason for their longevity.

A Denver man who found a $2.50 gold piece showed his honesty by advertising for the owner. He was much surprised to receive replies from forty-eight men and women who claimed to have lost the coin.

VOL. LIX., No. 89 PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, APRIL 16, 1927 PRICE THREE CENTS

GREAT BRITAIN TO PROPOSE CUTTING SIZE OF SUBMARINES TO BAR LONG CRUISING RADIUS

Paris Hears Proposal Will Be Made at Coolidge Conference.

PLANS OPPOSED.

France Said To Be Willing To Limit Total Submarine Tonnage.

PARIS, April 16.—It is reported in Paris that at the Coolidge Disarmament Conference Britain will propose limitation of the size of submarines in a manner to bar the biulding of undersea boats with a long cruising radius and that in return for agreement by America and Japan to this proposal she will consent to cut her cruiser strength, which in modern ships stand about three times the modern cruiser strength of the United States.

As interpreted here, England because of the stand of France and Italy despairs of achieving her purpose of abolition of the submarine as a tool of war. But regarding the submarine as a prime peril to her long lines of communication, she thinks the problem would be partly solved by having submarines of small size which would not in time of war be liable to interfere with all the extent of her lines of communication.

Would Bar Ocean-Going Type

It is understood that the kind of submarine England would now bar is the ocean-going U-boat Germany turned out during the war, capable of crossing the Atlantic. This, it is urged, would leave defensive submarines, which is the kind France and Italy say they will keep. This would mean that America would retain her submarines useful for coast defence, but would have none which could cross the Atlantic or, incidentally, the Pacific.

It is also reported here that France has informed England that she is willing to limit total submarine tonnage to 90,000 and it is entirely possible that the English have discussed with the French the reported proposal to limit submarines to what might be called the defensive variety.

It is pointed out here that England fears not only French submarines but other submarines which in many oceans might interefere with her commerce. Regarding America as the nation capable of building the greatest number of long-range submarines, England is said to see in America's desire to limit cruisers an opportunity to guard herself against the development of larger submarines, the greatest danger to the communications of her wideflung colonies and dominions.

Jingle Bells Not So Good Sleighs Hold Up Traffic

MADISON, Wis., April 16. — Sleighs may have been relegated to mythology in a fair portion of the modern world, but with Wisconsin they still provide a problem important enough to require legislative action.

A bill to require the winter-time vehicles to have the same width as automobiles so that both can run in the same ruts, has been sent to a third reading by the senate, with indications that it will be enacted into law this term. Ruts left by sleighs wider than autos hold up traffic, it is said.

This Time Edison Found His Deafness An Asset

FORT MYERS, Fla., April [illegible]—Thomas A. Edison does not always regard his deafness as an affliction.

After some strenuous work a few days ago he visited a local barber shop. The barber was all smiles over his distinguished visitor and he applied a lot of talk along with the lather.

When Edison failed to reply, there were more questions. Finally leaning up a bit in his chair the inventor fairly shouted:

"I'm deaf—fortunately!"

OVER THE HILL AND FAR AWAY

Spring Call To Motorists Will Be Answered To-morrow.

ROADS GOOD.

With the beautiful warm sun shining as it did on Good Friday, and the excellent gravelled roads of this county and its neighbors, many motorists will likely venture forth tomorrow and enjoy a long trip into the country, perhaps in search of lilies, and other spring flowers, or of a rest and change in the pure, fresh air of the rural country.

F. G. Stinson of the Motor League stated this morning that the roads leading to the city are in good condition. No bad or impassable parts had been reported to them.

The road from Warsaw is very dry and Stoney Lake would make a good objective. Cars are steadily travelling to Apsley and Curve Lake. The Keene road to Hastings is dusty, but if a car happened to get off the road bed it would likely sink, and much inconvenience would be suffered by its driver.

Each year more gravel is being spread over the township and county roads, and its presence is felt now. These roads are dry and useful, and do not cut up as do the muddy roads.

The highway to Port Hope and to Toronto, with their absence of detours and construction work, afford a lovely route for a spin.

Wind is Cold.

Those who contemplate making a journey should take plenty of warm wraps as a precaution. The wind is still cold. Last year during Easter week there was a snow storm. The sun is bright and gives warmth to the air but as soon as the evening comes the temperature falls and if a motorist is not warmly clad, or has not sufficient robes, much discomfort is sure to be felt.

RAIN NEEDED OVER WEEK END

Ontario Suffering From Unusual Spring Drought—Crops Suffer.

WHEAT TETARDED.

TORONTO, April 16 (Canadian Press).—Most of Ontario has been suffering from an unusually extended Spring drought. Farmers and others are hopeful that showers promised over the week-end will materialize. There is little moisture on the surface of the land and unpaved roads are in spots as dusty as in midsummer. The growth of grass and fall wheat has been retarded and little Spring seeding has been done. Warm rains and lots of them are urgently needed in the agricultural districts of Central and Southwestern Ontario.

Countess Salm Gets Paris Divorce and Child Same Court Grants Separation To Her Husband

PARIS, April 16 (A.P.).—The Paris courts have dissolved the matrimonial bonds of Countess Salm, the former Millicent Rogers, and Count Ludwig Salm Hoogstraeten of Austria, to the undisguised satisfaction of all concerned.

Both parties had filed applications to sunder their ties; the Countess Salm for an absolute divorce on the ground of non-support, and the Count for a judicial separation, a full divorce not existing under Austrian law. The ground for his application, it is understood, was desertion.

The usual efforts under the French law of the presiding Judge to reconcile the couple had failed, and as neither opposed the other's plea, the Court found both pleas proved and granted both applications.

The Countess received the custody of their young son, Peter, the right to have liberal access to him and a voice in arranging his education being accorded to the father. It was agreed that the boy is to have two years' schooling in Europe.

As soon as the decrees were signed, the Count returned to the Riviera, while the Countess remained in Paris. The child is in the United States.

PLANS MADE TO CLEAN UP CITY IN PREPARATION FOR BIG YEAR

Governor-General's Visit Calls For Best the City Can Produce, Says Mayor.

SOCIETIES HELP.

Jubilee Celebration To Attract Thousands of Visitors.

When the Mayor signed the proclamation that appears on this page, he set his seal of approval on an effort that will be made this year to really clean-up, paint-up and beautify Peterborough.

This is an important year in the city's history. On June 20 there will be the visit of the Governor-General, an occasion to call for the utmost effort to create a good impression. And then, on July 1, there will be the great celebration of the Jubilee of Confederation, bringing to the city thousands of people from surrounding towns and villages. It is to the best interests of the city to so impress these visitors that they will carry away with them a pleasant memory of Peterborough as a place where they would like to live, and where they will return to shop.

This "Clean-up Week" has been in former years a perfunctory affair. The announcement was made, and then very little was done, except on individual initiative. This year, no week is being designated in Peterborough, but a real clean-up campaign is being launched; a campaign that will end when the last brushful of paint has been applied, and the last old fence torn down and the last dangerous fire hazard removed. And what a difference it will make!

Mayor Approves

"I certainly approve most heartily of the plan," Mayor W. T. Holloway told The Examiner today. "With the Governor-General coming this year we should spruce up just as much as possible. It is a great event in the history of the city, and the most should be made of it.

"And then, in my opinion, Peterborough is the logical shopping centre of Central Ontario, and we should put forward every effort to attract the people from this territory. We should aim to make Peterborough just as attractive to these people as Toronto is to the villages that surround it. And clean, attractive stores, with bright streets and the beautiful shade trees that we already have, will help a long way. Our store windows are second to none in Canada so far as the attractiveness of their displays goes, and when the stores themselves are brightened up with paint and cleaning, this will be a city that will encourage thousands more to shop here. What helps the stores helps all the city, and all the people. I hope the campaign goes across, and as Mayor of the City I shall do all in my power to help."

36 Pilgrims Die In Rush To Bathe In Holy Ganges

HARDWAR, United Provinces, India, April 16. — Thirty six pilgrims were crushed to death and many injured during a rush to be the first to bathe in the holy Ganges River, as part of the Kumbha Mela of Hindu religious bathing ceremony. Many others were taken to the hospitals, seriously injured.

The Kumbha Mela is a feast of peculiar sanctity which is held every twelfth year. The pilgrims attending the ceremony have numbered as many as 400,000. In early days riots occurred at these ceremonies, and outbreaks of cholera were attributed to them.

STARTS CAMPAIGN.

MAYOR W. T. HOLLOWAY,

This is Mayor Holloway's Birthday. Many happy returns, Mr. Mayor.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MR. BRADBURN

Peterborough, April 16th, 1927.

W. H. Bradburn, Esq., M.P.P., City.

Dear Sir.—You, as Mayor of this city, in 1913, signed an agreement on its behalf binding it to take electric power for 30 years from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission and from no one else. You, no doubt, did that in good faith, relying on promises made, that power rates would be reduced. "Power at Cost" was then the slogan, but since then, the cost of power has constantly increased until it now costs $28.12 per horse-power to this city on a wholesale basis.

You, as member of the Legislature for this city, have it within your power, to undo the wrong that was done to this city, by acting innocently on these promises.

If you can induce Premier Ferguson to pass the necessary legislation to permit this city to buy power from a company to be formed by our syndicate, to develop power at Dams 4 and 5 and Burleigh Falls on terms satisfactory to the Dominion Government and the company, then our company can save this city $40,000 a year for the next 21 years on the wholesale cost of its power on the existing prices charged to this city by the Ontario Government's manager.

That saving to this city, you will notice, totals the immense sum of $840,000 in 21 years.

Premier Ferguson and his Government have the power to carry this legislation into effect and you can induce them to do so, if you wholeheartedly support the plan.

If the city wants to develop these water powers on its own account, the syndicate will unreservedly withdraw in its favor. There is no ground for any excuse. Action must be taken and action is demanded by those who wish our city to grow. The power at these dams is equivalent to 50,000 tons of coal per annum. Look at it as you may, these 50,000 tons of coal are annually wasted and thrown away. "A wilful waste makes a woeful want.' Why should not this city unitedly support you to supply its woeful want of cheaper power? You can do it and get the support to do so.

The taxpayers of Peterborough will await with great interest your declaration on the issue thus publicly presented to you.

Yours very truly,
R. R. HALL.

THE WEATHER

The weather on Good Friday is frequently, (perhaps, more correctly, usually) unpleasant, but this year it was an ideal day. It was warm and bright, the thermometer rising to 65 degrees in the shade. Good Friday in 1925 was fine; in 1918 particularly so. Fine weather prevailed on that day also in 1910 and 1898. By way of contrast, in 1923 the day was quite wintry. The preceding day had 10 below zero, and on Easter Day (which came on April 1) it was 4 below. Lowest last night, 30 degrees, with outlook for April showers. The rainfall this spring up to the present time, has been short.—W. P.

NEW BUS LINES GIVING PEOPLE GOOD SERVICE

Hydro Helps In Many Ways To Make Venture Successful.

20 MINUTE SERVICE.

Five Busses in Operation On Three Routes To-day.

The citizens seem to be well satisfied with the new bus service that is being given the city by the Border City Transit Company. At present there are five busses in operation, two on the George street route, two on the Byersville and East City route and one on the Jackson Park line.

A 20-minute service is being given, with the busses meeting at the corner of George and Charlotte streets at 10 minutes to the hour and 10 minutes after and at 30 minutes after. The old Hydro railway tickets and transfers are being used and everything that is possible is being done by the Hydro officials to facilitate the service.

The new 28 passenger bus arrived in the city from Guelph yesterday morning, where it has been operated by the Hydro-Electric railways in that city.

The drivers who operated the busses formerly have all been re-engaged, giving ten men who were out of employment work. John J. McCann, who was assistant superintendent of the Radial Railway is acting superintendent of the new system and J. L. Clifford, former superintendent of the Peterborough Radial Railway is acting in an advisory capacity.

The barns have been rented by the new company and all the equipment. The service starts at 5.50 every morning from the corner of George and Charlotte and the busses leave the end of the line at 11.00 p.m.

FIRE BRIGADE PLANS DISPLAY

Will Give Complete Drill on Market Square on Wednesday.

CLEAN-UP.

Nothing could be more appropriate for the beginning of "Clean up Campaign" than the fire drill that is to be held on the Market Square on Wednesday at 12.3p. The complete apparatus of the Fire Department is to be on hand and the drill will be conducted on the scale of a real fire, with lines of hose stretched out, and all the ladders raised. This drill has been prepared for the public and Chief Gimblett extends an invitation to the citizens of Peterborough to attend the drill.

A moving picture, entitled "The Fire Brigade," is to be shown on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre in the interests of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, and the procee' obtained from showing the picture in the different cities in the province, is to be used for the Fire Protection Propaganda of 1927.

All the community clubs in the province, such as the Kiwanis and Rotary, are backing it up, and stand behind it as an instructive picture that should be seen by everyone, and to thus aid in the preventing of so many disastrous fires.

Search Party Returns After Unavailing Flight Through North.

MISSING FORTNIGHT.

NOME, Alaska, April 16 (Canadian Press).—Alger Graham, aviator of the Detroit News-Wilkins Arctic expedition, had left Point Barrow en route back to Fairbanks, Alaska, presumably without finding any trace of Captain George Wilkins and Carl Eielson, who have been missing since they left Barrow on March 29 on a flight over the Arctic, north of Alaska. Graham commenced the flight to Fairbanks after several flights along the Arctic coast of Alaska in search of the lost aviators.

Globe Trotter At Five Reaches Journey's End

CHICAGO, April 16.—Clutching in a tiny hand a small brown satchel, Andreas Tschida a globe trotter at the age of 5, has reached the end of his unescorted journey from Austria.

Andreas, who got into the newspapers when he arrived in this country because of trouble to which he put Ellis Island officials in determining his right to enter, was met at the station last night by his mother, Mrs. Julia Goldstein, who whisked him to the home where he saw for the first time, his half brothers — George 3, and Henry 2—children of his mother by a second marriage.

Ellis Island officers tried for three hours to induce Andreas to display his passports. The lad obeyed to the letter his grandmother's warning to hold tight to his possessions. The passports finally were found sewed in the lining of his coat.

COMBATANTS IN CHINA DIG IN

Northerners and Cantonese Oppose Each Other. Across River.

FIRE ON SHIPS.

SHANGHAI, April 16. Canadian Press. — Both sides, Northerners and Cantonese, are digging in today on the northern and southern bansk respectively of the Yangtse River between Nanking and Chinkiang, and there were no developments in the military situation on the lower Yangtse valley. Fire was exchanged throughout yesterday between Cantonese in Nanking and th Northerners in Pukow. Passing ships on the river were fired on from both sides.

A New Note.

PARIS, Apr. 16 (Canadian Press). —Representatives of five powers in China have recommended to their governments that they be authorized to draft a new note on the Nanking incident in reply to communications from Eugene Chen, Cantonese Foreign Minister, which they regard as unsatisfactory. The new note, it is understood, will make it absolutely clear that Britain, United States, Japan, Italy and France are united in demanding that the lives and property rights of their nationals in China be protected.

Hundred Killed.

HONG KONG, April 16 (Canadian Press). — Fighting and shooting throughout Canton, in which about a hundred Radicals were killed, were reported in a wireless despatch here to-day. The fighting is said to have occurred while the Conservative forces were rounding up and disarming many Radical Unionists by orders of the Canton Government.

Moderates Will Act.

SHANGHAI, April 16 (Canadian Press).—Cantonese Extremists at Hankow must yield, or the Moderates will launch a definite and thorough drive to oust the Communists and establish the Cantonese capital at Nanking until China is unified. This declaration was made to-day by General Psi Tsung Chi, Chinese commander for the eastern area, in a formal statement to the representatives of the Chinese press. The question must be decided, he said, before continuing the drive northward.

Political Manoeuvres.

SHANGHAI, April 16 (Canadian Press). — The Nationalists' news agency said the resolutions adopted at the opening session yesterday of the Cantonese political party, Impeaching the Cantonese Government at Hankow, merely represented the views of the Central Control Committee. The majority of the members of this committee, it says, are supporters of Chang Kai Shek, leader of the Moderate section of Kuomintang, or Cantonese, adding that the resolutions are part of the political manoeuvres.

GRASS FIRE IS CAUSE OF LOSS OF 2,000 TREES

Armour Hill Swept By Blaze That Spoils Years of Work.

$2,000 DAMAGE.

Many Calls For Fire Department on Good Friday.

Two serious and six smaller grass fires yesterday kept the fire department on the run. The blaze which blackened a third of Armour Hill destroyed in its path 2,000 young trees, a loss of $2,000. Another fire on the Fitzgerald property between Benson avenue and Aylmer street, north of Smith street, cleaned off a big area of grass and small trees, and partly burned a wooden fence.

At 9.53 a.m. a grass fire call was answered at the corner of Douro and Driscoll Terrace. Another grass fire was responded to at 913 Water street, and almost simultaneously two other grass fires were answered shortly after eleven o'clock in East City; one at Armour's Hill and the other in the field on James street. At 12.52 there was another grass fire at 624 Rubidge street and at 3.0. and 4.05 two more grass fires at Stanley avenue and 206 Smith street. The last call for the day was received at 8.01 p.m., when electric wires on Sophia street caught on fire.

Armour Hill Loss.

Few people will realize at once the loss occasioned by the grass fire on Armour Hill, which resulted in the killing of more than two thousand three-year-old spruce trees. These were planted under the auspices of the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham in their effort to make this magnificent site a memorial park. The spruce trees destroyed had three years of growth, and at a very conservative valuation were worth $1 each. The monetary loss is bad enough, but it means the same work must be done over again, and the loss of these trees will retard the ultimate beauty of the site by three years.

In all, more than 15,000 trees have been planted, and this is the first misfortune to happen to them.

Famous Grand Opera Singer To Open Beauty Shop Dr. Voronoff Will Give Monkey Gland Treatment

PARIS, April 16. — Mme. Ganna Walska, wife of Harold McCormick, the Chicago millionaire, whose grand opera aspirations have brought her into prominence, has applied for a license to do business in Paris as the Societe Parisienne de Produits de Beaute Ganna Walska, with a capital stock of 1,500,000 francs (about $58,650). According to reliable reports one of her associates in the beauty venture will be Dr. Serge Voronoff of monkey gland fame. Friends of Mme. Walska say that the chief aim of the beauty establishment will be the revival of youth and beauty in old women by means of the famous monkey gland treatment.

The parlors will be situated on the Avenue Montaigne in the heart of the fashionable Champs Elysees quarter. In addition to the rejuvenation process, Mme. Walska will place a number of beauty products on the market, including among which, it is said, will be several surprising and original preparations.

Papers of incorporation have been filed at the Gazette du Palais, which is the normal procedure for obtaining a license to do business in Paris. Mme. Walska could not be reached last night but it is known that plans are being rapidly advanced for the opening of the beauty parlors in time to cater to American summer visitors to France.

FORMER PREMIER GIVEN WELCOME T NEW YORK

Ramsay Macdonald and ughter Paying Sentimental Tour of States.

STAY IN EAST SIDE.

Side-steps Usual Ceremonies at City Hall For Visiting Dignitaries.

NEW YORK, April 16 (A.P.).—James Ramsay MacDonald, former Labor Premier of Great Britain, came to the United States on a sentimental journey yesterday and elected to receive his first real welcome from ragged urchins in the street.

The British statesman could not avoid an official welcome for the Mayor's reception committee for distinguished guests attended to that and brought him to the Battery on a municipal tug, but when he was free, with his daughter, Ishabel, he drove to the Henry Street Settlement in the heart of the east side, where the MacDonald's are to be the guests of Miss Lillian D. Wald. The former Prime Minister sidestepped the usual ceremonies at City Hall, where visiting dignitaries are formally made welcome.

One limousine is a rarity in the vicinity of the Henry Street settlement house, and a fleet is unknown, so the arrival of Mr. MacDonald and his daughter was the signal for some wide-eyed staring from the children in the street. They had never seen a former British Prime Minister, past or present. Their admiration for the man and his equipage won them a cheerful smile and vigorous wave of the hand.

Mr. MacDonald made it plain that sentiment and not politics dictated the voyage bringing him here. He sought, he said, the benefit of a stay at sea and ten days in the United States to live again the days of 31 years ago when he traveled on his honeymoon the road he is now travelling with his daughter.

Will Visit New England

The schedule of his brief stay will include a visit to a woman in New England who entertained him and Mrs. MacDonald when they came on their wedding journey. She has not been identified.

Mr. MacDonald, although out of his political character, paused long enough to express a belief that the British Govergment seriously bungled the Chinese situation by throwing defensive troops into China to perform a service that should have been handled in a police way.

The Labor party in England, he said, has gained strength in the last twelve months.

Speaking of China, he said that he had been out of touch with world affairs for seven days and all he had read was press despatches. He spoke of these despatches as "government propaganda, which I take with a grain of salt."

Chinese Situation

"Our position," he said, "is that a revolution was inescapable in China. You cannot avoid it. Great Britain, France and America have been engaged for years in educating China. It was natural that the intelligensia should foment a revolution, that this education should alter the Chinese psychology and impel them on to nationalism. This nationalism the Chinese would not realize save through a revolution."

He suggested that the British naval force in China and resident troops in the concessions as a police force might better have performed the services assigned to 20,000 troops. His position was that there was a lack of statesmanship in the British Cabinet in meeting the Chinese question and that trouble was invited instead of being guarded against.

Asked if he believed that Russia had anything to do with the Chinese agitation, the Labor leader said: "It may have, but I would not say that it was Russia who fomented it. She may have aided the movement, but the revolution was from the Chinese themselves.

"Our people (the English) are getting a 'bogey'. All civilized countries develop 'bogeys'. We dearly love them, and I think Soviet Russia is one of these 'bogeys'."

OLD MASTERS

Life! I know not what hou art,
But know that thou and I must part
And when or how, or where we met
I own to me's a secret yet.

Life! we've been long together
Through pleasant and through cloudy weather;
'Tis hard to part when friends are dear—
Perhaps 'twill cost a sigh, a tear;
—Then steal away, give little warning.
Choose thine own time;
Say not Good Night—but in some brighter clime
Bid me Good Morning.

DEFINITE BREAK MADE WITHIN CANTON'S RANKS

New Alignment of Cantonese Leaders Overshadows Reply To Powers.

STRIKE AT SHANGHAI

Reply Suggests Creation of International Commission to Settle Responsibility.

SHANGHAI, April 16 (Associated Press).—The moderates within the Cantonese regime yesterday definitely broke with the Communist element that has been controlling the civil government at Hankow.

The break, coming in the midst of a steady drive by the Northerners along the Yangtse Valley to regain the territory lost to the Cantonese armies in the past few weeks, now presents the possibility of civil war within civil war to add to the already tangled skein of China's destiny.

With the long threatened split within the ranks of the Cantonese now a reality, the new alignment of Cantonese leaders overshadowed the reply of Eugene Chen, Cantonese Foreign Minister at Hankow, to the demands of the powers for an apology and reparation for the Nanking disorders of March 24.

Chen's reply, delivered to the Consuls-General of Great Britain, the United States, France, Japan and Italy Thursday, suggesting the creation of an international commission to settle responsibility for the Nanking outrages, presents the problem of whether Hankow, in view of the moderates' break with the leaders there, can be considered as authoritatively representing the Cantonese Government.

Broke at Meeting.

Yesterday's split between the moderates and radicals was made a meeting of leading foreigners of the Kuomintang (Cantonese political party) at Nanking called by the moderate leader, General Chiang Kai Shek, Cantonese generalissimo, and came with dramatic suddenness. Resoluations of impeachment against almost a score of radical leaders of the Cantonese Government at Hankow were adopted almost immediately.

Word of the impeachment resolutions, received through Quo Tai Chi, Cantonese Commissioner for Foreign Affairs at Shanghai, indicated that General Chiang and his supporters would establish a new government at Nanking.

Demand Arrest.

The resolutions demanded that certain radical leaders be arrested as "disturbers of the public order in China"; among those mentioned by name were Michael Borodin, the Russian who has been acting as adviser of the Cantonese Government; George Hsu Chien, Minister of Justice; Chen Tu Tsiu, leader of the Chinese Communist party; Tung Ping Shan, Minister of Agriculture; Teng Yen Ta, notorious agitator, and 15 others less well-known.

Foreign Minister Chen was not mentioned in the resolution, speakers at the conference asserting that he was not actually Communist but was merely a tool used by Borodin and the other radical leaders.

The quickness with which the impeachment resolutions were adopted caused surprise because it had been reported that there were plans to delay the meeting to await the arrival of more delegates from Hangow. The conference, however, was said to have been attended by a majority of the central control committee of the Kuomintang, Chinese sources also declaring that a considerable delegation had arrived from Hankow.

Already reports have been received from various sections of Cantonese-controlled portions of China of the lining up of adherents of the moderate and radical factions.

A mass meeting at Hankow denounced General Chiang and his supporters as "counter revolutionists" and invited Feng Yu Hsiang, once known as the "Christian General" and reputedly a radical, to join forces with the Hankow radicals to fight Chiang. Previously a mass meeting had denounced Chiang for his activities in the past few days in raiding Labor headquarters in Shanghai and neighboring cities.

Denounce Chiang.

These resolutions also denounced Chiang for calling the Nanking meeting which was described as "illegal" and for "disrespect toward the central executive committee and communicating with enemies of the revolution." In addition about 90,000 workers are on strike in Shanghai in protest against Chiang's labor raids made for the purpose of destroying the powers of the "Reds" within the unions.

On the other hand, despatches from Chungking, Szechwan Province, say that seven commanders

Our Triumphant Day!

(An Easter Message by Dr. Dyson Hague, of Toronto.)

Easter is the triumphant day of Christianity, and the dominant notes of Easter are Paul's inspiring phrases: "O Death, where is your sting? O Hades, where is your victory?" One springtime as some travellers were passing through a valley with its springing flowers and blossoming trees, one of the travellers remarked: "What a fine illustration all this is of the resurrection, and the new life in the risen Christ!" "Resurrection?" said a man, "Resurrection? Is there such a thing as life from the dead?" And one who happened to have a copy of John's Gospel opened it at the fifth chapter, and read these words: "The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God; and they that hear shall live. All that are in the grave shall hear His voice." The man as he listened, stood spellbound. "Well," he said, "this is the first time I have ever heard such wonderful words." And he asked for a copy of the Book from which they were taken.

That man stands today as the representative of millions. Even in Christian lands there are many who need to grasp the unanswerable argument of Paul to King Agrippa: "Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you that God should raise the dead?" Oh, you who say today that life from dead is impossible, look around you. Open your eyes. Think. See the spirit of life flashing from death in those blades of peering green and bashful blossoms. Behold the verdant shafts upon branches that but a few weeks ago seemed so dead, and those tiny flowerets as a myriad eyes looking out upon a new world of beauty. Oh, man, if God so clothe the cold bed of your gardens, and the lifeless limbs of the trees with renascent splendour, how much more shall He clothe those who live and believe in Him with resurrection life! For the Easter triumph today is the life that is life indeed. It is that millions of our race are living because He lives. It is that power by which untold millions in the life of the living Saviour are seeking today those things which are above where Christ is sitting in glory on the right hand of God.

Years ago when that great social reformer, Dr. Guthrie, of Edinburgh, was taunted with trying to accomplish the impossible, in going down among the filthy and ragged, and that the very rags cast out on the street were better than they, he picked up a piece of white paper, and waving it, said, "My friends, is not this paper made of those rags that you trample under your feet? If the paper mill can change these rags into white notepaper, why should it be thought impossible that Jesus should raise the dead, and transform these degraded bodies into a spiritual and immortal body." Reason echoes: Why, indeed? Faith echoes: Why, indeed? The epitaph of one of the greatest writers of the last century, Charles Reade, contained this striking message as his last words to mankind: "I hope for the resurrection, not from any power in nature, but from the will of the Lord God Omnipotent, who made nature and me. He created man out of nothing, which nature could not. He can restore man from the dust, which nature cannot. And I hope for holiness and happiness in a future life, not from anything I have said or done in this body, but from the merits and mediation of Jesus Christ."

This Eastertide, take up, take up, O Christians of every name throughout our land, the Easter Jubilate: "Jesus Christ is risen today, our triumphant holy day." Once more let Christian hearts and lives ring with the melody of immortality; for he that liveth and believeth in Christ can never die. Let strife be hushed. Let bitterness lie dead. Let the striving factions of Christ's Catholic church unite in a great unity of Christian certitude. And as the flowers bloom today where the roar of cannon shook the battlefields amid hatred and death, so let all who believe in Him who died and rose again join hands of faith and hearts of love in the great glory song of Easter. Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory through our Lord, Jesus Christ.

FURY LESSENED KANSAS STORMS

Fair Skies Replaces April's Assault Over South-Western States.

MANY KILLED.

KANSAS CITY, April 16 (A.P.). April's assault on the west and southwest ended yesterday when fair skies replaced the storm conditions that created tornadoes, torrential rains and floods, and heavy snow in some sections, over a period of more than a week.

In Texas where more than fifty persons lost their lives in a series of tornadoes and several hundred were injured, the atmospheric condition responsible for the twisters apparently had disappeared.

At Rock Springs, the little plateau town in Southwest Texas virtually wiped out by a tornado Tuesday night, a tent city had arisen over the ruins and Red Cross workers and citizens were going ahead with rehabilitation measures. Ninety-one of the injured were being cared for at San Antonio.

With rainfall stopped, flood conditions in Kansas, Oklahoma and Western Missouri were rapidly improving.

The list of dead in Oklahoma due to floods stood at more than a score with several other deaths recorded in Kansas and Missouri.

The list of dead in Oklahoma due to floods stood at more than a score, with several other deaths recorded in Kansas and Missouri.

Flood Receding

Extreme eastern Oklahoma, where flood waters were rushing away to swell the already overburdened Mississippi river presented the most serious flood situation, while rivers in Southeastern Kansas and Northeastern Oklahoma were gradually falling. Flood damage in Oklahoma and Kansas, principally to farms, highways and bridges, was estimated at more than $3,000,000.

The blizzard that swept the Rocky Mountain country and extended eastward gave way yesterday to clear skies and milder temperatures. Snowbound communities in Wyoming and Colorado were digging themselves. Losses to stockmen were not serious as has been feared.

At Casper, Wyo., 33 inches of snow fell between Sunday and last night.

WARSHIP FIRES UPON TROOPS

Silences Fire of Northern Chinese in Skirmish Along Yangste.

NO DAMAGE.

WASHINGTON, April 16. Canadian Press.—The destroyer John D. Ford yesterday fired upon Chinese northern troops using her four inch guns, loaded with shrapnel shells, silencing the fire which the Chinese had directed upon the Standard oil ship Meian.

Official reports on the incident reaching the navy department said the northern troops were entrenched abreast the Ford in Yangtse River opposite Nanking and had been firing upon the oil ship and exchanging shots with Chinese Nationalist troops on the Nanking side of the river.

The Ford at first returned the fire with machine guns, the report said, and the British cruiser, Emerald, anchored alongside, also turned its machine guns upon the Chinese.

The Chinese ceased firing at the Meian and concentrated upon the Ford, which was hit in many places, but suffered no casualties to its crew or material damage to itself.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

MAYBE A LETTER

Maybe a letter from home—
I noticed his eye grow bright,
And I knew, however a man may roam,
He wouldn't go wrong tonight.
I sat and I watched him then:
He hurried the missive through,
And then he read it all over again,
The way that the absent do.

Maybe it wasn't so much,
She thought as she sat and wrote,
But it touched his heart with a tender touch,
Although it was just a note.
For something had made him smile:
A word that the babes were well,
For when a man is away a while
There's always something to tell.

Maybe the world is sad,
And maybe there's a hurt and sin,
Maybe the day a place has had
For a man to stumble in.
Many a plan goes wrong
On the road that he has to roam;
Something tonight will keep him strong—
Maybe a letter from home.

THE NUTKIN.

A squirrel is what I'd like to be—
There's one 'at stays in our big birch tree;
He twinkles his nose when he look at me;
He the nimblest ac 'at ever I see.

A squirrel can climb as high as a spire,
An if there's anything there he can go higher;
Why squirrels just never seem to tire,—
I saw one walk on a telegraph wire.

Trouble with squirrels is, they're easy to scare—
If you make any noise, they scamper for fair:
If I was a squirrel, Id growl like a bear,
Then no other animals near me would dare.

NEW YORK, April 16 (Canadian Press).—Evelyn MacNevin, Canadian-born contralto, scored another musical success at the Town Hall when she performed as soloist, with the Adesdi chorus, under the leadership of Margaret Dessoff.

Miss MacNevin, who was born in Chatham, Ont., made her New York debut in 1921. She is the daughter of Dr. Malcolm G. MacNevin, formerly of Alexandria, Ont.

In the recital, Miss MacNevin played a prominent part, and her performance was again marked by the beautiful quality of her voice and her wide range and dramatic power.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST : The Resurrection

Synopsis Arranged by Dr. Wm. E. Gilroy, D.D., Sketches by Kroesen.

Joseph of Arimathea, a rich man, secretly a disciple of Jesus, obtained permission from Pilate to take the body from the cross and place it in a new sepulchre, hewn out of rock. (Matthew XXVII : 57-60)

A great stone was rolled to the door of the tomb and it was sealed. A guard of soldiers was placed over it. (Matthew XXVII : 60-66)

Early on the third day, Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome, came to the sepulchre. (Mark XVI :1-3)

They found the huge stone had been rolled away, and on entering an angel said, "Ye seek Jesus . . . He is risen; He is not here: behold the place where they laid him." (Mark XVI : 4-6)

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

IT IS INTERESTING to observe how Jesus has come into contact with every circumstance common to the children of men. In His birth He descended to the depths and demonstrated that there is no condition too low for Him to enter, and that when He enters it He transforms it by the touch of His blessed presence. During His life, in the days of His flesh, He met and mingled with all sorts of men and women and little children. And every life was in the place of realizing its greatest possibilities when it came under His influence. But in many respects the most wonderful moment of all was that moment when He tasted death for every man. Ever since death had invaded the realm of human experience the universal cry in the presence of the dead had been, "If a man die, shall he live again?" The fact of death is a fact that cannot be denied. Go where you will, and by a myriad of witnesses whose testimony cannot be refuted, you will find overwhelming evidence that "It is appointed unto men once to die."

Some Impressive Facts.

Is it not a fact that earth's most famous shrines of pilgrimage are spots esteemed sacred because they entomb the ashes of the honored dead?

Beyond the Rio Grande are the ruins of ancient Puye. Populous for centuries, then abandoned more than a thousand years ago, the crumbling dust and ashes of uncounted generations of men who inhabited the great cliff still rest undisturbed on that high mesa crest. The dead are there.

The titan stones of Cuzco, in the heart of the mountains of Peru, city of the Sun-worshippers, are wearing to dust. Magnificent dreamers, and just as magnificent doers were these Sun-worshippers, who, with the passing of the ages, have passed into oblivion. We do not even know to whom in blood and culture they were related. But on the summit of the Andes, behind Cuzco—their dead are there.

If we journey to Nara, the most ancient capital of Japan, scene of wonderful pilgrimages, we shall find the dead entombed there.

Continue your journey to the hills of India and, at Delhi, you will find the Taj Mahal, in beauty of structure the most splendid tomb man's hand has ever erected. And it will tell you that the dead are there. Or go to Ceylon and gaze upon its great bell-shaped temple which, to millions of Buddhists, is the most sacred spot on earth, because there, they believe, rests the dust of the heart of Buddha.

Thebes of the Hundred Gates.

Cross the Nile flood at Luxor and travel over the cultivated flat where Thebes once stood—Thebes of the Hundred Gates, that ruled the world. Pass through the Valley of the Dead and enter the rock heart of the mountains and see where the Pharaohs long dead have rested from age to age in mummied quiet.

Pass out along the Appian Way from the gate of Rome to the avenue of the princely dead. Here Rome buried her nobles, her generals, her Caesars, and over them reared marble memorials. The marbles have been stolen or are crumbling, but beneath them still rest the dead. Or go to London and visit Westminster, and you will learn that to the British Westminister is Westminister because their dead are there.

What We Have Done.

In the company of a preacher we have belted the globe, and stood uncovered for a moment at the famous shrines of five continents, and every mile of the way we have passed over the unnamed dead. The same is true of the trackless roadways of the seven seas which have swallowed and hidden deep the dead of ages.

How Short Our Lives Are!

When you think of life in terms of years, how short it is! In one hundred years earth has three new outfittings of humanity who inhabit it and use it, then go to rest in it. Think of it! In one century three generations enter their graves. Today the cities of the dead outnumber a thousandfold the cities of the living. There is no spot but that you may say, "The dead are here!"

Is That All?

If that were all that we were born for life would scarcely be worth living. But that is not all! When they buried Him who claimed to be the resurrection and the life, and when they had sealed the tomb and set a watch, thus arranging the stage for the contradiction of any claims that He had risen from among the dead, and when some of His followers came to where they supposed His dead body still lay, we are told: "And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay."

Here at last is a satisfactory answer to the question, "If a man die, shall he live again?" Here is one grave which had to give up its dead. Of no other grave can it be said what was said of the tomb that for three days held the body of Jesus, "He is not here."

Is Death Vanquished?

Someone says, "Not here!" But in every clime, in every zone, the dead are permanent, unchanging tenants of their narrow houses! In Nara tombs, the fine dust of myth-clouded emperors, the gods of Old Japan. In Ceylon, Buddha's heart wastes in its jewelled urn. By the Nile pitch-swarthed Pharaohs lie in imperishable sleep. Above Cuzco the Sun-worshippers rest on their mountain top as centuries pass. The dead are there! Only in Joseph's garden a tomb is empty, and an angel saying, "He is not here!"

His closest friends marvelled and disbelieved. How could the inevitable rule of death be broken? His enemies say that His disciples came and stole the body while the soldiers slept! But the angel said, "He is not here: for He is risen as He said."

Our Privilege Now.

When we stand in the presence of our dead and catch an echo of that old question, "If a man die, shall he live again?" remember that something has happened which enables us to say, "But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept." And when we approach this Easter don't lose sight of the fact that there is another Easter morning on its way when a countless number of tombs in every land shall be open to the dawn as Joseph's was, and that by the same divine power. When that day dawns, those places that have known the dead shall know them no more. This is the great hope of Easter morning.

To those who have been bereaved let us say, "Blessed are they that mourn; for they shall be comforted." Comforted with the fact of His resurrection, and the assurance that this fact is the pledge of our own and of our loved ones who have fallen asleep in Him.

Even now the new heavens and the new earth are on their way, and with them the time when "God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away."

—Allan Fairbairn.

Can We Be Sure

THE resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead is an historical fact. As such it is proved like any other historical fact—by the testimony of competent witnesses and by the witness of related facts and results. But it is more! It is a spiritual force in the lives of men. Through fellowship with the risen Christ, men rise from a death in sin to a life in holiness. And it is more! It is the promise and pledge of resurrection and future life for all whose faith rests in the Son of God. "Because I live, ye shall live also."

CHURCHES AND CHURCHMEN

By I. SEEWELL

The Church and the Lighter Side of Life.

UNDER the caption, "The Church Must Recover from Money Makers, the Healthful Amusements," The Boston Transcript says some stimulating things. It argues that there ought to be room in the church's operations for everything except that which is sinful.

But as long as the church persists in using its own materials, which it has branded as sacred, and leaves other materials in the hands of the enemy, so long will the church be out of vital touch with the life of the common people.

Take the matter of amusements. The lighter side of life is an important one. To imagine that Jesus went about from day to day looking on the world with tear-drenched eyes is to misread the character of the Son of Man. In the gospel accounts of His life evidences may be found of a sense of humor and of a joyousness which are not in keeping with the medieval conception of Christ as the man of sorrows, and which present-day Christianity seems to believe to be one of its choicest possessions. That side of Christ's character is but one phase of it. In estimating what the great Catholic was one must ever remember that He bequeathed His joy to His followers.

Getting Into the Wrong Hands.

WHILE the church possesses within itself the ability to give a lead in the matter of healthy amusements, it has to a large extent allowed the materials to remain in the hands of worldly men, whose only interest, apparently, is to make money. Naturally, these men will use the materials thus left at their disposal for their own ends. The question as to whether the form of amusement tends to the betterment of society, at the best will only be secondary, and in the vast majority of cases will not be taken into account at all.

Thus while the church is attempting to teach divine truth on the Sundays, the worldly forces for seven days in the week are distracting the people. Especially is the matter serious in its influence over the young life of the community.

The most common form of amusement today is the picture show. There, week by week, men, women and children receive not only a certain relaxation but receive certain impressions with respect to life. A new approach has thus been made by the cinema, not only in amusing people, but in educating them. The potentiality of the picture show either for good or bad is indeed great.

It is therefore an unfortunate thing that the church generally has not been sufficiently Catholic in its operations to include such popular forms of amusements instead of allowing them to get into the hands of people whose only interest is that of making money.

* * *

What Do You Think?

THE question arises, then, as to what the churches are going to make of the world today and of the future.

To glorify unduly the past, or to seek of it the final words of wisdom, is to condemn the world to swaddling clothes. Today this is scarcely possible, if the church is to function healthily, for it has to deal with a world which is growing at a tremendous rate. A solution of this pressing problem will be found, in all probability, in the growth of a new Catholicism.

In the promise which was given through Zechariah concerning Israel's golden age, the old distinction between sacred and secular is to be broken down. "In that day there shall be upon the bells of the horses holiness unto the Lord; and the pots in the Lord's house shall be like the bowls before the altar. Yea, every pot in Jerusalem and in Judah shall be holiness unto the Lord of Hosts; and all they that sacrifice shall come and take of them and seethe therein."

Is the Church's Only Function A Spiritual One?

OF course, it may be urged, and it certainly is urged by many voices, that the church's function is spiritual and that in no sense was it instituted to amuse people. But while such argumentation is going on, and in spite of all censorship, the modern picture show is setting its own standard of morality and is teaching the youth of the land that domestic infelicity and domestic infidelity apparently are normal things which are to be expected, and on occasions are to be laughed at.

What Think Ye of Christ?

JUST as the first ripe ears of corn which grew on the plains and hill-sides of Palestine were brought into the temple, and waved before the Lord, as a pledge that every ear of corn standing on and growing in that land should be safely reaped and gathered in, so the resurrection of Christ is a demonstration that we, His people, shall be raised again. Because He lives, we shall live also. Dry up your tears then and look toward the morning when He finally, and for all who have faith in Him, shall be the death of death.

THE USUAL RUSH.

While the public approves of expediting the business of the House of Commons and the present session has been one of the most businesslike on record, it is unfortunate that the usual rush to gallop through supplementary estimates at the last minute has not been avoided.

The adoption of 40-minute speeches should make it possible in future sessions to get away from this last-minute voting of many millions of dollars for purposes that cannot possibly be investigated very closely by the members.

There is something to be learned from the Mother of Parliaments.

The British Budget, involving important changes, required only two days' debate.

We take much longer than that in Canada to dispose of our Budget proposals, and we waste a lot of time on debating the Speech from the Throne.

If we could get through these debates at the speed maintained by the British Parliament there would be no need of the customary wild rush before prorogation.

For the improvement shown in the session just closed there should be general praise, while for the hope that is to be found in shorter speeches in future sessions there should be general thanks.

A VICTORY FOR WOMEN.

As a result of the decision of the British Cabinet in granting the franchise to women at 21 years of age instead of 30 as at present, the next election will find the men of Great Britain outnumbered by two million.

It is estimated that the change, which will come into effect after the next session, will add 5,000,000 women to the voters' lists, and the fair sex will be in the driver's seat so far as numbers go.

It will probably, however, be a long time before the preponderance of women voters will make itself felt, judging by the indifference shown by many women in this country to political affairs.

Their British sisters are not likely to prove any more generally interested in public life than are Canadian women.

Both here and in the British Isles there are thousands of women who have no desire to take part in politics or even to vote, and while this condition may gradually disappear when women realize they are on terms of equality with the men both as to the use of the franchise and as to the right to hold office, for the present at least the extension of the privilege of voting to all women 21 years and over will not have as much significance as might at first blush be imagined.

PENSION CHANGES.

Amendments to the Pension Act proposed by Hon. R. B. Bennett in the House of Commons the other day, while supported by all the Conservatives, Progressives and U.F.A. members and by one Liberal-Progressive, were defeated by the solid vote of the Government forces.

This does not, however, mean that the changes proposed by Mr. Bennett may not eventually be made.

The position of the Government was that in view of the great mass of information and suggestions in respect to pensions before the department, the Government's time was needed to examine the whole situation, and Hon. Dr. King announced that recommendations would be made by the Government at the next session for the consideration of the House.

Several of the amendments offered by Mr. Bennett are in line with the general opinion of returned soldiers, who believe that if there is a reasonable doubt as to the right of an applicant for a pension the applicant should be given the benefit of such doubt, and who also have consistently maintained that the disability on discharge of an applicant for pension shall be presumed to be attributable to military service.

This latter point has been a sore grievance.

Numerous soldiers who were accepted as fit for active service served at the front and afterward developed a disability, have been informed on application for pension that their condition was not attributable to their service, but was of pre-war origin, and pension has been refused in such cases.

EASTER.

The lily is called the Easter flower. White and slim and fragrant as the incensed candles of the altar, it is the living symbol of the day's peace and purity.

But Easter is even more than a church festival. It is a great human festival known to people of all climes, all races, all creeds, all nations. Easter is infinitely older than Christianity. It is as old as the world itself—as old as sun and moon and star.

Easter as we know it today is only the civilized age's version of the century-old pagan spring festival when humans gave thanks to whatever God they knew for mellow, warming sun, for bird and bloom, for ice-freed water, and breezes sweet and warm.

The flowers of Easter, then, are not only the lilies of the altar, but all the blooms of wood and meadow that blanket the earth in loveliness when the spring sun comes again and tell the story of life everlasting as surely and sweetly as the surpliced choir.

For what hymn, what chant, what creed, can say more loudly and firmly, "There is no death!" than the bare brown bough of winter which, cast within the crucible of the sun alchemist, changes into a living, breathing, swaying blossom—life from death?

We live in a day of "so many Gods, so many creeds, so many roads that wind and wind." We are baffled in mind and spirit. We grope for one light and are handed a hundred from which to choose, alone and unaided, our own light. Sometimes we feel that even darkness is more honest, safer.

But on the mountain slopes where the mountain laurel grows pink today, there is only one creed—

In the woods where anemone and hepatica and wind flower sway on slender stalk today, there is only one creed—

And in the meadows beside the still or moving waters where the violet grows purple and big, there is only one creed—

A creed which says man believes that life is good and sweet to taste, and that as a man sows in his own heart so shall he reap the bounty of this teeming world.

THIRD PARTIES.

The Dominion of Canada has seen many political bridges burned in the 60 years that have rolled by since Confederation, but the machinery of Federal government has not at any time gotten out of the control of the old line parties. We have had either Conservative or Liberal administrations, and during the war a coalition of both, but we have not yet made the experiment of placing control in the hands of the third party—the Progressives who come out of the West. In the last administration, when the Progressive party held the balance of power and cast in its lot with the Liberal Government, it attained its maximum influence. Political predictions are pretty much like tips on horse races, not reliable, but there seems to be no likelihood of the third party in Canada taking over the reins of government in the near future. The experiences that several of the Provinces have had with third-party Governments have certainly not bolstered public confidence or created a demand for a similar experiment in the Federal field. Under the circumstances, it is interesting to note that a lot of attention is being devoted at the present time in the United States to the Farmer-Labor party, the American cousin of our Progressive party. William A. Anderson, State Chairman of the Farmer-Labor group in Minnesota, which sent Magnus Johnson and Henrik Shipstead to the Senate, is reported in a recent interview to have said there is no indication that the party is losing strength. "Like every other movement," he said, "we have had those who jump on another band-wagon when the jumping looks good, but there is no falling off in progressivism in Minnesota." The thing that is expected to intensify feeling in behalf of the Farmer-Labor group, of course, is the United States Government's failure to provide any farm relief. Minnesota farmers, who can't even pay interest on their debts, are recognized as being at least desperate enough to vote against the Republican party. It is not a question of the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill especially, but a question of something or nothing. Business is reported to be generally in a bad way in Minnesota and there has been much unemployment. Under the circumstances the Farmer-Labor party may not be in such dire straits as the old-line groups in the Federal Government are telling the public.—Hamilton Spectator.

THE DELAYED COAL RATES.

Parliament at last has taken notice of the discreditable delay in ascertaining the actual cost of shipping Alberta coal to Ontario. For more than a year the matter has been hanging fire before the Railway Board, and still no action. Another soft-coal strike is in progress in the United States, and though it may not spread to the point of endangering the Central Canada supply, it serves to emphasize the peril that always lurks here. Labor troubles are frequent in the coal industry, but in this case Ontario and Quebec not only have the risks from this danger, but in buying from the United States they are sending money abroad for a commodity which exists in great abundance in our own country.

In the discussion in Parliament on Tuesday Hon. R. B. Bennett denounced the delay in fixing the coal rates, but went further and demanded a "new Chairman" for the Railway Board. "Surely a body that Parliament creates," he said, "is not going to sit there and tell us it has so much work to do that it cannot do a week's work for us on a vital question."

The declaration of the Minister of Railways, Hon. Mr. Dunning, was even more significant. "The Government regards as positively scandalous," he said, "the extent of time which has been consumed by counsel representing the railways and some of the Provinces—not all of them—in presenting their cases in the railway rate investigation." On this point it is worth recalling a discussion on the coal rate matter before the Railway Board on Feb. 10 last. It was then arranged to have a hearing on June 7, no earlier date in June being suitable because counsel for Alberta and a C.P.R. rate expert could not attend because of a pending wedding in each family.

One constructive incident of the year is the bill which passed the Dominion Parliament providing for a subsidy of $1 a ton on Canadian coal used in the manufacture of coke. This was one of the measures for the relief of the Maritime Provinces, though in practice it may benefit Alberta also, provided the coal rate is satisfactorily adjusted. The subsidy is arranged on a sliding scale, according to the proportion of Canadian coal used. The full subsidy is earned if 70 per cent. is Canadian coal, and the subsidy disappears if less than 50 per cent. of the coal is Canadian. Coking centres are expected at Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto, it being apparent that important centres of population are necessary to provide consumers of the coke and the by-products.

There may be something in the complaint that the Railway Board is a busy organization; but what excuse can be offered for the continued postponement for more than a year of a question of coal rates, involving the welfare of two Provinces and thousands of people? It looks like trifling with the rights of the public on the plea of red tape or personal convenience.—The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Hon. Mr. Massey should be able to struggle along for a while in that $500,000 Embassy until we get a chance to provide him with real quarters in Washington.

The British Budget debate was over in two days. Contrast that record with the Ottawa performance.

The Women Teachers' Association has withdrawn an invitation to Miss Agnes MacPhail, who was to have addressed the Ontario Educational Association meeting. The member for South Grey's letter to the schools of her constituency is proving a boomerang.

We expect to find some enterprising realtor advertising property "only 5 minutes' walk from the Government vendor's store."

The best demonstration of optimism noticed in a long time is Toronto's effort to get a $600,000 appropriation out of the King Government. Toronto voted as it liked, you'll remember.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HOLD MEETING

Held By Trinity Church of Omemee on Wednesday Evening.

REPORTS READ.

OMEMEE, April 16.—The annual meeting of the Sunday School Board of Trinity Church was held in the school room on Wednesday evening. There was a fair attendance present. The chair was ably filled by Rev. E. W. Rowland, who received the reports from the officers of the school.

The attendance during the winter months has decreased considerably, but this fact was attributed to so much sickness in and around the village. Commencing the first Sunday in May, the time of service will be changed to 10 o'clock in the morning.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Superintendents—Messrs. T. C. Ivory, H. Lamb.
Treasurer—Mr. A. Scott.
Secretary—Mrs. E. Bradburn.
Librarian—Miss Marion Rea.
Pianist—Miss Winnifred Bradburn.
Assistant Pianist—Miss Lillian Race.
Superintendent of Cradle Roll—Mrs. J. Shields.
Assistant of Cradle Roll—Miss W. Bradburn.
Teachers are as follows:
Adult Bible Class—Mr. D. Weir.
Assistant—Mr. F. G. Sandy.
Young Men's Class—Mrs. S. Vaughan.
Young Ladies' Class—Mrs. W. Brandon.
Sr. Boys' Class—Mr. H. Lamb.
Sr. Girls' Class—Mrs. H. Lamb.
Boys' Class—Mrs. E. Bradburn.
Girls' Class—Miss Edna Morcombe.
Primary Teachers — Misses Eva Race, W. Bradburn.
Supply Teachers—Mrs. R. Williamson, Mrs. J. Shields, Mr. F. Johnson.

A.Y.P.A. Service.

The A.Y.P.A. of Christ Church were favored with a visit from the Rev. Canon Marsh, of Lindsay, at their regular week-night service on Monday evening. There was a splendid attendance, and after the business had been dispensed with, the visiting clergyman addressed the gathering on "The Privilege of Being a Member of the Church, and Also the A. Y. P. A." Having spent some time in Omemee while a student 52 years ago, Canon Marsh made expression of his great pleasure to visit this parish on any occasion, and his hearers in turn are always glad to welcome him.

Muskrats Plentiful.

The ice is rapidly breaking on the pond, and also on Pigeon River, and trappers report the muskrats are becoming more plentiful. Although the season is more than half over, the catch this year may yet be as large as in previous years.

Mr. G. D. Gowans, the manager of the Omemee branch of the Bank of Toronto, was agreeably surprised to catch alive a muskrat in his cellar this week, which had travelled no doubt from the river through the drain. This is a very uncommon occurrence, but one which many would prefer to the ordinary variety, as the price for these animals alive is $4.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, April 16.—Mr. W. D. Remnaut has returned from Toronto where he spent several weeks visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. G. Chapin of Peterboro were in the village on Tuesday evening calling on friends.

Mrs. J. A. Creasor (nee Jean Burritt of Ottawa) will hold her first reception on the Wednesday in Easter week at her home on King street. Her mother, Mrs. Burritt of Ottawa will receive with her.

Mrs. A. M. Fitzgerald delivered an excellent paper on the Munroe Doctrine, at the regular meeting of the Woman's Conservative Club which met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. J. Burgess.

HOW TO AVOID PNEUMONIA

During the winter season pneumonia takes its annual toll in thousands of lives. This is mostly because those who are subject to attacks of this dangerous malady are those who least suspect themselves to be in such danger.

Ninety per cent of all people dying of pneumonia are overweight and, at the same time, enervated. Most deaths occur with the over-fed, who are over-weight, and who have been neglecting to take the proper amount of physical exercise, but, at the same time, have enervated themselves by mental over work.

Fat babies are the most subject to this trouble and often are found to have so little resistance that death occurs within a few hours after pneumonia is discovered.

There is very little danger of these who are under-weight contracting a serious case of pneumonia, and if this disease does develop, it responds quite easily to treatment if the body does not also have to burn up excessive fatty weight.

If you wish to avoid pneumonia keep your weight to the normal, take systematic exercise and avoid the enervation produced by over-work, late hours and indiscriminate eating.

A New Cure for Pneumonia.

If you do not follow the advice I have given you, and you develop an attack of pneumonia, be sure to call in a physician who uses the new treatment with diathermy.

This is an electrical treatment which can be given in the home by using a portable high-frequency apparatus. Pads are placed on the front and back of the affected area and an electric current turned on up to a certain strength. The tissues inside of the lungs are heated several degrees higher than the normal. No sensation is felt on the skin, and the heat is directed to exactly the right spot inside of the lungs. This internal heating treatment is effective in throwing out the pus and its accompanying micro-organisms, known as the pneumococcous. The metabolism in the tissues is increased, and the results from this treatment have been very successful during the last few years, according to the records of physicians who have taken up this method of treatment.

During the first few days of an attack of pneumonia, no food of any kind should be taken, but, if a slight fever still exists after five days of this fasting regime, it is a good plan to start giving the patient limited quantities of cooked non-starchy vegetables. No highly starchy foods or protein foods should be used until the fever has entirely disappeared.

The bowels must be kept clean with two or three enemas daily, and warm sponge baths should be used every two hours during the day and night.

The patient should be kept between woolen blankets and plenty of fresh air allowed to circulate around the bed. Keep the windows open, but warm the air by electric heaters. Never use a gas fire to produce heat in the sick-room.

DR FRANK CRANE'S DAILY EDITORIAL

EASTER
By Dr. Frank Crane.

The most remarkable phenomenon in the universe is the coming again to life of dead vegetation.

When the earth warms up in the Spring the leaves unfold, the grass greens and the flowers bloom. It is symbolical to races in the temperate zone of the regeneration of life.

It is but natural, therefore, that mankind should have some sort of festival to celebrate this renewing.

The accepted festival in Christendom is Easter time which probably borrows its origin from pagan countries.

But no matter where it began and no matter how it is Christianized, it appeals to humanity.

Its lesson is that life is eternal.

From things that were apparently dead come new things. The dead die and seed germinates under proper conditions.

No matter how long life has lain dormant there is in it the seed of future life.

Seeds have been found in the possession of Egyptian mummies which when planted can produce new flowers.

Mankind faces the future. The resurrection and the future life always float before us. It is the unextinguishable belief of the human race that life shall continue; how and where we know not.

That the dead remain forever gone and spent is repugnant to our instincts.

Mountains are eroded and seas dry up. Everything in nature decays. But what nature teaches is not only the sad lesson of universal death and its sway, but it has that other lesson of the universal coming to life again. This is the lesson that nature teaches us in the Easter season.

There is always hope, therefore it springs eternal in the human breast and it is just as verdant when we stand by the closed grave of our loved ones as it is when we stand by the cradle of our infant.

Easter is as if there were a blast from the trumpet of the Eternal which tells us to hope on, struggle on, for a thing is not quickened except it die, says the apostle, and out of the dead of the old the dead brings the germ of life for the new.

Permanent CONCRETE HIGHWAYS

"It's the little they cost to maintain that makes Concrete Highways economical."

Every Mile of Concrete Road Saves Gasoline, Tires, Repairs, Taxes

There is many a kick at the high cost of motoring; too few thoughts for its underlying cause. Yet the main factor in running up gas, tire and repair bills is right under your wheels—the road itself. And it's up to you what kind of roads you have.

Advocate permanent concrete roads, for every mile of their even, safe surface you drive over, saves money. Accurate and exhaustive tests have proved that they cut the costs that hurt you most, from one-fourth to one-third.

And being permanent, they save the taxes that would otherwise be spent on maintenance and renewals, and which can, instead, go toward building new concrete mileage.

In this way alone, will road-building catch up with traffic needs without the help of burdensome budgets.

least, judging from the crowds that attended the premiere showing of "Mons," is too British not to remember gloriously that "contemptible little army."

Days from August 12th, 1914, until August 16th, when the little army of British received the welcome of France; the "old army" gathering 'with Tipperary on their lips and confidence in their hearts." Sunday morning in Mons; the simple folk going to church; cavalry patrols riding ahead to feel for the enemy then—the curtain rising on the greatest drama in history.

Bombing commences; field gray and khaki meet and it is field gray that is surprised—field gray that out numbers khaki so pitifully. The Germans are mowed down and, at night, the enemy admits that "our first battle is a very heavy defeat inflicted by the English—whom we laughed at."

The story of the retreat—the glorious retreat that was to spell victory; many episodes depicting the heroism of V.C.'s; not done in an heroic way but just done with the deadly earnestness of war; fighting until they couldn't stand and lying down still fighting; a victory at the bridge, when a single machine gun kills scores of Germans, that makes the tale of Horatius holding the bridge seem child's play; a poignant incident at St. Quentin when the men fall with exhaustion in a weariness dreadful to see, but two of their officers buy a fife and drum from a little shop and, one by one, they stagger up, fall in, march on.

The story of L. Battery is told—the story that made the Royal Regiment of Artillery proud of that gallant little army; the Middlesex Regiment hastens to the fray; the Highlanders do their part magnificently—these and scores of other authentic incidents are shown as well as bits of humor, thoroughly British—even to the bathing scene with the caption, "War may destroy the body and sear the soul, but it will never prevent an Englishman from washing on the slightest provocation."

during the prologue, the audience are urged to be in their seats a few moments before the rise of the curtain, while those coming late will not be admitted to the theatre until after the first scene is over.

Following the prologue Captain Plunkett has provided two hours and twenty minutes of bright dialogue, catchy songs and tuneful orchestral numbers.

The finale of the show should prove equally interesting to the younger generation, as well as those of maturer years. Taking advantage of the wave of popularity now evidenced for the old-time-fiddlers' contests, square dances and tuneful music of a generation ago, Captain Plunkett has taken a leaf out of the book of Henry Ford and presents his entire company in an old-fashioned set of square dances, embracing the Lancers, the Minuet, old-time jigs and a hoe-down finale. In this scene, the boys of the orchestra impersonate an old-time fiddlers band and Howard Fogg, the brilliant musical director makes his debut as a character comedian, chin-whiskers, five gallon boots, fiddle 'n everything.

GENE STRATTON-PORTER'S GREATEST STORY FILMED

The greatest novel ever written of Southern California, with the gorgeous backgrounds of mountains and ocean, has been transposed to the screen in "The Keeper of the Bees," Gene Stratton-Porter's most recent work which appeared serially in McCall's Magazine. Doubleday Page & Co. have just put the book on the market, and the publishers estimate that more than ten million persons have already found the story as fascinating as only a novel by the late Mrs. Porter could be. In additions to its tremendous popularity, "The Keeper of the Bees" has as one of its stars an eleven-year-old girl who has never before been seen in pictures, and who probably never will be again, despite the fact that she is bound to make a tremendous hit. Gene Stratton Monroe, granddaughter of the noted novelist, enacts the part of "Little Scout"; the role which inspired her celebrated grandmother to write the story originally. So when she "steals" the picture from more experienced members of a fine cast, it is only proper; for "The Keeper of the Bees" is her property anyway! The production, which has been ably directed for F.B.O. by J. Leo Meehan, who will be remembered for his fine work in transplanting "The Girl of the Limberlost" to the screen, will be seen at the Regent Theatre when it begins a three-day run next Monday.

"DON MIKE."

One of the interesting type of Western pictures with Fred Thomson in the stellar role, is the feature at the Capitol Theatre for this week-end. This star appears to be fast forging ahead in Western pictures. He has not the ultra-dramatic touch of Tom Mix, former popular hero of such thrillers, but his version of thrilling adventures with a western background, combined with the intelligence of his beautiful horse, Silver King, is entertaining and enjoyable.

In "Don Mike," the Don Miguel Arguello of the picture, he has a pleasing role. Half Irish and half Mexican, he is the owner of a huge hacienda in the Valley of the Silver Moon and becomes the prey of unscrupulous land grabbers, led by the ugly Reuben Pettingill, who takes his land from him by fraud, helped by Don Luis, the rascally Alcalde, or Chief Magistrate. However, Don Mike, assisted by "Tey de la Plata" (Silver King, and Mary Kelsey, the gentle heroine, manages in his own way to frustrate his rival and wins both lands and girl back again. There is much thrilling hand to hand fighting in this picture, with particular savagery to the conflict between the two men, and Thomson also gives an exhibition of the art of knife throwing. The backgrounds of the picture add immensely to its interest.—Jeanette.

Beside us a sob. We looked to see a sweet-faced, snowy-haired woman whose memories had become too vivid at the portrayal of war in 'Mons.' She was not the only one whose eyes were moist at the grim realism in the picture of that most famous army of all history, the "Old Contemptibles."

Some Reminiscences Of Canada's Confederation Premier

(By G. H. W.)

Sir John A. Macdonald, the first Premier of Canada under Confederation, the Diamond Jubilee of which is to be celebrated on the first of July next, lies buried in Cataraqui cemetery at Kingston, Ontario, which city he represented for more than forty years in the parliaments of the country; and it is expected that one of the celebration features will be a pilgrimage to the tomb of the great statesman who so materially helped in bringing about the confederation of the Canadian provinces. There are still a few residents of Kingston who had intimate relations with Sir John more than a half a century ago, and one is Mr. Joseph B. Walkem, K.C., one of the oldest lawyers of Canada, who is still practising his profession in the same office on Clarence street opposite the post office which Sir John used when he was in law practice in that city before Confederation. Dr. R. T. Walkem, his brother, acted as Sir John's counsel in the Kingston election protest case in 1874 when the ex-Premier was unseated owing to corrupt practices.

An old newspaper man, who was in close contact with Sir John Macdonald from 1868 to 1880, wrote this account of what happened in the early seventies:

"The election contest in Kingston in 1872 was a very exciting one. The Liberals that year made a desperate effort to defeat Sir John but were unsuccessful. On the hustings a temporary platform erected in front of the city hall, the candidates addressed the crowd, which was a good humored one. Suddenly there was a commotion on the platform and it was rumored that Sir John had made a personal assault on his opponent by slapping him in the face. Both parties denied this. Sir John was elected but by the smallest majority he had ever received up to that time. The most exciting election was that of 1874, shortly after the Pacific scandal. It was suddenly resolved to dissolve the House of Commons as Hon. Alexander Mackenzie was satisfied he could not carry on the government as it was then constituted. The news came on a Saturday afternoon and there was a hurrying to and fro on the part of members anxious to secure electon. Sir John hastened to Kingston, and soon the arrangements were made for a vigorous canvass. The Liberals had possession of the field and got early intimation of the dissolution. For two or three weeks the work went merrily on; meetings were held every night and at these Sir John and his principal supporters made stirring speeches. An immense meeting was held at the city hall where the fallen Premier delivered a speech that was intended at once as a defence and a manifesto. In this speech there was a sentence that was brought up against Sir John in the election of 1878. British Columbia had entered Confederation on the express stipulation that the Pacific railroad should be built. The Mackenzie administration seemed inclined to shirk the responsibility, and in speaking of this, Sir John remarked that if the plans were not carried out, he would be inclined to advise the Pacific province to secede. This unwise remark, which was duly printed, passed unnoticed at the time, but in 1878 the Toronto Globe and other Liberal newspapers in the fight against the Tories, unearthed the remark and hurled it at Sir John with great force. The veteran leader denied that he had made the statement, and when it was quoted from the files of the paper in which it appeared, Sir John threw the blame on the reporter. Sir John won the 1874 election in Kingston, but was unseated for corrupt practices. Afterwards he was re-elected by the narrow majority of thirty-eight.

Though Sir John's party was victorious in the general election of 1878 he himself went down to defeat in Kingston. For the first time in thirty-eight years he was left without a seat in Parliament, having been chosen by Kingston at every election since 1844. His majority had gradually decreased because he had been out of touch with his constituency, having been forced to live in Ottawa as head of the Government. Sir John was nominated for a British Columbia seat in the election that occurred two weeks later, and he was elected and sat for British Columbia during the entire parliament of 1878-1882."

Two speeches of Sir John A. Macdonald will live in Canadian history. The first occupied six hours in delivering and is described as a masterpiece of statement and argument. It was in reference to the Washington Treaty of 1871. The second speech was his defence on the case of the charge of selling the Pacific Railway charter, when he spoke for five hours with defeat staring him in the face.

He had the faculty of applying epithets that sometimes stuck to their victims. On one occasion, an Irish member for Montreal threw out hints that he could be induced to support Sir John for a consideration. The Premier replied that while he was fond of angling, he did not care to hook such loose fish as Mr. ..... The member was known as "the loose fish" until he died.

Sir John joined the Orange Order in Kingston in the fall of 1844. He was reported as saying at a Roman Catholic picnic at Carleton in 1886 that he had never set foot in an Orange lodge, but it is on the records that he was initiated in Kingston during the fall of 1844 by Ogle R. Cowan, grand master of the Orange Lodge in Upper Canada. In 1861, Sir John in a speech told why he had become an Orangeman. It was, he said, because the provincial legislature had prescribed them and forbidden them to wear their regalia, and declaring their processions illegal, and when they were about to pass a law preventing an Orangeman from becoming a juror or a constable or holding any official position under the Crown. It was, he declared, for the purpose of showing his sympathy with men whom he believed to be outraged by the conduct of the legislature that he became a member.

"What is your opinion of the constitutionality of the Ontario Liquor Act?" Sir John was asked when speaking at Yorkville, Ontario, on the first of June, 1882. To which Sir John replied that he believed the Act was not worth the paper it was written on. The whole system of the Government appointing license inspectors to compel men to vote under penalty of losing their licenses was wrong and indefensible. Wherever the licensed victuallers brought the matter before the courts it would be decided that the Act was an usurpation and had no force whatever; and he was surprised that the question had not been pressed long before this. If he carried the country at the next general (as he declared he would do), he would tell Mr. Mowat "that little tryant who had attempted to control public opinion by getting hold of every little office from that of a Division Court bailiff to a tavern keeper", that he would get a bill passed at Ottawa returning to the municipalities the power taken away from them by the License Act. In view of present conditions, this view of the veteran Premier of that time is of marked interest.

Canada's Confederation Premier was never a robust man, but he lived till he was seventy-six. He was rather slim for his height. His head was massive, his forehead high and surmounted by locks like those Disraeli used to wear. His eyes were ever bright and sparkled with humor. His mouth was large and mobile, and his lip thin and long. His nose was large and well formed, indicative of great ability. While not an orator, Sir John was effective as a speaker. He took a long time to warm up, opening a speech slowly and deliberately, but afterwards there was a steady flow of smooth language. He was most genial and approachable, and in a personal canvass of his constituency no political leader would match him. He had a great memory for faces and names; he was the life and soul of any festivity in which he joined. Sir John was an inimitable story teller. He dressed somewhat carelessly but encouraged home manufacturers, generally wearing Canadian tweeds. The fact that he died with an estate valued at less than $20,000 showed that with all his power in office no money went into his pockets illegitimately. He could easily have enriched himself at the public expense but he kept himself free from that.

FARMERS PLOUGHING AROUND MILLBROOK

Fall Wheat Has Apparently Wintered Well in District.

MILLBROOK, April 16.—Quite a number of farmers in this vicinity have begun ploughing this week, finding the ground working up fairly well; if the frosty nights were not a drawback, where land is not low and consequently wet and sticky, this work could be proceeded with rapidly.

So far the fall wheat and clover has apparently wintered very well. Owing to the weather conditions last fall, not as much ploughing and seeding of fall wheat was done as usual.

The run of sap has been very good, and the old prophecy that a good sap year means a poor wheat yield has been frequently quoted.

The Market Place

SPACE, the last frontier, is being conquered by the telephone. At the time of Confederation, Canada's communication within her borders and with the markets of the world was arduous and slow . . . News and the stuffs of commerce travelled slowly . . . To traverse Canada was high adventure.

In 1870, just three years after Confederation, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, whose life had been despaired of by his physicians, went to Brantford, Ontario, to die. Fortunately he was spared, not only to initiate the movement of the transmission of speech by electricity but to see his invention improved and perfected until it became one of the greatest factors in the social and business life of the world.

The first time that transmitting and receiving instruments were placed miles apart and speech successfully transmitted was on August 10th, 1876, nine years after Confederation. The transmitter was in Brantford, the receiving instrument in Paris, Ontario. Various persons spoke and sang into the transmitter and were heard by Dr. Bell through the receiving instrument.

Today the telephone in home and office permits conversation with friends and associates half the world away. It is the new world market place. More than 1,000,000 telephones are in use in Canada. EIGHT KILLED.

Exploding Still Believed the Cause of Destruction of Block.

CHICAGO, April 16 (Canadian Press).—Eight persons, members of two families, were killed to-day when a terrific explosion demolished a block of shops with dwellings in the rear, on the west side. Fire followed the explosion, the cause of which had not been determined. Bodies removed from the ruins were burned almost beyond recognition. Identification was made by relatives. Police and firemen hold three theories, that the explosion was caused by a bomb, by gas or by an exploding still. The latter is believed the probable explanation.

Matinee Ladies

BY William B. Courtney

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, earns money as a dancing partner for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but beggars can't be choosers! At the Inn he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on—Sally, the cigarette girl. Reciprocating his interest, she warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the Inn, who finds her "thrill" in Bob—she is the hunter, not the hunted! Then she and Sally scent enemies in each other.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

Sally Smith, the virginal little princess of the cigarettes, whose fluffy innocence was an enchanting stock-in-trade in this sort of a place, was guided by her instincts as unerringly as Mrs. Hammond was by her experience.

Sally flashed a satisfied smile upon Bob. But the real purpose of the smile was a gesture of triumph over Mrs. Hammond.

"Cigarettes, Mrs. Hammond!" Sally repeated, drawling, with just enough inflection to annoy Mrs. Hammond.

Receiving Mrs. Hammond's graciously smiled disclaimer, Sally beamed at Bob again, possessively, then flounced partly away.

Bob, looking after her in frank boyish admiration, likened her gay little tread to a bird's. There was in Bob's eyes, as they drank in the young body of Sally's reedlike slimness, the light of clean desire, of ardent physical purpose, that Mrs. Hammond coveted for her own statuesque beauty. Mrs. Hammond would have given over a fortune could she but inflame such a look in his eyes.

But Mrs. Hammond was a game, if subtle and sly, fighter. To see that look of physical interest—for another woman—in Bob's eyes pained her, stirred her, as nothing else in her life had ever done; but she masked her feelings under a slow smile, as Bob's eyes, leaving Sally, turned to her own again.

"Do I scent—romance?"

Bob grinned bashfully, without replying.

"A charming child, little Sally Smith. But, of course—now Bob, please don't mind if I talk like a sister to you. For, you see, I am older than you a good bit in years, and a century in experience. You are so young and new to the things of life that ensnare and trap. You are fair target for every white skin, every bright eye. Now, Bob, I'm not going to preach. But, as a sister would, mind you, I want to ask you to remember only one thing. Your love is a lot more bound up with your future than you can appreciate yet. "I know you have never been in love. I know that girls, women, are strange, fearsome, alien creatures to you—rather terrifying creatures, who beset you and bedevil you. But, when you are faced with a choice in love, remember what your friend Delia told you—to pick a girl mentally worthy of you. Trouble with virile youngsters like you, Bob, is that in the instinctive eugenical selective laws of nature, you have an eye only to the girl's physical attractions—her face, her body——"

Bob fidgetted and flushed. Heavens, but this woman—this "sister"—talked to him in a most matter-of-fact intimacy. Such personal things! Bob, recalling his rather old maidish blood sister at home, was quite sure that not only would she never talk to him as Mrs. Hammond was doing now, but that she wouldn't have known what in Pete Mrs. Hammond was talking about!

He wished Mrs. Hammond would quit—but she was going on——

"—and you neglect to consider her social and mental qualifications at all. Now the social aspect is very important, Bob, really—especially for a man like you who is going to be involved in big business affairs. I'm not a snob, but I've seen many men's careers ruined by a paucity of social graces on the part of their wives. Nice enough little creatures for the most part, but dowdy once they had the peach bloom of youth rubbed off, and utterly incapable of keeping pace with their husbands. Pathetic, don't you know, Bob—this business of marrying beneath one. And, very important, it takes art and skill for a woman to take her youth down the years with her, always—through the aid of a manicurist and milliner, dressmaker and drug-store!"

Mrs. Hammond laughed musically. She had been talking rapidly, and studying Bob the while. In fact she had hardly been conscious of her own words, so much had they been but a smoke screen from behind which she could study him and form her battle plans.

Bob, quite dizzy from the swift flow of words, and wondering what it all meant, was lost in a bewildered silence.

He felt indignant at what seemed a presumptuous attempt to anticipate his thoughts and take sly digs at little Sally Smith; and wanted very much to voice his indignation. But Mrs. Hammond's smile was so disarming, her apparent interest so affectionately detached and sisterlike, as she had claimed it was, that he could not find the gumption to be cross with her.

He did manage to say, quietly: "Is all that directed at little Sally Smith, Mrs. Hammond? Are you trying to warn me against her?"

"Why, Bob," virtuously, "what makes you think and say such a thing!"

"—because if it is," he declared evenly, "I only want to say that I think Miss Smith is an awfully nice little girl and could be quite capable of living up, or growing up, to any social exactions."

"Not a doubt of it!" Mrs. Hammond fluttered her almond-nailed fingers, as if banishing any vagrant doubts of Sally's social possibilities. "She's a very fine little person. Sensible and all that. Anyone can see it with half an eye."

Bob was taken in—fully and unreservedly. His face glowed with unmistakable admiration of Sally Smith, who, nearby, was bargaining with an old duffer—and giving him her usual phoney address.

Mrs. Hammond leaned forward across the table; "My goodness, Bob, I hope I haven't seemed to be stepping upon your toes! I—I didn't know you were interested in Sally Smith. I was discussing only a hypothetical case; giving theoretical advice. Why, I never dreamed—why, you only met her this afternoon for the first time!"

"For the first time, yes—but it seems as though I've known her all my life!"

Bob was not looking at Mrs. Hammond now; his enchanted eyes were fixed upon Sally Smith. Therefore, he could not note the dark scowl that flamed in Mrs. Hammond's deep eyes; the venom, the battle glare, the grim resolve.

Mrs. Hammond wanted Bob Ward. She wanted his splendid manhood, his clean and innocent youth, his strong body.

She was going to fight for him, tooth and nail. No chit of a cigarette girl was going to thwart her, to cheat her of the only man she had ever wanted in just this way in her whole varied life.

Mrs. Hammond had waited and searched through many years for the thrill of finding—Bob. That was why she had recognized him for what she wanted almost the instant she had seen him, certainly the first instant she had spoken to him.

But through those years of waiting, seeking, testing, she had accumulated a world of experience; a repertory of stratagems and slynesses. She felt confident of her ability to enslave him.

After all, the added excitement of competition would but serve to augment the thrill of angling for Bob's physical love.

She laughed—a tingling, burning laugh.

Bob fetched his gaze back from Sally's precious head, and looked into Mrs. Hammond's face with some surprise and wonder. She vouchsafed no explanation of her solitary mirth, but covered it quickly:

"There's the dance, Bob. The last one. Come—our last dance until—tomorrow afternoon!"

They danced.

A little while later, when she was leaving the Palisado roadhouse in her usual regal state, with Madame Leonine and her minions pressing attention upon her, Mrs. Hammond caught sight of little Sally Smith standing far across the floor, watching her, Bob was somewhere in between, going towards Sally.

In that moment Mrs. Hammond's musical laugh splintered on her pearly teeth.

Then she was gone.

CONFUSED ORDERS KILL POLICEMAN

Two Groups Investigate Burglary—One Opens Fire On Other.

CHICAGO, April 16 (United Press).—Confused police orders today were blamed for the shooting to death of Patrolman James Kakacek by one of his brother officers. When a report reached police headquarters last night that two Mexicans were suspected of planning to hold up a West Side grocery, simultaneous orders were given to two groups of officers to investigate.

As Officers Charles Wetten and Patrick Mullen approached the store they saw two men in civilian clothes leaving. Wetten opened fire and killed one of the men. His firing ceased when Kakacek's partner, William Allen, shouted, "Stop, you have killed a policeman."

Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R, Garis

To-day's Bedtime Story.

(Copyright, 1927 McClure Syndicate.)

Though Uncle Wiggily had spent a great deal of his time, of late, with Boppy and Um in the bungleump, helping unscramble the Wogglejigs, still the rabbit gentleman often went back to visit his own hollow-stump bungalow. He could not remain too long away from his wife, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy and the forty 'leven little Bunny rabbit boys and girls.

"And today," said Uncle Wiggily to himself when he had helped the little wooden man and woman start the six little wooden Wogglejigs off to the school of the Lady Mouse Teacher, "I think I shall hop over and see how my garden is growing."

As he hopped along the road beneath the tree, where the green leaves were getting larger each day, he hummed the old song: "Mistress Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden grow. With silver bells and cockle-shells and pretty maids all in a row."

"I have never grown any silver bells or cockle-shells in my garden, nor yet pretty maids in a row," said Uncle Wiggily as he hopped along.

"Well, if you want some snail shells I can help you," spoke a voice in the weeds, and a fat snail stuck his horns out of his shell-house which he carried around on his back.

"Thank you, no, I don't believe I want shells in my garden," chuckled Mr. Longears. "I can't eat shells. I am growing carrots and by this time they ought to be up a little way."

"How about silver bells?" asked the snail. "Wouldn't you like some of those in your garden?"

"I'm afraid my little bunnies would think the silver bells were school bells and they would stay in my garden instead of going to their lessons," said the rabbit.

Wishing the snail a pleasant journey Uncle Wiggily hopped along until he reached the garden back of his bungalow.

"Well, it's a sight for sore eyes to see you!" squeaked Nurse Jane.

"Are you coming home to stay?" asked Uncle Wiggily's wife.

"Pretty soon, my dear," he answered. "It takes a long time to help Boppy and Um unscramble the Wogglejigs. But how is my garden?"

"One little carrot has grown up," said Nurse Jane.

"It is almost large enough to pick," added Mrs. Longears.

"Good!" cried Uncle Wiggily, his pink nose twinkling in delight. "I had no idea a carrot would grow in my garden so soon."

"It is in a warm sheltered place where the southern sun can shine on it all day long," his wife explained. "Come, I'll show you."

When Uncle Wiggily saw where the first little carrot of early spring was growing in his garden, he was more than delighted.

"This evening, when I go back to the bungleump to stay a little longer with Boppy, Um and the Wogglejigs, I'll pull up my little carrot and take it with me to nibble when I am hungry," he said. "Seeing the little carrot from my home garden will keep me from getting lonesome."

Uncle Wiggily visited that afternoon with his wife and Nurse Jane. But when evening came and it was time for the bunny rabbit to hop back to the bungleump, and he went out to the garden to pull the carrot, it wasn't there.

"Oh, who has taken my little carrot?" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Not I!" answered Jingle.

"Not I!" answered Jangle.

"Not I!" answered Spangle, a new little bunny girl.

"But some one has pulled it up!"

Uncle Wiggily saw the first little carrot.

said Uncle Wiggily. "I hope it wasn't the Fox or Wolf. No, it couldn't have been. They don't eat carrots. But who took it?"

Just then, all of a sudden, Tooter, a little rabbit boy, shouted:

"I see your little carrot, Daddicums!" He pointed to a clump of bushes, and through them could be seen gleaming the bright yellow carrot.

"We must be careful," said Mr. Longears. "The Fox may be in the bush, holding the little carrot up as a bait to entice me in. I must be careful." Going on tiptoes to the bush, Uncle Wiggily looked over the top and, fast asleep on the ground, he saw Wumple, the yellow little Wogglejig boy. And in place of his own yellow tail, which Wumple had left in the bungleump by mistake, the Wogglejig boy had Uncle Wiggily's little carrot.

"Well!" laughed the bunny rabbit. "This is the first time I ever saw a carrot used for a tail!" He awakened Wumple, too, the tail carrot away from him and bidding his family goodby for a time, Uncle Wiggily hopped back to the bungleump, where he found Wumple's tail under the hat rack.

So everything turned out all right and Mr. Longears had his new little carrot for supper.

TO GAS CONSUMERS IN PETERBOROUGH

A Statement Regarding the Production and Supply of Gas in the City.

Apparently, arising out of the recent negotiations between the Corporation and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, a rumour has been circulated that the Commission intends to close down the Peterborough Gas Plant.

This Utility has been operated without loss, and the revenue has been sufficient to provide the necessary reserves for renewing the plant. THEREFORE, THE COMMISSION HAS NO GOOD REASON FOR CLOSING DOWN THIS UTILITY, NOR DOES IT INTEND TO DO SO. The Commission has, however, endeavoured to dispose of the property to the Corporation in accordance with the general policy in respect to the disposal of all utilities within the municipalities on the Central Ontario System.—Advt.

WONDERFUL AUTOMOBILE ROADS.

The most wonderful automobile road in America, the Banff-Windermere Highway 184 miles in length, is in danger of losing its well earned laurels by the opening of another, and if possible, more wonderful road, the Great Divide Highway between Field and Lake Louise, which was completed last summer. But Prof. Laird's tour "Across Canada and Back," which leaves Toronto by Canadian Pacific Railway July 25th, 1927, for a 21 day trip, includes both these drives in his itinerary, and they are only a small part of the wonders to be seen. There is Banff, the beautiful; Lake Louise, the Pearl of the Rockies; Emerald Lake, second only to Lake Louise in beauty; the Yoho Valley, one of the most marvelous Valleys in the world, with Takakkaw Falls over 1,200 feet in height pouring into it, and all the magnificence and grandeur of 600 miles of Rocky Mountain scenery. Vancouver and Victoria, those marvelous Pacific Coast cities, as well as Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, are only a few of the places to be visited, and three great bodies of water are also on the route, the Great Lakes, the Kootenay Lakes and the Strait of Georgia between Vancouver and Victoria.

Write for illustrated booklet of this marvelous trip to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Toronto, or to Prof. Sinclair, Macdonald College P.O., Que.

TRUE STORIES ABOUT LIFE INSURANCE
By a Mutual Life Representative

The FORGOTTEN CLAUSE

A NUMBER of years ago we issued a policy to a man who subsequently became incapacitated from tuberculosis. For three years he was unable to do anything.

One day his mother came to me wanting to surrender the policy on her son's life for the cash value. I examined the policy and found it carried a total disability clause which the poor woman had entirely overlooked.

I read the mother the disability clause. She didn't yet quite understand.

"It's all right for you to talk," she said, "but

"I need that money NOW"

I reported the case to the head office. The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada promptly refunded two years' premiums and in addition paid an amount covering the monthly income for the two previous years. Regularly each month after that until her son died, the mother received a cheque from the Mutual Life of Canada. At his death the company sent her a cheque for the amount of the policy in full.

Foreign Minister Chen's reply to the powers, the authority of which is almost certain to be questioned now, does not admit that Cantonese troops were responsible for the Nanking disorders which resulted in the deaths of seven foreigners. Proposing an investigation of the entire matter to determine the responsibility for it, Chen asserts that such incidents are likely to occur so long as the present "unequal treaties" exist.

In his replies to Great Britain and the United States, which are virtually identic with the others, Chen refers to the bombardment of the neighborhood of Socony Hill by British and United States warships on the days of the disorders, asserting that the ships "bombarded defenceless Nanking."

EASTER MESSAGES FROM THE CLERGY OF PETERBOROUGH AND DISTRICT

Rev. James Grier, B.A. (McG.)

If Christmas is a season of good cheer, Easter is a season of good hope. In pagan times it was the spring festival celebrating the release of the earth from winter's icy grip, and the presence of verdant tokens of a new life.

Christianity has taken over this old pagan festival and infused into it a new meaning. For the Christian, thought is transferred from the material to the spiritual realm. At the Easter season we rejoice, even as pagan peoples of 2,000 years ago, not over the springing of a new vegetation but over the springing of a new hope; not because winter-death has lost its hold of the soil, but because the shadow of a blacker death has been driven from the soul. The king of terror no longer holds majestic sway within the heart where "Christ hath brought immortality to light through the Gospel."

A Happy Easter! That wish is just as appropriate as the wish of a Happy Christmas. Easter is the greatest Christian festival. On that day Jesus Christ triumphed over all enemies.

"The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death". "But now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept."

If there is ever a time to dispute and argue that point, it is not now—This message is to them that believe; and so I say "A Happy Easter."

N. Clarke Wallace,
Rector, Christ Church,
Campbellford.

THE RISEN CHRIST

"He is risen."—Matt. 27, 6.

What a wealth of meaning that little sentence holds. He, Christ, our Saviour is risen. And, praise God, we are able to serve a risen Christ.

What does Christ's Resurrection mean to us? Paul says, Romans 5, 10: "If, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of His Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved (kept saved and safely kept) by His life."

What comfort and strength that thought brings. Yes, through Christ we can maintain here His life and gain from Him eternal life. Arise in Him from sin to a new life.

Let us do so now. Arise to love, serve, and live for Him.

"Vain the stone, the watch, the seal,
Christ hath burst the gates of hell;
Death in vain forbids His rise,
Christ hath opened Paradise."

Robt. W. Bright,
Captain, Salvation Army,
Campbellford.

AN EASTER MESSAGE

The darkest and saddest day in the history of the world was Good Friday when Jesus was crucified and darkness veiled the awful scene upon Calvary. The brightest and gladdest day was Easter when he burst the barriers of the tomb and a white robed angel rolled away the stone from the door of the sepulchre and proclaimed the glad tiding that "He is not here, He is risen" The two facts which complete and confirm the gospel history are the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ. The appointed sacrifice of redemption was finished when Jesus bowed his head in death on the cross. The divine seal was set to the sacrifice and the full and final witness was given to the world when He rose from the dead.

Easter comes with the thought that as the sun will release its imprisoned seeds and buds and call them forth to a larger and fuller life, so Christ the Sun of Righteousness comes to release the sin imprisoned soul, call forth its fullest development and to take away the sting of death and the victory of the grave. Easter is one of the world's greatest religious festivals because it celebrates the world's greatest personality, Jesus Christ, the world's greatest religion, Christianity and man's sublimest hope, the hope of everlasting blessedness.

The heathen mourned without hope for the departed When one had passed away it seemed like a flower crushed or like a life forever lost never to be seen again. The thought of death brought no cheer and no hope. Their epitaphs tell of despair. Death was called "an iron chamber," "eternal night," "King of terrors." Regarding the departed they exclaimed "farewell, farewell, forever farewell."

The death and resurrection of Christ gave to mankind a new thought of death. There is now the victorious note that "Christ is the resurrection and the life and that he that believeth in Him though he were dead yet shall he live." Easter gives us the hope of immortal blessedness and tells us that life never ends.

"The stars shine over the earth,
The stars shine over the sea,
The stars look up to the mighty God
The stars look down upon me.
The stars shall shine for a million years,
A million years and a day
But God and I will live and love
When the stars have passed away."

Our blessed Lord say "Let not your heart be troubled — in my Father's house are many mansions, I go to prepare a place for you." Immortality stamped on man's nature lift him up in thought transcendently above all other forms of life. He feels he is linked to God and He is from everlasting to everlasting.

Paul says that "if we are risen with Christ seek the things above." We should seek the best in our mental, social and religious life.

1—Because we are going to live. Our supreme ambition should be to live according to the teaching and spirit of Christ. Some live for the things of this world, its wealth, honor, and pleasure. This is a low ideal and makes men proud, selfish, worldly. "To be carnally minded is death."

2—We should seek the thing above because we are going to die and we must render an account of our stewardship. May the resurrection of Christ mean for us a spiritual rising from a life of sin to a life of righteousness.

The Easter message is hope, joy and call upward and onward to God and heaven.

Rev. D. A. McKenzie,
Burnbrae Manse.

Chas. D. Daniel, Campbellford.

The Easter season is here with us once again, with its message of the sure and certain hope of Eternal Life. Almost unconsciously ones mind goes back to another festival occasion of the church, when the whole atmosphere is filled with the message of "Peace on earth and good will to men." But, to-day, is Easter, not Christmas, and so the message strikes a different note, and instead of the announcement of the wonderful news of a commencing life, we have the world's greatest news item of a completed work, "it is finished." The life has been lived, the faith of God has been ventured, and it's true, gloriously true, "He is not dead, He is arisen." "He is not here, He is arisen." He has proven beyond the shadow of a doubt, that a life lived in the completest, loving, self-sacrificing way is a life that sin, wickedness, satan, death, cannot destroy, and the grave cannot hold. Is it any wonder the world sings, "Hallelujah," to-day and our very souls enter the spirit of the poet's message—

The strife is o'er, the battle done;
The victory of life is won;
The song of triumph has begun,
Hallelujah.

The powers of death have done their worst,
But Christ their legions hath dispersed,
Let shouts of holy joy outburst,
Hallelujah.

He broke the fast-bound chains of hell;
The bars from heavens light portals fell;
Let hymns of praise His triumph tell,
Hallelujah.

Lord by the stripes which wounded thee
From death's dread sting thy servants free,
That we may live and sing to Thee,
Hallelujah.

INSPECTOR FINDS SCHOOL SPIRIT GOOD

Advises, However, Installation of Electric Light in Omemee H. S.

OMEMEE, April 16. — The following is an extract taken from the High School Inspector's report on his visit to Omemee on March 15th, which has been submitted to the Board of Education by the Inspector, Mr. A. J. Husband ,of Toronto.

"Artificial lightin., should be provided. During the dark days of November and December it must be impossible to carry on the work without straining the eyesight of the pupils.

"It has been a pl. sure for me to visit the High School in Omemee and to note the good work that is being done in all of the classes. Miss Meredith is a good organizer and manager, and under her direction, the accommodations and equipment are being used in the most approved ways.

"The teaching is particularly good. Miss Meredith has, in addition to good ability as a teacher, the advantage of considerable experience. Mr. Stalter, too, has made a good beginning and gives promise of rising in the profession.

Marmora School Boys Start Wearing Christies

MARMORA, April 16. — The selling out of an old stock of Christie hats in the village seems to have been well appreciated, for not only are adults sporting this form of headgear but schoolboys also are showing a weakness for them. Some folk are beginning to wonder how far the local experiment will undesignedly go towards influencing the return of the Christie to the fashion list again.

TINY LAMP MADE FOR MICROSCOPE

Reflects Light Without Shadow, Aiding in Scientific Work.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Nature could not, as the saying goes, hold a candle to the new miscroscope lamp which the Westinghouse Miniature Lamp Works has contrived to make in Brooklyn.

The lamp is like footlights for a fly, especially if the fly be dead and under inspection by a microscopist. It forms a miniature electric circle of illumination, like a magic fire which burned around sleeping Brunhilde.

"It was necessary before we attempted this new development," said J. C. Grogan of the lamp works, "to find a man who could blow glass, as this is now considered a lost art, and the only place glass-blowers are to be seen these days is with the circus."

Grogan's order from the scientific men was for a lamp which could be laid upon the glass slide of a microscope and illuminate from all angles whatever was upon that slide. The researchers in the past have been troubled from shadows, from side lights and from the flattening of perspective when light comes from above. The lamp superintendent finally found a glass-blower and got him to blow delicate horseshoe-shaped tubes, silvered inside and painted black outside except for a small streak on the inner circumference.

A filament was then pulled through the tube and supported by small, stiff wires, like tiny hairpins, and then the ends of the tube were sealed off and the tube evacuated. The result was an incandescent lamp which reflects light without a shadow upon the minute objects placed at its centre.

Among various later appearances of Jesus he joined two disciples walking to Emmaus and discoursed with them concerning the meaning of His death. (Luke XXIV : 13-35)

Thomas doubts that Christ is risen. Jesus invites him to feel His wound prints, saying, "Be not faithless, but believing." (John XX : 26-28)

Jesus later appears to some of the disciples as they are fishing on the sea of Tiberias. (John XXI : 1-11)

MISSION SOCIETIES MEET AT MILLBROOK

Anglican and United Church Bodies Hold Regular Sessions.

MILLBROOK, April 16.—The Women's Missionary Auxiliary of St. Thomas' Church held its April meeting on Monday evening at the home of Miss Margaret Whyte, with a good attendance and continued interest in the work manifested.

The President, Mrs. (Canon) Allen, was in charge, and the reports of officers were received following the opening devotional period. These were all of an encouraging nature, one of special interest being from Miss Annie Armstrong, Dorcas Secretary, who stated that the annual bale, prepared by all the women of the parish, had been packed that afternoon.

This bale contained a complete outfit for an Indian girl at the MacKay Home, The Pas, Manitoba, and was valued at $53.00. It will be shipped to its destination in the immediate future.

Another interesting item referred to the partial bale prepared by the Junior Auxiliary, which was also packed on Monday. Miss Muriel Smith is the faithful and efficient Superintendent of the junior workers, and much credit is due her for the work which the children accomplished on the warm quilt, and the dainty baby's outfit, which were sent to the W. A. House, Toronto, to be used in completing a bale for the supply of some mission station on the home field.

Mrs. E. Whyte was appointed delegate to the annual W. A. diocesan convention to be held in Toronto in May, with Miss Rose Macnamara as alternate; Miss Muriel Smith is the delegate to represent the junior branch.

The matter of the Easter offering was given attention, several members paying theirs in at the meeting; others will place their envelopes on the plate on Easter Sunday morning; the total amount going toward the missionary apportionment of the church.

Mrs. J. A. Vance took up the last two chapters of the study book, "In Desert and Town." The book has proved instructive and interesting, dealing largely with what it really means to a Moslem to become a Christian.

In order to focus the whole study in an entertaining and impressive manner, there will be an illustrated lecture on "The Moslem World in Revolution" in the Parish Hall on Thursday, April 28, and Mrs. Allen reminded the members of the event.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, Mrs. Allen being associated with her as hostess for the occasion.

Miss Whyte, assisted by her niece, Miss A. Fair, served refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting this week, and a most enjoyable social hour was spent. The meeting was one week earlier than usual, owing to Monday of next week being Easter Monday.

United Church W.M.A.

The Easter meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the United Church was held in the Sunday School auditorium on Wednesday afternoon, with over thirty in attendance.

The President, Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard, was in the chair for the opening devotional period, and conducted the Easter responsive service, "The Lord is Risen Indeed," in which all took part.

Mrs. T. H. Aiken was appointed Mite Box Secretary, and Mrs. F. Smith the Strangers' Secretary.

Reports from the various group leaders were received, each of the nine making a most creditable showing, with Group D, Mrs. Aiken (Convener) leading, having a total score of 141 points. One point is allowed for attendance of members, two points for a new member, five for a life member, and one point for each dollar raised by the group. Group leaders for the ensuing year are: Group A, Mrs. F. H. Smith; Group B, Mrs. C. C. Garside; Group C, Mrs. O. Williamson; Group D, Mrs. T. H. Aiken; Group E, Mrs. H. Lang; Group F, Miss Mary Widdis; Group G, Mrs. (Dr.) Rae; Group H, Mrs. H. E. Smith.

The Corresponding Secretary read [illegible] the amount of clothing for an Indian boy aged 15 years which the Auxiliary must furnish by September 20. The Golden Links Mission Circle has to prepare sweater, toque and woollen gloves for an Indian girl of 13 years. The Cobourg Presbyterial is made responsible for supplies for the Coquallitza Indian School, B.C., 200 pupils, and each Auxiliary and Circle must do its allotted share. Mrs. J. L. Byam is the local Supply Secretary.

Miss S. Hetherington was appointed delegate to the Presbyterial convention to be held at Bowmanville, on April 26, though it is expected that a number will go by motor for the occasion.

Rev. Joseph Wilks gave a most instructive talk on "Missions in Africa," using a blackboard to illustrate the situation of stations in Portugese West Africa where he spent four years as a member of Bishop Taylor's Self-Supporting Mission several years ago.

Mr. Wilks was received by all standing as he came to the platform, a well deserved tribute to "one whom we look upon as our own missionary." The benefits arising from the United Church as they affect missionary activities were outlined by the speaker, as he went on to speak of the Dark Continent, "which could swallow India, China, Australia, and still have room to spare."

The increase in the work in the section which is now under the Canadian United Church in the past forty years was told with due emphasis, special interest attaching to the fact that churches, schools, homes for native pastors, etc., have all been built, and are owned and functioning through native believers.

Mrs. Howard led in the closing prayer, and a business meeting of the group leaders followed the public session.

MARMORA BAND MAKES PROGRESS

MARMORA, April 16.—Wonderful progress has been made by Marmora Community Band during the winter months, so that it can scarcely be recognized as the struggling aggregation of a year ago. At present over twenty members are enrolled, and faithful attendance at practices with first-class tuition from Bandmaster Hunter is ensuring for the village band of no mean order.

BOOSTER CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

J. P. Marrin Re-elected President of Marmora Organization.

MARMORA, April 16.—At the adjourned meeting of Marmora Booster Club held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday evening, the election of officers resulted as follows:

President—J. P. Marvin, re-elected.
1st Vice-President—W. F. Bowen, re-elected.
2nd Vice-President—D. E. Bell.
3rd Vice-President—G. Forestell.
Secretary—H. W. Sabine.
Treasurer—C. W. Gladney.
Directors—Dr. D. L. Curtis, F. R. Wells, C. W. Rhind, J. E. Gehan, W. R. Linn and D. E. Bell.

The matter of fuller accommodation for tourists introduced by D. E. Bell was discussed at some length, whereupon it was decided to encourage through trevadiesenm age through advertisements in certain sporting publications, and in the Hotel World the investment of capital in an hotel scheme. The stocking of local waters with fish fry was next discussed. It was stated that 5,000 bass fry were promised by the Department of Fisheries for Crowe Lake, as well as a similar number for Beaver Creek. The request for fry for the Twin Lakes was not granted by the department.

The maintenance of the two roads leading from the highway into Crowe Lake was next considered.

R. E. Bonter, Reeve of Marmora Township, mentioned that five hundred dollars would be expended by the Township Council this year on the improvement and widening of the road leading to the Booster Club Park.

The President and 1st Vice-President were appointed a committee to meet the Township Council in connection with desired road work.

The final business was the appointment of the President and Secretary as a committee to draft a circular, giving such information of the district as asked for in letters from prospective tourists so that a copy may be sent to such, and also to the leading sporting goods offices in the cities.

TONE UP THE BLOOD AND NERVES NOW

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Have No Equal For This Purpose.

Anaemia, or lack of good blood causes not only pale face and white lips; it is the root of many pains and miseries. It is the cause of shattered nerves, headaches and backaches, and the always tired feeling from which so many woman and girls suffer. To regain new health and strength the blood should be enriched through the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This medicine has brought new health and strength to thousands of weak despondent people.

Among those who have found new health through the use of this medicine is Mrs. Gregory J. Murphy East Ship Harbor, N.S., who says:—"I bless the day I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before I began their use I was in a run-down condition. The least exertion would leave me breathless and tired out. Housework was a trial, and at times I felt very despondent. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pills and I got six boxes. I had not been taking the pills very long until I began to improve in health, and continuing their use they restored me to my former good health. I also gave the pills to my daughter, who was anaemic and run-down, with the same good results. Now I always have the pills in the house and would not like to be without them.'

Get a box from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from your druggist today, or send 50 cents to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and a box will be sent you post paid. A little book, "Building Up the Blood," which explains the treatment, will be sent free on request.

ICE MOVES OUT FROM HIAWATHA

Break-up in Rice Lake Is Apparently Close at Hand.

HIAWATHA NEWS.

HIAWATHA, April 16.—The ice is moving at last. Last Sunday the north wind caused it to shift toward Spook Island and Hattrick's Point. The force caused the ice to pile up high there. This movement left a clear space of over a square mile in extent. No people ventured out, fearing that the wind might change and catch and perhaps crush the canoe or skiff.

As the wind changed the ice came back eastward on Monday, causing large portions to break from the moving field.

On Tuesday Mr. Bert Adams, who is a local guide and was a stroke oarsman in 1890 for Cambridge University, England, went as far as the mouth of the River Otonabee in his skiff. He is very speedy with the oars and in the summer often beats the outboard motor boats.

Now, if the floating ice does not block the way, motor boats can come from Peterborough. As yet no boat has sailed up Rice Lake from the Trent. A large piece of ice, not broken, lies just east of this village and west of Paudash Island.

Mrs. Maud Nichols and her son Harold, and Mrs. H. Gibbs, of Peterborough visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Paudash on Sunday.

Mr. William W. Anderson returned to Hiawatha on Saturday after spending last week at Campbellton.

During the week end Miss Laura Blaker of Peterborough visited her cousin, Miss Laura Cowie.

Miss Verta Crowe left on Tuesday for Toronto and returned home on Friday with her sister, Miss Verna Crowe.

Miss Marion Adamson of Mathers Corners and Miss Dorothy Gainor of Keene were visitors in the village on Sunday.

Hector Weaver and his brother, Bruce Weaver, are renewing boyhood acquaintances before returning to Lindsay.

Ploughing was done by Robert Cowie on Monday, April 11, and cultivating by Clifford Coward on the same day.

FARMERS AWAIT WARMER WEATHER

Ground Still Too Cold For Sowing in Omemee District.

OMEMEE, April 16.—Owing to weather conditions, farmers in this vicinity have not been in a rush to get on the land. With the exception of two or three farmers who own some light land, practically no progress can yet be made, owing to so much moisture in the ground. Then, too, it is the opinion of F. G. Sandy, M.L.A., that since the farm machinery has been so much improved, farmers do not as a rule experience any difficulty in completing the seeding in good time. In olden times the method was so slow that tilling the soil had to commence as early as possible in order that the seed might be planted.

As yet the weather has been so cold that there is no growth, and by waiting until the ground warms up a little, the weed seeds have a chance to germinate and their progress is checked when cultivating begins.

DOCTORS ADVICE TO THE SICK

Wash Away All Poisons in Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels Before Breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, no more headaches, indigestion, gas on stomach, bilious attacks, rheumatism, kidney pains, bad breath, you must bathe your self inside. Start today by taking one Tanol Calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime, then next morning drink a glass or two of hot water, to wash from the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels all the previous day's waste, poison and toxins before more food is taken in. Get a few Tanol tablets from F. C. Weber, Charlotte street, Peterborough. They are harmless to take, do not nauseate, no bad after effects, no salts or seidlitz next morning, like ordinary calomel. Then you can eat better, sleep better, work better, think better and look better.

MOUNT PLEASANT

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 16.—Ploughing has begun in these parts. Mr. William Waters has been ploughing for several days. The weather during the past week has been very hard on the wheat and clover, the hard frosts at night and the cold wind during the day doing great harm.

Mrs. Wesley Casey and daughter, Roxie, of Orange Corners, returned to her home on Sunday after spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Handley, in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruth were visitors in Omemee on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Paragreen spent Sunday visiting with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson.

Mr. Hubert Lowes has purchased a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiriam Best and Mrs. Frank Gardiner motored to Peterboro on Saturday.

Mrs. Austin Best and Mr. Mewyn Best motored to Millbrook on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Veset and family have taken up residence in Mr. McPherson's house west of the village.

Miss Helen Sanderson, teacher here, spent the week end at her home near Fairmount.

Miss Evelyn Bland of Omemee High school spent the week end at her home here.

Owners of local apiaries report that 100 per cent of their hives are still alive despite the fact that they are passing through a very difficult season of the year.

FARM AUCTION IS SUCCESSFUL

Charles Milne's Stock Sells For Good Prices in Most Cases

FEW BARGAINS.

BURNBRAE, April 16.—Charles Milne held a very successful auction sale of farm stock and implements at his farm, one mile east of Menie, on Monday afternoon. J. A. Battisby was auctioneer and he secured good prices for most of the offering. Dairy cows were again in demand and prices ranged from $50 up to $94 each with a few of the best cows selling close to the latter figure. Two good general purpose horses, five years of age were good value at $133 and $155 each. Young pigs about 80 lbs. each brought $12 a pair, 70 per cent above market value. Machinery prices varied with some bargains while some articles brought full value. Hay was cheap at $7 a ton for both mixed hay and alfalfa. Oats were but little above feed prices at 70c a bushel, while barley soared to $1.25 a bushel.

Mr. and Mrs. Milne have rented their farm to Albert Hay, and are moving to Campbellford, where they have purchased property.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Joy, almost entirely recovered, with the remarkable resilience of childhood, from bronchial pneumonia, begged so hard to be allowed to see her sister that Faith and Bob bundled her up warmly and took her to the jail with them on Sunday. Jim Lane did not go, but sat brooding in the kitchen, almost buried beneath mounds of Sunday papers. Junior and his bride, Fay, went early to the jail, carrying a basket filled with delicacies from Faith's bountiful Sunday dinner, but they had left when Faith, Bob and Joy arrived.

"Hello, Giggly Alley!" Cherry cried joyously, as she kissed her little sister's waxen pale face, using the nick-name which the school-children had given her, as a parody of her name, Joy Lane. "How do you like my parlor?" and she waved cheerfully to indicate the furnishings of the women's ward reception room of the jail.

"I been praying for you," Joy told Cherry. "And I got pneumonia," she added proudly. "When are you coming home, Cherry? I prayed to God to punish me instead of you, and He did, so I know you won't be hung or 'lectrocuted, like Cora Parsons said you would be."

"Of course I won't, Joy, honey!" Cherry laughed, but her golden eyes were misty with tears. "Now, you lie on this nice couch, and Mrs. Webb, the matron, who's a perfect peach to me, will help you do a cross word puzzle."

"You come along with me, Joy, and I'll show you a new game of solitaire that I've just learned," Mrs. Webb, the matron, bustled forward, her eyes compassionate, her motherly arms extended. "Cherry and her sister and Mr. Hathaway must want to have a nice long talk."

Cherry's face underwent a swift change when Joy was no longer watching it with her sharp gray eyes. "Oh, I'm disgraced for life! No matter how the trial comes out, I'll be an outcast! That awful Albert Ettleson! I don't see how I ever did it. Do you hate me too, Faith?"

"Of course I don't hate you, darling. Don't be a little idiot! I want you to try to get a good night's sleep tonight, honey, for tomorrow will probably be a bad day. I heard Banning tell a reporter that he would put Mrs. Allbright on the stand the first thing Monday morning. She'll testify about the dance at the Marlboro Country Club when you—you—"

"When I tried to vamp Bob away from you to save myself from marrying his uncle," burst out Cherry with sudden bitterness. "Oh, every tiny little thing that I ever did, as well as the big ones like that, will be dragged out into the courtroom to shame me for life! Trials are so monstrously unfair, Bob," she cried, turning her tear-drenched eyes toward the young man who stood regarding her gravely and sympathetically.

"You mustn't brood on that now, Cherry!" Bob told her almost sternly. "You must be thinking of everything that can be of any help to Churchill in cross examination of Aunt Alice—no, I won't call her an aunt of mine any longer!—of Mrs. Allbright. And you must sleep as much as possible, eat well, keep your courage up, for your courage and your beauty are your greatest defense witnesses. Faith and I were saying yesterday that the whole jury is in love with you—"

"In love!" Cherry cried bitterly. "I wish I'd never heard the word, 'love!' What has it gotten me, I'd like to know? A husband I hate, and—and a cell in jail! And beauty! I suppose it's really my 'fatal beauty' that's brought me here," she laughed shakily, the old Cherry asserting herself. And to the sad amusement of Faith and Bob, she took a tiny powder-and-rouge compact from the pocket of her black dress and surveyed her mirrored face with unconcealable approval.

"I wish Churchill would let me use a little lipstick and rouge!" she pouted charmingly. "I'm so ghastly pale. Say, isn't Judge Grimshaw a darling. He smiled at me twice today!"

True to his promise to the press, District Attorney Banning called Mrs. Seymour Allbright to the witness stand immediately after court was declared in session on Monday morning.

"Your name?" Banning asked, in a gentle voice, of the tall, stately, middle-aged, richly dressed woman who occupied the witness chair as if it had been a throne.

"Alice Cluny Allbright," the witness answered in a low, clear voice. If she was conscious that two or three staff artists of metropolitan newspapers were sketching her, she gave no sign.

"You were related to the deceased Ralph Winston Cluny?" Banning asked gently.

"He was my father." Mrs. Allbright's voice trembled slightly.

"Your mother is also dead?" Banning pursued in a deferential voice.

"My mother died three years ago."

"Mrs. Allbright, may I ask if you approved of your father's engagement to the defendant, Cherry Lane Wiley?"

"I did not!" There was well-bred indignation in the witness' voice.

"Now, Mrs. Allbright, I will ask you if you recall the date of Saturday, October 2, last?"

"I do."

"Mrs. Allbright, will you relate the events of the evening of October 2, insofar as they concern this defendant, and to the extent of your personal knowledge?"

"My husband, Mr. Seymour Allbright, and my daughter, Muriel, and I were attending the regular Saturday night dinner-dance at the Marlboro Country Club on that date." Mrs. Allbright began unhurriedly, as if she had rehearsed her story well. "About half past nine my—nephew," she hesitated over the word as if she hated to acknowledge the relationship, "Mr. Robert Hathaway, who is also a member of the Marlboro Country Club, arrived with Miss Lane, Miss Cherry Lane," she amended, a flush staining the delicate pallor of her cheeks, "and introduced her to my husband, my daughter and myself."

"Just a minute, Mrs. Allbright," Banning interrupted her gently. "Did you know at this time that your father was engaged to be married to Miss Cherry?"

"I did. My cousin, Miss Amelia Peabody, had heard the news and had told me, although my father had not yet taken me into his confidence."

"Go ahead, Mrs. Allbright, in your own way."

"About half past ten or maybe it was not quite so late, I went into the library of the clubhouse to rest between dances. I was alone there, seated in one of the large, overstuffed easy chairs, and not easily visible from every part of the room, which is quite large. A few minutes after I had seated myself, my nephew and Miss Lane entered the room. I did not disclose my presence, since I did not deem it necessary, as the room is a public one. But when I heard the sound of a—a kiss, I rose from the chair, intending to leave the room to the lovers. It was then that I heard Miss Lane say, 'I'll give you your answer now, Bob. It is yes'."

"Go right on, Mrs. Allbright," Banning urged happily.

"I advanced toward the couple—they were in each other's arms—and Miss Lane broke away from my nephew's embrace, as if confused, and I put my arms about her, congratulating her—"

"Just what were your words, Mrs. Allbright?"

"I believe I said, 'I'm so glad! I knew there must be some mistake. So it's you after all, Bob! Congratulations'!"

"That is all, Mrs. Allbright," Banning dismissed her hastily but courteously. "Your witness!" and he waved an ironic hand toward Churchill.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Bernard of Paris makes this waterproof wrap from rubberized green cotton twill, the effect being more that of a light-weight frock than an old-fashioned mackintosh. Closely fitting gaiters are worn with it.

They are selling dainty little waterproofs of silky appearance that may be folded up and kept in little cases sold with the waterproofs. Filled with the waterproof, one of these cases makes an excellent pillow to put behind your head when you are traveling by train or by motor.

These little waterproofs may be had in a number of attractive colors—and the woman who is careful in matters of dress usually chooses one to match her favorite umbrella.

Rainy weather has indeed been robbed of much of its gloom since women gave up the foolish old idea that a raincoat had to be dull or dark. They have also apparently got over the old notion that a little rain water splashed on the ankles would bring inevitable pneumonia. There aren't any high shoes any more, and the predicted revival of spats came to naught. So we pick our way about on rainy days and comfort ourselves that we have a fresh pair of stockings in our handbag to change to in case we do get spattered.

They speak now of the glorification of the waterproof. The new sorts of waterproofs are as different from the old sort as roses from cabbages. And the interesting thing about it all is that though the old-fashioned drab, badly designed waterproof looked practical it wasn't actually a bit more practical than the colored sort that women now wear.

Many women choose very light-weight waterproofs that can be carried in little cases or even tucked into a fairly large handbag. Others prefer to wear a waterproof costume that is appropriate for fair weather as well. Thus they go prepared for showers without the trouble of carrying any thing. Inventive brains have devised ways of making crepe de chine, drap de soie and even velvet as waterproof as a duck's back. There are even waterproof costumes made of figured materials—and there are women who actually wear gayer clothes in bad weather than in fair.

For cool weather there were waterproofs lined with plaid wool, with velvet or even with fine fur, so that one did not have to think of a wrap beneath the thin water-day clothes recently made a waterproof of black crepe de chine and velvet lined with white moire.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

SUNDAY, APRIL 17, 1927

Through the busy hours of this day kindly influences govern, according to astrology. The evening is not altogether favorable.

This should be a day given up to constructive work of every sort. It is fortunate for planning as well as taking stock of big enterprises.

There is a promising sign for journeys and the stars forecast a great deal of traveling in the coming summer. Unrest will be felt in all parts of the globe, the seers explain, because the human mind reflects disturbed world conditions.

Repeatedly, astrologers have counseled the cultivation of thrift and of self-denying habits and again they advise care in spending money.

There is a fairly good sign for the clergy and the churches who will find quick response to effort that tends toward civic righteousness.

For a long time, ever since the war, the seers have prophesied that the scope of the churches would be extended so that they would engage in everyday reform work, and they repeat their forecasts.

Speculation in many lines will tempt in the coming weeks, but it should be resisted, astrologers declare.

Investment in real estate are well directed at this time and it is prognosticated that the Pacific coast will have a period of extreme activity.

Great events of world-wide interest are close at hand, according to the reading of the stars, among which are certain menacing aspects.

A London astrologer persistently predicts that Uncle Sam is to acquire mining rights in China.

Cotton and rubber continue to be objects of special interest to all who are interested in commercial enterprises.

Persons whose birthdate it is should stick to work and resist the temptation to make money easily.

Children born on this day have the augury of success through the right sort of industry. They should never speculate.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

MONDAY, APRIL 18, 1927

This is a threatening day, according to astrology, which finds that malefic influences are active.

The early morning is read as fortunate for those who wield power but most unfavorable to all who are subject to them.

There is an aspect inclining men and women who have authority to be domineering and overbearing. They court disaster.

The sway that menaces the majority who do not rule destiny is read as foreshadowing for certain heads of government a fall from throne or executive chair.

Under this rule there is likely to be much wrong thinking, which will be encouraged by evil propaganda.

While the world apparently is becoming more and more disturbed by bad influences the seers declare that tremendous forces for good are working secretly.

Great organizations will extend their might in all directions for the benefit of all the people, it is prognosticated, but they must operate under cover to facilitate results.

The summer which is to be apparently inactive in official circles in Washington is to develop big problems for early autumn, astrologers foretell.

Neptune near the nadir and Saturn in menacing aspect appear to indicate for the United States danger of war and emphasis of trouble with Mexico.

Women are to find the summer a time of preparation for important work of national moment. It is foretold.

Both men and women in the United States are to make immense fortunes through some sort of European condition, the seers again predict.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be exceedingly careful and circumspect in the coming year.

Children born on this day probably will be self-reliant and industrious. Speculative enterprises will not be lucky for them.

FIVE MEN STEAL $1,725 BUT HAVE SHORT FREEDOM

Four Caught Within Two Hours of Robbery at Sandwich East.

$1,004 RECOVERED.

Chief of Police and Realtor Victims of Hold-up Gang.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 16. — Five bandits held up and robbed Joseph Breault, Windsor realtor, and Henry Cachoy, Chief of Police of Sandwich East, on an unoccupied farm near here at 1.30 p.m. Wednesday. They took $1,575 from Breault, relieved the police officer of $150 and his revolver and left them handcuffed together.

Exactly two hours later four of the five outlaws were captured, having been surrounded in a wooded field by a posse of police officers and deputized citizens. The fifth escaped from the cordon and fled across the fields in the direction of Maidstone. An effort to cut him off proved unsuccessful. The police recovered $1,004 of the money.

The four now in custody are: Wilfred Johnson and William Finley, Chatham; Charles King, Toronto, and George Thompson, Cincinnati.

Mr. Breault has a vacant farm on the third concession in Sandwich East which he recently rented to W. J. Parks, of Windsor. Mrs. Breault, who lives in the country near the farm, noticed a car drive away from it at a high speed about 9 a.m. It returned at 11.30 a.m. Becoming suspicious, she notified Mr. Breault, who in turn got in touch with Chief Cachoy.

The three went to the farm, arriving there about 1.15 p.m. Mr. Breault walked across the farm yard to the milk shed, and peering through the window saw a stranger lying asleep on a mattress inside. He tried the door, but it was locked. Returning to the window, he opened it and managed by throwing a magazine at the man to rouse him. The stranger, who later was identified as William Finlay, of Chatham, was unable to give a satisfactory account of himself. He resisted arrest, but was finally handcuffed by the united efforts of the two men.

They removed Finlay from the milk house, and as they did so, noticed a sedan standing in the garage. There were four men asleep in it. Chief Cachoy drew his revolver and walked towards the garage. As he did so, Finlay, though handcuffed, stuck a gun in his ribs and shouted out, arousing the men in the car. In an instant Cachoy and Breault were covered by four guns. A search of Cachoy's pockets revealed the handcuff keys, with which the bandits released Finlay. They searched Breault and Cachoy and took $1,725 from them, and left them handcuffed together.

Attempt to Escape Futile.

An attempt to escape in the sedan was unsuccessful. The car went only a few feet and stopped.

The quintet then transferred to Breault's car. The clutch was slipping badly, however, and they could make no headway, so they abandoned the car and headed on foot for the bush to the south.

Cachoy telephoned for help. Chief Constable Desjardines, of Tecumseh, arrived and released the discomfited pair. By this time word of the hold-up had reached all the police departments along the border—Tecumseh, Riverside, Ford City, Walkerville and Windsor—and each sent its quota to make up one of the most formidable posses on record.

The bandits ran through heavy going for about two miles and lay down under a fallen tree. They were seen by Chief James Smith, of Walkerville, who carried a high-powered rifle. He fired two shots in their general direction, and one man, Thompson, of Cincinnati, ran to the roadside and gave himself up to Chief Cachoy and Wilfred Renaud, Reeve of Sandwich East.

Approaching closer, Chief Smith fired five shots, striking within a few inches of the four remaining bandits each time. On the fifth shot they surrendered. One managed to make a getaway, however. Chief Smith kept the other three covered, while Sergeant Huddlestone, Walkerville, Hugh Garrick, taxi driver, and B. Meisner, a traveller, walked up and placed them under arrest. Garrick and Meisner were both deputized by Chief Smith.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING A GREAT PREACHER

In St. St. Paul's Church on Sunday Night With a Message of Unusual Interest.

DR. FORD C. OTTMAN.

On the Battlefield of Armageddon and the World's Last and Greatest War.

The city of Peterborough is to have the privilege of hearing one of the great preachers of this century, on the occasion of a return visit of Dr. Ford C. Ottman, whose former visit is still fresh in the memories of a great many people. As an expositor of the prophetic Scriptures, he is not excelled by any living preacher; and, as a writer, some of his books have been listed as among the best sellers. When a young man, just out of Princeton, he stirred a hornet's nest among many hostile critics of the word of God by his book,

"The Devil in Cap and Gown,"

a book which is just as timely today as it was when first published. For the sheer delight of reading the best English prose, some of his writings provide an intellectual feast of the highest order.

The minister of St. Paul's has made arrangements to have his books displayed on a book-table for the benefit of those who will be in attendance at the services and who may want to purchase his works.

Sunday Evening.

The title of Sunday night's message is, "The Trumpets of Demons Summoning the Kings of the Earth to the Battlefield of Armageddon." There will be no service on Monday. On Tuesday night his theme will be, "The Golden Lampstands;" Wednesday, "The Lion of Judah;" Thursday, "Sealed for Salvation," and on Friday, "The New Jerusalem," all of these being studies in the Book of Revelation.

MOTHERS PRAISE BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. L. M. Brown, Walton, N.S., says: "I cannot recommend Baby's Own Tablets too highly. I have found them invaluable for the ailments of little ones." Mrs. Brown's testimony is the same as that of thousands of other mothers who have used the Tablets. To use them once is a sure guarantee that they will always be kept in the home as long as there are babies or young children to be cared for. The Tablets are a laxative—mild but thorough in action—which never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels; relieve constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make the dreaded teething period easy. In fact you banish all the minor ills from which little ones suffer. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

UNITED CHURCH SERVICE.

Combined Communion Service in George Street Church.

The United Church Communion service in George Street United Church Good Friday at 10.30 was a splendid conclusion to the services of Fassion Week. Long before the hour for opening people began to file in slowly and reverently as if the spirit of the day was in their hearts. Promptly at 10.30 the ministers of the United churches took their places about the pulpit, with Rev. Wm. McDonald of Knox Church in charge of the service. Massed immediately in front of the pulpit were forty laymen, representing the six participating congregations who were to assist in the celebration of the Sacrament. The fine auditorium was soon crowded, and late arrivals found places in the gallery. Some of the great hymns of the Church were sung: "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," "Oh Love that will not let me go," "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," and Miss Daisy Murray sang very beautifully, "There is a Green Hill Far Away," while the vast congregation listened in quiet reverent stillness. Christ's intercessory prayer from John 17 found the lesson. The Rev. David Wren of Trinity United Church was the preacher for the day, and his great task was to hold up before his hearers the Cross of Jesus Christ. In intense earnestness, with deep personal conviction of the truth of his words ringing through every sentence, with eloquence and often with deep emotion, Mr. Wren gathered his hearers about the cross—where man's sin is so easily seen and where God's love is so greatly made plain.

The Sacrament followed, and in this part of the service each of the ministers of the United churches of the city assisted, with Rev. J. E. Todd directing the distribution of the elements.

It was a real union service — a union of six congregations and a union of two great and glorious traditions reaching back through the years. Rev. Wm. McDonald, Scotch by name and Presbyterian in accent and appearance, who could never by any chance conceal his ancestry and faith — Rev. David Wren, just as unmistakably Methodist in his every turn and word, Presbyterian elders sitting side by side with their methodist brethren and all about them kindred spirits—men and women who like themselves cared so greatly for the Kingdom of God that they rejoiced in the opportunity afforded by union.

To share in this hour of worship was a mountain-top experience. The spirit of John Wesley and John Knox—the spirit, high of courage and joyous assurance, was brooding over the service. Faith and hope and love seemed easy, and when the immense throng issued into the glorious sunlight, quiet and happy faces proclaimed that it was good to have been at this United Church Communion service.

20 INCHES RAIN IN THREE DAYS

New South Wales Deluged—Shipping Driven From Coast.

TRAINS BLOCKED.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., April 16 (Special by British United Press).—New South Wales is experiencing one of the worst Easters in its history, three days of rain having deluged the coastal strip. As much as 20 inches have been recorded and floods are feared along the coastal rivers. While wires are down, interrupting communications, the news of one fatality has already been reported through a landslide.

Ferry services in the harbor have been suspended; shipping is standing off the coast, and a great Easter agriculture show and racing carnivals have been held up.

Dozens of passenger trains are blocked by washouts and landslides.

NEW LOBLAW GROCETERIA OPENED THURSDAY

Mr. Chas. B. Shields, Assistant Managing Director, Here For the Occasion—System is Very Efficient.

As was to be expected on the advent of a Loblaw Groceteria in Peterborough, there was a crowd to view the opening at two p.m. on Thursday. The Easter shoppers flocked in to see or to buy as the case might be, and the big store had its hands full to take care of them.

A large staff of clerks, and directors were on hand to look after the first half day's business, and everything went off smoothly and with celerity.

Mr. Chas. B. Shields, Assistant Managing Director of the Loblaw Stores, who has given the construction of the Peterborough Store his personal supervision, was again in town for the opening of the new Groceteria and expressed himself as being well pleased with their reception.

Charlotte street has been given a decided boost by the addition of this bright and attractive store of Loblaw's.

The entrance is clearly marked "IN" and one enters through a turnstile into an isle, the sides of which are lined with goods. On the right at the entrance is a binful of provision baskets of ample size which are loaned the customers for a tour of the shop. At the desk the baskets are emptied, the goods wrapped, and the baskets returned to the bin for other customers.

Along the walls of the store are shelves filled with canned goods, jars of pickles, fruit, jellies, and all sorts of foodstuffs, and in the centre of the shop along the side is the biscuit and cake counter, at which are two girls who cut and serve the cake.

Down the centre of the store are more counters which are filled with perishable goods, such as bacon, butter, eggs, vegetables. The butter and bacon and other dairy goods are kept in patented refrigerator counter. The cheese is packed in sizes at all prices, to interest the desire of the buyer. Other commodities are packed conveniently and placed on sale so that they can be bought without any delay whatever. The patrons serve themselves—no waiting. An article may be chosen and taken with the least possible delay.

RE-OPENING BRASS' LADIES' WEAR STORE

Capacity Crowds, Music, Flowers, Everything New and Bright.

The Brass re-opening of their ladies'-wear store on Thursday drew capacity crowds. The store, finished in old ivory, and bright with new electric light effects, housed a cheerful crowd.

Music and floral decorations added to the effectiveness of the scene as the ladies inspected the Paris creation in hats, the unique display of hosiery, and other articles of ladies' wear, so attractively shown.

Every part of the re-modelling was done by local workmen, lights by Grant & Thorpe, flowers by Peterborough Floral Co., windows and interior by F. Dummitt, the woodwork coming from the McDonald Lumber Co., and drapery and awnings were by J. J. Turner & Sons. The music was from a handsome Orthophonic suplied by E. V. Warne.

PUXICO, Mo., April 16—Solomon Johnson, Jr., farmer, swallowed a rivet from a mowing machine. His condition puzzled physicians for 16 days, as his fever was extremely high and he refused food. Finally he gave a mighty cough and the rivet was thrown from his lungs.

CHURCHES HAVE SPECIAL MUSIC

Good Friday Services Well Attended in All Denominations.

SIX IN ONE.

Good Friday was observed in the majority of the city churches yesterday, by special devotional services and music in keeping with the spirit of the day. The largest service, possibly, was held at George Street Church in the morning, when the various United Churches of the city, six in number, combined in one large service, particulars of which appear in another column. Special musical services at St. John's Church and All Saints' Church are also reported in full in other sections of this edition.

At St. Peter's Catherdal, the Stations of the Cross were said during the afternoon and evening, with a special sermon on the Passion of Christ given at the evening service by Rev. J. McCarthy of Norwood. Veneration of the True Cross followed.

At the Church of the Immaculate Conception and of the Sacred Heart, the Stations were said during afternoon and evening, Rev. Monsignor McColl delivering the sermon in the evening in the East City Church, and Rev. J. McAuley of Ennismore speaking at the South End church.

At St. John's Church, St. Luke's Church and St. George's Church, a Good Friday service was solmenized from twelve to three o'clock, with a short ante-Communion service at St. John's in the morning. In the afternoon, at St. John's, Rev. Dr. Blagrave took the devotional part of the services, and short addresses on the Seven Words from the Cross were given by Rev. T. J. O'Conor-Fenton of Norwood. In the evening, Maunder's sacred cantata, "Olivet to Calvary" was given by the choir. At All Saints', the morning service was featured by a sermon by Rev. C. C. Robinson of Japan, and a splendid musical service was given in the evening, when the choir rendered Maunder's cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace." The devotional services were taken by the rector, Rev. J. D. Paterson. St. Luke's and St. George's Churches had the Three Hours' Devotion from noon to three o'clock in the afternoon, conducted by the rectors, Rev. G. J. Bousfield and Rev. J. L. Hughes. At St. Luke's, appropriate lantern slides for the children were also shown.

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church had no services for Passion Week, nor Murray Street Baptist Church. Special services for Easter start at St. Paul's tomorrow, conducted through next week by Rev. Dr. Forbes C. Ottman of New York. At Park Street Baptist Church, Passion Week services concluded on Thursday evening.

At the Salvation Army Temple, services were held during the morning and evening. Adjutant Ham conducting devotions in the morning and presiding in the evening, when a special Good Friday service was given by the Young People, on "The Challenge of the Cross."

There was a splendid attendance at the various Good Friday services in the different churches of the city.

Fire Chief Enthusiastic

Fire Chief George Gimblett, who has always stood for fire prevention rather than fire extinguishing, is enthusiastically supporting the clean-up campaign. "I don't know of anything that will prevent fire more," he said, "that a real, honest-to-goodness clean-up of all the rubbish that litters cellars and attics. The greatest fire hazards lie in these places, and under stairways. A dropped match, a hot chimney nearby, oily rags, all of these are likely to start fires in the rubbish piles. And these places are so inaccessible that putting out the resulting fire is difficult.

"I like the idea of having a real campaign, instead of just a week," the Chief commented. "There's too much to do, for it all to be done in six days."

Chief Gimblett promised The Examiner that he will give practical hints on cleaning up, as the campaign develops.

Divided in Periods

The campaign has been divided into periods. The first week, starting today, is Civic Week, in deference to His Worship the Mayor. Then will follow Womens Societies' Week, leading up to Mother's Day, and Men's Societies' Week leading up to Boys' Week. The Horticultural Society has been asked to take charge of the week of May 7 to 13, which is to be Garden Week.

Throughout the campaign until July will run the thought of the Governor-General's visit, and the big celebration on July 1.

For instance, Goodyear Sanitary Hose, used not only in food factories, but also in paper mills and wherever water hose meets severe use, now has a ply of breaker strip fabric just like a tire, to better hold together the cover and the carcass. Goodyear Air Drill and Pneumatic Tool hose have a special oil-resisting inner tube which prevents the commonest cause of hose failure. Oil hose in 6" to 8" sizes now is reinforced with double layers of wire. Other types have other features.

"Nothing like it in the World"

In appearance and value, as well as performance, Hudson is the most talked of car of the year. Everyone is saying there is "nothing like it in the world".

At the automobile shows, in dealers' salesrooms, and wherever automobiles are talked about, the release of the Super-Six principle to full capacity is of outstanding interest.

The Super-Six has the smoothness of an electric motor. Four years' development led to full release of its capacity in power, stamina and safety. It led to a new chassis capable of safely using the wide range and long life of the motor. New driving delights resulted. From the effortless smoothness with which the Super-Six whisks you into motion, to the carefree way in which you may make any trip from a journey down-town to a run across the continent, there remains throughout the zest of driving that is possible only to its elastic and smooth flow of power.

Your Hudson Super-Six never extends itself. It always has reserve power for the approaching hill or for greater speed. And its four-wheel brakes with the flexibility of the motor permit a flashing nimbleness you will like. The joy of driving is not dulled through weariness. You set your speed with full knowledge that you may go faster if need be or may stop suddenly with perfect ease and safety. There is restful security in the way the Hudson Super-Six clings to the road, and in the ease and quietness of its action.

And there is a car in its seven new body types that meets any desire for beauty, comfort and luxury.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Two severely strained fingers are all that James Connelly, ironworker, had to show for a fall from a 13-storey building here. Fellowworkers said that nothing but great fear could have prompted such a superhuman display of strength in his fingers.

POWER SCHEME NOT PLEASING

Plan is For 25 Cycle Units —Peterborough Uses 60 Cycle.

LINE PASSES HERE.

The Eastern Ontario Chamber of Commerce is dissatisfied with the plans for the new power development scheme on the Gatineau and Ottawa rivers. The proposed plan is that this power will be transformed in 25 cycle units and transmitted over a trunk line to Toronto. The Eastern Ontario system requires power to be transformed in 60 cycle units, so this new power plant will be of very little use to this section of Ontario.

Mayor Holloway, who is a member of the Eastern Ontario Chamber of Commerce, is looking after the interests of this city in this new scheme and he was one of a deputation which wanted on the Hydro Electric Power Commission recently asking that the power be developed in 60 cycle units. It is understood that if there is a shortage of power in this section some arrangement will be made so that power will become available to the Eastern Ontario user, but at present the 25 units plan holds.

The trunk line running from the power plant to Toronto will run near this city, giving Peterborough a fine opportunity to be a distributing place if the yower were 60 cycle.

CANTATA AT ST. JOHN'S.

Choir Renders "Olivet To Calvary" Before Large Congregation.

On Good Friday evening, following a short evensong service, the choir of St. John's church rendered Maunder's Cantata, entitled "Olivet to Calvary," in the presence of a congregation which nearly filled the church. The cantata was written specially for the Lenten season and calls for a great deal of sympathetic expression. This was very noticeable in both solo and ensemble and fully evidenced the great care and excellent tuition bestowed on the choir by the choirmaster, Mr. Mann. It is no small task for any choir, in face of the many calls upon it at this season, to produce a cantata like the above and do so with the ease and ability with which it was produced last evening. The fact is often lost sight of that Anglican church choirs always labour under a great disadvantage in work of this sort owing to the lack of a conductor.

In spite of this difficulty, however, a most creditable rendering was given, and in lead, attack and sense of rhythm, left little to be desired. The most noticeable success was in the latter part of the cantata, in the chorus entitled, "Crucify Him." This was beautifully rendered. In the solo numbers, recitative and aria, great sense of diction and expression was necessary and the various soloists acquitted themselves most creditably. Altogether, Mr Mann and the members of the choir deserve the greatest credit for the success which attended their efforts.

The soloists, who added much to the enjoyment of the cantata were: Sopranos, Mrs. A. L. Amys, Miss R. Quartermaine; Tenors, Messrs. R. Moore, H. Harper; Bass, Mr. H. Spencer; Baritone, Mr. D. G. Melton.

RAMSAY MACDONALD RECALLS HONEYMOON

Visits New England Town in Devotion to the Memory of His Wife.

NEW YORK, April 16 (Canadian Press).—Devotion to the memory of his dead wife to-day called Ramsay MacDonald, Britain's former Labor Premier, to the New England town where they spent their honeymoon thirty-one years ago. The name of the town was not revealed. Mr. MacDonald and his 24-year-old daughter, Ishbel, arrived in New York yesterday for a ten-day stay.

Miss Ishbel told reporters she had no use for cigarettes, but did not disapprove their use by other girls. She couldn't see why girls want to spend all their money on tobacco, anyway. She laughed at the suggestion that she might find romance in America.

NORMAL COURSE TO BE 2 YEARS

Probable New Scheme For Instructing Teachers Is Suggested.

RETROACTIVE?

From the Ontario Department of Education comes the announcement that the Normal School course for teachers is to be lengthened to two years. The present course is a year. The change will take effect in the fall of this year. Full details of the Department's plans will be published in the annual educational pamphlet to be issued next month.

On Par With Others.

Premier Ferguson, as Minister in charge of the Department, has had in mind for some time, it is understood, an arrangement that will place Ontario's Normal School course on a par with the two-year course obtaining in other provinces of the Dominion. Tentative plans provide that prospective teachers shall, under the new scheme, take one year's training, after which they will be supplied with an interim certificate allowing them to teach for two or three years. They will then return to Normal for their second year, during which period their instruction will be based on their interim teaching experiences.

May Be Retroactive

It is understood that the new two-year course may be retroactive in the sense of requiring teachers who are now teaching on the strength of the prevailing one-year-course certificate to return to Normal School, at an appropriate time, and complete the second year.

BIG INCUBATOR WORKS BUSILY

F. Walsh Receives 1,000 Chickens a Week From His Machine.

ALL PEDIGREED.

It is probable that very few people have an opportunity to observe the workings of an up-to-date incubator. One of the very latest types, called a "Mammoth," with a capacity of three thousand eggs at one time, is working busily away these days, and will be engaged until June in the occupation of turning out a thousand chicks a week, at the residence of its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Walsh, 190 Brock st. Mr. Walsh is a poultry expert for the Quaker Oats Company, and carries on this chick-raising business as a sideline. Leghorns and Barred Rocks of pedigreed breed are his specialty, and it is extremely interesting to have a peep into the interior of the big machine, an oil-burning contrivance fitted with an electric fan to dry off the tiny chicks after they emerge from their shells.

Drawers, labelled neatly on the front, and resembling the sliding compartments of a fyling cabinet, hold 154 eggs apiece. They pull out to show the tiny birds in various stages of arrival, some with cracked shells from which beaks and feathers appear, some half out, struggling to open their eyes, and others already preening themselves for an entry into the outer world. After breaking the shell, they remain for a day within the incubator, to dry thoroughly, and then are taken out and tested.

Twenty-one days of a uniform heat of 100 degrees Fahrenheit are required to coax the tiny feathered things from their casings, and a total of between eighty and ninety per cent of the eggs is usually hatched out satisfactorily, with here and there at odd times a little crippled bird, as a casualty.

Generally Fair Weather Brings Relief To West and Southwest.

Corn Touches New Low And Wheat Has Setback

CHICAGO, April 16 (Canadian Press)—With corn to-day touching the lowest prices yet which May and July deliveries had reached this season, wheat also showed an early downward trend. Corn was under selling pressure, owing to large stocks on hand at terminal markets. Opening at 3-8 cents off to 3-4 cent up, corn later showed losses all around. Wheat started unchanged to 1-4 cents lower and subsequently underwent a general setback. Oats held relatively steady. Provisions were easy.

CRASH CAUSED BY GRASS FIRE SMOKE

The better the day the better the deed was the principle the Provincial Highway foreman went on yesterday when he started to burn grass on the sides of the road. The smoke out around Scott's Corners was very dense during the morning and part of the afternoon, causing a great deal of trouble and inconvenience to the many motorists who were out driving on the highway for the holiday.

During the morning one accident occurred in the dense smoke area, James Ward of 470 Bolivar Street, who was driving a Nash coupe, collided with Clifford Jackson of 435 George Street, who was driving a Dodge touring car. No person was seriously hurt, but both cars were damaged. The drivers were proceeding slowly through the smoke area or the damage caused would have been much greater.

Last night two other cars collided near Fraserville, with the result that both turned over into the ditch.

SAYS DANGEROUS VARICOSE VEINS CAN BE REDUCED AT HOME

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Folws That Way.

If you or any relative or friends are worried because of varicose veins, or bunches, the best advice that anyone in this world can give you is to ask your druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and apply night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you will notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are of normal size. So penetrating and powerful is Emerald Oil that even Piles are quickly absorbed. Bond's Drug Store, McDermid Drug Co., Ltd., McDermid & Jury sells lots of it.

MUSICAL TREAT.

All Saints' Choir Presents Good Friday Programme.

Those who attended the musical service at All Saints' church last night, listened to a very inspiring programme exquisitely rendered, full of pathos, tastefully sung, and in fact a musical treat. The choir was assisted by Mr. Roy Rome, violinist, substituting for Mrs. Percy Hooper (who unfortunately was absent through sickness. Mr. Rome played "Cavatina," by Raff with brilliant tone and execution, and is certain to become one of Peterboro's best violinists.

Th soloists were in excellent voice and rose to the spirit of the music as occasion demanded. They are all to be congratulated, as the music rendered called for hard and careful practice, in many instances difficult intervals presented themselves, and these were alwa. sung with skilful appreciation of their requirements.

There was one change in the programme, "Worthy is the Lamb" was sung by request, and took the place of "Unfold ye Portals," from Gounods' Redemption.

Mrs. W. A. Logan, the church organist, and Mr. G. E. Chandler, the choirmaster, are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts, as are also the choir, which sang with a confidence and tonal quality that marked strict attention to careful training. The devotional services were taken by Rev. J. D. Paterson.

At the service on Easter Sunday night, "Worthy is the Lamb" will be repeated, also the service will finish with the "Hallelujah Chorus" as a grand climax to the brightest day in the church's year.

To Owners of Automobiles and Trucks

Lights, brakes and steering gear must be kept in good condition for the safety of drivers and others on the road.

REGARDING the physical condition of automobiles and trucks, The Highways Traffic Act makes certain provisions which motorists would do well to understand and observe.

It is increasingly necessary that these provisions should be stringently maintained in view of the great increase in tourist traffic on our highways, the increase last year of 40,000 cars in Ontario and the more extended use of country roads by our own people. The new speed limit recently authorized by the Legislature adds to this necessity.

Car and truck owners are urged to check their machines frequently and to renew parts which are worn or broken.

Headlights should be adjusted regularly. Glaring lights are against the law and a menace to traffic. Simple instructions for the adjustment of headlights and a list of lenses approved by the Department, may be obtained free by writing the Motor Vehicles Branch, Department of Highways, Toronto.

If your lenses are not among those mentioned on the list, it would be well to have them changed at once if you wish to avoid accident on the road and penalty in court.

Brakes and steering gear should be in perfect condition so that when called upon each part will respond to the will of the driver.

The law provides that license numbers must be clean and so placed as to be easily read. A fundamental in the control of motor traffic is that each machine shall be quickly identified.

It is the intention of the Department of Highways to take note of the condition of automobiles using the roads. To avoid inconvenience to motorists, attention is drawn to the necessity for rigid obedience of the law, and the penalties for neglect.

SENATORS WIN.

Rain Cuts Off the Opening Game Between Detroit and St. Louis.

NEW YORK, April 16 (Canadian Press) — Socking power and the first homer of the season for Babe Ruth gave the Yankees a 6-3 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics and a clean slate in the opening series at the Yankee stadium yesterday. The Yanks won three out of four and tied one against their outstanding rivals for the season's pennant. Twenty-five thousand saw the Laird of Lam lift his first circuit whack into the right field stands with the bases empty. Herb Pennock, making his debut for the season, pitched a nice game, allowing seven hits.

The Washington Senators finished up their series with Boston at the capital by winning 7-1 and taking every game. Speaker, who scored three runs, got two of the Senators' eight hits. Crowder held the Boston team to five hits.

At Cleveland, Chicago beat the Indians, 6-1. Shaute allowed but one hit, a home run by Falk in the seventh, but at that point in the game he weakened and had to be relieved in the ninth by Hudlin. Neis, Indian centre fielder, made ten putouts and knocked a homer.

Rain at St.Louis cut off the opening game of the season between Detroit and St. Louis with the score tied at 2 all in the fifth. George Sisler, Brown first baseman, got two of his tteam's three hits and and brought in both runs.

TORONTO WINS SECOND GAME FROM SKEETERS

Fisher, on Mound, Holds New Jersey To Seven Hits.

READING LOST OUT.

Porter's Homer in Opening Inning Hands Orioles 7-2 Victory.

NEW YORK, April 16 (Canadian Press) — The Toronto Leafs won their second game in a little row from Jersey City yesterday afternoon 6 to 1. Fisher, pegging for the Leafs(held the Skeeters to seven hits, and away from the plate till the ninth when Monahan crossedto save a goose egg.

Dick Porter's home run in the opening inning of the Baltimore-Syracuse fracas gave the Orioles an early lead to pave the way for their second victory over Syracuse, 7 to 2. A second homer by Sheedy accounted for the only extra base hits in a game marked by tight pitching.

Buffalo trounced Reading yesterday, 19 to 0. The Bisons hit the ball hard and frequent and were helped by the wildness of three young pitchers. Leverenz allowed only six hits.

Airtight pitching in pinches by Burley Horne, Rochester right hander, enables that team to deefat the Newark Bears yesterday, 4 to 3. Joe Zubrit, Newark twirler, pitched fairly good ball. Fred Stiely pitched the final inning and held Rochester scoreless for that frame.

COURSE LENGTHENED IN MARATHON RACE

Last Year's Winner Is Training For Event on Tuesday.

BOSTON, Mass., April 16 (A.P.). —Johnny Miles of Sydney Mines, winner of last year's Marathon race, is not worried over the fact that the course of the 31st Marathon to be run next Tuesday, will be about 200 yards longer than last year's stretch. Miles, whose time of 2 hous, 25 minutes and 40 2-5 seconds last April broke the course record, thinks he can maintain his record on the longer course, if the weather is good. He declared yesterday that he was not at all disappointed by the action of the Boston officials in remeasuring the Hopkinson to Boston course.

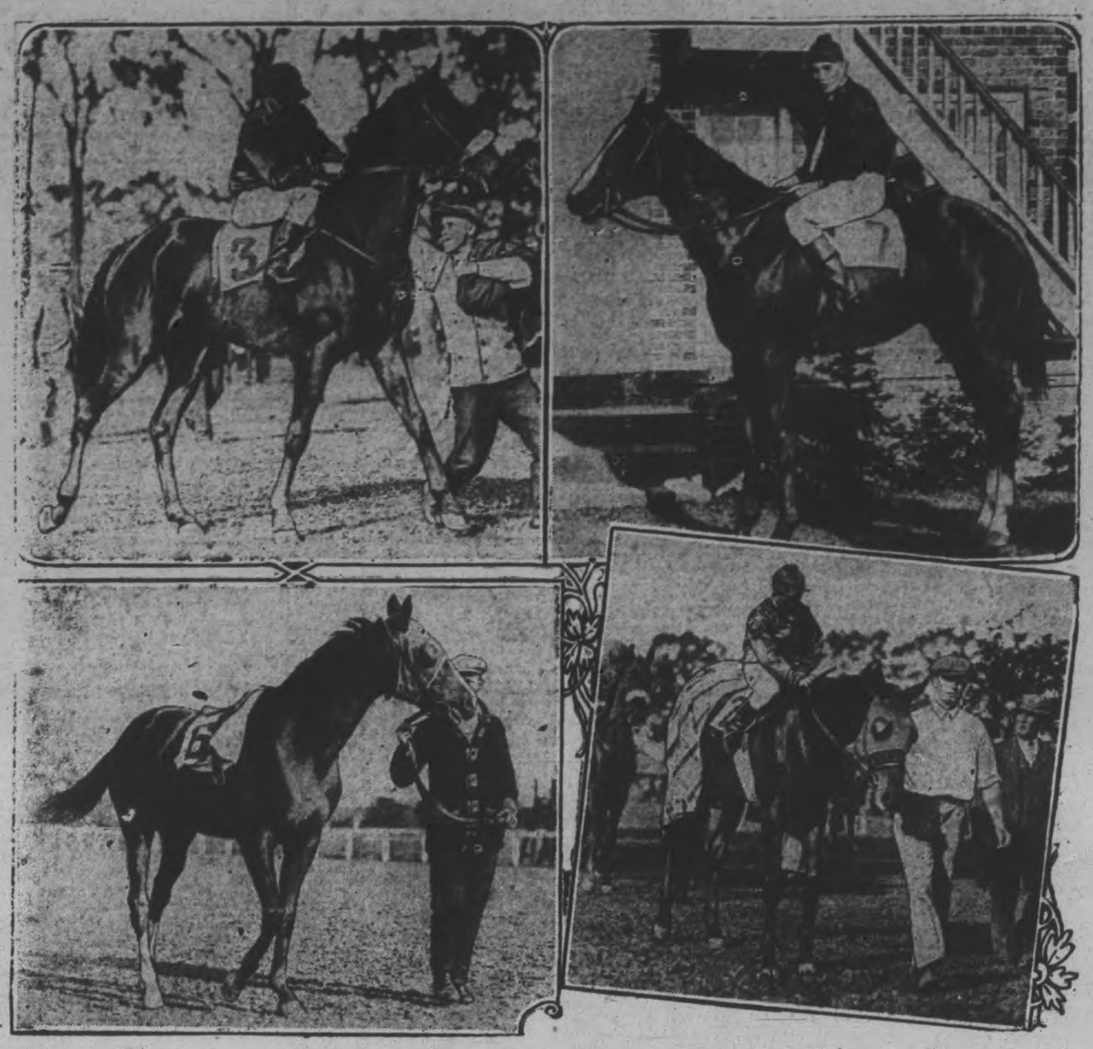
Miles said he had followed the same training routine as last year since arriving in Boston. His father acts as his trainer. Yesterday morning a 15-mile walk was the prescribed routine.

"My trainer never tells me what I am to do until I am all dressed and ready to go," said Miles yesterday.

Asked as to his physical condition, Miles replied: "I have been training for the race since January and I should judge that I am fit."

Johnny frankly declares that he hopes to make Tuesday's race merely a stepping stone in his preparation for the Olympic Marathon in Amsterdam in 1928. He long to wear the Maple Leaf of Canada in the next Olympic games.

CANADIAN ENTRIES FOR THE KING'S PLATE



In six weks' time a dozen or more of the best Canadian-bred colts and fillies will line up in front of Starter Cassidy for the King's Plate at the Toronto Woodbine meet. Forty are at present named to go, but scratches and withdrawals will greatly reduce this number. Among the leading prospects, rated on their last summer's form, are the four shown above. Top left, Capitol, brown gelding by For Fair-Planette, who will carry Mrs. E. Glassco's colors. Top right, Troutlet, black filly by Sobreski-Troutling, owned by Ryland New, and the probable favorite for the race. Lower left, the hope of the Cedarcrest Farm, Listerine, chestnut filly by Rockville-Miss Jean, bred and owned by Capt. J. U. Whyte. Lower right, Belisaire, black gelding, by Cattegal-Kitty Brown, owned by J. H. Underdown. All the above are 3-year-olds.

ST. LOUIS LOSE BY SINGLE RUN

Sherdel on Mond Holds the Cubs To Two Hits.

DOUBLE PLAYS.

NEW YORK, April 16 (Canadian Press)—Bill Sherdel worked on the mound at Chicago yesterday and held the Cubs to two hits, but Hack Wilson smacked a homer into the centre field bleachers and St. Louis bit the dust, 1-0. Percy Jones, engaging Sherdel in a pitching duel, was saved from disaster occasionally by double plays. Cooney figured in three of Chicago's double killings.

At Philadelphia the Giants took the third game of their series with the Phillies, 6 to 3. Fred Fitzsimmons shaded Pruett on the mound, both getting poor support. Umpire McLaughlin ordered Stuffy McInnis Phillies' manager, from the field.

The Boston Braves made it three out of four against the Brooklyn Robins today as Charley Robertson limited Brooklyn to five hits. The score was 3 to 7. Moore's homer clinched the game from the Braves.

At Cincinnati the Pittsburgh Pirates enjoyed an everybody-hit day and maintained the front seat in the league by a 10-6 score. Eight hits in five innings sent Eppa Rixey to the showers in favor of Nehf, who was touched for six more. J. Morrison, who replaced Mahaffey in the box, was the only Pirate who went hitless.

HUDDERSFIELD IS DEFEATED BY NEWCASTLE

Strengthens Grip on Title in Most Critical Game of Season.

FIVE POINT LEAD.

Good Friday's Game Practically Clinches Champion-

LONDON, April 16 (Canadian Press Cable).—Good Friday's games in the First Division of the English soccer league saw Newcastle United strengthen an already firm grip on the title when, in what was generally conceded to be the most critical game of the season, they engaged their most dangerous rivals and present league champions, Hudderfield Town, in a hard-fought contest on the Tyneside and emerged victorious by the margin of one goal to nothing. The two points thus awarded the Northumbrians widened the gap which has been opened up between these competitors and gave Newcastle United the advantage of a five-point lead which Hudderstield will have to eliminate in the five games thus remaining if they are to oust the Tynesiders. This late in the season the task set the Yorkshiremen is almost impossible, and to all intents and purposes yesterday's game has practicaly clinched the league championship for Newcastle. The result injected an added stimulus, if such were needed, to the interest in the return game between these clubs, which will be played next Tuesday at Huddersfield.

In the metropolitan district, a strange turnover was the victory of West Ham United at White Hart Lane, where they defeated the homesters, Tottenham Hotspur, by the decisive result of three goals to one. This had the effect of placing the Hammers on pretty much an even footing with Huddesfield in the fight for second place.

Interests was again centred on the Cup finalists, who are travelling side by side in the league fight and who will face each other at the Wembley Stadium on Saturday, April 23. Arsenal were at home to Aston Villa at Highbury and managed to scrape through with a two to one win—the first they have recorded in their league games since the last week in February. Cardiff City were not so well off at Liverpool, where they ran into one of their greatest defeats of the present season, being blanked by five goals. Elsewhere in the division the games ran pretty much to form. At Old Trafford Park, Derby County chalked up their fourth drawn game in a row. Previously they had divided the points on only one occasion in the whole season.

Two surprises featured the minor divisions, one taking place at Port Vale where the Cheshire team inflicted an unexpected defeat on the leaders, Middlesborough, the count standing three to one, and the other at Doncaster where the lowly Rangers duplicated that feat against Stoke City, the leaders of the third division, northern section.

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, we got the hokkey season finished off at last, with the Ottawa Senators grabbing the money title from the Bostonians. Personally I didn't give a hoot which outfit win until 1 night last week I heard some bird over the radio saying he hoped he'd be able to call the Bostons world's champions in a coupla days, and he added, "Are you listening, Canada?" And so I sez to myself, "If that's the way you're looking at it down there, I'm going to pull for them Senators to win out," and so I did, and they did. That last battle musta been a echo of "Who win the war," judging by the newspaper returns of the casualties, and to make it worse, Referee Jerry La Flamme gets beat up after the game, which ain't exactly the right way to wind up a season. Anyway, the Senators look like they earned the title. They was out in front in their own section all the way, put the Canucks out handily, and seeing that Boston couldn't win a game in 4 starts in the finals, I can't see where they got any license to sqwack now. She's been a long season, and wound up with the hockey score on the same bulletin as the baseball tallies, so it's time the ice game was outa the way.

Baseball locally, Mac, has took a jump since my last. This Lakeshore League oughta give the fans plenty of good ball, especially as Belleville is likely to be started in the same group as the Petes, Port Hope and the Oshawa Red Sox. Belleville ain't got no gunners of No. 1 grade, but they still gotta bunch of hitters what is libel to bust up any man's game. A 4-club group promises to be a lifesaver for sr. ball in these parts. The Petes promise to have a good team, but it would have been about as useful as a Peterborough street railway ticket if the new league hadn't opened up its doors.

Well, Mister Sporting Editor, I hope the customers isn't forgetting the Dominion Day celebration. I hear some birds talking about how they're going to spend the holiday, so I just thought I'd point out that the Diamond Jubilee is about the biggest thing in the history of this man's country, and it is up to everybody to dig in and help put it over. No knockers need apply, but every live-wire and booster is wanted for the celebration. We got a real country here, and it's time we was telling the world about it. This is Canada's year to shout and Peterborough's voice oughta to be heard in the chorus.

Just before I quit I wanta to tell them that has been pestering me about it that I don't know anything about when they're going to open up here. I fellow the other day heard the 1st consignment of Scotch was coming in, and he was tickled to death at the news and the flags on the street. He went down to the C.P.R. station to see the goods arrive—and found his Scotch alright when Sir Harry Lauder stepped off of the train.

Speaking of Sir Harry, Mac, a bird sez to me that Lauder always looks up to the Scotch people wherever he goes. "He has to," he sez, "cause they're up in the gods." That sounds like a libel to me.

Well, Mister Sporting Editor, I'm going to knock off now and go out and try and catch me a bus.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

THISTLE WON SOCCER GAME

Both Teams Were Lacking the Necessary Training.

SCORE 3 TO 2.

The formal opening of the soccer season took place yesterday afternoon at King Edward Park before a good crowd of spectators, who witnessed the Thistle gain a lucky verdict in the closing minutes of the encounter against the Quaker Oats by the score of 3 to 2.

FIRST HALF.

Both elevens took things very easy in the early stages of the ninety minute exhibition match. A solo effort by Ian McPhate terminated in Nicholson placing the ball below the cross-bar into the net. After this reverse the losers kept up a continuous bombardment against the Thistle defence, Miller and McLeod allowing no latitude when in proximity to goal. Cross and Mayette tested the goalkeeper from short range. At the other end, Dawson rapped the cross-bar, Blowers clearing to the right wing, where the outside made progress to gain the equalizer through Walker. Half-time, one goal each.

HALF TIME.

On resuming, all the players depicted the lack of necessary training through listless methods of defence and attack. In fact, the tussle was very slow until ten minutes before full time, when Burgess went along his own wing, beat his opposing defence, then slipped the ball across to Cross, who made no mistake. Quick as a flash, E. McPhate evened up the score then Ian McPhate put his team ahead. Full time: Thistle 3, Quaker Oats 2.

Goal scorers: T. Walker, R. Walker and Cross. Thistle—Nicholson, E. McPhate and Ian McPhate.

Quaker Oats—W. Curtis; Maker and Blowers; Honer, S. Curtis and R. Walker; Mayette, Cross, Clark, T. Walker and Burgess.

Thistle—Anderson; McLeod and Miller; Dawson, Scott and Bromley; I. McPhate, Nicholson, Forrest, Hutton and E. McPhate.

Referee—J. Ward.

THIS CANADA OF OURS. THE EXPULSION OF THE ACADIANS—By J. S. Morrison and Maude Morrison Stone.

FOR HALF A CENTURY THERE HAD BEEN TROUBLE. SO GOVERNOR LAWRENCE OF NOVA SCOTIA, DEMOLISHED FORT BEAUSEJOUR AND WARNED THE ACADIANS THAT THEY MUST CHOOSE EITHER EXILE OR BRITISH ALLEGIANCE. THEY CHOSE EXILE BUT EVIDENTLY DID NOT EXPECT THE SENTENCE TO BE CARRIED OUT.

LAWRENCE MADE HIS ARRANGEMENTS WITH STERNNESS AND SECRECY.... IN THE SUMMER OF 1755, COLONEL WINSLOW WITH HIRED TROOPS FROM NEW ENGLAND, BEGAN TO COLLECT THE PEOPLE, MORE THAN 6000 WERE DEPORTED. SOME FAMILIES BECAME SEPARATED, AND WERE PUT ON DIFFERENT SHIPS—AND SO LANDED AT DIFFERENT PLACES. THIS FURNISHES THE TRAGEDY OF LONGFELLOW'S POEM.

THOUGH AN EFFORT WAS MADE TO KEEP THE DIFFERENT FAMILIES TOGETHER, AND TO PRESERVE FOR THEM THEIR MOST PRECIOUS POSSESSIONS, THERE WAS MUCH HARDSHIP AND SORROW. MANY WERE TAKEN TO POINTS ON THE ATLANTIC COAST, SOME TO THE BRITISH WEST INDIES, SOME TO ENGLAND. THE LOVELY VILLAGE OF GRAND-PRE WAS GIVEN TO THE FLAMES, AS WERE MANY OF THE FARM HOMES. THE LAND OF THE ACADIANS WAS A SOLITUDE.

IT WAS A VERY BAD SOLUTION OF A VERY DIFFICULT PROBLEM. A DIFFERENT WAY SHOULD HAVE BEEN FOUND. MANY ACADIAN EXILES WANDERED BACK AND REBUILT THEIR HOMES IN THE VALLEYS. AND TO-DAY MORE THAN 100,000 OF THEIR DESCENDANTS ARE HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS UNDER THE BRITISH FLAG IN NOVA SCOTIA.

HOLIDAY NOTE MARKS MARKET

Butter Opens at 50 Cents; Drops To 45 Cents—Eggs 28 Cents.

SUPPLIES PLENTIFUL.

There was a holiday note to the farmers' market this morning. The spirit of Easter was in the air and the fine weather brought out plenty of patrons. In the basket section, dairy supplies were very plentiful, and poultry fairly so. Butter opened at a price of 50 cents a pound, with a few ladies decreasing the quotation to 45 cents toward the end of the morning. Eggs were priced from 28 to 25 cents a dozen, with a vendor on the open market downstairs getting 30 cents for outsize whites. One lady who admires white eggs retailed the story of her disappointment after buying birds resembling Black Minorcas', which hatch out pure whites, she said, and then discovering that the resulting eggs were a pale yellow in color. Duck eggs for hatching werep riced at 75 cents for ten, and large speckled turkey eggs for the same purpose were a quarter apiece.

Chickens were 35c cents a pound generally, with one largg-legged White Rock bird that had evidently eaten not wisely, but too well, during its lifetime, for its hefty appearance found it few patrons, priced at $2 for its seven pounds nine ounces of weight. Turkeys were priced at 35 cents a pound.

Honey in clover and amber quality was 25 cents in a one-pound glass jar. Honey sections were 20 cents apiece.

Maple syrup was 55 and 60 cents a quart, with one man selling his supply in gallon lots at $2.25.

Oranges were priced from 20 to 60 cents a doen. Home-made bread might be bought in large loaves at 15 cents and black wax beans were 15 cents a measure.

Fish a was noticeable feature of the open market, as usual. Mr. Nazimak was present with a smile. It is not on record that anyone has done anything to commemorate the exploits of Mr. Nazimok in making a gallant stand in behalf of the color and odor of the market, which he did so much to preserve, but doubtless all the vendors of by-products that would have been banished but for his timely effort have a kindly feeling toward him.

Fresh herrings might be purchased for 35 cents for two pounds, salmon was 18 cents a pound, and glistening trout 25 cents a pound.

Potatoes were $1.40 and $1.50 a bag, and fresh new parsnips 35 cents a peck. A "flat," as it is called, full of celery plants, two thousand in all, could be bought for $1.50 and had a very enticing fresh emerald green color. Raspberry canes were 25 cents a dozen at one stand, while another careful dealer whose canes were sona up in bunches of about fourteen apiece, quoted his lot at 40 cents a bunch for the red berry canes, 60 cents a bunch for blue, and 3 bunches for 25 cents in the black variety. Gladioli bulbs were 30 cents a dozen and large dahlia bulbs or "toes" were a nickel and a dime apiece.

Little pigs were $12 and $14 a pair, and small bunnies in assorted shades of blue-grey, black and white were 75 cents a pair in small sizes and $1.25 in larger types. Tiny collie pups were $1.50 each.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Esther Barry, aged 17 months, who died April 16th, 1926.
She was too bright a flower to last,
Was only to us given.
To cheer us for a little while.
Now gone to bloom in Heaven.

She has gone through the beautiful gate,
Away to the city of gold,
Which knows no sorrow, sin or pain,
She is safe in the Heavenly fold.
—Sadly missed and deeply mourned —by Mother, Father, Brothers and Sisters.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear father, Mr. Wm. Clarke, who died April 16, 1926:
The month of April again is here,
The saddest month of all,
For one we loved so well and dear
Answered God's great call.

God called him, and we who loved him best,
Stood silently by and watched him go,
For he would have known only suffering and pain
The rest of his life here below.

He's gone to that sweet land of sunshine
Forever and ever to stay,
We know he is patiently waiting
For us to join him some day.

Some perhaps think we have forgotten
Because again we can smile,
But God and we alone know
The sorrow they hide all the while.
—Inserted By His Loving Son and daughter, Mr. Wm. Clarke, Mrs. M. McNeely.

IN MEMORIAM

CLARKE.—In loving memory of my dear husband, Mr. William Clarke, who died April 16, 1926:
In a near and silent cemetery
Where the trees their branches wave,
Rests a true and loving husband
In his cold and silent grave.
He bid no one his last farewell.
He waved his hand to none,
His spirit fled before we knew
That he from us was gone.
When we leave this world of changes
When we leave this world of care,
We shall find our missing loved ones
In our Father's mansion fair.
—Inserted by his loving wife,
Mrs. Martha Clarke.

Diphtheria

51 epidemics of diphtheria have been examined of which the following are a few illustration:

Brooklyn, N. Y. .....12 cases from one raw milk supply
Los Angeles, Cal. .....35 cases from one raw milk supply
Wellsvale, N. Y. .....84 cases from one raw milk supply
Clinton, Ohio .....36 cases from one raw milk supply
Highpark, Mass. .....69 cases from one raw milk supply
Warwick, R. I. .....64 cases from one raw milk supply

Septic Sore Throat

Considerable interest has been aroused during the past fifteen years as the result of a high mortality from septic sore throat. Many of these outbreaks have been traced directly to the milk supply, partially through contamination of the handling of the milk by those who were affected with this disease or who were carriers, and partially through an organism which is found in the diseased udder of the cow. Six hundred cases of sore throat in Stockholm in 1908 were traced to an abscess in the udder of a cow, which contained the same organism that was found to be responsible for the sore throat. This animal was one of a herd that furnished milk to those that became infected. This was one of the first observations made in this connection, and different outbreaks have been traced to unpasteurized milk.

A very exhaustive study was given to the outbreak of this disease in Boston in May, 1911, where 1,043 cases were traced to one raw milk supply. In Chicago, Ill., an outbreak of 10,000 cases was traced to one raw milk supply; in Baltimore, 602 cases; and in Cortland-Homer, N.Y., 669 cases. This disease seems to attack adults especially.

Pasteurization would have made these outbreaks practically impossible.

Chiang Planning Drive For Expulsion Of "Reds"

CANTONESE REPLY CONSIDERED NOT SATISFACTORY TO BRITISH; OTHER POWERS BEING CONSULTED

British Warship Can Go To Hankow To Start Action if Necessary.

SOVIET "LOST FACE."

Attack On Embassy Has Destroyed Prestige—Chiang Attacks Communists.

LONDON, April 18 (United Press).—While the Easter holidays are generally causing some delay in officially defining the attitude of the British Government toward the Cantonese reply to its note in connection with the Nanking incident, it is known that Chen's answer is considered unsatisfactory and that the Government is consulting with the other powers to see what future action shall be taken.

British warships are now able to reach Hankow and would encounter little difficulty in taking decisive action against the Cantonese Government there—action which is considered likely in political circles here providing the Cantonese authorities fail to give satisfaction.

Opposition to Soviets.

Meanwhile, the relentless campaign of General Chiang Kai-Shek, Cantonese commander - in - chief, against the Communists in China, coupled with Soviet Russia's resumption of friendly relations with Switzerland owing to settlement of the Vorovsky dispute, has been responsible for considerable speculation as to whether the union of Soviet Republics is about to recognize its folly in fighting the world.

Russian prestige in China undoubtedly suffered a severe blow by the raid on the Soviet Embassy buildings at Peking, because through it, the Russians "lost face" with the Chinese, the importance of which all British subjects in China comprehend.

General Chiang Kai-Shek's subsequent ruthlessness and Moscow's undisguised anger have illustrated the importance of the raid both to Russia and China.

Russians Change Policy.

Government officials have declared that all this is fully expected and deny that Britain participated in any way in these events, but nevertheless there is obvious satisfaction over the fact that Red intrigue has suffered a severe set-back.

And now that the Union of Soviet of Republics is able to take part in League of Nations activities at Geneva, it is hoped she will realize that her future depends on her ability to maintain friendly relations with the rest of the world and that the extreme Moscow elements demanding fuller intervention in China will be held in check by saner counsels.

Legations Are Guarded.

PEKING, April 18 (United Press).—The foreign legations were taking special defence precautions to-day against possible anti-foreign violence. The panic noticeable a week ago among the American colony here has largely subsided, but concrete evidence of the fear of foreign officials that trouble might come were visible in the Legation quarter.

United States marines permanently attached as a guard to the American Legation have prepared a barbed wire fence across the top of the city wall which forms the southern boundary of the Legation quarter and emplacements have been prepared which would be suitable for gun mounts on top of the wall.

The British Legation has stationed an armed sentry in an elevated position whence he can look over the boundary wall between the Legation and the Soviet Russian Embassy compound.

This greatly amused the Russians, who announced they would station a Russian sentry opposite the Englishman to afford the latter company. Russian Charge d'Affaires Chernykh will accompany the last of the Russian Embassy staff to

THE WEATHER

Easter day was warm, bright and pleasant, with the temperature at 65 degrees. For three consecutive days the temperature has been the same. Saturday night's "April shower" was quite heavy, giving a total of .37 of an inch. This was the first rain of any account for about three weeks, and was needed. Some agriculturists who make a point of keeping informed, say that the clover and fall wheat are looking exceptionally well in this section. To-day at noon the thermometer was up to 76 degrees in the shade—much the highest to date, and a reminder that the straw hat season is looming in sight.

Bloodstains Startle Traveller Search Shows Muskrat Tails

BURLEIGH FALLS, April 18.—While motoring to Apsley last week a traveller had a startling experience. He found it necessary to fill his radiator and having no pail to get the water from the stream, went to a house on the roadside. He rapped. The only answer was a death-like stillness. Looking around and on the door step, he saw patches of blood. Immediately he scented trouble. When he investigated further the apparent tragedy was solved by the finding of a number of bloody tails of muskrats.

It seems that the house was the temporary home of a trapper this spring.

FOREIGN SHIPS STAY AT HANKOW AWAITING NOTE

Forty War Vessels Will Remain Until Demands Are Presented.

HAVE 15,000 MEN.

Ships Along River Subject To Fire—Chinese Boat Shelled.

SHANGHAI, April 18. Canadian Press. — With nearly forty foreign warships at Hankow, the situation confronting the foreigners there has eased. It is expected the vessels will remain at Hankow pending delivery of a second set of demands from the powers concerning last month's anti-foreign outrages at Nanking. It is reported here that the demands will take the form of an ultimatum. Despatches from Peking say their delivery will be delayed pending the formation of a new government in Tokyo to succeed the cabinet which resigned yesterday.

The fleet at Hankow at present is capable of landing 15,000 or more men. It consists of thirty-six warships, including thirteen Japanese, eleven British, seven American, three French and two Italian. It is probable that it will be augmented by other vessels.

Ships under Fire.

All ships travelling up the Yangtze continue to be subject to sporadic fire, especially from the north bank, in the vicinity of Nanking. The Chinese river boat 'Chutai' of 740 tons, was hit by a six inch shell. Despatches say that a hole three feet in iameter was torn in the vessel. No mention was made of casualties.

Advices received by mail from Hankow under date of April 11 say twenty upper class Chinese were murdered by labor and farmer unionists at Changsha, in the neighboring Province of Hunan. The laborites killed business men and compradores in the streets, while the farmers butchered land owners in their own homes. Many were reported fleeing toward Hankow.

Chiang Forms Government

SHANGHAI, April 18 (Canadian Press).—The formation of a government at Nanking by General Chiang Kai-Shek was reported today. No details were given in meagre despatches received, but it is understood that Canton, Shanghai, and Nanking men figure largely in its composition. Thus there are apparently three governments in China, not counting the various semi-independent war lordships.

It is learned that Hou Shao Chiu, Professor in Shanghai University and described in despatches as a "notorious Communist," was executed at Nanking on April 9.

O.E.A. MEETING.

Two Thousand Delegates Gather To Discuss Education.

TORONTO, April 18 (Canadian Press).—The sixtieth annual meeting of the Ontario Educational Association took place to-day with nearly two thousand delegates from all parts of the province in attendance. There will be a meeting of directors to-day to make preparations for the three-day gathering. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Speaker of the House of Commons, will address the delegates at a mass meeting to-morrow night.

Rumanian Census Exempts Women For Lies On Age

BUCHAREST, April 18.—The government has ordered a national census on April 24, and has simultaneously published a decree providing imprisonment and fines for subjects giving false data.

The only exception to the decree against falsifying is in the case of women who declare themselves younger than they actually are. No fine or prison term will be levied upon them.

TRAFFIC HEAVY OVER HOLIDAY

Extra Coaches Added To All Trains During Week End.

MANY TRAVELLERS.

In common with other indications pointing toward a steady improvement in conditions generally for the city, railway traffic for this Easter has been exceptionally good and a great deal of hustling and bustling may be seen at the railway stations just now, for not only are students returning for the holidays, but many visitors have been here to spend the Easter season in Peterborough.

Both the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railway offices told The Examiner that their trains carried extra coaches to accommodate the people who travelled to and from this city for the holidays. The beautiful weather has also aided in inducing many people to travel and as a result there were extra cars added to every train over the week-end to relieve any congestion that might arise.

CLUB COMBATS ABUSE OF SIGNS

Local Automobile Association To Work For Co-operation With Police.

AT STOP CORNERS.

The Peterborough Automobile Club is seriously considering a co-operation with the police for safety for pedestrians, Frank Stinson, the secretary, told The Examiner today, whereby members of the Club will take an active interest both in the city and the surrounding districts.

This will be in the interests of pedestrians and motorists alike. Mr. Stinson remarked that the stop-signs so recently put on the city streets are being abused, or rather that motorists seem to think that the signs were erected for no other purpose than to protect themselves from colliding with cars on the right-of-way.

Though this is partly true, nevertheless it does not call for motorists to stop on the intersection so that pedestrians are forced to step into the road to cross the corners. This, said Mr. Stinson, is what the Club plans to help the police discourage, thus giving the pedestrian, and also the motorist, a square deal.

Cyclist Is Killed While Swerving To Save Spaniel; Collie Pup Dies in Fire After Rescuing a Family

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 18 (AP)—To save the life of a small dog, Rudolph Andritsch, 24, sacrificed his own life. As Andritsch was riding his motorcycle last night the dog, a water spaniel, trotted out from the curb into his path, and Andritsch swerved his machine sharply.

The motorcycle slid on to its side and with the rider slewed for sixty feet along the pavement. With a yelp the dog disappeared.

Andritsch was picked up unconscious and rushed to a hospital, where he died of a fractured skull.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., April 18 (AP)—Blackie, a collie pup, died a hero here last night after he had saved his master, M. O. Day, Mrs. Day and a yearold baby from a fire which swept their home.

The dog, seeing the flames, rushed into a bedroom where the Days were sleeping, barked and leaped upon the bed to arouse them.

After they had gone out of the house, the dog, apparently thinking some one had been left behind in the burning building, rushed back and was burned to death.

PRESENTATION TO C. H. ROGERS BY ROTARIANS

Retiring President is Thanked For Year's Good Service.

CONFEDERATION.

Address By J. H. Burnham a Feature of To-day's Meeting.

President-elect A. L. Killaly was installed as president of the Peterborough Rotary Club at to-day's luncheon of the club, the gavel being handed over to him by the retiring president, C. H. Rogers.

Past-President Rogers, in reviewing the past year, expressed his sincere thanks to the committees and to the members generally for the great assistance they had rendered him.

Rotarian Fred L. Roy, first president of the Peterborough Rotary Club, presented the past president with a president's pin as a mark of the appreciation of the members to Rotarian Rogers for his splendid service. He had been, the speaker said, one of the best presidents in the history of the club. The Rotary Club meant something to Peterborough, so that Rotarian Rogers' term of office had not only been a good thing for the club, but for the community generally.

President Killaly called the attention of the club to the loss sustained by the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham in the destruction of several thousand tree by fire, and urged liberal patronage for the League's entertainment on Wednesday night. He also drew attention to the Y.W.C.A. Pageant and to the

Seek To Establish Visual Communication

WOODSTOCK, April 18. — A series of new signalling tests, with a view to linking up Windsor and Galt by visual telegraphy, has been started by the signalling section of the Oxford Rifles at Woodstock, and the signalling companies at Ingersoll and St. Mary's, working in conjunction with other units. A series of hills has been chosen for the signalling stations, and the first tests, made on Saturday, were fairly successful, although it was not possible, owing to the weather conditions, to maintain an unbroken line of communication. The tests are to be continued until complete success has been attained.

WELLAND CANAL CLAIMS VICTIM

Boy Drowned When Anchor Rope Upsets Canoe.

CHUM SAVED.

THOROLD, April 18.—The old Welland Canal at Thorold, claimed a victim when Robert, 15 year old son of Mrs. Leonard Swanson of Thorold, whose other son was drowned in the Welland river at Welland a year ago, lost his life.

The lad and a chum, Thomas Libert, were paddling in the canal in a canoe, using a sledge hammer as an anchor. When they threw the improvised anchor overboard the rope caught and upset the craft. A passer-by was able to save the Libert boy, but young Swanson sank to his death. The victim was a bright boy in the entrance class in school.

J. W. ANDERSON BADLY BRUISED

Knocked Down By Car While Going Home From Church.

COMPANIONS SHAKEN.

While coming home from church last night J. W. Anderson was injured at the corner of London and Water streets. His two sons-in-law, who were with him, were badly shaken up but Mr. Anderson received some bad bruises around the head and body. A car, in attempting to turn at the corner, swerved quickly and ran the three men down. It was a miraculous escape for Mr. Anderson, who was pinned under the car. He was removed to his home by the owners of the automobile.

JAPAN CABINET RESIGNS IN BODY

Action Taken as Result of Difference With Privy Council.

AID TO BANK.

TOKYO, April 18 (A.P.). — The Cabinet, headed by Beijiro Wakatsuki as Premier, resigned yesterday. This action was taken as a result of the Privy Council's rejection of the Government's decision to give aid to the Bank of Formosa to the extent of two million yen.

The resignation of the Cabinet is expected to precipitate a financial crisis although the directors of the Bank of Japan have decided, on their own responsibility, to offer some emergency aid in an effort to prevent the Bank of Formosa closing today.

The Privy Council disapproved the government's proposed Imperial ordinance to aid the Bank of Formosa because the councillors believed the measure unconstitutional.

The Emperor has ordered Premier Yakatsuki to continue in office until his successor is appointed.

The financial troubles in Japan, which have now caused a government crisis in the country, began about the middle of March when general uneasiness over the economical situation created a run on the banks in Tokyo and its vicinity, resulting in the closing of nine banks.

The underlying reason for the present situation goes back to the disastrous earthquake of 1923. Many persons and business concerns suffered tremendous losses when Tokyo and other Japanese cities were razed or seriously damaged and the years since have seen only their partial recovery.

MacDonald Visits Friend He Met On Wedding Trip

BOSTON, April 18.—The cares of political leadership had been put aside to-day by the Right Hon. James Ramsay MacDonald, Britain's first and only labor premier, as he looked forward with satisfaction to a most important incident of his American visit. It was a matter of sentiment that brought Mr. MacDonald and his daughter, Ishbel ,to these shores. Thirty years ago the labor leader, with his wife, in New England on their wedding trip, were entertained by a woman whose memory of kindness both cherished. Mrs. MacDonald is dead, but in Concord to-day, father and daughter will visit the hostess of former years, now aged, and in failing health.

Mr. MacDonald would not give the woman's name.

CITIZENS ARE IN FAVOR OF BIG CLEAN-UP

Peterborough Can Be Beautified Through Concerted Effort.

A FINER CITY.

W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., Says Property Should Be Cleaned Up.

The clean-up campaign which commences this week in this city is receiving the whole-hearted co-operation of many of the leading citizens. Mayor Holloway has endorsed it and with the co-operation of the citizens of Peterborough this city will be made the most beautiful in Ontario.

J. J. Turner.

J. J. Turner said he desired to commend the efforts of The Examiner in taking in hand this clean-up campaign. The real principle of the whole thing is to keep at it and not let peoples' energies be confined to cleaning up in springtime.

"The city should take the lead in this clean-up campaign for there are streets where weeds are allowed to grow. If people are forced to cut the weeds in vacant lots why should not the city do likewise? Keeping the streets free from weeds should not be charged against the Board of Works, for it has a programme which requires all the money in its estimates. Men who require assistance should be given this work to do," said Mr. Turner.

Mr. Turner also offered suggestions whereby parts of the city might be improved. In the south end of the city in the Otonabee river is the small Robinson's Island, where the first settlers of this city landed. Mr. Turner suggests that this island be cleaned up and a small bridge built from the mainland to the island. He also suggests that the Parks committee of the city council keep up its good work in levelling Riverside Park.

Dr. J. E. Middleton.

Dr. Middleton is heartily behind the campaign and he suggests to the citizens of Peterborough that they join the Peterborough Horticultural Society and through the medium of this society they would improve their lawns and gardens. Dr. Middleton is a firm believer in keeping all vacant lots clean, for it is the weeds that grow in these spaces that seed the surrounding district. There is a city by-law which forces the owners to keep their vacant lots clean," said Dr. Middleton, "so it is up to the police to see that this law is enforced. June is the time to act, said the doctor, before the weeds go to seed.

Alderman Nagle Phelan.

Alderman Phelan thinks that the citizens should at this time make a little extra effort to have everything looking clean and tidy for this is the Jubilee year and also the Governor-General of Canada is expected to pay a visit to the city some time during June. "It is a splendid idea," said Alderman Phelan, " and I hope the citizens will co-operate so that it will be a great success and Peterborough will be a finer city to live in.

W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P.

Mr. Bradburn told the Examiner that he was behind the idea of the clean-up campaign and he hoped the citizens of the city will make this week one of cleaning up their yards and lawns. Many citizens now take a pride in keeping their homes looking good, but there are still quite a few whom a campaign of this kind might encourage to do better.

BANDITS KILL TORONTO MAN IN CENTRE CHINA

Rev. Morris Slichter, Mission Worker, and Daughter, Murdered.

OTHERS CAPTURED.

Party On Way To Railway To Seek Safety at Coast.

SHANGHAI, April 18 (Associated Press Cable). — Rev. Morris Slichter of Toronto and his three-year-old daughter have been murdered by Chinese bandits near Yunnanfu, in one of the wildest parts of China.

The tragedy occurred while a party of missionaries were trying to make their way to a railway and safety on the coast.

Mrs. Slichter, wife of the missionary; her 6-year-old son, John, and Miss Mary I. Craig, nurse, whose home is in Philadelphia, were taken captives by the bandits, and, necessarily, extreme fears are entertained for their safety.

China Inland Mission

The murdered missionary, his family and the others in the party were attached to the China Inland Mission at Anshunfu. A report that there were others in the party has not been confirmed, but is likely to prove true, as the seven adults composing the mission staff would probably travel together. Dr. D. V. Rees is a member of the mission reported to have been with Mr. Slichter's party.

The date of the outrage has not been definitely determined, but it is believed to have occurred about a week ago.

The China Inland Mission here learns that the party had left their post for Shanghai on the advice of the British Consul, and because of the disturbed conditions they were unable to come via Szechwan Province, the shortest route. Hence they were making their way southward in an endeavor to reach the railway leading to Hong Kong.

General Tang Chi-yao, the Civil and Militaty Governor of Yunnanfu Province, where the misisonaries were killed, has been asked to apprehend the bandits and to guarantee reparations.

British Consul Notified

Joseph E. Jacobs, the United States Consul at Yunnanfu, who is at present detailed to the Shanghai Consulate, has also telegraphed the British Consul at Yunnanfu for details, and has urged him to use his utmost efforts to obtain the release of the captives.

The tragic fate of the misisonaries recalls the fact that Joseph Rock, an employee of the Harvard University, was captured, presumably by bandits, near the same place some months ago. He has not been heard from since, but it is believed in some quarters that he may have escaped and made his way toward Tibet.

Word Received in Toronto

TORONTO, April 18.—News of the murder of Rev. Morris Slichter and his 3-year-old daughter by Chinese bandits and the capture by bandits of Mrs. Slichter, the missionary's wife, and 6-year-old son, and Miss Mary I. Craig, nurse, whose home was in Philadelphia, reached the relatives of Mr. Slichter residing in Toronto last evening through the China Inland Mission.

The message of the cable received by Rev. E. A. Brownlee of the Toronto headquarters of the China Inland Mission from the headquarters in Shanghai reads as follows: "Chinese officials report to Consul at Yunnanfu, Morris Slichter, with daughter, has been killed, and Mrs. Morris Slichter and Mrs. Slichter's son and Miss M. I. Craig are in robbers' hands."

Mr. Slichter's immediate family relations are resident in Toronto. Mrs. Elizabeth Slichter, mother of the misisonary, resides with her daughter, Mrs. Maude Hunt, at 128 First Avenue, while two brothers are well known in the East End, engaged in the florist busines. Milton Slichter resides at 39 Grandview Avenue, and Edmund at 162 Simpson Avenue.

Rev. Mr. Slitcher was born in Waterloo County, but received his training for mission work at Zion Chapel, College Street, Toronto. Since 1915 Mr. Slichter and his wife have been engaged in work among the Chinese, under the auspices of the China Inland Mission. They were married in China in 1917. Two children were born to them while on the mission field, John Milton, April 26, 1921, and Ruth Irene, March 19, 1924.

Mrs. Slichter, who was also a member of Zion Chapel, belonged to Louisville, Kentucky. Following a recent furlough spent in Canada, they returned to China in September, 1924.

Miss Mary I. Craig, American trained nurse, also taken captive by the bandits, belong to Philadelphia, and was attached to the same station as Mr. and Mrs. Slichter.

POWERS AWAIT ANSWER TO NANKING NOTE

Are Ready for Joint Military Action if Believed Necessary.

TO OUST "REDS"

Many Casualties Results of Raids Against Communist Headquarters.

SHANGHAI, April 18.— (Canadian Press.)—Further action by the foreign powers with regard to their joint demands for apologies and reparations in connection with the Nanking outrage, is awaited with anxiety. Despatches from Peking say that the representatives of the five powers there, in the belief that the reply made by Eugene Chen, the Cantonese Foreign Minister, to the notes of the power was unsatisfactory, see no alternative except to adopt additional measures and have asked for instructions from their respective governments.

Should the powers decide upon some action other than that suggested in Chen's note, their warships are well distributed for service up and down the coast and along the Yangtse river. Thirty-six foreign warships are at present at Hankow, the seat of the Nationalist government. These include 13 Japanese, 11 British, 7 United States, 3 French and two Italian crafts; others are patrolling the Yangtse between Hankow and Shanghai.

There are also large forces at Shanghai, Honkong and Tientsin, with more Japanese troops for Manchuria. Another brigade coming from England and marines on their way from the United States.

With reference to the appointment of an interrational commission, suggested by Eugene Chen, stress is laid on the fact that the official investigations already carried out, have disclosed evidence, with numerous affidavits, establishing the guilt of the Nationalist troops at Nanking.

Form New Union.

Fifty students representing most of the Chinese schools in Shanghai have held a session and voted to organize a new union, ousting the Communists. A resolution was adopted demanding the expulsion of Communists from the Shanghai schools and recommending the circulation of a manifesto urging the people to support General Chiang Kai-Shek, generalissimo of the Cantonese army.

A despatch from Swatow says that members of the right wing of the Kuomintang (Cantonese political organization) carried out raids against the Communist headquarters, resulting in many casualties. The chief of the labor union, and ten others were arrested. Thirty Cantonese soldiers attached to the political department of military headquarters at Lungswa, outside of Shanghai, raided the Chinese Seamen's Union in the native city and arrested twelve alleged Communists. They found inflammatory handbills on the premises and seized rifles and a large quantity of ammunition.

The police report that 8,824 Chinese left Shanghai during the week ending April 15.

Plans Advance.

While violent agitation is still carried on in Hankow against General Chiang Kai-Shek, rumors come from that place that Chiang is planning an advance on Hanlow with the purpose of clearing out the "Reds."

American missionary workers have evacuated Chuchow, proceeding on the steamer Pingwo. Twenty thousand troops wearing northern uniforms, are reported at Wuhu. Lawlessness there is widespread and there has been much looting.

It is declared officially to be imperative that all shipping moving between Chinkiang and Nanking shall have a naval escort, as firing across the river is hot and continuous. All the British residents have evacuated Holhow, Hainan, except the harbor master and the lighthouse staff.

The British cruiser Vindictive is proceeding to Hankow, where important developments at an early date are predicted.

A message from Kiukiang, reports the looting of the property of Anderson, Meyer and Company, an American concern, located on the Bund.

THE FAITHFUL.

You're just a hound—
But I'll be bound,
There's men that's none your better:
You seek my will,
And try to fill
My wishes to the letter.

You leave your kind
That you may find
A place to prove devotion;
And tho' I'm rough,
You show your stuff
In living to my notion

So now, old Pup,
Till your time's up,
Just make yourself at home here,
And keep things straight
While we both wait,
What brings the years that come, sere.

NAVAL BATTLE IN CHINESE WAR

Northern and Southern Fleets Clash, Forts Aiding Northerners.

LOOTING AT NANKING.

LONDON, April 18.— (United Press.)—The first real naval engagement between Nationalist and Northern ships in China occurred to-day off Chusan Island, an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Hong Kong said.

Three Northern cruisers exchanged fire with a Southern cruiser. Forts of the Northern army manned by troops of Sun Chuang-Fang and the Nationalist flagship joined in the fight. The flagship was badly damaged about the water line, the despatch said.

Northern forces reached Hochow and further looting has occurred at Nanking, it added.

Cologne Cathedral Will Install Loud Speakers

COLOGNE, April 18. — The famous ancient Cologne Cathedral is to be modernized. The installation of 22 loud speakers has been ordered to make sermons from the pulpit audible in every part of the large edifice.

Tests already made with a smaller number of the instruments have been highly successful. The microphone and loud speakers are to be cleverly hidden from view, not noticeable to visitors, and the architecture will not be marred.

PLANE CRASHES IN TRIAL TEST

Three Noted Airmen Recovering From Injuries Received in Crash.

PLAN ATLANTIC HOP.

HACKENSACK, N.J., April 18 (A.P.).—Three noted airmen last night were recovering from injuries received in an aeroplane crash that, temporarily at least, has disrupted their plans to make a non-stop flight across the Atlantic next month. About five miles away from the Hackensack Hospital, where they were confined, their giant Fokker monoplane, the America, also was receiving professional attention at the Teterboro airport.

The injured airmen are: Commander Richard S. Byrd and Floyd Bennett, North Pole fliers, and Lieut. George O. Noville, who was to have accompanied them on their trans-Atlantic hop as alternate pilot and radio operator. Their plane, piloted by its designer, Anthony H. G. Fokker, crashed at Teterboro airport late Saturday afternoon on its first test flight. Fokker was uninjured.

Shaken Up

Dr. Raymond P. Sullivan, New York specialist, who is treating the injured airmen, said yesterday that Commander Byrd, who left wrist was broken, "is doing so well that he may be able to leave the hospital today." Lieutentant Noville, the physician said, was "doing much better Sunday." He received contusions of the right hip joint and leg and was suffering from shock Saturday night. Dr. Sullivan said he had "pretty well recovered from the shock, but would be confined to the hospital for a week or more."

Bennett, the most seriously injured of the three, suffered severe shock. His right thigh was broken, his lower lip and chin badly cut, and he received lacerations about the head and body. Dr. Sullivan said that at the present time he had no fears about Bennett's recovery. Bennett, he said, is worried about his wife, who is seriously ill in Brooklyn.

No Definite Plan

No decision has been reached as to continuing with plans for the trans-Atlantic flight, officials said at the Teterboro airport, and probably none will be made for several days. If the fight is attempted, it will be made in the America. Fokker declared after the mishap Saturday night, that the plane could be reconditioned in three or four days.

The accident occurred after the giant, three-engined monoplane had been in the air for an hour, during which the America had been tested for its climbing and general operation. The plane, piloted by Fokker, swooped to the landing field, and, having touched ground, sped smoothly towards its hangar. The crash occurred about thre hundred yards from the hangar, while the America was speeding along the ground at about forty miles an hour. Airport officials said the machine struck a soft spot of ground, tilted suddenly on its nose, then turned completely over on its back. Observers at the field said the tail of the airplane kept rising as it shot along the runway, causing its nose to be deflected downward into the ground.

OLD MASTERS

Who dreamed that beauty passes like a dream?
For these red lips, with all their mournful pride,
Mournful that no new wonder may betide,
Troy passed away in one high funeral gleam,
And Usna's children died.

We and the laboring world are passing by:
Amid men's souls, that waver and give place,
Like the pale waters in their wintry race,
Under the passing stars foam of the sky,
Lives on this lonely face.

Bow down, archangels, in your dim abode:
Before you were, or any hearts to beat,
Weary and kind one lingered by His seat;
He made the world to be a grassy road
Before her wandering feet.

—William Butler Yeats: "The Rose of the World."

RACE OF PLANES OVER ATLANTIC IS POSSIBILITY

Remarkable Sporting Event May Be Staged in Short While.

FOUR ASPIRANTS.

For Non-Stop Flight From New York To Paris.

NEW YORK, April 18 (United Press).—Four airplanes, and possibly a fifth will be ready by May 1 to attempt the one remaining great feat in trans-Atlantic aviation, a non-stop New York-to-Paris flight—and it appeared likely today that at least two of them might try the feat simultaneously.

Such a contest would turn a pioneering feat into one of the most remarkable sporting events of all time—a 3,600 miles, two-day race for a permanent place on the honor roll of trail-blazers.

The list of men waiting for the day when their planes will be ready for the great event reads like a who's who of aviation.

Bert Acosta or Clarence Chamberlain in the Bellanca-Wright monoplane in which they broke the world's sustained flight record last Thursday. It is possible both may make the attempt, but it was believed likely today that one, Acosta, would be replaced by a navigator more familiar with ocean flying. A new engine is being installed in their plane, and it probably will be ready for the flight early next week.

It is not likely to start until May however, unless some other plane takes off.

French Entrant

Captain Charles Nungesser and Lieutenant Francois Coli, whose 450-horse-power specially built plane will be ready for trials next week, and, if the trials are successful, for the trans-Atlantic hop by May 1, according to a despatch from Paris to-day Nungesser was wounded 37 times in the war, and is officially credited with having brought down 46 German planes. He was one of the leading French war aviators. Lieut. Coli, noted one-eyed flyer, has been planning a New York-Paris flight for two years.

Commander Richard Byrd and Floyd Bennett, U.S.N., who flew over the North Pole in an airplane last year, and Lieut. George C. Noville, U.S.N. They are backed by Rodman Wanamaker, in a "non-commercial flight to assist the progress of aviation." They will use a specially constructed giant Fokker plane. Secrecy surrounds their plans, but it is reported they will be ready by May 1.

Lieut. Commander Noel Davis, U.S.N., who will have a specially built Keystone Pathfinder plane, with three Wright whirlwind motors, fully equipped for comfort and convenience. His plane was given its first test flight last week.

Charles A. Lindbergh, St. Louis, Mo., air mail pilot, who will use a Ryan monoplane. His preparations also have ben secret, but it was believed he was nearly ready for the attempt.

Fonck in Race.

In addition, the Sikorsky Manufacturing Corporation is building a new plane for Captain Rene Fonck, French aviator, whose giant plane crashed and burned on the take-off of his attempted New York-Paris flight last year. It was not believed however, that the plane would be completed before June 1.

Davis and Lindburgh alone of the six contestants are eligible now for the $25,000 offered by Raymond Orteig for the first successful nonstop New York-Paris flight. The rules provided that entries for the prize must be filed with the National Aeronautic Association 60 days before the flight started, and those two are the only pilots whose 60-day periods will expire before May 1. Byrd specifically announced he would not seek the prize because he feared that would give a commercial aspect to the flight.

All the planes except that of Nungesser and Coli plan to fly from Roosevelt Field, N.Y., to LeBourget Airdrome, Paris. Then Frenchmen will fly in the opposite direction.

Manual Of Mendicant Art Guide For French Beggars

PARIS, April 18.—(A.P.)—Mendicancy is an art in France, and Gallic beggars have a "Manual for the Use of Beggars" to instruct them in the art.

The book, which includes a "sucker list" of good prospects, emerged from the pocket of a beggar when a Judge admired his knowledge of humanity.

"Why, it's an art," exclaimed the beggar, drawing forth the textbook in explanation.

Most of the chapters are devoted to technical instruction, such as how to operate at baptisms, marriages, funerals and the methods of attracting sympathetic attention.

There is instruction in how to seem blind, simulation of certain ailments, faking of suicide attempts and the concealment of legs or arms for displacement by false ones.

VEGETABLE TARIFF

Cecil Delworth, of the Vegetable Growers' Association, recently appeared before the Tariff Board and placed the case of the Ontario vegetable growers with that body in a clear and concise form.

"Somewhere you may have heard that Canada was not suited to the culture of vegetables, that the Canadian growers lacked in skill and aggressiveness.

"Our season is undoubtedly shorter than that of Southern United States, but Nature in her profound wisdom has given our country its compensation in bestowing on her a soil greater in fertility. As for our growers, I think I am safe in saying that the gardeners of Old France and Britain head the world in their knowledge of the science and practice of gardening. The gardeners of this Dominion are very largely descendants of a long line of those old world gardeners. Gardening is not something that is learned in a week or a year. It is a knowledge gained by close association with the various crops and with men who have been growing them, year after year, for a lifetime. The art, science, or profession or whatever you may choose to call it becomes the culminative result of a long line of patient ancestry.

"Canadian growers have recently won high honors in an international contest held in the United States. Two months ago, they carried off the championship in vegetables, celery and cauliflower.

"There had been a change in the economic conditions of the vegetable growing industry since the present rate of duties were levied. The perfection of cold storage long-distance shipping, together with the fact that huge areas in Southern United States have been developed as truck gardening regions. The infestations of the boll weevil together with keener competition since the war has been a factor in causing many of the farmers of the cotton-growing district to enter the vegetable growing industry. Districts formerly almost useless for agriculture purposes have been irrigated by state funds and the inhabitants encouraged to enter the vegetable growing industry. In many of these districts close to the Southern border there is an abundance of cheap Mexican and Negro labor. These factors have all tended to increase the production of early vegetables.

"The supply of vegetable crops is impossible to control. A few warm days may throw all calculations of available supply greatly in error. With this rule of Nature to work with, huge surplusses of vegetables are often apparent. Prices drop from a high level to below cost of production overnight. Usually the price drop occurs when the crop is rolling northward and in an effort to save domestic markets from utter collapse. An undue portion is shipped into Canada, forcing the Canadian grower to compete with prices that do not represent in any way the cost of production or a fair market value therof. The anti-dumping law is totally ineffective because the fair market value of these goods is represented for what they will sell for at the point of shipment, which might be just sufficient to cover the cost of packing.

"The situation has a ruinous effect on the vegetable growing industry of this country, so much so that the best available statistics show that in the period of ten years between 1911 and 1921 eighty-five thousand people left fruit and vegetable farms for more profitable fields of endeavor.

"During the year 1925 we imported into Canada during the months of April, May, June and July approximately 250,000 bushels of tomatoes valued at the point of shipment at $904,000. This represents only a fraction of the money Canada paid for these tomatoes. When we add freight rates, brokerage, icing charges, and dealers' profits it is quite within reason to assume that we paid a bill of almost $2,000,000 for tomatoes that could have been produced in Canada."

HEROIC RESCUE IN GRAND RIVER

Boat Is Swamped, Anglers Taken Ashore By Lone Rescuer.

RECOGNITION ASKED.

BRANTFORD, April 18. — The Brantford Humane Society will be asked to secure recognition of heroic work which resulted in the rescue of Walter Graydon, 73 Mary street, from a watery grave in the Grand River.

With his four children Graydon had gone on a fishing trip. With a boat he placed the three smaller children on an island in the river near the Dufferin rifles. He and the oldest lad Sam, then rowed away to fish down the river. The boat was caught in a cross current and was swamped. Sam could swim and made for shore, but the ather, unable to swim, clung to the boat helplessly.

Frank Hodge, who was on shore stripped and went to the rescue, bringing Graydon near to land. There however Graydon collapsed, and Hodge's efforts were supplemented by Scout Master Ryalt and his troop of scouts, who succeeded in bringing Graydon ashore.

The fire department was notified and rescued the three youngsters from the island without mishap.

STORMY EASTER.

New South Wales Has One of Worst Holidays in History.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., April 18.— New South Wales is experiencing one of the worst Easters in its history, three days of rain having deluged the coastal strip. As much as 20 inches have been recorded and floods are feared along the coastal rivers.

While wires are down interrupting communications, the news of one fatality has already been reported through a landslide. Ferry services in the harbor have been suspended, shipping is standing off the coast and a great Easter agricultural show and racing carnivals have been held up. Dozens of passenger trains are blocked by washouts and landslides.

ARREST MEMBER OF RUM RING

Charged With Accompanying Cargo From Canada To San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 18 (Canadian Press) — Frank Parsons of Vancouver, B.C., languished in jail here Saturday in the lieu of $30,000 bail while the Consolidated Exporters Ltd., of Vancouver disowned him as a representative. Parsons was arrested by federal officers Friday as he entered San Francisco from the island of Tahiti and was held as an alleged member of a $1,000,000 rum conspiracy.

The government claims it received positive proof that liquor shipments sent to Tahiti from Canada and which Parsons admitted he accompanied, was reshipped to San Francisco. They contended that Parsons preceded the rum vessel here, to arrange certain landing details.

Attorney Harold A. Faulkner, representing the Consolidated Exporters here, declared that Parsons is "positively not an agent of the Consolidated."

"If he were, I would be aware of it," said Faulkner. "He is a regularly licensed insurance broker, well known in British Columbia and not an attorney, as reported. He carried papers from the Prime Minister of Canada and the Secretary of Mines and I am convinced of the correctness of his statement that he accompanied a cargo of liquor from Vancouver to Tahiti in his capacity as insurance man to protect the interests of the cargo and see that it was landed as per clearing papers.'

EXPERT FINDS THAT LABORITES BETTER DRESSED

Are Now Classed Among Best Dressed Politicians in England.

BALDWIN SHABBY.

Silk Toppers and Creased Trousers Draw Taunts From Radicals.

LONDON, April 18.—Labor leaders are now among the best-dressed politicians in England. While this announcement has been responsible for much general amusement, it is believed it will further anger the extremists in Labor ranks who think that the silk hat is a sign of 'decadent capitalism,' and that creased trousers indicate "a slave of financial intrigue." The editor of the Tailor and Cutter, who is regarded as one of the foremost authorities on men's dress, and who attended the wedding of Peggy Thomas, daughter of the noted leader, declares: "The time has passed when the present opposition thought it necessary to shock with the 'deer stalker' and odd garb."

Labor Holds Own.

This connoisseur on male attire further states that the reception at the Hotel Metropole following the wedding, when Premier Baldwin and Lloyd George were present among an imposing array of peers, found Labor "holding its own in the cut of its morning coat and tilt of its gloss top hat."

Right Hon. Mr. Thomas was well dressed, and wore vest, spats and a buttonhole to brighten up his formal suit. "Right Hon. Arthur Henderson offered no room for criticism." Premier Baldwin's clothes looked thoroughly tired, while the Earl of Birkenhead fell lamentably short by arriving at the reception in a lounge suit. One may compliment the sons and daughters of Labor on their fashionable appearance.

OPPOSE MACDONALD AS LABOR LEADER

Omit Customary Nomination of Ex-Premier as Treasurer of Party.

LONDON, April 18 (A.P.)—The growing strength of the revolt against Ramsay MacDonald's Labor leadership was shown at the annual conference of the Independent Labor Party which opened at Leicester yesterday. The administrative council this year omitted the customary nomination of MacDonald as treasurer of the party, the ground of omission being that MacDonald opposes some planks the Independent Labor party wants the Parliamentary Labor Party to adopt.

The omission led to prolonged and heated secret discussions yesterday, over a motion seeking to force the Council, to nominate MacDonald, but the motion was defeated by a vote of 312 to 118.

Fener Brockway, leader of the anti-Macdonald faction, criticized his policy towards China, lack of robustness in his leadership, and his apparent failure to adopt the policy of a standard living wage.

The vote carried no immediate effect on MBacDonald's leadership of the whole party, but weakens his position.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

UP AND DOING

Sure there is lots of trouble,
Sure there are heaps of care,
Burdens that bend us double,
Worries that come to wear.
But we must keep pursuing Something, and see it through;
Still to be up and doing
Is all that there is to do.

Though you would like to idle,
Wait for the world to right,
Keep your hand on the bridle,
Fight when you have to fight.
Women are won by wooing,
Fortune is won the same,
And to be up and doing
Is all there is to the game.

Few ever fail by trying,
Few ever win who wait.
All of your sitting sighing
Never will conquer fate.
Whatever path you're hewing,
One thing is certain, son:
Either be up and doing
Or soon you'll be down and done.

"My mother," says Mrs. Richard James, Victoria, B.C., "has used Magic Baking Powder for ever so long and would not be without it. I also am using it for all my baking and think it is the best there is for making nice cakes, biscuits, etc."

SELF EDUCATION

(By J. H. Burnham.)

Small-talk, or gossip, concerning the poets, prose-writers and artists of different periods is the second best and sometimes even the first best part of the literature or art of those periods. Who does not like to hear at a dinner-party what he has not heard before of Johnson, Gray, Gay, Pope, Dryden, Garrick, Goldsmith, Reynolds, Prior, Boswell, Sir Walter, and the other great and near-great ones of the eighteenth century and the early nineteenth?

Great as he was as a writer and as a literary artist who nevertheless knew nothing of literary art but his own unconscious practice of it, Sir Walter Scott, the peerless novelist, always referred to by the literati as Sir Walter, or the great Sir Walter, or Sir Walter "himself," founded no school of novel-writing as did Richardson, and particularly Fielding. Of course, Boswell has put down everything that the "king of English letterdom" said and did, and, stranger still, nothing that he did not say or do. But for all that a man of Austin Dobson's scholarly genius for unearthing what others have not discovered has enabled him, in his "Eighteenth Century Vignettes," to give us a complete and detailed history of the gossip concerning the personal as well as the literary side of each of those worthy of record, and of the famous "resorts" frequented by them, and thus of the early life of their times. The great beauties and gentlewomen of those, as of other times, affected if they did not really like the often strange and sometimes uncouth "characters" which those who love literature rejoice to know about. Rogers, who was a very moderate poet and man, was adored and cultivated by not only the highest but the loveliest of womankind. There is something strange about the liking of these noble and beautiful dames and damsels for the often selfish and always unkempt, if not dirty, men of literature, and be it known women too, as, for example, Lady Mary Wortley Montague. Dinner-parties, so frequent and so finely done as to excite admiration and our envy, were considered a failure if at least one of the lionettes of the day was not present. They had a pretty turn for wit, sometimes a dash of malice and a certain facility in versifying which pleased their friends, for these rich people were really friends and not mere patrons, at least in any offensive sense of that term. It is, of course, laughable to compare these musical and merry, and sometimes malicious, wits and versefiers with such men of science as Bradley or Flamsteed, Laflace, or Sir Charles Lyell, but nevertheless they served their purpose. Their part in nature was to furnish the literary music and the gayety of the times and thus to give poignancy to the popular records of their times without which those records would have been dull, cheerless and wholly unintellectual, or at least wholly without literary flavor.

It is indeed a singular thing that Pope's chief title to fame rests on his translation into English of another poet. But so it is with all moderns, especially the greatest, such as Shakespeare, and particularly Milton. No antiquity. No modernity. The whole history of literary modern times depends for its very meat and virtue upon the glorious classical past. It is, therefore, at best but a shell, but it is a shell that preserves the sounds of the great sea of genius of the rolling ocean of remoter times.

Childish as many of these moderns were, we can not do without them, and all those who enjoy the delights of culture and the nimbleness of wit, together with the flowers of eloquence and the beauty of literature, enjoy them all the more when their creators and their friends and disciples are brought together with us at our symposia, or more intellectual gatherings. There are at present no people of that sort worth inviting to dinner, or to speak, except it be perhaps in the United States in which a new literature is being born of a less distinctly literary, but not less entertaining, quality than that of the old kind with Longfellow, Lowell and Holmes in it. But if any guest at a present-day dinner-party "cut loose" on literature as "they" once did, he would be ruled out as a bore—because our present-day people may have knowledge but not taste.

Even music to-day is what it is by virtue of the "old" masters. In fact, literary "brains" are at a discount to-day or have gone off into other callings. It may be that people will not take time or that they revel in the works of others rather than in their own ability to create. Public libraries have killed literature. The fact is that this era will bequeath nothing worth calling "literary" to posterity because literature has given way to the downrightness, the crudeness and brutal practicalness of a new era. Science has shouldered literature off the map.

However, Austin Dobson has done a work so complete, so interesting, so gossipy, and so scholarly and entertaining that lovers of literature simply must read him if they wish to see in his volumes of literary history all that is worth recording and some that is not but yet in literary history, of the lesser breeds of the poets of the immediate past and of their times.

Science has so laid bare "the facts" that there is little room for the imagination nowadays. It is a pity. What will become of us when there are no more illusions it is painful to think of. I remember a mother who spent the afternoon reading to her little flock the dear old nursery tales, and then spanked the children before putting them to bed for having told her tales that were not true. Yet who would do away with Mother Goose and Father Bear? Religion, or rather Faith, is suffering from the same nerve treatment as literature and music, and the future looks gloomy with the prospects of a dull, drab and unimaginative era ahead.

Everything is ready-made nowadays, and thereby hangs the tale which I have been relating. If we do not make our own, but live from hand to mouth, with our "canned" music, our religion, our foods, &c.—what must become of us but that we too shall be ready-made and nothing more.

The popularity and perpetuity, such as it is, of the subjects of these vignettes, are due, no doubt, to the fact that these "poets and writers" recorded in verse as did Cowper, the customs, habits and characteristics of their times. These "times" were "gay and festive", being the long reaction which followed the turbulent period of the Puritans, who eventually found vent for their spleen in the new world where their idea of liberty manifested itself in their death penalties for heresy and witchcraft, and their fondness for lopping off Quakers' ears.

The Victorian age was noted for its primness, and it, too, has been succeeded by this era of feminine licence, which has been much aggravated by still more puritanical laws. Are there any chroniclers of these days doing quietly the work of Samuel Pepys and the poets and poetastas of the following century? If so, we can well imagine that it will give prominence to much less interesting people than those who "suckle fools and chronicle small beer."

At any rate, formerly it was brains, or what passed for brains, that ruled the literary world. Now we have a rival of the natural school. Women nourish the race, and when the race suffers, as by war or plague, they instinctively and by natural impulse induce men to do the same. That is the true genesis of the revival of the half-clothed era which has followed great wars with astonishing regularity throughout the whole course of history. Woman imagines that she is more idealistic than man, but the reverse is the case, and when women undertake to "lecture" men on this score it is resented.

Pope received what would be to-day $150,000 for translating the Iliad. Had it been possible for readers to go to public libraries instead of subscribing he would not have been offered $150. It was well worth while, financially, to be a man of letters in "those days." The famous "Evelina," which took Europe by storm, would not attract a moment's notice to-day. The sex-novel, like the sex-skirt, is the present vogue, and it is all according to a law of nature, which, however, in the name of decency alone, might well be a little less flagrant.

AN ENGLISH DOMESTIC DESIGN

AN ENGLISH DOMESTIC DESIGN

By William G. Blakey, Architect.

No other architectural style, perhaps, is so eminently suitable for residential work as English Domestic. It has an intimate, personal feeling, which immediately strikes the observer as belonging to a home. Another favorable feature is the manner in which rooms and their windows may be of just the size, and in exactly the positions most desired, and do not have to be squeezed out of all resemblance to convenience, in order to conform with a set exterior. Here, full advantage has been taken of this adaptability to produce a home of great convenience and charm.

Entry is made through a vestibule having a good size coat closet. An archery in the hall separates the small part through which one would pass if going between the kitchen or cellar, and the front door; thus creating a sense of privacy in the main portion.

In addition to the service rooms, on the ground floor, are the dining room, loggia, sunroom, and living room; all roomy, and in common with the bedrooms, all skilfully planned to receive direct south light.

The living room will meet all requirements of the most exacting. It is large, size 14 ft. by 24 ft.; has a fireplace in the centre of an end wall, a position in which trouble does not arise between hearth and rug; is profusely lighted through three large windows, having the most favored exposures; and is in convenient relation to other rooms.

Splendid opportunities for effective treatment would be presented by the dining room which is panelled and stained a warm dark antique brown.

The kitchen provides space for the labor saving devices which Mrs. Homebuilder has so long had in her mind, and a little study will show the great convenience of its arrangement.

On the second floor are three bedrooms, each having a clothes closet, a tiled bathroom, and a large linen closet. The front bedroom has the luxury of a recessed fireplace and would indeed be a beautiful room.

A quiet but appropriate and effective color scheme has been used, with grey walls, varicolored brown and green shingles, and brown window frames with white sash.

This home with concrete foundations, frame walls with roughcast stucco on metal lath, oak floors, and hot water heating would cost approximately ten thousand dollars.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications of this house should communicate with the architects direct. Address Mr. William G. Blakey, Canada Permanent Bldg., Edmonton, Alberta.

Q.—When I let the contract for my house, what parts of the work shall I handle myself as separate contracts?

A.—We advise you to let separate contracts for heating, plumbing and electric wiring. These items are sometimes let to the general contractor, thus making him responsible for the entire house, but you will save money by letting separate contracts for the work listed.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

4—Bidding Systems.

As the important difference between auction and contract is that in auction all you win counts toward game, no matter how little you bid, while in contract your bid sets the limit for your progress toward game, it is evident that the cautious or backward methods of auction will not do in contract.

At auction, if your partner bids one in anything and it suits your hand, you say nothing, and if the adversaries have nothing to say, the bid stands. In contract this style of bidding will not get you anywhere. If you want to win the game you must show your partner how close you can come to doing it, and see if he can help you out with the balance.

Suppose you start with a bid of one heart, and he had just enough to raise you once. That is not doing any good, because you will make more by leaving it at one and scoring over-tricks, if you cannot bid four. This we have seen in our table of results. But if you can start with a bid of three hearts and he has a raise he will jump at the chance to bid game.

The first thing to do in contract is to settle upon some bidding system which can be relied upon to produce, in tricks won, as nearly as possible the number predicted by the cards held. No system is absolute for every hand, but some are much better than others, because they will beat averages. There are three conditions which all systems must meet. These are: The bid on your own cards. The bid in support of partner. The bid against the adversaries.

A FREE BID is the first made on that deal.

A DEFENSIVE BID is made against an opponent's bid.

A SUPPORTING BID increases the partner's contract.

A TAKE-OUT BID shifts from the partner's bid.

A SECONDARY BID is one made on the second round.

A PRE-EMPTIVE BID aims to stop any further bidding.

A NEGATIVE DOUBLE denies strength in the opponent's suit.

A POSITIVE DOUBLE is intended to punish over-bidding.

MAJOR SUITS are Hearts and Spades.

MINOR SUITS are Clubs and Diamonds.

There are at present five distinct systems of free-suit-bids in common use, two of which refer to the major suits only; two to the minor suits only, and the fifth to all suits. Some of these preclude the others.

Free Bids in Suit.

All modern bidding systems are based on having a minimum of two sure tricks in the hand, but they vary in their conditions as to the distribution of these two tricks. Here are some examples which will serve to illustrate these differences. An "x" signifies any card below the ten.

A.H.A.K. x x x, C. x x x, D. x x x, S. x x
B.H.A. x x x, S. x x.
C.H.Q.J. x x x, C.A.K. x x, D. x x, S.A. x.
D.H.Q.S. x x x, C.A. x x, D. x x, S.A. x x.
E.H.Q.J. x x x, C.A. x x, D. x x x, S.A. x.
F.H. x x x x, C.A. x x, D. x x, S.A. x x x.
G.H. x x x x, C.A.K. x, D. x x x, S. x x x.
H.H.A. x x, C. x x x x, D. x x x x, S.A. x.

System No. 1 requires five cards in a major suit or four in a minor, at least one sure trick in the suit named. This gives us a heart bid on A, or B, a club bid on C; no bid on any of the others.

System No. 2, requires five cards in a major suit, but does not insist on any sure trick in that suit if there are more than two tricks in the whole hand. This system would bid a heart on A, B, or C; would not bid at all on the others.

System No. 3 refers to the minor suits only, when there is no good major suit bid, and is usually combined with System No. 1. This requires only four cards, and at least one sure trick in the suit named. It would bid a club on C, even without the ace of spades. It would bid hearts on A, and B.

System No. 4 also refers to the minor suits only, but makes no distinction as to the number of cards in the suits, so that there is at least one sure trick in the suit named. This would bid a club on C, D, E, F or G; but a heart on A or B. No bid on H.

System No. 5 will bid on any hand that contains two sure tricks, as every hand must have at least one four-card suit. If neither of the sure tricks are in a four-card suit, it will bid the one of higher rank. This is the only system that has a bid on any of these eight hands. A heart on A, B, C, D, E and G; a spade on F; a diamond on H.

Contract Bridge Must Have One Trick.

The distinction between these systems is chiefly in the insistence on there being at least one sure trick in the suit named. This is in order to guarantee the partner that if he leads that suit, somewhere in the hand will be forthcoming two sure tricks for defensive purposes, at least one of them being in the suit bid. This defence is not shown under System No. 2, or 5; but it is under System No. 1, 3 and 4.

Personally, I am a strong believer in showing the exact location of at least part of the defence and use Systems No. 1, 3, and 4, only. I will carry System No. 4 to the extent of bidding a singleton ace, or ace and one small, if the only other ace is in a short major suit. I am a great believer in bidding the minor suit ace instead of no-trumps with three aces, and no other high cards.

These short minor-suit bids are sometimes called "approaching bids," as they are designed to encourage the partner to bid, instead of passing, as if you had nothing worth mentioning that could be of any use to him.

Pains in My Back Have Completely Vanished

Mr. W. Kozak Now Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills

"For the last two months I have been troubled with backache," states Mr. W. Kozak, residing at Rama, Sask. "I could not do any work. I tried a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and am glad to say the pain vanished. I have recommended them to others who say that they were greatly benefitted."

Kidney trouble is very common amongst all classes of people, and usually a lot of very valuable time is wasted by using unsuitable treatments.

Dodd's Kidney Pills stimulate and strengthen weak kidneys. They are used and recommended all over the civilized world.

LOSS OF VESSEL NOW CONFIRMED

With Finding of Two Bodies Lying on Chignectic Beach.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 18 (Canadian Press).—With the sighting of a submerged vessel with mast and set sail protruding from the water and the bodies of Captain Gordon Burgess, of Parrsboro and a seaman whose only identification was a paper bearing the address "36 Douglas Street, Saint John," lying on the narrow fringe of beach at the foot of a 200-foot cliff along Cape Chignecto, loss of the schooner Nellie out of Joggins, N.S., for Clark's Harbor with coal with her crew of three, was established yesterday. It is believed that the Nellie which cleared from Joggins and started down the Bay of Fundy on April 5, was lost in the blizzard of April 8 and 9, to which has already been attributed the loss of 12 men from the Boston schooner Commonwealth, one man on the Lunenburg schooner Alsatian and five Newfoundland fishermen.

A GOOD START.

With five buses in commission, Peterborough's new transportation system has made a very satisfactory beginning, and the service so far rendered has been appreciated by citizens generally.

The new company started well by placing John J. McCann, for many years assistant superintendent of the Peterborough street railway, in charge, and by engaging the drivers who had given such good service when employed by the Hydro Commission.

In both of these steps the company has been well advised, for Mr. McCann's long experience in the transportation game will be of great value, while the drivers have earned the confidence of the public by their careful handling of the buses and the good-will of the patrons by their courtesy and attention.

THE DIAMOND JUBILEE.

The Ontario Department of Education has, in connection with the usual celebration of Empire Day in the schools of the Province, issued a most informative and interesting Diamond Jubilee booklet in which the schools' share in the observance of Canada's sixtieth birthday is outlined.

So far as the schools are concerned, the Diamond Jubilee will be celebrated on Empire Day, and the Department has prepared a comprehensive and suitable programme for the occasion, including a jubilee message from Premier Ferguson as Minister of Education.

The booklet summarizes in interesting fashion the story of Canada before Confederation, the coming together of the various Provinces, and the development that has taken place since 1867.

There are pictures of the leaders of Confederation, concise biographical sketches of Sir John A. Macdonald and George Brown, and the booklet also contains a splendid article on "Canada Today and in Prospect" and a review of last year's Imperial Conference.

So well indeed does this Department of Education publication cover the field that it would be of great advantage if copies could be destributed generally instead of merely being circulated for school use.

THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW.

Good Friday and Easter are times which call to mind the words, "The valley of the shadow of death."

As we grow older we appreciate these more and more.

The shadow of the valley increases as the years pass. Our powers begin to fail, our sight grows dim, no longer can we hear the dear voices around us as we did, sickness may come to us, and one by one our friends pass from us into the valley of the shadow of death.

We sit and think of the mysteries of suffering, of pain, of life and of death, and often the burden of them all leans harder than we can bear.

It is just at such times that the blessedness of Good Friday and Easter is most apparent.

They teach us the real meaning of the valley of the shadow of death.

Good Friday might be regarded as a day of gloom, akin to those days which come to us sometimes when all the world seems grey and hopeless; but Easter comes immediately to bring comfort and courage to our souls.

Good Friday teaches that all must go through the valley of the shadow of death, but Easter declares what lies beyond the valley. It tells of resurrection and life; it speaks of the land where there shall be no more death, where there shall be no more pain or suffering, where tears shall be wiped off all faces.

When we add the context to the words which we have quoted we find, "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me." These words are full of comfort for those who long for peace and rest, for that rest which cannot be found on earth, and they can believe in the words:

"I am restless still—'twill soon be o'er,
For down the west
Life's sun is setting, and I see the shore
Where I shall rest."

WHAT'S A HUNDRED MILLIONS OR TWO?

For those who have been hoping against hope for a businesslike administration of the country's business, the scenes in connection with the final hours of the session of Parliament just closed were disheartening.

The members of the two old parties in the exhibition they gave of utter indifference to the interests of the people, as long as their own convenience was administered, must have disgusted the man on the street.

Set on proroguing before Easter, they voted million after million in supplementary estimates, without any more consideration than the average man pays to the purchase of a five-cent Easter egg.

A few Progressive members, it is true, did try to ascertain the reason for the expenditure of these huge sums, but were greeted by shouts of "Shut up" and "Sit down" and by the banging of desk tops, in which demonstration members of the Conservative party, the official Opposition, were leaders.

To these $4,000 a year legislators the only thing that mattered was to wind up the session on Thursday, so Government and official Opposition alike united in cramming through a spending programme that will make Canada blink when the extent of the expenditure and the nature of some of the undertakings are realized.

What a travesty!

There was not the slightest justification for this rapid-fire passing of such large estimates.

The session was the shortest on record, so short indeed that the members' indemnities calculated on a per diem basis approximated $75 a day, and yet these highly-paid representatives of the people were willing to let anything pass that they might be released before Easter.

What's a hundred millions or two among friends when prorogation is in sight?

There's no sign of an election for years, the people have to pay anyway, so on with the votes and get the boys out of their seats before Easter.

It would be a huge joke if we didn't have to pay for it all.

THE MAYOR AND CLEAN-UP.

The Mayor of a city is in reality the president of a great corporation. He is elected to his high office by the stockholders—his fellow-citizens. He is their administrative officer by their consent.

If the city is going forward, the Mayor is proud of it. If it is going backward—becoming run down, disorderly and unkempt—he is ashamed of it.

There is something finer in being a Mayor than merely the honor of holding office. The Mayor is practically the "father of the city," and while he has the power to deliver the legendary key of the city to any person, he holds the real key to the municipal welfare.

In proclaiming a clean-up campaign for Peterborough this year, Mayor Holloway finds himself in good company. Last year 7,000 Mayors of other cities set their names to similar proclamations, and put their efforts into campaigns that brightened their cities and drew hundreds of admiring visitors.

It is a great opportunity that faces Peterborough this year, and Mayor Holloway has made the first constructive move in what should be a banner season. The coming of the Governor-General marks 1927 as distinctive from other years, and the opportunities offered by the celebration here of the jubilee of Canada's Confederation are extraordinary. Only out-of-the-ordinary methods of preparing and carrying out the festivities will be effective.

The Examiner is heartily in accord with the clean-up campaign—an extraordinary clean-up campaign—that will help to make this city the rendezvous of thousands of residents of surrounding townships. They will find here stores that equal any in their variety of stock, merchants who are courteous and obliging, and when the attractiveness of a well-decorated and cleanly city is added, Peterborough should indeed become the greatest city in Central Ontario.

THE MOST DANGEROUS INVENTION OF MODERN TIMES.

(By W. H. Cameron, Managing Director, National Safety Council.)

Few people realize the great number and variety of accidents that occur in this age of complex living conditions. Every time a new invention is brought into use, new hazards accompany its manufacture. Almost every machine which increases our comfort holds a lurking danger.

America has more accidents each year than any other country in the world—90,000 fatal accidents was the approximate 1926 figure for the United States. Of this appalling total, 24,000 deaths were attributed to motor crashes. The automobile, which has brought joy to countless millions and has revolutionized transportation, is the most dangerous single invention of modern times.

The automobile, more than all other types of vehicles combined, has created a traffic situation. Before the universal adoption of the automobile as a preferable type of street and highway locomotion, a traffic situation, in our sense of the term, did not exist. It is possible that bewildered and elderly ladies found, at the turn of the century, a strange passing show of hansoms, cabriolets, surries and dumping carts that may have thrown them into a state of proper agitation. But, after viewing the scanty records of that pre-automobile epoch, one cannot but insist that the traffic perils were, comparatively speaking, negligible.

The automobile has made "going" an adventure. Death may be waiting "around the corner," but disaster can be prevented by simple precautions on the part of motorist and pedestrian, supplemented by adequate engineering help, such as the provision of proper traffic lanes and a control system, and a reliable strong arm of the law.

More briefly, however, eradication of the automobile menace rests with the three principles upon which all safety work is based: education, engineering and enforcement.

Thousands of people labor under the delusion that accidents are inevitable. This is not so much a belief as an obsession—a pernicious obsession that erects a psychic fence against the promotion of accident prevention work. Just as education is the prime method to combat all heresies, so—specifically—safety education, face to face with the traffic problem, must first stamp out the notion that accidents are inevitable, putting in its place the idea that accidents can be eliminated.

Once this fatalistic theory of accidents is destroyed, real safety education begins. Safety education means informing all classes of people as to the nature of hazards and how to avoid them. It also aims to arouse people to the vital need for personal carefulness in avoiding accidents, and for public support of all remedial measures.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Clean up and paint up!

A community house-cleaning will leave Peterborough ready for the big events of the year.

The Parliamentary session of 1927 should go down in history as the million-a-minute session.

Evidently the old parties believe that so far as spending money is concerned the best slogan is, "All the traffic will bear."

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 18 (Canadian Press).—Snappy rallies at the last in all grain on Saturday offset early downturns that carried May and July corn below the season's previous bottom level. Export buying of wheat and rye, together with uneasiness over advices of too much rain southwest and northwest alike, were late bullish factors. Wheat closed unsettled at the same as Thursday's finish to 1-8 to 1-4c higher; corn at 1-8c decline to 5-8c advance; oats 1-8c to 3-8c up, and provisions varying from 10c decline to an equal gain.

Previous speculativ, sellers who were in position to collect a profit were actively absorbing the late offerings in the corn pit. No improvement, however, was apparent in Eastern cash demand. Unfavorable weather for seeding kept oats relatively firm throughout the day.

For the most part, provisions were easier on account of scattered selling.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, April 18 (Canadian Press).—Owing to the holiday in England there was practically no demand for grain from that source here Saturday, and the export business in consequence was very quiet. The domestic trade was also of a very limited character, but prices were unchanged.

The local and export trade in Spring wheat grades of flour continued dull, but prices ruled steady. The movement of Winter wheat flour was also small and values were firm.

The millfeed market continued active and steady. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet.

Prices for all grades of eggs were well maintained under a good demand. The receipts Saturday were 2,357 cases.

A feature of the butter trade on Saturday was the announcement by some of the jobbers of a further reduction in prices of 3 cents per pound, which makes a net decline for the week of 11 cents per pound. Final sales of finest creamery butter were made at 37c per pound in one-pound blocks, and at 36c per pound in one-pound solid packages. The wholesale trade was exceedingly quiet and prices were reduced 1-2c per pound. No. 1 pasteurized was quoted at 37c per pound. The receipts were 805 packages.

Extreme dullness again marked the cheese trade but values were unchanged. The receipts were 174 boxes.

DELORO BOY SCOUT NEWS

MARMORA, Apr'l 18.—The Scout's pace test was passed by most of the Deloro Troop on Tuesday night and after a spell of drill by each of the Patrol Leaders, the troop divided into patrols, the Bull Patrol hiking up to the new headquarters and the Ram Patrol to the Stone Crusher from where they endeavored to break through the defences of the Bull Patrol and deliver a message to the Scoutmaster on the small hill on which the headquarters is located.

Huge rocks and stumps of trees afforded plenty of cover and the only sound for quite a while was the chirrup of the frogs and an occasional bird settling down for the night. All at once a noise was heard to the North, but those Scouts who went cautiously to investigate found it was a trick to draw them in that direction and in the meantime two of the Ram Patrol sneaked in. The result after half an hour's battle was: 2 in, 2 captured and 1 still out.

The Bull Patrol then took the field as attackers and managed to get 4 in safely. Seeing that they numbered 7 against the Ram Patrols 5, however, the result was declared a draw, and the troop was congratulated on its quietness and skill in making use of any cover at hand.

The troop marched back to the village to the tune of "Boys Be Prepared" and "John Brown's Baby" and dismissed right on time.

One more recruit signified his readiness to enroll in the troop and was assigned to the Bull Patrol for instruction in the Tenderfoot test. He was allowed to take part in the night's game and acquitted himself very well in both defending and attacking. This leaves room for only three more recruits. Only Scouts who are fully qualified and have passed their tests can go to camp this Summer so the earlier a boy joins the better his chance for camping with us this year.

THAT'S THE QUESTION—WHO PAYS?

To the Editor, The Examiner:

Dear Sir.—Ever since I read the last report of the City Council relating to the paving of George Street I have been trying to get through my head just what it means.

To pave the street, I suppose means the digging up of the old foundation, putting in a new foundation and surfacing same. Is this correct, and is this the work that it is intended by the City Council to do?

Now I would think the present foundation would be all right to resurface only, it seems to be the top of the pavement that is gone, not the foundation.

If it is resurfaced only, who pays the shot?

If it is paved, who again foots the bill?

LIBRARY BOOKS HIDING PLACES

Photographs, Letters and Money Found in Volumes Returned.

CRITICAL COMMENT.

An interview with Mr. Dela Fosse, Librarian of the Peterborough Public Library, disclosed some interesting facts to The Examiner about the condition of books when they are returned.

If readers of this interview have lost photographs, letters, or money, the library is a good place to go in quest of the missing articles if they use the books that are put there at their disposal.

Letters seem to be things most commonly left, and many of these are returned by the librarian when it is possible to locate the original owner. People sometimes use bills and accounts for book-marks, and after frantically searching for them for a few days are surprised to receive them back from the library.

Mr. Dela Fosse requests that all would-be critics would refrain from writing on the borrowed books such phrases as "rotten" and "this book is good" for, as Mr. Dela Fosse laughingly remarked, "there are plenty of real critics without any amateurs." The Librarian said that the mutilating of books was decreasing and books are in very good condition.

Although almost 80 per cent of the books loaned out are fiction, yet the Board is striving to have a better quality, and this is verified by Mr. Dela Fosse's statement that in Biography and Travel sections, the library of Peterborough has the finest collection outside of Toronto.

Very often the Librarian is forced to send away as far as the coast and to New York for books that have been carried with people moving to another city. Reports show that more schoolgirls and boys are using the books, and they have every right to use them for the Librarian claims that Peterborough has one of the finest libraries of that which is the best in books, in the Dominion.

WARSAW U.F.O. HOLDS MEETING

Much Important Business Transacted—Improvement Made in Shipping.

WARSAW NEWS.

WARSAW, April 18.—The United Farmers' Club held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening. A good representation of members was present. Much business of importance to the club was done. An "Old Tyme Dance" will be held shortly to increase finances.

Of decided importance to the community is an arrangement made through E. R. Hamblin and David Payne, shipping representatives with the West Peterboro Shipping Board to make Warsaw a shipping centre. Terms have been arranged with Fred Morgan, to have part of the old Morgan property in the village fitted up as a stock yard, and trucks will take the animals on regularly appointed shipping days. This will be principally hogs for the C.P.C. The practice has been for farmers to have their hogs taken to Peterborough, when they could arrange with some truck driver to do so, or perhaps take them by sleigh or wagon themselves frequently they took them, or had some truck take them, to Indian river, or Lakefield and re-shipped by train from the River to Peterborough or by either truck or train from Lakefield.

By the new plan, a farmer can always be sure of transportation direct to Peterborough, on certain fixed days.

In past years there has been heavy loss by animals being bruised in cattle cars, and by loading and re-loading.

W.M.S. Meeting.

Perhaps one of the most pleasant missionary meetings held in Warsaw was held at Mrs. Alex Watts' home last Thursday afternoon. The reports from the various departments were read.

There was much gratitude that, though the numbers are few, and much interest seems diverted to other channels, the givings were beyond the objective. The membership was lessened by death and by removals.

Rev. H. B. Herrington presided at the election of officers: Mr. Robert Moore is president; Mrs. Thomas Clements, vice-president; Mrs. George Taylor, recording secretary; Mrs. Thomas Cooper, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Arthur Edwards, treasurer; Mrs. Herrington, secretary of Christian stewardship; Mrs. Dyineed, associate helpers' secretary; Mrs. McIlvena, missionary secretary; Mrs. Wallace Anderson, strangers' secretary.

Mr. Herrington gave a short talk showing that the missionary workers should be, and are expected to be, by prayer, the permeating spirit of the church.

Mrs. O. B. McIlvena sang "Alone."

Group "A" assisted Mrs. Watts in serving the refreshments.

The groups were left intact. There will need to be a little readjustment, on account of vacancies. It was decided that the president ask the groups to do more work than they have done. The three groups are "A" president, Mrs. G. Taylor; "B" president, Mrs. J. Sargent; "C" president, Miss Clara Payne.

A moving picture show, "Ten Nights in a Bar-room," was put on in Warsaw, and drew a good crowd on Monday evening.

Sap Season Over.

Nearly all sap buckets are in, as the season is practically over.

Farmers are at their spring work. Those whose land is fit to cultivate or plow are at it. All are ready for a quite early spring.

Fall grains and meadows, even those in the most sheltered and well-drained sites are beginning to suffer from heavy night frosts. It is only in some places the frost is out of the ground more than three or four inches.

The outlines of the trees are becoming softer, but bud development is not at all rapid.

The boundery is still in a very bad condition. No grading has yet been done on it.

James Tighe has returned from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallagher and Mrs. John Moore spent the week end with relatives in Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Payne have moved into the apartment over the store.

KIDNEY TROUBLE

Every year over seventy-five thousand people die of kidney disorders, and yet, the majority of my correspondents who write about advice for kidney troubles are really bothered with bladder irritation such as cystitis or from prostatic inflammation.

There are only a few diseases of the genito-urinary tract which are located in the kidneys. They may be grouped under these headings: Stone in the kidney, Tuberculosis, Nephritis and simple inflammations. Such disorders are not easy for the layman to diagnose, but careful laboratory tests must be made to discover the specific pathology, if any exists.

Periodic examinations of the urine are of great value to everyone as the first traces of functional impairment of the kidneys may be discovered in this way. X-ray pictures will disclose the presence of stones and, with the use of the new dye injections into the kidneys, this examination is now more accurate. New improvement in the methods of cystoscopic explorations make it possible to inspect the membranes of the entire genito-urinary tract.

The cystoscope is an instrument to which is attached a very small electric light. This is introduced into the bladder through a small opening covered with a magnifying lens.

Through the use of this instrument samples of the urine coming from each kidney may be collected and later examined in the laboratory. One kidney may be found to function normally, while the other one may be in a bad condition of functional or organic disease.

The presence of albumin, sugar, casts, mucus, pus, blood, crystals or bacteria, indicate a certain disorder which the diagnostician will understand.

Those who write to me and say they have "Kidney Trouble" cannot expect very definite advice as such disorders cannot be diagnosed by correspondence. If a correct diagnosis has been made, I will be glad to give you what suggestions I can about your trouble, but do not expect me to tell you what your trouble is when it is difficult enough even by the best physical and clinical examinations.

As general advice, I can safely say—if you have any kind of kidney disorder you should drink more water and at the same time use food which is most easily excreted and whose end products are least irritating to the inflamed renal tissues.

The use of more water flushes out the toxins and bacterial which causes inflammation. If the urine is too acid or too alkaline, the concentration is diluted and the urine is then made more bland. The diet should be very low in both proteins and carbohydrates, and the watery vegetables and fruits should constitute the principal part of the dietary.

If you are worrying about kidney trouble, by all means have a good diagnosis made and you can then plan with your physician the proper method of treatment.

MEDICINE AND LIFE

By Dr. Frank Crane.

The physicians get a good deal of criticism one way or another. Perhaps some of them deserve it. But as a whole in the art of preserving life the medical profession makes slow but steady progress.

Few people realize what important advancement in the things that pertain to conservation of life has been made since 1900.

During the last twenty-seven years amazing steps have been made.

Before 1900, said Dr. Harrison E. Lowe, the doctors had not heard of insulin or salvarsan. Lavish photographic illustrations of newspapers and books was unknown.

In many cities there were still horse-drawn street cars. The concrete highway, if it existed at all, was a great novelty.

Cracked gasoline was unknown.

Coal-tar dyes, pharmaceuticals and many other things made from that black, sticky mass were not made in America.

We did not know that typhoid and cholera came from germs in unclean water and milk. Radium had not been used in the treatment of cancer. There was small development of insecticides and fungicides.

The old chemist, wooly-headed and bespectacled, prowling about in his laboratory was considered a comparatively useless citizen. Now he is understood to contribute to the comforts and safeguards of life.

Security against disease and death have been greatly increased since 1900.

In 1880 the average span of life in New York City was 40 years. In 1926 it was 55 or 56 years, a gain of about 15 years in less than half a century.

In 20 years the infant mortality rate has been cut 60 per cent.

The installation of excellent water systems has eliminated the common cause of sickness and death from typhoid.

Altogether the results obtained by the chemist in his laboratory have had profound effect upon life.

The end is not yet, and we may look for further years to be added to the average life as the results of chemical experiments.

Notwithstanding the many amazing inventions of the nineteenth century, the earlier years of the twentieth century show that the age of invention is only well under way.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard Garis

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE HIGH WATER

"Take two umbrellas today, Uncle Wiggily! Take two umbrellas!" cried Bumple Wogglejig as he pranced around the bungleump house one April morning.

"Why should I take two umbrellas?" asked the rabbit gentleman, giving his pink nose an upside down twinkle. "Isn't one enough?"

"Oh, no!" answered Dazie Wogglejig. "It's raining so hard you had better take two."

Mr. Longears, who was visiting for a time with Boppy and Um, the queer little wooden man and woman, in their bungleump home, to help unscramble the six Wogglejig children—Uncle Wiggily looked out of the window.

"It is raining very hard," he chuckled. "But I think one umbrella will be enough, when I go adventuring. But I'm not going until you Wogglejigs start for school," he added, for he wanted to see that Mazie didn't take Bumple's green tail, for a joke, and that Gazie didn't try to put one of Wumple's yellow legs in place of her own white one. For the Wogglejigs were always getting scrambled like that.

Certainly it was raining very hard. Out in front of the bungleump a little stream of water ran down the gutter. As more rain came the water rose higher, until the gutter looked like a little river.

"How are the Wogglejigs ever going to school in this rain?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, they don't mind high water," said Boppy. "They are made of wood, are my Wogglejigs, and if they can't walk on dry land they can swim or float in the water. Scamper along to the Hollow Stump School now!" he cried. "The Lady Mouse Teacher is waiting for you."

When the little wooden creatures had skipped on their way to school Uncle Wiggily took his umbrella from the stand in Boppy's hall, opened the front door and looked out. The rain was pelting down harder than at breakfast time.

"Do you think you had better go out?" asked Um, who was rolling around the floor, holding the feather duster in her mouth, for she had no arms or hands and the furniture needed cleaning. That was Um's way.

"Oh, I am not afraid to go out!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "The rain will not harm me any more than it will harm the Wogglejigs."

So, holding his umbrella over his head, Mr. Longears hopped out into the April storm. At first it was quite pleasant, for the rain was warm, and Uncle Wiggily went splashing through the puddles with his rubber boots, which made squidgie-squidgie sounds in the mud. The umbrella kept his head dry and he was having fun.

"But I wonder if I can find an adventure in all this rain?" asked the

"I wonder if I can leap this brook?"

bunny gentleman of himself. "Jolly adventures will hardly come out in such a heavy shower. But, anyhow, I'll hop along."

So he hopped along, jumping over one brook after another until he reached a wide one in which the brown water was bubbling along very fast.

"I wonder if I can leap this brook which is almost a river?" Mr. Longears asked himself. "Well, anyhow, I'll try." He gave a run and a jump. But alas! Also sorrow and woe! Uncle Wiggily only jumped half way across the brook, and then he splashed right down into the middle of it. And the rain had made so much high water that the rabbit was carried down the stream, swept off his feet and whirled around and around until he was quite dizzy.

"Oh, I'm in the high water! Help! Help!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the Bob Cat, who sat safe and sound on the bank. "Do you think I'll jump in and save you? Not much! I hope the high water goes over your head!"

"Oh, help! help!" cried Uncle Wiggily again. Faster and faster the brook was sweeping him away. Then, all of a sudden, some voices cried:

"We'll save you, Uncle Wiggily! We'll save you!"

Out of the Hollow Stump School, not far away, rushed the six Wogglejigs. It was their recess time and they saw the rabbit gentleman in the high water.

"Quick!" cried Bumple. "We must make ourselves into a raft so Uncle Wiggily can climb up on our backs and get out of the high water!"

No sooner said than done. The six wooden Wogglejigs twined their legs together with their heads and tails sticking out of the high water, and over to Uncle Wiggily they paddled. When the Wogglejig raft was close to him, the rabbit gentleman climbed up on it, and then the little creatures paddled with him to dry land. And when the Bob Cat saw them coming he ran away.

"There you are, Uncle Wiggily!" said Mazie as the bunny went ashore from his funny boat. "You are a little wet, but that's all."

"Thank you, yes!" chuckled the rabbit. Then he hopped to the bungleump to put on dry clothes.

A STORY THAT WILL NEVER DIE

(Toronto Evening Telegram, Sat., March 19, 1927)

"The gallant 'Old Contemptibles,"
There isn't much remains of them,
So full of fund and fitness, and a-singing in their pride."

—R. W. Service.

A showing of "Mons" on Tuesday night at the Tivoli Theatre brought it all back again. This picture is easily the greatest and the most impressive that the Old Country has produced.

Thirteen years ago, such a short time in history, yet how long ago it seems to those hectic days in August, 1914. Britain sailing along in the quiet ways of peace, keeping up her navy and a bit of an army trained up to the last notch of efficiency, yet a mere handful at the best. The Germans laughed at it. General French's "contemptible little army." Ah! but it is that army you see at work. Not in the heghts of imaginary bombast but in the naked truth of historical episodes. It is not a "Big Parade" or a fiction of national glory. But when you have looked at all and when you stand up at the sound of the National Anthem, there is something inside you that silently whispers, "Thank God, I'm British!"

These are the first. We who shared in the anxieties of those days remember it. The younger generation may not. The film "Mons" is educational, approved by the Army Councils of Britain. Men who actually took part in the magnificent retreat re-enacted the scenes on the very ground itself.

German hordes are sweeping through Belgium to the coast with their millions. Their army is organized to the last degree. The little band of British are holding them up in the neighborhood of Mons. You see that epic day when two outposts of British cavalry swinging through a glorious old hedged road in France, first sight a German detachment of Uhlans.

It is all so terribly natural, so true in performance that the experienced soldier sits up with amazement. The scouts sight the German helmets in a field; one rushes back to his detachment 100 yards or so behind; several dismount, rush up the road and drop down behind the hedge. Then comes that epic moment in August. One of the Tommies slowly raises his rifle, takes aim deliberately, and fires the first shot in the Great War!

Back we go again to the infantry plugging up those white roads filled with dust and heat. The same old infantry, the same old race, the backbone of the army from mediaeval days down until today.

Then comes the opening clashes, and the great war is joined in earnest. The might of German millions rolls on! Down every road they are pouring in eternal field grey, horde after horde, great guns and equipment, more men, eternally marching, eternaly fresh and eternally efficient. Then they run up against the little army, "17,000 against 50,000," in one sector, and they stop, there in that autumn field from which the summer crop has just been taken. The Germans have one machine gun, but the old five-clip rapid fire British Lee-Enfields hold back that teeming horde. That was what amazed them. They did not believe men with mere rifles could be so deadly. The grey battalions rolled up in close formation only to be mowed down like the grain before scythe. They pile up in heaps, climbing over their own dead, yet the thin line of khaki still lies in the ploughed field loading and firing Lee-Enfield rifles. And at night the German command admits defeat, "At the hand of the English whom we laughed at."

But the French fall back on the flank, and there come that awful day when the message goes round to retreat.

"And 'ow we cussed and wondered when the word came: "Retreat". That was the day of blackness, when they had stopped all comers, and then ordered back. And how painfully evident is the feeling depicted in this wonderful film. Dejection, disgust, and dsappointment stand out in every line of those sunburned lean and worn faces; in every move of those figures "creeping like snails unwilling" in retreat.

Then begins that long, long trail, the grim road from Mons to "Wipers." The picture in its detail is replete with truthful episodes. Who can ever forget the duel of "L" Battery caught by surprise. "L" Battery with six guns, pounded to pieces by twelve heavy German pieces. You see the whole story here. The story of "L" Battery will live as long as the Empire lives. Tramp, tramp down those roads day after day staggers the little band of the "Old Contemptibles." Here and there one drops out, and there are no ambulances, no motor lorries to carry them. Straggiers are wandering about the country, and the culmination, the masterpiece of art in the story of exhausted men is shown in the town of St. Quentin. If anyone who was not at war, and who wants to know what exhaustion means, this piece of history will bring it to him better than a hundred pages of description.

"Yet all the time they were conscious of their superiority," and at Le Cateau they showed it. All those glorious old names are shared in it. The Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, the Middlesex, "a gentleman from Cheshire,' all the battalions of heroism that breathed their defiance from "Mons to Mons," are there. You see a band of fifteen Highlanders unable to retreat, advancing into a whole division of Germans and utterly annihilated, you see a desperate encounter at the bridge, where a solitary machine gun piles up a heap of German corpses; and in the pale dawn of one dreadful morning in a little village a platoon of Guards appear. Their clothes are torn, and covered with dust. Exhaustion is written in their every move. The order comes to fall in. The ranks are formed up with scarcely a hitch from the old snap. Rifles spring to exhausted shoulders, legs that are almost staggering spring to attention.

"KEEPER OF THE BEES."

Set in New Locale.

Changing the locale from the "Limberlost," a great tract swamp lake and uncut timber in Indiana, to the sun-kissed slopes of the Sierras as they rear their majestic dignity above the blue Pacific and to the endless variety of desert mountain and fertile valley that is typical of golden Southern California, Gene Stratton-Porter's most recent novel "The Keeper of the Bees" is the first that ever has been screened in this magnificent setting.

The late author's early books were all written around the country where she was born and raised, and they taught a whole geenration to love the outdoors, the fields, woods and open country.

But Mrs. Porter's second love was California. She built a winter home in Los Angeles and declared that on the Pacific Coast she had found her place in the sun. The flora of California was no less fascinating to her than that of the Limberlost, and she soon found and identified all the native plants of the state. The first story which used a California setting was "Her Father's Daughter," which wove into the fabric of a romance the legend and use of many old Indian plants that served as soap, clothing and food to the red-skinned inhabitants. "The White Flag," Mrs. Porter's next novel, was a return to Indiana, but "The Keeper of the Bees" (Doubleday, Page and Company), the story which Mrs. Porter had completed just before her sudden and tragic death, deals with the curative sun of her beloved Pacific Coast. It is the romance of young MacFarlane, a Scottish boy, who held in a detention hospital in California, became convinced that his wound would never heal unless he got back to the sun and the sea. Running away from the hospital he stumbled into the beekeepers house, the sort of a house he had dreamed about, set on a cliff above the sea, fragrant and riotous with garden flowers and faced toward the sun. In the sudden misfortune of the master of the bees, MacFarlane and a partner, the Little Scout, who was a regular fellow, even if she was a girl, caried on the work. The healing virtue of the sun and the breeze from the open sea brought to MacFarlane strength and hope. On the rocks of the high shore he did an unconsidered deed of kindness, and found a strange, bright romance that after many blind and curious episodes brought him a golden reward. In this story Mrs. Porter returns to the manner of "Freckles" and "Michel O'Halloran," two of her stories which have been read around the world.

CORRECT YOUR MISTAKES.

In Many Instances Mispronunciation is Due to Carelessness.

How much would any of us give for all the material that is wasted every day? It must amount to millions of dollars a day throughout the world. Waste is largely due to carelessness. When we break ourselves of careless habits, we will waste less.

Think also of the words that are wasted in a day's talking, due to carelessness in speaking! So the habit of correct speech—also writing—should be acquired in order to avoid wasting words.

In most instances mispronunciation is due to carelessness. The New Universities Dictionary cites the most common mistakes we make, all in one section called the "Dictionary of Everyday Errors." This section offers an opportunity for us to correct our mistakes, many of which through carelessness we are not aware of until our attention is called to them.

Clip the coupon printed elsewhere in these columns and learn how easy it is to get the new dictionary that shows us how to avoid errors in speaking and writing.

COBOURG, April 18.—There was a fair-sized market here on Saturday. With better roads, produce is coming in more freely. The last week's fine weather has made a wonderful improvement in roads. Dairy butter sold from 43c to 48c; in the stores dairy butter sells for 48c and creamery from 48c to 52c. Eggs are selling from 22c to 28c, both on the market and in the stores. It is years since eggs were as cheap as they are now in this locality; there are too many in the business. Eggs for setting from pure-bred stock are cheaper than is usual at this season, and also the baby chicks. From $1.25 to $1.50 per bag is the price asked for potatoes on the market, while some of the stores are selling them as cheap as two pecks for 45c. Year-old fowl sell for 35c a pound, and hens at 30c. Maple syrup is 60c a quart and $2.40 a gallon, and the sample is fairly good. Comb honey is 25c a section. The dark strained honey sells for 5c a pound, and the clover honey around 10c.

Farmers will be glad of warm weather, for with some the feed question will be a serious matter if stock has to be fed later than usual. There has been quite a lot of ploughing done already, and, contrary to the expectations of some, there is plenty of good seed on the market for sowing, notwithstanding last year's unseasonable weather.

Henry Saunders never turns down an old Beggar

HE cannot resist the pathetic appeal of an elderly man because he realizes that if he had not used good judgment years ago, he too might to-day be begging "the price of a meal."

Henry Saunders is independent. He asks no favors from any man. He has a regular income—ample for the comforts of life—and he will have this income as long as he lives. He is spending the afternoon of life in security and happiness—unembittered by Fate and kindly to those less fortunate.

When he was a young man, on the advice of an older friend, he took out a North American Life Endowment-at-65 Policy. Each year for thirty years he put away part of his income on this plan. Four years ago the policy matured and Henry Saunders retired as he had planned.

There's nothing so comforting as the prospect of a guaranteed source of income for one's old age—unless, perhaps, it is the actual enjoyment of retiring from Life's battle and spending the last few years in peace.

No savings or protection plan is better suited to this purpose than the Endowment-at-65 Policy. The attached coupon will bring full particulars.

Please forward particulars of your "Endowment-at-65 Plan".

MANY SEEK POST IN THE DOMINION

Aspire To Be British High Commissioner in Canada.

NEED CAPABLE MAN.

LONDON, April 18.—The announcement of Premier Mackenzie King that Great Britain will appoint a high commissioner in Canada has aroused great interest here, in spite of the holidays, and there is considerable speculation as to who will first be assigned to what is regarded as a most important post.

The government has been watching the situation carefully ever since the imperial conference, recognizing that the appointment of a high commissioner was inevitable, now that the powers of the governor-general have been restricted. However, as yet there has been no intimation as to who will be honored.

It is understood that there have been many applications, but it is recognized that the task requires the services of a most capable man, who would be able to handle such a delicate situation, which is regarded as a more important post than that of the Canadian high commissioner here, because of the presence of the governor-general.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HOLD MEETING

Held By Trinity Church at Millbrook on Tuesday Evening.

BUSINESS DISCUSSED.

MILLBROOK, April 16.—The Annual meeting of the Sunday School executive of the United Church was held on Tuesday evening in the church parlors, the twenty-five or more members in attendance gathering about the tea-tables at 7 p.m.

Rev. F. H. Howard was chairman, and immediately the supper was concluded the minutes of the last quarterly, and annual, meetings were read, and discussion of business items was begun.

Reports were called for, L. W. Smith, president of the Men's Bible Class, stating there were thirty-eight now enrolled, and the average attendance during the past year had been the best in the class history, credit for this record was given to the teacher, Mrs. (Dr.) Rea, "who puts her whole soul into the preparation and teaching of the lesson each week." The loss sustained by the class and the Sunday School through the death of Miss Agnes Hampton, the teacher of this class since its organization until within the last two years, was referred to and the general appreciation of her faithful services, and regret felt at her decease, were spoken of with feeling and emphasis.

The pastor suggested the need of the men's class looking after new arrivals in the district, some recently from the Old Land, the list of names having been sent him from the worker in touch with the Immigration Department in Toronto. Immediate action will be taken.

Mrs. Hilliard Lang, president of the Boneka Class, Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard, teacher, reported 65 on the roll, with an average attendance of 25; most of the members are mothers with young children, and are hindered frequently from being present.

Total receipts were $63.89, and of this $25.00 was given the Sunday school; $5.00 directly to missions, and $20.00 in offerings on the four special missionary Sundays during the year. Baskets of Christmas cheer were sent at the Yuletide season, and much helpful work done in visiting sick, bereaved, and shut-in members, and others in need or loneliness.

Miss Marjorie Skitch reported 22 on the roll of the Mizpah Young Ladies' Bible class, Mrs. P. Stinson, teacher. The roll is being revised, and a continuance of helpful activities planned for the months ahead.

Mr. J. H. Anderson stated that the Tuxis Square, of which he is the mentor, is also being reorganized along new lines; 17 boys are on the roll, and the average attendance on Sundays is 10; week night meetings have recently been started, after a lapse of some months, and interest is increasing with good promise for the ensuing year.

Miss Burnham reported 31 names on the roll of the primary department, though 22 children had been promoted to the junior classes at the New Year. Through their mite-box and birthday box, the little folk have contributed over $9.00 to missions during the year. Miss Florence Fallis has charge of the Beginners (3 to 6 years), of whom there are 19 at present; 8 new children have been welcomed as members since January.

Mrs. G. E. Burnham, superintendent of the Cradle Roll, reported 35 babies as enrolled, the usual birthday cards, letters to mothers, etc., being sent regularly as required.

The superintendent, Mr. W. Fred Fallis, was urged to continue using Miss McCorkindale's book on "Health and Hygiene," for temperance instruction, and the librarian, Mr. O. Williamson, mentioned the need of new books for the library. A "Library Shower," by which contributions of books in good condition and suitable in contents will be solicited from the various homes, was decided upon, Misses Hetherington and Burnham with Mr. Fallis, being the committee appointed.

Previous to the election of officers, Mr. Fallis spoke of the eleven years' service he has given in the office of superintendent, and his appreciation of the loyal co-operation from teachers and officers, and urged that some other might now be put in his place. The list for 1927-28 is:

Associate Superintendent, Mr. J. H. Might;
Secretary, W. G. Rowland; assistant, R. Larmer;
Treasurer, W. G. Hetherington;

GIFT TO FRIEND BRINGS ARREST

Russell Campbell Traced By Wrench He Stole From Creamery.

GETS JAIL TERM.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18—Russell Campbell's generosity led to his arrest and conviction on a charge of burglarizing the Trent Valley Creameries here last June. Campbell visited a local residence of the west hill, for a few days last June and it was then, the police say, he entered the creamery by way of a back window, one of the articles he picked up in his search for valuables was a wrench. On leaving the hospitality of the west hill resident, he left the wrench with his host. It happened that the host had more use for an automobile tire than the wrench so he traded with a friend. The friend, for the consideration of one dollar, turned the wrench over to a garage man, and the garage man took the wrench to the proprietor of the Creamery who identified it as his wrench.

The case was then turned over to Constable Light and Chief Brown. They visited the home on the west hill and procured further evidence in the form of small articles taken from the creamery found in the vest Campbell had left behind.

Campbell, the officers were informed had left for Tweed. So the scene shifted to his new place of abode.

On the arrival of Chief Brown and Constable Light in Tweed, Campbell was already in the custody of the Trenton police.

At his trial in Trenton he was sentenced to two years less one day in Guelph reformatory. Last week he was brought to Cobourg, where he pleaded guilty to entering the Trent Valley Creameries and was sentenced by Magistrate Floyd to a nine months' jail term to run concurrently ith his first sentence.

PRESENTATION TO C. H. ROGERS

Community Dance under Rotary auspices to mark the opening of the C.N.R. freight sheds on April 27.

The Clean-up Week was brought forward too by the President at the request of the Kiwanis Club, and members urged to do their part.

The speaker of the day was Mr. J. H. Burnham, who delivered a most interesting Confederation year address.

"I will not address you," said Mr. Burnham, "on the material progress of Canada, but upon the shifting of our view of the fundamental basis of our life. Great subjects demand careful and reverential treatment if we are to give an adequate idea of them. The confederation of the provinces and territories of Canada is one of these. There are some, however, who regard all such things as useless and needless, confining themselves to the opinion that his comfort is all each of us need seek and that greatness is a form of vanity and a fad. It is just at this point that the worthwhileness of going on with our present system of progress arises. Is the man right who says that man comes and goes and that is all and that he will do well to consult his own happiness in the meantime and leave that of others to others, that enough good, some amusement, a few neighbors to gossip with and a bed to lie on are all that a man need wish for? If that is right, who so contends, then there is no room for a jubilee of confederation. We should rather go back to the wild life of the prairie and of the forest, the lake and the stream. Government, commerce, culture, education are all a mistake. Let each man wander as his fancy flies. The pure individualist amongst men and women is nature's own production. What we call civilization has been thrust upon us. It is a nuisance and a snare.

"This is not only the view of the simple and the undereducated. It is the view of Buckle, who, in his famous History of Civilization, lays it down that the life of man is, throughout it, the product only of Nature's laws, that there is an invisible, instinctive law, or tendency in man to obey Nature, and Nature only, and that what we think is the fruit of man's ambition and industry is not so, but merely the fruit of Nature's own handiwork in him. We come up as grass, or 'as a flower,' and are, as they are, cut down and nothing more. We feed and live and die as all nature feeds and lives and dies, and that is all. The conscious mind has not in itself a power over the life of man in the long run. It is merely a will to do and, in spite of itself, to obey. It is nature's mind, the subconscious, the one which we have no control over, that does it all, and that our sorrows and failures are the penalty of trying to impress nature with the independence of our conscious mind and its ideas. We can not dictate to her. We are like other animals and no more. The ant has a complete military system. The spider builds its web to catch its food and wreak its vengeance, and so do we. So does the lion. So does the ape and the wild ass. We are one with them in Nature and can not escape. This also is the Evolutionary view.

Lord of All He Surveys.

"Opposed to this view is the second view, the idea that Man, independently of God, can make Nature and opportunity his servants. That he is lord of all he surveys and that greatness clings to him whether he will or no by reason of the very supremacy which he exhibits. If we admit that this view is the correct one it is most important for us to analyze our progress and our greatness, if without vanity and too great a margin for error we may call it so. There is a third view which has the powerful support of Religion behind it, which assumes that men and women have an inborn knowledge, the gift of God, of a morally right and a morally wrong way of living and acting which animals have not. Not that we know which is the right and the wrong way absolutely, but that a conscious all-mowing Creator tells us which, and that, therefore, Man is not rooted to the earth and the animal world or independent of God, but is rooted in Heaven, and is a member of the spiritual Kingdom. There are are, therefore, three views of life, instead of two, the wholly natural, the one in which man is complete master of his own destiny and the third in which he is the child and subject of God who moves him at His Supreme Will as He sees fit, or if man consents to obey. The first and the last view are not dependent upon man himself alone as the second one is, for the second view leaves to men the determining of their own lives and future, and it is largely upon the ass mption that man has a ruling power over himself that nations and peoples assemble to rejoice at their own progress to take stock of the past and to make plans for the future. We must now see to which class we belong and to which view we subscribe if we are to review the situation adequately. It is upon the second view that Democracy is founded. Democracy is really opposed to both the natural view and the supernatural view without in most cases knowing it.

"But it is the adoption of some one of these views that determines the life of a nation. What determines ours? Has Canada risen superior to the first or natural view? Has she also shaken off the third or supernatural view and are her people a law unto themselves? That is the fundamental fact which we must determine.

"There is, however, a fourth view, that man in his natural life is free to determine that life, but that in his spiritual life he is subject to the Will of God. Such a view is an impossible view and, though widespread, is, nevertheless, self-contradictory, since Man's natural life here is either really part of his supernatural life or there is no supernatural at all.

What About Canada?

"Consciously, or unconsciously, these are the facts that underlie the conduct of people and the fate of nations. I leave to others the usual recapitulation of our material success, of our railways, canals, trade, agriculture, education, population, health, immigration, extent, government, and the like. Others, I find, treat of these things so fully that if I would avoid endless repetition of what others treat, I must seek out something less frequently treated, but by no means less important. Because it is what a man or woman really believes that determines his future conduct. The question at once arises, therefore, did the men and women who made Canada humanly-speaking what she is, derive their inspiration from the human, or second view, or from either of the others? It is all-important to determine this fact for one of these views has been the foundation of our success or failure, and if it is our success, then it behooves us to inquire into the true causes of this success, and if it is a failure, the causes of failure. Canadians have in the sixty years since Confederation done a lot of work. But the question is, 'Have we become a better people?' That is at once the supreme test of our success or failure. With all our pride in our own material accomplishments, they are, after all, merely identical with the accomplishments of the ant, the spider, and other animate creations of nature, in which, at every point, we find exact counterparts of what we ourselves do in every material walk of life. But they obey the laws and instincts of nature only, which are reproduction, and the fierce and greedy struggle of existence. Are we on a plane above that, and this is now the task to which, if you will bear with me, I will set myself? Do we believe most in God or ourselves? Do we believe that He deals with each man and woman separately? If so, then each one must be left free as between God and himself. Or have we drifted into what is called a community view of life, a life in which our individual thoughts, acts, and preferences are subject to the will of the community and not to the will of God and ourselves and freedom of conscience—has it, too, become a thing of the past? Have we adopted the second view?"

A Revolution in Thought.

Mr. Burnham then proceeded to show that the difference between life in 1867 and 1927 is just that and chiefly so, and that the great preponderating fact of individualism has been succeeded by the great preponderating fact of the rule of the majority, not only in material things but in matters of conduct and moral responsibility. Is this religion? Is it faith in God, or is it faith in man himself rather than in God, thus involving the loss of religion in its former sense and the substitution of man for God? Have we stopped in our civilization at the regulation by our own laws of our own material life and the mutual agreements which we make concerning it? Or have we gone farther and ruled out the individual altogether and come to consider the mass only? The speaker then took up various items comprised in our laws and system of government, with the ultimate conclusion that the difference between then and now is the loss of individualism and all that it implies and the assertion in its stead of the supremacy of Democracy and the will of the majority. What we have accomplished, therefore, is a revolution in thought and in our "view" of life and government a revolution which is so vast and epoch-making that nothing has ever been seen like it since the beginning of the life of man. We have abandoned the "natural" view. We have abandoned the supernatural view. We have adopted the view that man himself can properly regulate his own conduct as he does his business and that a majority is competent to decide in both. We have thus gone beyond the merely instinctive or animal (natural) stage, have shouldered off the old idea that God has promulgated moral laws for our guidance and that too as individuals and not in the mass, and have adopted the view that our lives are in our own hands and that we are a law unto ourselves. This is the triumph of materialism and whilst the triumph is not yet complete and we still cling in some particulars to a dependence upon God and His directions, yet the tendency is increasing towards man's self-sufficiency and towards the idea that the Creator does not interfere.

He concluded by reminding his hearers that this was not only the jubilee of the Confederation of Canada but the jubilee of a far greater federation, the birth of the British Empire, and, as we are devoted and loyal to the one, we shall contigue to be not less loyal and devoted to the other.

Dealers Report That Early Season Has Resulted in Greater Sales.

MANY FLOWERS.

Spring is calling the business man home early from the office these days to start that wonderful garden he has planned all winter. Immediately after supper he dons his "working clothes" and is all ready for the great occasion of turning the sod that is to be the beginning of success or failure. Going ing into the cellar he is surprised and pained to find that his hoe is not exactly in the same place he left it in the fall, but a careful search reveals the great instrument that is to serve such an important factor in the season's work.

Although a month ahead of last year for the beginning of such "manly work," seed dealers report that more seeds of both vegetable and field are being sold this year than last, and, in fact, than any others preceding this. Farmers have most of their seeds purchased already, and in some instances planted. Flower seed dealers report that they find themselves in almost the same position as the vegetable dealers: that is, they are selling a great many more seeds this year. Many people are buying more seed in bulk than ever before, and that means more flowers and vegetables are being planted. Long grass is being demanded in great quantities this year and all kinds of flowers and vegetables are being sold, with no special variety having a preference with the public.

This is "Clen-up Week," so when you plant your seeds try to make them blend into the beauty that only flowers can give, and here is hoping that your onions do make a strong showing.

Do you get a sensation of pressure on the heart? Don't be frightened it's not heart trouble—it's indigestion. Seigel's Syrup will fix it. Any drug store.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, earns money as a dancing partner for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but beggars can't be choosers! At the Inn he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on—Sally, the cigarette girl. Reciprocating his interest, she warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the Inn, who finds her "thrill" in Bob—she is the hunter, not the hunted! Then she and Sally scent enemies in each other.

CHAPTER IX.

On the afternoons when she favored the Palisade Inn with her presence, Mrs. Hammond's departure was usually a signal for most of the other women to go also. If men are the monkeys of the human race, then women are the apes. "Follow the leader" psychology, the herd instinct, is better represented in the female sex.

So within a comparatively short time after Mrs. Hammond's costly car had slid swiftly away from the embowered portico of the Inn, to disappear into the denseness of the New Jersey Hudson highland wilderness, there was a great whining of starting motors, and clashing of gears in the big, drab yard of the Inn. One after another the cars shot away—medium-priced to costly, chauffeur-driven in some cases, fair owners at the wheel in others.

Inside, with the going of the last reluctant guest, there was a bustle as the waiters cleared away the afternoon's wreckage and prepared for the night's festivities.

The paid dancing entertainers, for whom there was scant need at night—and they were always on tap for that, if Madame Leonine summoned them by telephone—were preparing to go home.

Sally faced the buxom Mazie as a bantam gamecock might face an eagle.

Madame Leonine came up to Bob, even as Freddy and Arch were joshing him upon his apparent conquest of the rich and famous Mrs. Hammond. To the Madame it was not a matter for levity. She was in heavenly transports. She gushed over Bob like a geyser of gratitude. She congratulated him. She did everything but embrace him, and would have done that, too, if Bob himself had not held her off with his sturdy hands in a laughing way.

"Bob, you are a very lucky fellow. No one else has ever been able to please Mrs. Hammond. She has kept telling me she would come here no longer, if I didn't get some dancing partner she would like—"

"She likes 'em big and brutal," laughed Freddy. He and Arch were overjoyed with Bob's success; and in no whit envious. Sworn chums all, the glory of one shed its radiance over the three. They had always been that way, since their freshman year up at good old N. Y. U.

"—and now, just before she left," confided the Madame with great gusto and satisfaction, "she told me she was coming every afternoon, and made me promise to have you here for her, Bob!"

Sally, who had changed to her street clothes, came into the outer dressing room in time to hear that. She flushed a little, then quickly paled; Bob, seeing her, smiled foolishly.

"They're all making such a silly fuss because Mrs. Hammond danced with me," he explained lamely to Sally. "I can't for the life of me see what all the excitement's about. A body would think she was the Queen of England!"

Sally smiled reassuringly, knowingly, at him; Sally knew deep within her just what she was up against in the rivalry of Mrs. Hammond—but if Bob did not, well, that was an advantage anyhow.

But just then another voice was injected into the informal "backstage dirt dishing." Mazie Revere had undulated into the room in time to hear enough to understand Bob's last allusion. She said, with that nasty little trick of curling her underlip and pushing up one cynical shoulder.

"Say, Bob, Mrs. Hammond could buy and sell the Queen of England—and all the other Queens of Europe put together. Let me whisper something, you lucky big stiff! From what I saw, Mrs. Hammond has fallen for you worse than Jack Johnson fell for Jess Willard. Swell little lovenest apartment and everything—waiting—oh, it's pay day on the Park Avenue ritzy circuit for you, Big Boy!"

Bob, far from finding fun in the joshing, or pleasure in the anticipation of Mrs. Hammond's largesse, was genuinely disturbed and pained. Sally leaped to his defense; Sally, with chipper tosses of her little head shaking the combed-honey hair around like electric spray, and with sparks flaming from her eyes and her lips.

"Mazie, you've got some nerve to talk to Mr. Ward that way! Why should he care anything about Mrs. Hammond? She's just one of the patrons to him!"

"Say, unless he's a big sap he's hearing the canaries chirping in that love nest already!"

"Mazie, how dare you—"

"How dare I? Say, to whom do you think you're talking, Angel Face? Who gave you any license to speak up for Big Boy, here? He looks big enough to talk for himself!"

"Oh, now, please—Miss Revere—Miss Smith—please—"

But Bob had no chance to be heard. This was strictly a personal fight between Mazie and Sally; with Freddy and Arch amused, with Madame Leonine puzzled, and with Bob upset.

Sally sailed right back to Mazie; "You're giving Mr. Ward a fine opinion of this place the very first day he works here!"

"What's aching you, kid? Afraid it'll smirch your lilywhite wings in his eyes? Say, no Alec big enough to go to college would come here and think he was going to prayer meeting. And, being he's here and got such swell chances to make a killing, he'd be a terrible boob to pass it up. I wouldn't!"

"No, YOU wouldn't!"

Sally, bristling, faced the buxom Mazie as a bantam gamecock might face an eagle. She was almost standing on her tiptoes, so tense was she with excitement and anger.

Madame Leonine, in whom bewilderment had by now been replaced by a comprehension of the situation, stepped between them sarcastically;

"Dry up, you two. I think you've both got a nerve, talking for Mr. Ward!"

Then the Madame smiled beneficently: she had much good reason to be content, had the Madame. "I can overlook a lot of foolishness in Sally. She's young and green. But, you, Mazie, losing your bean over a collar-ad-man—I didn't think you had it in you anymore."

The Madame managed to signal Mazie with a diplomatic wink. Mazie accepted the appeal to reason and subsided in favor of peace; leaving Sally to cool without further aggravation—which Sally did, feeling rather foolish in the process, and casting sly glances at Bob!

Bob, relieved at the cessation of hostilities, breathed easier.

"All ready, let's go!" he said to Freddy and Arch. "Miss Smith is going along now, too. Come on—we'll teach her some of the school yells!"

Full of boyish fun, though shy withal, Bob covered up his bashfulness by taking hold of Sally's arm and starting out with her. Freddy and Arch ranged themselves on either side of the couple.

Yelling a school song at the top of their lusty voices, the three boys fairly lifted birdlike Sally off her feet and swept her to the door—the side, embowered entrance.

"Who'd expect that kid would have gotten so sore over the Prince of Wales. And I've always liked that kid, too. I've steered her around the hard corners, and told her the phoney phone game, and just on account of a good-looking guy she's ready to scatch my eyes out. Can you beat it? But, believe me, she's barking up a wrong tree if she thinks she can buck Mrs. Hammond!"

Mazie, indeed, flailed herself into such a pitch of injured feeling over the apparent ingratitude of her virginal protege, that she could not help calling after Sally in a most cattish way, just as the little cigarette girl and the boys were going out of the door.

"Take it from me, kid, Mrs. Hammond will get him yet!"

Party Conference Decides To Send Messages To Massachusetts Governor.

ABOUT EXECUTION.

LEICESTER, England, April 18 (Canadian Press).—The Independent Labor Party Conference decided today to send a message to the Governor of Massachusetts demanding the release of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, under sentence of death for murder in that state.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Churchill did not make the mistake of speaking roughly or angrily to Mrs. Allbright, who was not only the society leader of the exclusive Marlboro Country Club set, but the daughter of the man for whose murder Cherry was being tried, and therefore a sympathetic figure in the eyes of the jury.

"Mrs. Allbright, I will ask you to continue your story of the events of the evening of Saturday, October 2" Stephen Churchill requested courteously. "After you had offered your congratulations, what did Mr. Robert Hathaway reply?"

"He said, 'Cherry was demonstrating to me how she had accepted Uncle Ralph'," Mrs. Allbright acknowledged, reluctantly.

"You did not believe what Mr. Hathaway said?" Churchill asked with apparent sympathy.

"I certainly did not!"

"Since you had only met Miss Lane that evening, may I ask why you doubted the explanation?" Churchill prodded, still with unctuous courtesy.

"It was ridiculous on the face of it!" Mrs. Allbright cried indignantly. "She had not said a word to Bob about acting out a scene which had taken place between her and my father—"

"You had been with Miss Lane and Mr. Hathaway all evening, so that they could not have been continuing a conversation already begun?" Churchill smiled.

"I had not!" Mrs. Allbright flashed angrily.

"Then you cannot be sure that such a conversation had not taken place, in which Miss Lane had promised to demonstrate to her sister's sweetheart how she had accepted her own fiance?"

"Mrs. Allbright, are you sure you repeated the exact words of Miss Lane? Are you sure she said, 'I'll give you your answer now, Bob?' "

"I certainly am!" Mrs. Allbright nodded emphatically.

"Were not these the words which Miss Lane used—'I'll give you your answer now, darling'—and not 'Bob?' "

"I—I'm almost sure she said 'Bob'," Mrs. Allbright faltered.

"But not entirely sure, Mrs. Allbright?" Churchill persisted.

"No—not positive, but I am sure she was addressing my nephew, that she meant him!"

"Now, Mrs. Allbright, I will ask you if you did not, without consulting your father, go to the editorial offices of The Star and ask that the announcement of the engagement of Miss Lane and your father be omitted from the Sunday paper," Churchill demanded triumphantly.

"Yes, I did. I did not want him to be made a laughing-stock—"

"Now Mrs. Allbright, I will ask you where you went after your visit to the offices of The Star."

"I—I went to call on my father," Mrs. Allbright admitted reluctantly.

"To tell him what you had overheard in the library of the Country Club?"

"Yes."

"And he believed the explanation that Mr. Hathaway had given, did he not?" Churchill asked in a deceptively gentle voice.

"He—he said he did," Mrs. Allbright answered in a low, dragging voice.

To Faith it seemed as if Ralph Cluny had risen from the dead to help the girl he had loved.

In spite of that dramatic climax, Churchill was not through with Mrs. Allbright.

"Now, Mrs. Allbright, will you tell the jury whether you later changed in your attitude toward your father's fiance?"

"I—no—I—" Mrs. Allbright stammered.

"Did you not, on Friday, October 22, pay a friendly call upon Miss Cherry Lane, accepting her as your future stepmother?" Churchill asked with a broad smile.

"I called on her—yes," Mrs. Allbright flashed angrily. One trembling hand was raised to touch a wisp of lace handkerchief to her trembling mouth.

"The visit was a pleasant one, a friendly one?" Churchill persisted.

"Well—yes. I had decided to make the most of a bad bargain," Mrs. Allbright admitted haughtily.

"Why, Mrs. Allbright?" Churchill asked suddenly.

"I—I did not want to be estranged from my father, whom I loved, after his marriage."

When the witness was returned to Banning, the district attorney asked only one question: "You are rich in your own right, are you not, Mrs. Allbright?"

Her answer, given haughtily, was: "Mr. Allbright is considered a rich man and I inherited a comfortable fortune from my mother."

Mrs. Allbright left the courtroom hastily, joined at the door by her seventeen-year-old debutante daughter, Muriel, also fashionably dressed in mourning for the dead man, her grandfather.

"Call Flo Ripley!" Banning directed loudly.

"Where do you live, Miss Ripley?" Banning asked, after the preliminary questions as to name and age.

The pert, hard-faced girl, over-rouged and over-dressed in a tight sleeveless sheath of red satin, her kinkily-waved black hair showing beneath a fantastic turban of gold metal cloth, tossed her head as she answered, defiantly:

"West Tenth Street—No. 1840."

"Miss Ripley, do you recall the evening of Tuesday, September 28, or rather, the early morning hours of Wednesday, September 29?" Banning asked, referring to notes in his hand.

"Sure I do. I was at Sam Lee's chop suey joint with Chris Wiley," Flo Ripley answered pertly, drumming upon the arms of the witness chair with highly polished, pointed finger nails.

"Did you see Miss Cherry Lane, as the defendant was then known, at Sam Lee's on the night in question?" Banning asked with a smile.

"Sure I did. Me and Chris was there for supper after a show and to dance, when her and her sister, Faith, and George Pruitt and Bob Hathaway come in," Flo answered readily.

"Go right on with the story of that evening's events in your own way, Miss Ripley," Banning smiled.

"Well, me and Chris was dancing, and Sam Lee put on a Charleston contest, and Bob Hathaway and Cherry and four or five other couples was lined up to take part in the contest, and I made Chris trot me out, because I'm a champion Charlestoner—"

"Be as brief as possible, Miss Ripley," Banning advised her.

"Well, I'm trying to," Flo tossed her head defiantly. "We was just going to begin the Charleston when Cherry Lane saw me and Chris, and lit into Chris because he was on a date with me—"

"Please give Miss Cherry's exact words, as nearly as you can remember them," Banning instructed her, casting a pleased look at the busily scribbling reporters.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

The cotton evening frock is well chosen for warm weather. The model shown is ecru organdie with matching lace. It is trimmed with red velvet ribbon bows.

The cotton evening dress is to be one of the novelties—or rather revivals—of the season. Seventy-five years ago Empress Eugenie, who was certainly no economist in matters of dress, wore frocks of muslin, organdy, tarlatan, jaconet and other light-weight cotton fabrics, choosing them for her loveliest evening gowns. But so accustomed have we become to using only silk fabrics for evening that the very expression, cotton evening gown, suggests something not especially attractive.

Don't imagine that there is anything really cheap about the new evening gowns of cotton materials. They appear in the collections of some of the most distinguished dressmakers, but are as yet not to be found where women go for ready-made evening frocks at bargain prices. The material, to be sure, may be less a yard than any of the silk fabrics, but there is a crisp, delicacy about them that makes it especially hard to handle in stock and really requires expert workmanship. And when organdy is hung over cloth of silver, as is the case in a new bridesmaid's frock, all thoughts of economy disappear.

Martha Regnier has made some charming frocks combining organdy and taffeta in contrasting pastel tones. Black point d'esprit has been revived this spring and there are interesting evening gowns made of this cotton material. Sometimes organdy is embroidered with a light sort of embroidery wrought with silver threads. An exquisite evening gown is made with bouffant skirt of pink organdy over a short underslip of metallic cloth in rose color. There is no material save taffeta that is so well suited to the full-skirted period frock as organdy, and with the coming of summer these organdy frocks will be seen more and more. Black organdy has been used with extremely good effect.

There really is no doubt as to the place of organdy in present-day evening fashions, but it is quite a mistake to think of this fashion as a means of effecting any sort of economy. Don't be deluded merely by the fact that organdy by the yard costs less than georgette or chiffon. For the organdy frock's days—or rather nights—are strictly numbered. In the days of Empress Eugenie it was not unusual for a fashionable woman to wear an organdy or tarlatan frock but once.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Astrologers read this as rather an unimportant day in planetary direction, but it is not favorable.

Under this sway the mind may be easily influenced and there is likely to be a muddling of opinion on public matters.

Deceit and double-dealing are supposed to be encouraged under this rule of the stars, which makes for intrigue and selfishness.

One of the things that may be disturbing at this time will be a recognition of the lack of high standards of life and much treachery in human relations.

The truth should be cultivated assiduously, because there will be many who use it in a niggardly manner.

Women may be tempted to practice deception and to indulge in many indirections inspired by vanity, but they should be firmly honest and direct, for their best qualities will be needed as never before.

Beauty is to blossom as never before, the seers prophesy, for the children of this generation are to belong to a new order in which there is the highest physical as well as intellectual development.

Great plays and really good books, foretold for immediately after the war, may be expected to materialize within the next two or three years, astrologers declare.

Education continues under the best possible direction of the stars and emphasis is placed by astrologers on the prophecy that marvellous souls already dwell in the children.

Interest in gardens will be paramount to many less important matters in the coming summer, for many persons must get near the ground, if they would be healed of worldhurts.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a prosperous year in which they obtain much money and general prosperity quietly.

Children born on this day may be inclined to solitude in which they work out their life plans secretly and successfully.

MILLBROOK W.M.S.

Chapters Read at Easter Meeting of Grace Presbyterian Church.

MILLBROOK, April 18.—The Women's Missionary Auxiliary of Grace Presbyterian church held its Easter meeting at the home of the secretary, Mrs. J. R. Eakins, with a good attendance of members and friends, and much interest shown in the work being accomplished.

The president, Mrs. W. T. A. Deyell, was in the chair, and during the devotional period Miss Kennedy read the Scripture lesson, a number leading in sentence prayers immediately following.

The response to the roll-call was a Scripture verse containing the word "Truth," and for the next month the word chosen was "Grace."

Mrs. (Rev.) John Riddell took up, in a most instructive manner, the chapter from the study book dealing with "The Awakening of Moslem Women," and Mrs. R. J. Doak followed with the reading of the next chapter, "Causes of the Changes Taking Place." A solo by Mrs. R. J. McKnight appropriately concluded this section of the meeting.

During the social hour at the close Mrs. Eakins served home-made candy, and a very pleasant time was spent.

Mrs. Eakins is Supply Secretary of the Peterborough Presbyterial, and this week the bales were packed at her home, and shipped to the "Roland Boswell Memorial Hospital," at Vegreville, Alberta.

The next meeting of the Grace church Auxiliary will be on Tuesday, May 10, in the Sunday school auditorium.

Council Meeting.

Millbrook Council held a brief business session this week dealing with the matter of oiling the streets, the contract being given to Frank King, Lindsay, for 6,000 gallons of Imperial Asphalt Dust Layer, at 16½ cents a gallon.

The annual inspection of the streets by the Reeve and Council will be on April 20, at 2 p.m., needed repairs being noted, and arrangements made for having work done as requirements indicate.

The matter of celebrating the Diamond Jubilee Year of Confederation, locally, in some fitting manner was discussed, and a public meeting will be called in the immediate future to deal with this question. If sufficient interest is shown the matter will be proceeded with at once.

Lang-Eakins: that the following accounts be paid—A. Wilson, work on culverts, etc., $2.00; Attwooll & Sheppard, material for fire hall, $3.84; S. E. Eakins, account, $4.31; S. Donnelly, work dragging streets, $12.25; answering fire alarms with team $6.00—$18.25.

Council adjourned to meet again at the call of the Reeve.

The lack of rain this month has caused the dust nuisance on the main street to become a matter of public annoyance and complaint; hence the likelihood that necessity will compel having the contract for application of "Dust Layer" carried out without any undue delay.

Congregational Meeting.

The annual congregational meeting of the United Church was held in the Sunday School auditorium on Wednesday evening, the attendance not being as large as the importance of the occasion warranted, though representatives from every appointment on the circuit were present.

The multiplicity of other meetings rendered necessary within the past ten days, owing to the closing of the church year, probably had an effect in lessening the attendance on Wednesday night.

The pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard, was chairman, and reports received from the various organizations were, without exception, of a most encouraging nature, and optimistic in outlook.

The Ladies' Aid Society, Miss M. E. Needham, president, reported raising the largest amount in its history, totalling over $1,830; the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, Mrs. (Rev.) F. Howard, president, the Mission Circle, Mrs. J. McKnight, president, and the Mission Band, of which Mrs. O. Williamson was superintendent for the past year, all reported an increase in total funds raised, the allocation of $467.00 being exceeded, as $510.00 was sent to the Branch Treasurers.

The superintendent, W. Fred Fallis, outlined Sunday School activities for the twelve months, the average attendance, weekly offerings and other special funds, number attending every Sunday, all comparing favorably with figures for past years, while the auxiliary departments, such as the primary, cradle roll, home department, C.G.I.T., and C.S.E.T. groups, showed a year of definite service, faithful interest, and helpful plans for reorganizztion and growth.

The church treasurer, G. E. Burnham, gave an itemized report showing finances in good condition, the complete allotment for the circuit in connection with the Maintenance and Extension fund of about $1,600 being apparently the one thing not fully met as yet. Nearly $600.00 was directly contributed to this fund, and 25 per cent of the money contributed weekly through the envelopes also goes for this purpose. The salary paid on the circuit is $1,900, and this, with the salaries of organist, boy for pumping the organ, caretaker, fuel bills, lighting, telephone, etc., have been met regularly, the church thank-offering last October exceeded the amount asked from the congregation.

The election of two elders for the Session resulted in Dr. A. Jemison and G. E. Burnham being returned; for stewards the list is: Messrs. J. McKnight, M. McDowell, W. G. Hetherington, Weston Fallis, H. C. Argue, J. H. Might, and A. J. Henderson.

Mr. J. W. Whitfield's resignation from the Session was not accepted; Mr. Whitfield felt that his advancing years would prohibit attendance at night meetings of the official board, but having been connected for many years in active and faithful service with the church, the general feeling was that he should be retained as one of the elders as long as the duties of the office could possibly be discharged.

Following a general discussion of matters pertaining to the church's welfare, and the arranging for future activities, the meeting was dismissed with prayer by the pastor.

Industrial Hold High Record Call Money Rate Drops

NEW YORK, April 18.— (Canadian Press.)—Resumption of trading after the Easter holidays disclosed no change in the stock market sentiment, which was predominantly bullish. Lowering of the call money rate to four per cent. after renewal figure had been fixed at 4 1-2, indicated that the temporary credit stringency incidental to mid-month and state income tax payments had been passed and tended to stimulate operations for the rise.

With the industrial average at record high levels, after sustained advance of several days, heavy profit taking was inevitable in that group, but offerings were readily absorbed and more than a score of issues mounted to record high levels. Speculators for advance also showed a tendency to switch from industrials to rails. New financing by oil companies, combined with unfavorable dividend rumors was responsible for the renewed weakness of the oil shares. A few other spots cropped out here and there, but they failed to interrupt the general forward movement.

General Motors crossed 188 to new high, coincident with the announcement of ned truck, and Dupont sold above 250 for the first time.

Wheat Prices Go Higher After Strength At Opening

CHICAGO, April 18 (Canadian Press)—Wheat displayed an early upward trend to-day owing largely to further general rains and to a forecast of widespread additional moisture. Bullish views expressed by a trade leader who had heretofore been bearish since January 15, were also given much attention.

Opening at 1 3-4 to 2 advance, wheat soon went higher. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer, corn starting unchanged to 1-4 up and later scoring gains all around.

Opening prices were: Wheat, May 133, July 128 3-4. Corn, May 70 1-8, July 75 7-8. Oats, May 44, July 44 3-8.

CANADA BUYS BIG RESIDENCE

Forty-roomed House in Diplomatic Quarter Acquired as Embassy.

READY FOR USE.

WASHINGTON, April 18. — A handsome grey stone building in the diplomatic quarter changed hands on Saturday and Canada acquired a permanent home in the United States Capital. It is a five-storey, 40-roomed house, built about 20 years ago as a private residence, but equipped with such modern things as telephone exchange and elevator, so that the business offices of the Legation can be opened at once. The address is 1746 Massachusetts Avenue.

No remodelling or refurnishing is necessary to accommodate either the offices or residence quarters, so that Hon. Vincent Massey, his family and his secretary probably will move in within a week or two. The present temporary office building on "N" Street and the Minister's residence in a local hotel will be abandoned.

The purchase price of the new Legation is understood to have been around $470,000, including furniture and equipment. The transaction was concluded in New York yesterday between representatives of the Canadian Government and the owners. The original price quoted was $500,000, but some adjustment was made on furniture and option price. Part of the furniture will not be taken over, and it is possible that some of that taken over will be disposed of later.

The area of the lot on which the new Canada house stands is 20,800 square feet. It is rated at a high real estate value, but, diplomatic quarters being immune from taxation when owned outright, there will be no bill for taxes. It is not expected that repairs or remodelling will be necessary for many years to come.

NEW YORK, April 18 (Canadian Press). — Editorial comment was widespread to-day on Governor Smith's open letter stating that he recognized no power of the Roman Catholic Church "to interfere with the operations of the constitution of the United States or the enforcement of the law of the land." His friends praised it and indicated they were eager to learn what reaction it would have.

MURDER TURNS ATTENTION TO SOUTHERN CHINA

Anti-Foreign Agitation Still Goes On in Cantonese Territotry.

MORE FORCES.

Rival Parties of Nationalists To Form Separate Governments.

The murder of a Canadian missionary and his daughter by bandits in Yunnan province, Southern China, has focused attention sharply once more on the anti-foreign agitation in that section of the war torn republic held by the Cantonese. Chinese troops along the Yangtze continue to fire on foreign warships. A Shanghai despatch to-day said another United States destroyer had been struck by rifle bullets from Nanking, which is held by the Cantonese.

Two more British cruisers are steaming up the Yangtze toward Hankow, where thirty six foreign warships are already concentrated to protect the 1,300 foreigners remaining in the Cantonese radical stronghold. Another contingent of United States marines, comprising 1,657 officers and men, is on the way from San Diego to China on the liner "President Grant." The French to-day landed five small tanks at Shanghai to strengthen the defences of their concession.

The moderate section of the Cantonese, following its impeachment of the Hankow regime, is reported to have formed a separate government at Nanking, headquarters of the Cantonese military chief, Chiang Kai Shek.

The Hankow Cantonese regime has declared an embargo on silver, charging Chiang and "Foreign Imperialists" with endeavoring to create an economic crisis in Hankow.

Chiang, reportedly in urgent need of funds, is said to have negotiated a $1,000,000 loan in Shanghai. The next move of the five Power ministers in Peking, it is reported in Shanghai, will be to issue an ultimatum to the Cantonese demanding satisfaction for the outrages of last month at Nanking, in which several foreigners were killed or wounded. Authoritative London despatches, while not bearing out the ultimatum report, say the demands will be "more vigorous in tone" than the original ones.

CLEAN-UP HINT NO. 1.

There was once a man who had a Highbrow Complex. We often hear of an Inferiority Complex, which is supposed to make a person go through life without realizing the best of his or her powers, because he thinks he isn't as good as the other fellow. (There may be doubters that such people exist, but they really do.) Anyway, this man was Highbrow. He was the sort of gentleman who preferred to call a spade an agricultural implement, and instead of saying that a man he disliked was "batty," he would say he had "flittermice in his campanile." He seized avidly on all such words as "moron," as soon as they appeared in print, and he never called a certain popular flower a "larkspur." It was always a "delphinium" to him; likewise "snapdragon" was "antirrhinum" and foliage plants were "coleus." You can see what we mean when we call him a Highbrow Complexer.

Anyway, one warm Saturday afternoon, something like this one, his wife asked him to beat the carpets.

He did not refuse. To do so would have been ungentlemanly. He donned his spectacles and a gas mask and went at it. And instead of swearing, at particularly dusty moments, he beguiled his time by repeating the Chinese numerical alphabet up to ten. It made a rhythmic swing for his beater. This is the way it goes, if anyone want to try it out. Commencing with one, and leaving off with ten, you say, in Chinese: "Yet, gay, sahm, say, ung, low, taht, baht gow soup."

Such is the advantage of a Highbrow. Low and menial tasks have no terrors for such a one. He can do them to the tune of a Celestial counting-machine and he is killing four birds with one stone; he is pleasing his wife, getting healthful exercise, cleaning the rugs and memorizing an ancient and honorable language. Next time he goes into a Chinese laundry, he can tell the attendant just what his bill should be, in excellent Chinese.

CARS COLLIDE.

LINDSAY, April 18.— Mr. William Skinner, of Orillia, brother of Mr. James Skinner, of the C.P.R. ticket office, Peterborough, and Mrs. Skinner, were victims of a serious automobile accident between Orillia and Barrie recently that might have been attended with more serious results. Mr. Skinner was motoring from Barrie with his wife and daughter, Gladys. He was going up a hill at the same time that a car driven by a Barrie doctor was ascending the other side. The doctor did not see Mr. Skinner's car and when he swerved aside to avoid hitting a dog he smashed into the aproaching car with terrific impact. Mrs. Skinner and her daughter were taken from the wreck and rushed in an unconscious condition to the Barrie hospital. Mrs. Skinner received lacerations in her head and neck and Miss Gladys sustained back and leg injuries. Internal complications have since developed. Mr. Skinner had two ribs broken.

According to the officers, Simpson said: "I guess you are looking for this," and produced from beneath his coat a German bayonet.

HENDERSON SAYS M'DONALD TO STAY

Will Retain Place As Treasurer of National Labor Party.

OXFORD, April 18. — (Canadian Press.) — Former Premier Ramsay Macdonald will be supported by an overwhelming majority of the affiliated organizations of the National Labor Party, Arthur Henderson, chief Labor whip in the House of Commons, declared to-day in referring to the omission this year of the Administrative Council of the Independent Labor Party in giving the customary nomination to Mr. Macdonald as treasurer of the party.

Speaking to the Labor summer school here Mr. Henderson said that Mr. Macdonald, who is now on a brief visit to the United States, was still treasurer of the party and added: "I will promise the Independent Labor Party that after the next actual conference he will remain treasurer of the party."

To the left is Madame P. A. Bonet, wife of the Cuban consul-general, now in Ottawa. To the right is her daughter, Miss Bonet. The office was recently transferred from Halifax to Ottawa. Madame Bonet is now busy in taking up her home in Canada's capital.

Robins Suffer Fifth Straight Defeat For Season

GAINS FIRMER FOOTHOLD FOR SOCCER HONORS

Newcastle United Now Practically Assured of Gaining Title.

ENGLISH SOCCER

Tynesiders Defeated Huddersfield Hotspurs by Margin Three to One.

LONDON, April 18. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—Saturday's games in the first division of the English League were noteworthy if only for the fact that they practically assured to Newcastle United the championship which for years had been the possession of Huddersfield Town. The Tynesiders gained a couple more points playing Tottenham Hotspurs at Newcastle, where they won by a margin of three goals to one, while the best Huddersfield could do at Derby was to divide the issue four-four. This put a gap of six points between Newcastle and Huddersfield with four games to go—a situation which, if it means anything at all, means that Huddersfield have definitely lost their crown and that Newcastle are now enthroned as the new champions.

At the same time Arsenal's victory over West Bromwich whom they defeated four goals to one at Highbury had the effect of putting a damper on any hopes that the latter might have recently entertained of remaining in the first division, and unless a series of sensations occur West Bromwich will next season be seen playing in the second string. Whether Leeds United or Everton will accompany them is still a problem. However, Leeds are fighting desperately to avoid relegation and yesterday got a victory out of Birmingham by the odd goal in three while Everton lost a couple of points they could ill afford when Bolton Wanderers defeated them five goals to nothing. It seems certain that either Leeds or Everton will accompany the Midlanders.

Arsenal's success at Highbury, following their win over Aston Villa, had the effect of restoring the hopes of their supporters with regard to their cup final chances. The home team played five reserves against the Bromwich. Their exact eleven for next Saturay's great game at Wembley will not be known for some days inasmuch as owing to many mishaps their selection has been whittled down. It seems probable, however, that Cope will not be able to play left-back.

Cardiff City, the other cup finalists, also have had an anxious month wherein four league reverses have been chalked up against them. They were able to acquire points at the expense of the Wednesday yesterday. The finalists are equal in points and this indicates that next Saturday's fight will be fairly even.

In the second string Middlesborough are assured of their place next year in the first division. It will be recalled that Middlesborough and Chelsea were relegated together three years ago. An exciting scramble is taking place in this department for the honor of accompanying Middlesborough into major company. The battle lies between Chelsea and Portsmouth with the possibility of Preston North End and Manchester City running pretty close. In a critical game at Stamford Bridge yesterday the Pensioners blanked the Forest by two goals and this weakened the latter's cliam.

RESERVE POWER OF CANALS

TORPORCER, INSET, AND FLOWERS

Manager Bob O'Farrell of the world champions think of George Torporcer and D'Arcy Flowers and smiles contentedly. He knows those two men give the Cards reserve strength few clubs have. Torporcer would make many clubs a regular infielder. Flowers can play infield and outfield. Understand why O'Farrell is not half so worried over possible accidents as some pilots are?

YANKS CONTINUE BATTING SPREE

Gehrig's Two Homers and Single Drew in Six Runs.

DETROIT WINS FIRST

NEW YORK, April 18—(Canadian Press).—The Yankees continued their season opening batting rampage yesterday with the assistance of Lou Gehrig knocked down the Boston team for a 14 to 2 victory. Gehrig's two homers and a single drove in six runs. Johnny Tobin hit a homer for the Red Sox. The Yankees made eighteen hits for twenty-eight bases off Russell and McFayden, two youngsters.

Detroit played its first game of the season at Cleveland and won 5 to 1. Gibson not only held Cleveland to eight hits and one run, but made four hits himself. Uhle, premier pitcher of the Cleveland staff, was hit hard and retired at the end of the seventh.

Philadelphia knocked out sixteen hits at Washington and won a lop-sided game, 13 to 3. Simons got a homer with one man on. Gray pitched beautiful ball after the first inning, allowing nine hits.

The Chicago White Sox evened the series at St. Louis with a 12-5 victory. A spectacular rally in the ninth brought nine runs to the Sox

LEAFS LOSE TO NEWARK

Bears Steadied in Pinches for Seven to Two Victory.

SYRACUSE DEFEATED

NEW YORK, April 18.—(Canadian Press).—The International champion Leafs fluttered to the ground at Newark yesterday, the Bears bearing down to a seven to two victory. Toronto made ten hits while the Bears made three more, but the home team steadied in the pinches. With Lefty William pitching air-tight ball, with men on bases, the Jerseys defeated Rochester at Jersey City in the first game of a double. The score was 3-2. The teams battled to a 7 inning tie in the second game.

Fred Merkle, manager of the Reading Keystones, beat Syracuse single handed at Reading, 3 to 2. Merkle hit two home runs, the first, in the opening frame, with George Davis on base. His second homer came in the fourth.

Jack Slappey pitched a masterful game for the Keys, allowing only six hits.

The Baltimore Orioles played two games at home yesterday with the Bisons and lost the first 9-3, winning a tight night-cap 2 to 1. The second fracas was called at the end of the sixth because of darkness.

DOCTORS ADVICE TO THE SICK

Wash Away All Poisons in Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels Before Breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, no more headaches, indigestion, gas on stomach, bilious attacks, rheumatism, kidney pains, bad breath, you must bathe your self inside. Start today by taking one Tanol Calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime, then next morning drink a glass or two of hot water to wash from the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels all the previous day's waste, poison and toxins before more food is taken in. Get a few Tanol tablets from F. C. Weber, Charlotte street, Peterborough. They are harmless to take, do not nauseate, no bad after effects, no salts or seidlitz next morning, like ordinary calomel. Then you can eat better, sleep better, work better, think better and look better.

ST. LOUIS WINS OVER CINCINNATI

Bunch Hits in Fifth to Win Tight Game, Two to One.

THREE PLAYED

NEW YORK, April 18.—(Canadian Press).—St. Louis functioned successfully at Cincinnati yesterday to win a tight game 2 to 1 bunching hits in the fifth. Donohue kept the St. Louis hits scattered in that frame. Alexander was hit freely, but tightened in the crisis.

The Brooklyn Robins suffered their fifth straight defeat before twenty-five thousand homes fans yesterday, losing to the Boston Braves 7 to 2. Five errors by the Robins contributed. Bill Doak, veteran spit-ball artist, attempted a comeback after two years in Florida and pitched good ball for seven innings.

At Chicago Charle Root blew up in the seventh and the Pirates knocked everything to both corners of the field for a 8-3 victory. Kremer pitched a steady game, but looked like a beaten man after Hack Wilson had smashed a homer with a man on base.

Only three National League games were scheduled yesterday.

NINETY YEARS OF BUSINESS

A. F. Choate Sells Store at Warsaw Founded By Father.

OLD TIMERS RECALLED.

WARSAW, April 18.—On April 1, Rufus Payne and Hilliard Darling took over the business that for ninety years had been managed by Thomas Choate, and his son, A. F. Choate.

The late Thomas Choate opened store in Warsaw in 1837. The store then was on part of the mill-yard. About 1857, perhaps a little before, the store was moved to its present site. Additions and improvements have been made. The Choate store always carried the best quality of goods, and, at one time, it was the trading centre of a large district. The staff has always been obliging and courteous, and endeavored to serve the public.

Of more recent years, better roads, a greater variety of certain goods, and the large mail-order houses (the latter often not giving so good a service) have diverted some trade from the village stores. This has not really lessened the amount of village trade, as people's wants are so much more than they used to be.

When Thomas Choate came to Warsaw it was to build a mill. That necessitated a dam. The Indian River drained White Lake, but there was no connection with Stoney Lake. A greater force of water was required, and Mr. Choate blasted a canal from Gilchrist Bay into White Lake. When he procured the powder for this, he was arrested, as a rebel, as it was during the rebellion of 1837. Fortunately, he was able to prove the use to which he was to put the explosive.

Besides the grist mill, there was a sawmill. A chair and plain furniture factory followed, also a carding and fulling mill. In 1857, everything except the store, with the postoffice, which had been moved from the mill-yard, was burned. There has been a big temperance meeting in the factory, at which Rev. Gilmour, and Dr. Burnham spoke. A. F. Choate has still some of the bills announcing the meeting. That night in February saw all destroyed. Mr. Choate at once got to work and rebuilt. After that never more than one building went at a time. The furniture factory was burned twice; the sawmill three times, and the grist-mill twice. All these fires happened in February, and there was never any certainty as to the causes of the fire.

For the last building of the saw- and grist-mills, stone was used. This building still stands, but is owned by George Taylor, who uses only the grist machinery.

A large room above the Choate store, which is now a dwelling apartment, was at one time used for singing and other classes.

MEETING IS HELD OF DELORO AMATEUR ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

A. V. Yates Congratulates Baseball Team on Capturing Intermediate Honors.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Reports Read Regarding Various Sport Activities in the District.

MARMORA, April 18. — The 10th annual meeting of the Deloro Amateur Athletic Association was held in the Hub Dining Rooms on Friday evening, with Mr. A. V. Yates, president in the chair.

Upon the meeting being called to order, H. A. McNally, secretary, read the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were adopted as read.

The president in his report remarked that baseball continued to be the major sport of the association. "An occasion of this nature," he said, "would be incomplete without reference to the splendid accomplishment of the baseball team in capturing the Intermediate championship of Ontario. He also referred to the permanent seating accommodation provided last season at the ball ground, and the erection of the new skating rink. These, he declared, were only made possible by generous donations of members of the association and the very much appreciated co-operation of the Deloro Smelting Company. In conclusion President Yates paid fitting tribute to the untiring efforts of the capable secretary-treasurer, H.A. McNally.

H. A. McNally followed with his report as treasurer, giving a general statement of receipts and expenditures of the association, and supplementing same with concise statements of the finances of each sport represented.

Upon motion of A. V. Yates, seconded by F. A. Bapty, the report was adopted.

R. A. Elliott, being called upon for a report on baseball activities mentioned that the secretary-treasurer's report had brought out the need of support as rendered by the subscription list of last spring. He had not a great deal to report on the prospects of baseball. The question was to find teams in Eastern Ontario. Deloro was not prepared to play senior ball for various reasons, but chiefly on account of the smallness of the community. In regard to the Bay of Quinte League, there was the question of what Belleville would do. He had been informed that the Alemites were definitely out of the Intermediate class. There was the possibility that Belleville senior team of last year might revert to Intermediate standing this year, and with Point Anne fielding a good team games even better than last year could be expected in the Bay of Quinte League. Deloro's position will be better known when the Bay of Quinte League meeting takes place around the 28th of the month.

W. Simmons having briefly reported on the work in connection with the Children's Playgrounds.

H. Smith was then called upon to report on the skating rink. He pointed out that the new portable rink had become more popular than the old one, and in particular with the rising generation. He recommended an early painting to ensure its better preservation.

J. Hemphill, speaking on bowling activities, mentioned that there were about twenty full fledged members last year and he saw no reason why this number should not be augmented this year.

The report of A. R. Pengilly, tennis manager was read by Mr. Yates, the former having relinquished his position with the company five months ago.

The next item on the agenda was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Hon. Presidents: Mr. Ambrose O'Brien, Mr. L. B. Wright and Dr. L. F. Kirkpatrick.
President: H. F. Berry.
Vice-President: J. Hemphill.
Secretary-treasurer: H. A. McNally.
Managers:
Baseball: R. A. Elliott.
Playgrounds: W. Mumby.
Tennis: A. V. Yates.
Bowling: J. Judge.

Auditor: H. English.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. R. A. Elliott received the hearty congratulations of the members upon being elected to the executive of the O.B.A.A.

GLASGOW CELTIC WINS FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION CUP

Defeat Second Division East Fife at Hampden Club.

THIRD TIME

Fifers Open Game for Score in First Few Minutes.

GLASGOW, April 18.—(Canadian Press Cable).—For the third time in five years, the Glasgow Celtic won the Scottish Football Association Cup Saturday before a crowd of nearly 80,000 fans they defeated the second division fast Fife Club at Hampden Park here in the final tilt of the trophy competition. Celtic's victory was a foregone conclusion, for although the Methil eleven had battled manfully through the various stages up to the last round, it was felt generally that in meeting the Parkhead contenders they were out of their class. It was not without a considerable following and a great deal of that kind of support which is inspired by the sporting wish to see the low man win that East Fife went into the final, for their fight had seized the imagination of football followers and had excited their admiration. However, it was early evident that the second string men were outclassed and even after their score—which was the first in the game—no one felt that Celtic were in danger.

The Fifers opened with a great dash and looked like carrying everything before them, and their commencement efforts resulted in their chalking up a goal. Within a couple of minutes, however, the Glasgow Irishmen had equalized, and from that point there was no doubt as to which team belonged the game and as to which one would have its name inscribed on the "mug." Tired by their strenuous play in the opening session, East Fife wilted badly towards the end, and the Celtic had the upperhand by a large margin before the final whistle sounded.

The Glasgow team went into the game without the service of their great goal-getting centre-forward, McGrory, and it is patent that had he been there many of the changes that were offered would not have gone far astray. As it was the margin was comfortable and on play Celtic deserved their win.

No credit is withheld from East Fife for their gallant game and the fact that in their progress to the final they had taken the measure of no fewer than three first string clubs—Aberdeen, Dunfermline and Patrick Thistle.

Large crowds of admirers from the east of Scotland had gathered at Hampden Park in the hope of seeing a turnover, but they were disappointed. East Fife's display was not the same as that which they had served up against Patrick at Tynecastle, due perhaps to the stouter nature of their opposition, and the fact that in confronting the Celtic they were up against the hardest cup fighters in the Scottish League.

War Not Necessary.

VICTORIA, B.C., April 18.—"No declaration of war with regard to the situation in China will be necessary by foreign powers," declared Hon. W. E. MacVeagh, United States Ambassador to Japan, who arrived to-day at Victoria, B.C., on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada.

"My candid opinion," said Mr. MacVeagh, "is that China will work itself out of the present chaos and will finally found a government that will be universally recognized by the powers."

Interviewed with regard to the present trade depression in Japan, Mr. MacVeagh was emphatic that it was in no way due to the Chinese trouble but to the depression following the recent disastrous earthquakes.

"It is only fair to say, however," said Mr. MacVeagh, "that the Japanese are keenly interested in the Chinese situation." The Nippon Government is fully aware of the value of the neighboring Chinese markets and is determined to keep to its policy of non-interference: in other words, to patiently await the trend of developments. Mr. MacVeagh is on a business trip to Washington, and will return to Japan in about two months.

Labor Opposes War.

LEICESTER, Eng., April 18. — (Canadian Press)—The Independent Labor Party conference to-day adopted a resolution protesting against the British military measures in China and calling for the withdrawal of the armed forces there. The resolution included an amendment pledging the party, individually and collectively, to refuse all war service, including the manufacture and transportation of munitions, if war broke out.

WESTERN FARMERS ARE HANDICAPPED

Floods Bother Americans and Blizazrd Hinders Canadians.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 18 (Canadian Press). — Rich farming lands along the Mississippi and its tributaries, and in many cases dwellings and farm buildings, continued to yield today to the mighty sweep of the flooded streams.

Inundation of land within a 250-mile radius of Pine Bluff, Ark., alone was estimated at around 100,000 acres and along the 1,200 mile stretch of the Mississippi between Cairo, Illinois, and New Orleans, as well as its almost countless miles of flooded tributaries it appeared that the acreage flooded might be estimated in millions.

The Red Cross here estimated that at least 25,000 persons have been driven from their homes, but the estimate was regarded as conservative, as compared with many press reports.

Storms on Prairies

WINNIPEG, April 18 (Canadian Press).—Snow, rain, and floods in the Prairie Provinces threaten to delay Spring land operations, which under ordinary conditions are usually in full swing at this time of the season. Work was started more than two weks ago at a number of isolated points. A driving blizzard was raging today in Northern Alberta and Saskatchewan, Saskatoon reporting about six inches of snow on the ground, with no immediate sign of a let-up. In the Edmonton district it had been snowing since yesterday. High winds and sleet prevailed in other sections of these two provinces.

WEDDING BELLS.

SIMPSON—BAILEY.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Tuesday at seven-thirty at St. Peter's Rectory, when the Rev. Father J. I. Finn solemnized the marriage of Lillian Elizabeth, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey, and William Geor Simpson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Simpson. They were attended by Miss Laura, and Mr. Charles Bailey. After the marriage ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's parents, at 209 Rubidge street, where a sumptuous breakfast was served.

The large number of gifts received testified to the popularity of the bride and groom.

GRAHAM—SCOTT.

MILLBROOK, April 18.—A quiet Eastertide wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fallis, Fallis line, on Wednesday, April 13th, at 3 p.m., when Miss Margaret Scott, recently arrived from Glasgow became the bride of Mr. John Graham, whose home was also in Scotland before he decided to make Canada the land of his adoption.

Rev. F. H. Howard, S.T.L., pastor of the United Church, Millbrook, performed the ceremony in the presence of a few neighbors and friends.

The bride wore a becoming dress of heliotrope taffeta with corsage bouquet of rose and white heather; her initial visit to Canada was made about five years ago when she lived for a time in Oshawa. Returning to Scotland, she crossed the ocean again this year in order to meet her fiance, their wedding taking place within three weeks of the time she landed in Halifax.

Immediately following the marriage ceremony Mrs. Fallis served a dainty wedding luncheon, and Mr. and Mrs. Graham left by the 5 p.m. train for a brief honeymoon at Peterboro, and other points. The bride travelled in a brown suit with rosewood hat and red fox fur.

Last summer Mr. Graham lived with Mr. Arthur Fallis, assisting with the farm work, and will do so again this season. Upon the return of the bride and groom their home will be with Mr. and Mrs. Fallis for the present year.

Among the guests on Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. W. Fred Fallis, Mrs. Herb Ball, and daughter, Mary, Mr and Mrs. B. Raper, Mrs. Robert Bateson and son, William, (Campbellford), Rev. F. H. and Mrs. Howard, Mr. Clarence Ball.

'JAY' TREATY BEING QUOTED

Agreement on Crossing the Border Made in 1794, Still in Force.

WINDSOR INTERESTED.

WINDSOR, April 18.—What is the United States Government's definition of a Canadian "citizen," and is the Jay Treaty of 1794 still effective—an agreement between Great Britain and the then young American Republic providing, among other things, that Canadians could cross and recross the international boundary line for temporary visits without passports or visas?

The Windsor Chamber of Commerce wants an official opinion on these phases of the immigration problem, particularly as they apply to the Detroit-Windsor frontier, and has asked Premier King for information. The question will be considered by the Department of State at Ottawa.

Belief is general at Ottawa that the Jay Treaty has not been abrogated. When the Canadian Government obtains the desired information, Hon. Vincent Massey, Minister to Washington, will be directed to approach United States' authorities for a definite ruling and a new understanding.

For many months past there has been a growing impression in the Windsor district that Canadian citizens have been deprived of international rights by current United States immigration regulations, which require them to obtain passports or other papers before they may enter the Republic for any stay longer than a few hours.

Taking hold of the problem, the Chamber of Commerce appealed last week to Ottawa. Meanwhile, no further action will be taken until the status of the Jay Treaty is ascertained and several other important details cleared up. Premier King was interviewed in the matter recently by Lieut.-Col. Walter L. McGregor, former President of the Chamber of Commerce, and Justus Miller, Managing Secretary.

LET'S GO

With the coming of Spring people who have been shut up in the city during the long and dreary Winter naturally want to get to the country where the flowers are growing wild in the woods, and everywhere life appears to be either murmuring or glistening.

The country roads on holidays and Sundays are lined with cars, for the people are out for pleasure and are drinking in to their hearts' desire the new soul and life that this old world has taken on anew, for Spring has unlocked the flowers that paint the soil. "In Spring," Tennyson says, "a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," so the pleasure seeking youth of today puts on his new garb and with his car and a fine young lady his cup of pleasure is full to overflowing.

Mrs. Snyder's Lawyer Will Take That Line at Murder Trial.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(Canadian Press.)—That Mrs. Ruth Snyder's defence in her trial for the murder of her husband will be that her hand was forced by Henry Judd Gray, under fear of bodily harm to herself, was indicated by counsel in court to-day. Edgar Hazelton, lawyer, disclosed his intention while questioning talesmen at the trial's opening session. During the questioning Mrs. Gray and her former salesman lover sat stolidly at the counsel tables, showing not the faintest trace of emotion.

LIQUOR ADS TO BE BARRED AFTER MAY 15TH

Government Control Board To Prohibit Companies From Advertising Wares.

OF ALL SORTS.

Bar Publishers Moving Offices Outside Ontario To Secure Advertising.

TORONTO, April 19.—After May 15 advertising of all sorts to draw attention to particular brands of beers and liquors will be absolutely prohibited by the Government Control Board. Even the academic right of any manufacturer to advertise his wares, or the possibility that some publishers will move their head offices outside of Ontario in order to secure the advertising revenue from Government sale, will not be allowed. This proscription will apply not alone to newspaper, magazine advertising and billboards, but it is to extend also to programme announcements, sporting schedules, novelties, such as penknives, bottle openers, corkscrews and such other implements or gew-gaws as have been distributed from time to time heretofore.

Imported and Domestic

It has been stated that the Government Control Board will enforce this restriction not as a matter of law or regulation, but through buying power. Imported whiskies, gins, brandies and such liquors will be affected in precisely the same manner as local breweries and distilleries. The offenders will find their orders from the government stores discontinued.

This announcement will be received with a measure of disappointment by Scotch whiskey importers especially. It is known that the proprietors of several well-known brands have appropriated large sums to advertise their lines in Ontario, as is now done in Quebec. Local distilleries and breweries have been ready with substantial advertising appropriations, but all this will now end.

The regulation will apply to 4.4 as well as full strength beer.

Plan Brewery

TIMMINS, April 19.— Interests associated with the Sudbury Brewing Co. are considering the establishment of a large brewery in Timmins, according to a report received from a reliable source yesterday. Jack Doran is said to be the promoter of the enterprise.

Considerable speculation has arisen in the north as a result of the delay in receiving an official announcement as to whether or not liquor vendors' stores will be established in towns situated close to the mining districts. The opposition of some of the mines to the establishment of liquor stores in their vicinity is said to be responsible for the rumor which has been circulating for some time that no liquor store will be located nearer to such mining centres as Timmins than Cochrane.

Fears are expressed that there may be even some difficulty in obtaining a store for Haileybury. Several delegations from northern municipalities have already interviewed the Government in connection with the matter.

MAN FINDS SON AFTER 25 YEARS

Search Since Loss of Little Boy Is Finally Successful.

NOT FAR FROM HOME.

CREEMORE, Ont., April 18.—After searching for his oldest son nearly 25 years, Arthur Clarke, 11 Stayner Avenue, Toronto, found his long-lost child, now a man around 30 years of age, working on a farm in Nottawasaga Township, near this village.

The Clarke child, it is alleged, was placed in a Simcoe street Institution by some over-officious neighbors following the death of his mother some 25 years ago. The father went to the Home only to learn that the boy had been placed with a farmer, but the institution, according to Clarke, would not give out information as to his whereabouts. Mr. Clarke tried advertising, which took him on various futile trips. He married again and has a second family of seven children. At frequent intervals he has resorted to newspaper advertising. Early in March he placed an adlet in a Toronto paper asking for information concerning James Clarke. T. A. Day, a Creemore young man, noticed the ad, and thinking there might be some connection between the local young man bearing that name, he communicated with the father. Several letters were exchanged before Clarke, Sr., considered the information really concerned his son. The re-union took place on the farm where the younger Clarke is engaged, on Good Friday.

Clarke, Jr., of late years has worked for different farmers in Nottawasaga Township. For a short time he had employment on a Toronto

DERAILMENT OF C. N. R. FREIGHT KILLS SIX MEN

Three Victims of Wreck Not Yet Identified—Track Blocked.

NEAR HORNEPAYNE.

Injured Men Removed To Hospital—Cause of Accident Unknown.

TORONTO, April 19 (Canadian Press).—Six men are reported to have been killed or to have died from injuries received when a Canadian National manifest freight train was derailed 56 miles west of Horne Payne, according to a statement by A. E. Warren, general manager, central region, Canadian National Railways, to-day.

The engine and tender left the track and turned on their sides, while fifteen other cars are reported derailed, said Mr. Warren. The train was in charge of Conductor J. Taylor and Engineer Peevy, with a Horne Payne crew. The six men reported dead from injuries include Engineer Peevy, Fireman S. Gourley, and a stockman who was travelling on the train, and who has been identified as L. C. Wilkin of Kane, Manitoba. Three other bodies have been found which are thought to be of stockmen, but which have not as yet been identified. Front End Brakeman R. Colbeck is also reported as injured, and was removed to Horne Payne Hospital. Auxiliaries were ordered from Nakina and Horne Payne, while a special train carrying doctors and nurses left ahead of the auxiliaries. It is anticipated that the track will be blocked for at least twelve hours, and in the meantime trains to and from Winnipeg and Toronto will be detoured via Nakina, Hearst and Oba, running about four hours late. The cause of the derailment is under investigation and a further report will be issued later.

ENGINES OF PEACE ARE MORE TERRIBLE

Victims of Accidents Are Often Babes, Says A.R.A. President.

CHICAGO, April 19 (Canadian Press).—Five hundred safety men from all railroads of Canada and the United States are attending the safety section convention of the American Railway Association. An appeal both to railroads and to the public to exercise greater care in an effort to reduce the number of grade crossing accidents was made by President Coolidge in a letter which was read at the opening session.

R. H. Aishton, president of the A.R.A., in his welcoming address, said: "The engines of peace are no less deadly than the engines of war. The casualties of peace are even more terrible than the casualties for war, for the victims of war were men, strong to endure suffering, but the victims of peace are often helpless babes in mothers' arms."

BRITISH RESIST DEMANDS FOR STRONG ACTION

Government Wants To Find Out With Whom It Must Deal.

NO DRASTIC STEPS.

New Note To Cantonese Not Being Rushed By Britain.

LONDON, April 19 (British United Press).—The government is being urged by British subjects in China to take strong action to procure satisfaction for the Nanking outrages, in view of the unsatisfactory replies of Eugene Chen, Cantonese Foreign Minister, to the notes of the Powers demanding reparations.

In this connection it is suggested that the Yangtse River should be blockaded, Nanking occupied, and Chinese forts bombarded, but at present the British Government is turning a deaf ear to these suggestions, being more concerned in finding out with whom it has to deal than with what action is necessary, although the latter is a subject of consultations among the other Powers involved.

In fact, the British United Press was today warned in authorative circles not to expect any very rapid developments as far as Britain is concerned in the matter of new and more vigorous demands on the Cantonese Government.

Meanwhile, there is much general satisfaction in official circles over General Chiang Kai-Shek's drastic action against the Communists, but at the same time there is considerable anxiety on the part of Government officials to ascertain if the new Koumintang (the Cantonese political party) will prove a more effective guarantee to the life and property of foreigners in China than the old, and whether it will deal with the Powers on a more reasonable basis.

Man Flips Coin To Decide Between Oats and Liquor

DENVER, Col., April 19.—(United Press.)—Every morning William McMason flipped a coin to decide whether to buy oats for his horse or liquor for himself. "Heads liquor, tails oats," explained McMason to the police who arested him on vagrancy charges after his horse had been found standing tied for thirty-six hours.

"And the horse hasn't won for a week," he added.

A ninety day sentence was suspended on McMason's promise to use a double tail coin in the future.

RAISE MONEY FOR RANSOM

Chicago Cabaret Owners Reported in Hands of Gangster Abductors.

$200,000 ASKED.

CHICAGO, April 19 (Canadian Press).—A ransom fund of $100,000 was reported to have been raised last night by wealthy night life habitues and relatives to buy the freedom of Jake Adler and Frank Galello, wealthy cabaret owners who disappeared last Wednesday morning.

Adler and Galello, owners of the Midnight Frolics, one of Chicago's night left resorts, left their cabaret last Wednesday morning about three o'clock with their chauffeur.

They drove away in their automobile and none of the three has been seen since.

The police started an investigation after it was reported in night life circles that the two were held for a $200,000 ransom by a band of professional kidnappers and that relatives and friends had been engaged in raising $100,000 to buy their liberty although the abductors had refused the offer.

The $100,000 was reported collected and those interested in gaining the liberty of the two men and their chauffeur were awaiting instructions, according to police reports. The police held two theories as to the identity of their kidnappers, the first that they were held by a band of Chicago and Detroit abductors, and the second that they may be in the custody of "Egan's Rats," a band of gangsters from St. Louis.

GENERAL BOARD DISCUSSES PLAN OF CELEBRATION

Jubilee Executive Finds Resources Compare Favorably With Expenses.

PLANS CO-ORDINATED.

General Outline of Three Days' Programme is Drawn Up.

The first meeting of the Executive Committee in charge of the planning and detail of the Jubilee celebration was held at the Council Chamber last night. The committee is made up of the chairmen of the several sub-committees, and those in attendance included Ald. N. Phelan, Claude Rogers, R. M. Glover, James Abraham (for Dr. J. J. Craig of the parade committee), T. O. Donaldson, J. Corkery, Ald. J. M. Greene, Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, Paul Manning, and Mrs. A. Stevenson.

On formal motion Mayor W. H. Holloway was placed in office as permanent chairman of the Executive Committee. Frank Adams, city treasurer, was elected as treasurer for the funds of the celebration. D. A. Costello was taken on the Executive Committee, he undertaking to represent the local branch of the Knights of Columbus; and make himself extremely useful. Mrs. Stevenson was also added to act for and represent those interested in putting on the proposed pageant. The Ministerial Association having at a recent meeting named the president of that body as chairman of a committee, Rev. Mr. Gordon's name was included.

Reports from several sub-committees were read, and commented on. A matter for the Executive to decide was whether or not a bonfire should be made. Many suggestions were offered. The prevailing opinion seemed to be that making use of Armour's Hill for the purpose was not advisable, mainly on account of the hundreds of small trees, no larger than a forest fern, planted over the crest and sides of the hill. Final decision was deferred, though the Fireworks Committee suggested a number of flares of considerable size as a substitute.

Estimated Income.

Settling down to make an estimate of resources, that is, to ascertain in all probability where the money would come from to defray the cost of the celebration, it was decided that so far as practicable, an admission fee to the grounds and grand stands should be charged for the first day, afternoon and evening, and on the second day as well. Putting the probable receipts together and adding the booths and privileges income, it was thought that about $5,000.00 would be realized. Some other sources of income were suggested.

Claims and suggestions from chairmen of committees of appropriations to meet the cost of the several efforts were made. The pageant would cost $1,200.00, fireworks $500.00, water sports $250.00, music $300.00, publicity $300.00, trotting races (second day) $1,000, athletic sports $300.00. Other items brought the prospective expense up

CLEAN-UP MOVE COMMENDED BY HEALTH BOARD

Support Promised in Campaign For Cleaner City.

REGULAR MEETING.

Pasteurization of All Milk Sold in City Advised By District M.O.H.

At the meeting of the Board of Health held this morning, the action of His Worship the Mayor and The Examiner in instituting a city-wide clean-up campaign, was commended. The board is behind the campaign as it believes that a clean city is in the interests of every citizen who lives in it; and promised the Mayor and The Examiner its support, not only in this campaign, but in keeping the city clean for 52 weeks in the year.

The report of the matron of the Isolation Hospital was read, showing five patients in the hospital on April 1st. On March 1st there were two patients in the hospital. Seven were admitted during the month, three were discharged, and one died.

Tenders will be asked for supplying forty tons of Pocohontas coal to the Isolation Hospital, and also for painting the hospital.

Sanitary Inspector Charles Stapleton and Plumbing Inspector A. G. Metheral reported having inspected the plant of the Peterborough Milk Products and found everything in a very clean and well kept condition.

Must Obey Orders

Those householders who have been ordered to put in sanitary conveniences and have not done so will be notified by registered mail in the next few days that they must comply with the regulations and take some action within seven days or legal action will follow. The Board is a unit in declaring that the condition in these houses must be remedied, and it is determined to enforce the law.

The Board passed a suggestion on to the City Council that that body would form some plan whereby the residents on Euclid Avenue might obtain water. At present there is a sewer running in front of their property, but the Utilities Commission will not supply water as there are not enough residents wanting it to comply with the law in regard to paying for debentures. The matter of a pumping station on Smith Street was also left with the City Council for consideration.

The Sanitary Inspector drew the attention of the Board to the action of many citizens in raking leaves into lanes and there leaving them. The Board is desirous that every citizen clean up his backyard as well as the front, and if there is a surplus of leaves these may be put in small boxes and left out for the garbage man.

Pasteurization of Milk

Dr. Sutton, the District M.O.H., was present, and he discussed the idea of pasteurization of all milk. Since the epidemic in Montreal the Provincial authorities have asked their Medical Health Officers to

CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN TAKEN UP AS ACTIVITY OF KIWANIS CLUB

Prizes For Essays, Posters, Songs and Letters By Children.

COMMITTEES NAMED.

City Divided Into Six Sections For Competition Purposes.

Kiwanis Club has taken over the active work of the clean-up campaign launched by Mayor Holloway on Saturday, and in a meeting last night the committee formed plans for the first month. Several competitions will be held for children, and contests will be run between different sections of the city, judged by an independent board. All the women's organizations have been asked to participate, and replies have already been received from several. The men's associations, too, are taking part; ministers are being approached, and, all in all, the campaign looks as if it might embrace everyone in Peterborough. That, in fact, is the object.

Mark Bredin is chairman of the clean-up committee of Kiwanis Club, and he had with him in consultation last night Herbert J. McCannan, E. Vernon Morphet, and President Isaac P. McNabb. Sub-committees have been appointed for six sections into which the city has been divided.

Prize Contests.

The prize contests decided last night are for posters, essays, songs and letters, so that every boy and girl has a chance in the hobby that most appeals. The details of these contests will be announced more fully later, but they are briefly as follows:

1. Essay Contest. Open to children 16 and under. The best essay on the benefits of the clean-up campaign from individual and civic viewpoints. The best essays will be printed in The Examiner. Contest closes May 2 at midnight.
2. Poster Contest. Open to

Radiator Cap Light Is Devised For Autos

BERLIN, April 19.—A radiator cap light to warn pedestrians when an automobile is speeding has been patented by Samuel Sborowitz, noted German engineer.

Sborowitz declares it is folly to have a red light on the rear of an automobile without a similar contrivance on the radiator cap.

His device for meeting the situation consists of a dozen standard vari-colored electric lights, arranged as a radiator ornament, a different light flashing for each increase of ten miles in the speed of the car from fifteen to sixty miles, when a red light glows as a warning signal.

FLOOD WATERS PASS OVER DYKE

Sweeping Toward Town of New Madrid—Citizens Prepare.

WORKERS WITHDRAW.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 19 (Canadian Press).—Flood waters swept over the protective dyke at New Madrid this morning and were flowing inland toward southeastern Missouri and Eastern Arkansas lands. With the exception of about twenty-five men, the army of levee workers at the embankment has been withdrawn.

The water was expected to reach the town of New Madrid this afternoon. A number of the residents of the city already have taken refuge in other towns. Those who remained were preparing this morning to either leave or to move to the upper floors of their residences.

FORD'S LAWYERS TO MOVE MISTRIAL

Secure Adjournment Until Thursday Because of Reed's Illness.

DETROIT, Mich., April 19 (Canadian Press).—Formal notice that they intended to move for a mistrial next Thursday was given by counsel for Henry Ford to-day in requesting continuance until then of Aaron Sapiro's million dollar libel suit against the motor manufacturer. Judge Fred Raymond adjourned court until Thursday morning upon the plea that Senator James Reed, chief of counsel for Ford, could not appear until then because of an attack of indigestion.

Alleged misconduct of a juror will be made the ground for a motion for mistrial, Stewart Hanley, Ford counsel, told the judge. William Henry Gallagher, chief counsel for Sapiro, referred to "fear of collapse of the Ford case," asserted that Ford detectives had lined the corridors of the court since the case commenced, and had been seen in conference with jurors. He also complained that twice Judge Raymond had received Ford counsel in his chambers while Sapiro's counsel were excluded.

MR. BRADBURN'S REPLY.

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—With reference to the letter of Mr. R. R. Hall in your paper on Saturday, I am quite willing to arrange an interview with Premier Ferguson in regard to the dams north of Peterborough for representatives of the city or any others who may desire to meet him to confer on the subject.

Yours very truly,

W. H. BRADBURN.

Unable To Wed 14 Year Old New England Youth Divorcee Picks Older Brother As a Husband

CANAAN, Maine, April 19 (UP)—The strange romance of 17-year-old Elmer Buzzell and Mrs. Thelma Tibbets, mother of a five-year-old boy, moved one step nearer the altar yesterday.

Accompanied by his parents and his bride-to-be, Elmer came into town from his isolated home yesterday morning, and filed marriage intentions with the 27-year-old divorcee.

Town Clerk Lettie Foster told the youth that he might have his marriage license as soon as the required five days had elapsed. Recently she refused to grant a license to Mrs. Tibbetts and Elmer's 14-year-old brother, Willie.

Mrs. Tibbets' attempts to make 14-year-old Willie Buzzell her husband aroused a storm of protest, and town officials refused to sanction the marriage.

Shortly after, the divorcee fell in love with Willie's slightly older brother. With Emer, she went 200 miles to Portsmouth, N.H., but authorities there believed Elmer was Willie, and

Francesco Caruso Sentenced To Electric Chair For Slaying Of Doctor Who Failed To Save Son

BROOKLYN, N.Y., April 19—Francesco Caruso, looking mute protest at the judge who went through a legal process that Caruso barely understood, heard himself sentenced to death yesterday.

Caruso was convicted two weeks ago of murdering Dr. Casper S. Pendola, who had been treating Joseph Caruso, six, for diphtheria. The boy was virtually beyond medical aid when the doctor was called. It was testified, but administered anti-toxin.

The next morning the doctor called. Caruso, wild with grief and convinced that the injection had been fatal, rose from the body of his son, strangled the doctor and cut his throat with a carving knife. It was brought out at the trial that Caruso, while sane, was an ignorant, hard-working immigrant who never was able to learn American customs or even much of the language.

JAPAN BANKS MAY GIVE AID

Hopes Seen For Averting a Financial Crisis in Japan.

UNEASINESS FELT.

TOKIO, April 19 (A.P.).—With negotiations under way for the formation of a new cabinet to succeed the Wakasuki ministry, hopes for averting a financial crisis in Japan are seen in the decision of the leading banks to provide temporary assistance to various embarrassed banks. The Wakasuki ministry resigned because of the Privy Council's rejection of the government's decision to give substantial aid to the Bank of Taiwan, Ltd., known also as the Bank of Formosa.

The Japanese news agency, Rengo, was reliably informed yesterday that the Bank of Japan is sending 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 yen in convertible notes to the main office of the Bank of Taiwan at Taipea, Formosa.

For several weeks there has been uneasiness in Japan through runs on banks in Tokio and other cities. Nine banks were closed in recent days and a temporary suspension of the great importing and exporting firm of Suzuki and Company brought renewed apprehension, particularly when it was reported that the Bank of Taiwan was one of the principal creditors of the company.

Continue Policy

Baron Tanaka, head of the Seiyukai party, in the opinion of some of the newspapers, may take the post of Premier, which in the meantime is held by the retiring Premier Wakasuki, at the request of the Emperor, but whoever assumes office, it is said that the new ministry would continued the policy of the previous government, namely a sympathetic attitude toward armament limitation and the proposals of President Coolidge.

In the meantime, Japan's further attitude with the other four Powers with respect to its policy in China, is held in abeyance.

Bullets Meet Firemen Responding To a Call

WINNIPEG, Man., April 19 (Canadian Press)—Firemen who responded to an alarm from St. Boniface, across the Red River from Winnipeg, were sent scurrying to cover before a volley of German machine gun bullets yesterday.

The bullets, brought from France as war trophies hung in a bandolier on the wall of the burning house. When the firing had ceased the fire-fighters launched a counter-attack and subdued the flames.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

ONCE IN AWHILE

Once in awhile I think of you,
Just remember, as people do
Little happenings once again
That didn't seem so important then,
Think of the time we chanced to meet,
Thinking it over it's mighty sweet,
Think of things, though I can't say why,
That made you happy, that made you sigh
Once in awhile.

Once in awhile I think once more,
Think of things that I thought before,
For many a night I went to rest
Thinking of things you never guessed.
Oh, there were wonderful things I dreamed,
And not as foolish as once they seemed.
Yes, many a thing I think of now
I wish you had understood somehow
Once in a while.

Once in awhile I think of you,
Hoping that you remember, too,
Something, maybe I used to say,
Though it's long and many a day,
Something I said that made you glad,
Something I didn't I wish I had—
You've maybe guessed, for I guess you can,
I think of you whole lots oftener than
Once in awhile!

CHIANG SETS UP GOVERNMENT AT NANKING AS STEP TOWARDS OUSTING RADICALS FROM PARTY

Reported That Prominent Leaders Will Have Place in Party.

SPLIT IN TWAIN.

Foreign Powers Prepared For Possible Developments at Hankow.

SHANGHAI, April 19 (Associated Press).—Chiang Kai Shek, generalissimo of the Cantonese (Nationalist) army, who has declared his intention of driving out the extreme Radicals from the Kuomintang (Cantonese political organization) is reported to have taken the first determined step by setting up a new government at Nanking, in opposition to that at Hankow which is controlled by the Communist element. Though details of the constitution of the Chiang government are lacking, the report is generally credited and it is understood that prominent leaders representing Canton, Nanking and Shanghai will have a place in the Ministry.

Thus the original Cantonese Government would appear to be split in twain and the hope of unity among the southern opponents of the Peking Government to have been dissipated temporarily at least.

Both factions of the Nationalists have been bending every effort to secure the support of the various provinces north and south of the Yangtse River and the adherence of the commanders of the various military units, but in the meantime the Northern forces, which not long ago were in swift retreat, have had a chance to reform in some measure.

Powers Prepared.

The foreign powers have made certain that they will be prepared for any developments at Hankow, where events of serious import were predicted and 40 or more warships of Great Britain, United States, Japan, France and Italy are stationed at this port, or patrolling, ready for whatever emergency may arise. Aboard this great fleet are 15,000 men who could be landed forthwith.

Hankow is reported comparatively quiet, and whatever foreigners are still resident there are considered comparatively safe.

The war craft and the merchant vessels passing up and down the Yangtse River have now become accustomed to the sniping practice from shore, and an occasional shower of machine gun bullets or a bursting shell. The Chinese, of whichever side, have learned that the foreigners can reply in kind.

Celebrate Establishment.

While mass meetings have been arranged by the political department of the eastern division of the Cantonese army to be held in the Chinese section of Shanghai for the celebration of "the establishment of the Nationalist Government at Nanking and restoration of the Kuomintang influence in the south," as though all would proceed peacefully hereafter, some of the foreign powers are strengthening their protective forces at this place. As an example, the French landed five whippet tanks to aid the defences of their concession.

Army Undisciplined.

LONDON, April 19 (United Press).—Looting was renewed in the British concession at Wuhu yesterday, an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Hong Kong said.

Wuhu is on the Yangtse River, about 50 miles from Nanking.

The despatch said that the looting coincided with the arrival at Wuhu of the seventh division of the Nationalist army, which was entirely undisciplined.

The Foreign Recreation Club was said to have been damaged seriously.

The military were alleged to have commandeered shops and houses in the native quarter, and most of the foreign-owned buildings as billets for the troops, which now numbered approximately 20,000.

Prepare For Violence.

PEKING, April 19.—Foreign legations were taking special defence precautions yesterday against possible anti-foreign violence. The panic noticeable a week ago, among the American colony here, largely has subsided, but no evidence of the fear of foreign officials that trouble might come were visible in the legation quarters.

U.S. Undecided.

WASHINGTON, April 19 (Associated Press).—Despite intimations in Paris and London that a five-power agreement to send another and more sharply worded note to the Hankow Government on the Nanking outrages had been reached, Secretary Kellogg was still undecided last night as to the next step so far as the United States is concerned.

The Secretary began personal consideration of the reply made by Eugene Chen, Hankow Foreign Minister, and recommendations as to an answer transmitted by U. S. Minister MacMurray at Peking, when he returned to his desk yesterday morning from a brief Easter vacation. The Secretary himself was authority for the statement that he had reached no decision.

While word was going out from the State Department, additional reports came to the naval from Admiral Williams, commanding United States forces in Chinese waters, that the U.S. destroyer Ford and the cruiser Cincinnati had been fired upon on the Yangtse River. The Cincinnati returned the fire, silencing the Chinese guns. No casualties were reported.

MANY FISH CAUGHT BY HASTINGS BOYS

Over 300 Perch Taken From Trent River Last Thursday.

HASTINGS, April 19.—Many residents of this village were able to have fresh fish for dinner on Good Friday. Off the landing south of the bowling green, some men and boys caught many perch, which varied in size from nine and one half to three inches in length.

On Thursday three hundred were taken from the icy waters of the river Trent. Early Friday morning fishermen were at their place and fish in large numbers were soon lying on the grassy bank. One boy had two dozen. Another had seventy-two perch. They were for sale at the rate of fifteen cents a dozen and some boys had a nice pocket of spending money.

These fish make good eating, but the numerous bones in their bodies cause them to be unpopular.

Street Peddlers Are Now Selling Dog Meat

BERLIN, April 19.—New occupational "stunts" are continually being sprung in Berlin because of the many unemployed seeking remunerative activity.

The latest is the vendor of dog meat, not the flesh of the canine, but meat for the family dog. Such a peddler has been wheeling his cart through the streets of thickly populated Berlin sections, with a big sign proclaiming the character of his business and the merits of his goods for the purpose intended.

YOUNG DEER SEEN AT MT. PLEASANT

Trapper Discovers Two on Roadside—Rare Sight in District.

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 19. While Eric McLean, a local trapper, was pursuing trapping operations on Friday he suddenly came upon two young deer on the top of the hill approaching the swamp, east of the village. One was on the side of the road and the other in Austin Best's field. This was a very rare sight, as it has been many a year since deer were seen in this locality.

Kiwanis Club is asking the assistance of the Home and School Associations and of teachers, and is requesting all ministers to mention on Sunday the advantages of cleanliness.

President Enthusiastic.

President I. P. McNabb told The Examiner today that he is heartily in accord with the taking up of this campaign by Kiwanis Club. "Peterborough is a beautiful city now," he remarked, "but a general clenn-up of all property would bring out the beauty even more. It is too bad that entire streets of lovely lawns and gardens should be spoiled by one or two slovenly-kept houses, and this is one of the conditions that should be righted by a clean-up campaign."

Mr. McNabb explained that Kiwanis Club will endeavor to give leadership to the clean-up effort, and the members are willing to do any work they can to beautify vacant property for which no one will become responsible. "We count a lot on the guidance and assistance of the Horticultural Society", he remarked, "and on the co-operation of all good citizens."

Inspection Made.

Following up the decision of Kiwanis Club to participate actively in the clean-up campaign, the President of the Club and the Chairman of the committee, Isaac P. McNabb and Mark Bredin, to-day made a tour of the city in a preliminary survey of conditions.

While they were surprised to find so many sections looking as spic-and-span, almost, as they could be made, there is much that can be done in the way of beautifying the city, they told The Examiner. Among the most common eyesores are the unsightly rough board fences that still surround many gardens and lots, and a special effort will be made to remove or paint these fences. The picket, or lattice, fence, is much more pleasing.

There are many vacant lots, too, which are covered with a rank growth of weeds, and these should be cleaned up.

HASTINGS MEN BUILD CANOES

Scriver Brothers Completing Five Ordered by Toronto Firm.

WELL MADE BOATS

HASTINGS, April 19—Neil and Otto Scriver of this village are finishing a contract for five canoes this week with the T. Eaton Company. It is remarkable that these young men can compete and secure business in competition with the larger builders of boats.

When interviewed last week, Neil said that it was the quality of their canoe that gave them the trial order. He added that in their correspondence with the Company it was mentioned that if this order was as good as the sample boat shipped to Toronto in February, he and his partner would not have to look anywhere else for orders and perhaps they would require other men to assist them to keep up with the demand

They have an up-to-date shop on Front street, one door east of the Star office. All the necessary equipment such as moulds, etc., is of a style picked out by the men. The canoe is sixteen feet long with three thwarts, finished throughout with copper nails and brass screw nails. The hull is made from kiln dried basswood purchased locally with oak decking. It is painted dark green on the outside and varnished a natural colour on the inside.

The men also have orders on hand for nine outboard motorboats of cedar.

GRAIN UNHARMED

Farmers in Norwood District Find Frost When Ploughing.

NORWOOD, April 19.— Very little damage has been done in this district to the fall grains. Clover is said to be looking fine. A number of farmers have been ploughing and have discovered that the frost is not all out of the ground.

CRIPPLED VETERAN MADE BOGUS MONEY

Boasted That Bills Were As Good as U. S. Currency—Under Arrest.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 19—John H. Mayes, crippled war veteran, who learned photo engraving at a soldiers' vocational school at Effingham, Ill., admitted to Federal authorities here yesterday that he had made the plates from which more than half a million dollars in counterfeit $5, $20 and $50 bills were printed.

He was arrested in a cottage in Murphysboro, Ills., where he said he had been hiding for weeks with his wife and three children.

Mayes had not lost time in hiding. In the cottage was a complete counterfeiting outfit, including press camera, inks, and copper plates for $20, $5 and $50 bills and a small quantity of counterfeit money. Like all Mayes' handiwork, the bills were remarkable imitations, and Mayes boasted that "They're just as good as they turn out in Government workshops."

Associates of the Shelton and Birger guerillas of "Bloody" Williamson County, Illinois, went to Detroit several months ago and bought Michigan "moonshine" whiskey with Mayes' "moonshine" money. The Cal Morgan gang of Terre Haute, Indiana, five of whom are now serving sentences for passing counterfeit, used plates made by Mayes. Counterfeit was seized in their workshop at Universal, Indiana.

Authorities also arrested Frank Blocker, negro proprietor of a St. Louis printing shop, last January, following discovery of plates from which an estimated $290,000 in counterfeit had been made. Blocker and six associates are facing trial.

Mayes has been trailed for thousands of miles the last year. He is listed on the books of the Veteran Bureau at Chicago for $50 a month for the loss of his right foot during the war.

FAREWELL PARTY

Tendered Burnbrae Couple on Their Departure for Campbellford.

BURNBRAE, April 19.—On Tuesday evening last over one hundred and fifty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milne, Menie, to spend a social hour with them prior to their departure for their new home in Campbellford. Rev. D. A. McKenzie made a few opening remarks, expressing his regret that the fact of their ill-health had caused their removal from the farm. Mr. and Mrs. Milne had always been respected in the community, and he hoped that as soon as their health permitted they would return to their home on the farm.

Mr. James Stewart then read an address, and Mr. Roy Walker and Mr. William Bennett made the presentation of a beautiful divanette and electric floor lamp.

Mr. and Mrs. Milne replied expressing their appreciation of the gifts and assuring those present that they would always remember their friends at Burnbrae and Menie.

The address was as follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milne:

"We, your many friends and neighbors, have met here this evening to show our very great appreciation of the valuable services you have rendered, and to express our feeling of regret at your removal from our community. You have always taken an active part in the social and moral welfare of the people, Mr. Milne as an elder of the church and Mrs. Milne as leader of praise. We can assure you that we have always found you true friends and good neighbors, and at all times willing to render assistance wherever needed. You have manifested a fine Christian spirit that was most uplifting and beneficial. We are sorry that ill-health has compelled you to retire from the farm, and we hope that you may soon regain health and strength and be long spared to enjoy the fellowship of your friends and do what you can for the moral betterment of your fellow-men. We cannot fully express in words what our hearts feel on this occasion, but in order that you might have some memento of our attachment to you and of your residence in this community, we ask you to accept these gifts as a pleasant remembrance of the years you have lived in our midst. We wish you and your children all the blessings of life, and we assure you that we will always be interested in your welfare, and should you return to your home again you will be heartily welcomed.

"Signed on behalf of your friends—James Stewart, Roy Walker, William Bennett, Neil Third, Bogart Linn, Fred. Bennett, Charles Little."

Another presentation was made to the two little daughters of the family by Mrs. William Hutcheon and her Sabbath School class. The presentation was made by Marion Walker and Eileen Third, the address being read by Mrs. Hutcheon:

"To Misses Muriel and Marjorie Milne:

"Dear Little Friends,—We all regret your removal from our Sabbath School and from our class. We always miss so much the ones who are regular in attendance and who are always interested in their Sabbath School lesson. It will be a long time before we can become accustomed to the absence of our two bright little pupils. And as another Sabbath School will soon claim you, we trust that you will give to them the same interest you have shown in this, your first S. S. class, only increasing in interest as the years pass. As a small token of remembrance, your classmates and teacher ask you to accept a copy of the Book of Praise and the Bible, together with the prayer that you may early learn to love and study its sacred pages, and that the truths which Jesus taught may become the foundation upon which you will build a strong and beautiful Christian character.

"Signed on behalf of your classmates—Marion Walker, Eileen Third, Mrs. William Hutcheon."

SAPIRO SESSIONS ARE ABANDONED

Chief of Ford Counsel Unable To Attend Court Sittings.

REPORTED ILL.

DETROIT, Mich., April 19.—(A.P.)—Sessions of Aaron Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford were abandoned yesterday because Senator James A. Reed, chief of Ford counsel, suffered an attack of indigestion.

The Senator himself belittled his complaint, but remained abed all day and last night Raymond Watson, of Senator Reed's law firm, said he was not certain cross-examination of Sapiro could be continued to-day.

Senator Reed was stricken as he returned to Detroit after spending the three-day Easter recess of the trial in Washington. Sapiro and his brother Milton hurried back from Chicago to-day the plaintiff expecting to face Senator Reed for his fourteenth day of cross-examination.

Senator Reed did not require assistance in getting from the train to his hotel but immediately was given medical attention.

BOYS NEARLY SWEPT OVER THE NIAGARA

Had Narrow Escape When Their Rowboat Was Swept Downstream.

NIAGARA FALS, N.Y., April 19.—Louis Bonbi", 19, and Louins Longa, 19, had a narrow escape from being swept over the Falls early yesterday afternoon when their rowboat, which they had tied to a curb 600 feet out from the American shore in the upper river, was swept downstream.

The youths jumped from the boat to the crib, where they remained until George Nielson, river man, and Patrolman Frank Crosby brought them to shore in a motor boat.

Bonbilla said that the swift current of the river snapped the line by which the boat was tied to the crib, located about a mile and a half above the cataracts.

Fair Directors Held Meeting On Tuesday To Discuss Arrangements.

MARMORA; April 19.—Marmora has, through its Agricultural Society, decided to celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation. Included in the plans under way for the celebration on Dominion Day are a program of athletic sports, with the possible inclusion of soft ball and baseball games, and a big masquerade carnival in the evening on Forsythe Street between Madoc and Matthew streets. The street is to be fittingly decorated and lighted for the occasion. Sacred Concert.

R. Litt, at the organ. The triple choir consisted of about forty voices. The service opened with a quartet, "'Tis Midnight" by the male voice quartette (Messrs. W. A. Sanderson, W. L. Rigg, J. F. Baker and W. M. Lester).

Then followed the reading of the fifteenth chapter of St. Mark's gospel by the Rector, and the Canticle, "God Be Merciful unto us," by choir and congregation. Rev. A. B. Caldwell having made a few appreciative and introductory remarks, W. M. Lester, tenor soloist was heard in the opening recitative of the meditation, as thir work is named. The anthems, "God So Loved The World," and "From the Throne of His Cross," lacked little of the impressiveness that is theirs. It was a memorable choral service throughout and appreciation was manifest in the liberal offerings which were assigned to the funds of the choir.

CLEANING UP.

The clean-up campaign, endorsed by Mayor Holloway and by well know citizens, is an effort that should enlist community interest—and must if it is to succeed.

The individual citizen must enlist in the drive to make Peterborough Spotless Town—or the whole scheme falls to the ground.

Some at least of the leadership necessary to instil enthusiasm, however, must come from the City Hall.

Unless the city authorities, by their example set the pace for the rest of the community, appeals to the householder must necessarily lose some of their effect.

As ex-Mayor J. J. Turner pointed out in an interview yesterday, "there is not much use in asking citizens to eliminate weeds from their vacant lots, if the city allows weeds to grow on city streets."

The campaign can be materially accelerated by a practical demonstration on the part of the city authorities that will prove much more readily than words that the city itself is solidly behind the effort.

A CONFEDERATION PRIZE.

There is no end to the number of suggestions that are being made in connection with the Diamond Jubilee—a healthy sign by the way, for it indicates that interest in the anniversary is increasing.

They can't all be acted upon, of course, but many of them are original and meritorious.

For example, a Confederation prize for literature to be awarded annually to the author of the most outstanding book of the year has been suggested by the Canadian Authors' Association in connection with the celebration of Canada's sixtieth birthday.

The National Executive of the Authors' Association, by a unanimous vote has memoralized the Prime Minister suggesting the setting aside of one tenth of the $250,000 Diamond Jubilee Fund to endow in perpetuity such an annual prize for the encouragement of Canadian literature.

There is no doubt that a recognition of the value to a country of a virile and sound national literature, as is suggested by the Authors' Association, would have an important effect and, viewed from that angle, the awarding of an annual prize as a feature of the Confederation programme can be justified.

There is a multiplicity of ideas to be worked out, however, and excellent as many of them are not one in five can be carried out.

SEE CANADA FIRST.

The annual report of the commissioner of Canada's National parks indicates that their reputation is not only steadily increasing abroad but Canadians themselves are more and more coming to appreciate, and to take pride, these magnificent public reservations as well as to avail themselves of the opportunities for rest and recuperation which they offer.

It has undoubtedly been the case that the people of this country have failed to appreciate the national parks or to recognize the value and importance of these reservations, and it is gratifying, therefore, to learn from the commissioner's report that Canadians are awakening to some of the beauties of their own land.

Last year some 333,397 vistiors were registered at the 13 national parks, with Rocky Mountains park holding the record with 124,749 visitors.

In this connection it is interesting to know, that nearly half of these were motorists and about 56 per cent were Canadians with 38 per cent from the United States and 6 per cent of trans-oceanic domicile.

It is hoped that as the years pass the number of Canadians to visit their own national parks will steadily increase.

Wouldn't this, the year of the Diamond Jubilee, be an opportune time to launch a See-Canada-First campaign of national proportions?

MAKING CONDITIONS SAFER.

The Peterborough branch of the Ontario Motor League would be doing a very useful service to the whole community in seeking to protect the safety of pedestrians, not only in regard to the stop-street plan, but generally.

The point, raised by Secretary Stinson, of motorists stopping on the crossings so that pedestrians are forced into the road to cross, is important.

The proper place to stop before entering through streets is before the crossing is reached, thus giving the pedestrian a chance and while this is being observed by many drivers there are enough who stop their cars on the crossing to constitute a nuisance to the man on foot.

The Motor League would do well to educate motorists along this line.

But it should not stop there.

It should discourage fast driving on through streets.

It should seek to eliminate the practice of driving round a corner of a through street at a dangerous speed, and without adequate warning signals.

In short it should endeavour to make Peterborough a city of careful, courteous drivers—something that cannot with truth be said of the present conditions on local streets so far as a percentage, at least, of motorists is concerned.

WHY NOT DO IT NOW?

The Hon. James Malcolm, minister of trade and commerce, offers an excuse that is no excuse at all when he says that the reason for nonrecognition of Canadian nationality lies in the fact that it would involve too much trouble in classification.

For some years there has been a persistent, though unofficial, demand for the establishment of Canadian nationality. Those who argue this way have pointed out that Canada's boasted change in status as a nation becomes something of a joke if our own government persists in ts refusal to acknowledge the official existence of men and women known as Canadians. When the census is taken we are still, for official purposes, English, Scotch, Irish, French, Italian, American, German, Norwegian, Danish, Greek, Swedish, Rumanian, Russian, Finnish, Spanish, Mexican or something else. Everybody's label is affixed by the circumstances of an ancestor's birthplace. A man may been born in Canada and his grandfather may have been born in Cnada, but he is refused the privilege of claiming Canadian descent.

Mr. Malcolm hints that a change is coming by which Canadians of the third generation may, in the future, be classed as Canadians, under the census laws. This is encouraging, at any rate, though it does not go far enough. The change should be made at once. There are thousands of persons living in this country who wish to be, and have a perfect right to be, classified as Canadians. The privilege and right should not be denied them. How under heaven can we expect to build up the strong national spirit so greatly needed, if we refuse to acknowledge Canadian nationality? — Border Cities Star.

A FAMOUS CASE NEARS END.

Nicola Sacco, a shoe worker, and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, a fish peddler, have been sentenced at Dedham, Mass., to be executed for a double murder, committed almost seven years ago, of which they were found guilty in the Massachusetts courts in 1921. And at the news the port workers and bakers of Buenos Aires went on strike, the American Minister at Geneva was guarded from Communist attacks, and from Moscow came an appeal to the workers of the world to protest this "new crime of the American bourgeoisie."

Sacco and Vanzetti are admitted radicals, and following their conviction six years ago their case was taken up in many countries. There were hostile demonstrations in front of American embassies, and a bomb was thrown at the American ambassador in Paris. Even in Japan was the cry raised that these two Italian radicals were being made the innocent victims of a capitalistic system.

In the meantime the courts of Massachusetts have taken six years to reach the present given point. Applications for new trials, motions of error, arguments, examinations by alienists, and all the other steps in the legal ritual which invests the American criminal courts followed one after the other, and the end is not yet. The celebrated case can be, and will be, taken now into the Federal courts, and a new series of motions launched.

It is improbable that these men will be executed. Whatever the merits of the case, so many uncertainties have developed in seven years of bitter controversy that the public mind is unsettled and is likely to be content with commutation of the sentences to life imprisonment. The whole affair, incidentally, reveals the American judicial machinery in its worst possible light.—Ottawa Journal.

MAIL AND FEMALE.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., has come in for some severe castigation from Canadian newspapers for her letter to the school children of her constituency on the China problem.

She remains unrepentant. She hurled a defiant reply to her challengers from the floor of the House at Ottawa. To a reporter she said she didn't care about public opinion; if she thought a thing was right she just went ahead and did what she had a mind to.

The latter sentiment is perhaps to her credit; but the point is, that before doing a thing she should be sure that she is right in her statements.

Leaving the question of accuracy out of consideration, there should be general agreement that letters to school children on political and controversial subjects should not be permitted. Enough subjects are taught in public schools now without adding politics to the list.

Besides, it is not likely she would ever admit to them that there are two sides to every question. To her there is only one side, and that is her side. So that, however desirable the letters may be from Miss MacPhail's point of view, they fail to give the children the broad viewpoint, and merely become propaganda for such views as she herself holds.

And the views of Agnes are not the views of the womanhood of Canada.

If there is no Provincial law governing school propaganda, there soon ought to be. Although Miss MacPhail writes these letters because she happens to be an M.P., there appears to be no reason why her opponent at the last election, or any other person, should not also write letters to the children and force their personal opinions down the children's throats.

In fact, if Miss MacPhail can do it, why not everybody?

Note also that she sometimes sends out as many as 1,200 letters a month to her constituents. Would she send out more than a dozen if she had to pay postage? The franking privileges were never intended to cover mail of this kind. They should be charged up to Miss MacPhail as campaign expenses.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., April 19 (Canadian Press) — Owing to the Easter holidays in the United Kingdom and on the continent, there was very little demand for grain on the Montreal market over the week-end and in consequence business generally was very quiet.

The trade in cash grain in the domestic market was also inactive, but the undertone was firm.

The volume of business done in spring and winter wheat grades of flour was small and prices were unchanged.

The demand for all lines of millfeed continued good and values were steady. There was no improvement in the demand for standard grades of rolled oats.

The undertone to the egg market was firm, but there was no change in prices. The trade continued quiet. The receipts were 4,352 cases.

Prices for all grades of butter were well maintained under a moderate demand. The receipts were 597 packages.

The market for cheese continued dull and featureless. The receipts were 215 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 19 (Canadian Press)—Widespread excessive wet weather, as well as foreign buying, did a good deal yesterday to lift the wheat market. Besides, the United States visible wheat supply total decreased 1,514,000 bushels. Wheat closed firm, 3-8 to 3-4c to 7-8c net higher; corn 3-8 to 5-8c up; oats a shade to 3-8c to 1-2c advance and provisions 5c to 15c down.

Unfavorable weather for field work tended to bring about advances in corn and oats.

Provisions were responsive to lower quotations on hogs.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

THOUGHTS ON TOIL

Only 38 out of every 100 Americans work for a living, statisticians reveal. What! 71,300,000 bootleggers! . . . The figures may be misleading, though. Among the 62 who don't work for a living there should be listed several Pullman porters and press agents, who only go through the motions. . . The percentage of workers used to be larger. That was before so many people took to the water for a living. . . . There's one man, however, we are sure, works for a livelihood—he follows the Prince of Wales around and counts how many times he falls off his horse.

* * *

It is a quaint and curious fact that all the bunkers are not on golf courses.

* * *

The new Pullman sleeping cars have "passenger bedrooms." Is this a device whereby the Pullman company hopes to lower the cost of travel?

* * *

A financier has set aside a fund to combat sleeping sickness. Now if another rich man would just come along with an appropriation to find out why nobody sleeps any more.

PRESENTATION TO OMEMEE MASON

R. J. Patterson Given Past Master's Jewel By Lodge Brethren.

OMEMEE, April 16.—On Thursday evening last, Lorne Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 375, was honored by a visit from the District Deputy Grand Master, R. W. Bro. S. Johnston, of Lindsay. Several visiting brethren were present from Bobcaygeon and Lindsay.

At the conclusion of the meeting, W. Bro. R. J. Patterson, of Lindsay, Past Master, of Lorne Lodge, was presented with a Past Master's Jewel, accompanied by the following address: The presentation was made by R. W. Bro. Johnston, while the address was read by Wor. Bro. W. J. Thorne:

Omemee, Ont., April 7th, 1927

Dear Sir:

We, the Past Masters, officers and members of Lorne Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 375, G.R.C., congratulate you, on your recent appointment to the honorable office of Sheriff of the Counties of Victoria and Haliburton. We feel highly honored that the state has conferred such a high honor upon a member of our Lodge. We know of no member of this body who is better qualified to fill the position of Sheriff than yourself.

Our one regret is that your appointment will necessitate your removal from this vicinity. We trust, however, that the fact of your residence in the county-town will not mean that we will not have the pleasure of greeting you frequently in the regular convocation of Lorne Lodge.

During our many happy years together, we have learned to appreciate the consistency with which you have upheld Masonic ideals, not only within the Lodge, but in your private and public life as a citizen. You have discharged your duties in the various offices you have occupied in the Lodge with a courtesy and dignity that has been exemplary. Especially would we mention in this connection your work as Worshipful Master.

We take pleasure at this time in presenting you with this Past Master's Jewel. We trust that as you wear it you may be reminded of the strong bond of brotherly love that binds us together as Masons. We assure you that you will always find a true Masonic welcome in Lorne Lodge. For you and yours we earnestly wish God's choicest blessings.

Signed on behalf of the Past Masters, Officers and Members of Lorne Lodge, Omemee.

TRENT VALLEY DISREGARDED.

To the Editor, Examiner:

Sir:

The estimated expenditures of the Dominion including over $11,000,000 of supplementary have received the sanction of Parliament and not a dollar for the "Trent Valley Canal". Early in the session it was proposed at a meeting of the executive of the "Trent Waterways Development Association", that a deputation be sent to Ottawa to ask that a sum be provided in the estimates to complete the Canal at the western end or an entrance to the Georgian Bay without the use of the Marine Railway makeshift, but from conversation had with the Hon. Mr. Dunning it has been ascertained that it is not the intention of the Government to at present undertake any new work on the Canal, and that only the necessary upkeep would be considered, believing that the minister is not as well acquainted with the importances of the project as he should be. It is now suggested by the Trent Waterways Development Association, through their very efficient president, Mr. Walter M. Fowlds, of Hastings, that the Hon. Mr. Dunning be invited to take a trip over the Canal during the coming summer say sometime in June, and meet representatives from all municipalities on the Canal at the most convenient point. The writer is intimately acquainted with the entire Canal proposition, and for over fifty years has been anxious to see this waterway completed and it is unthinkable that at this late date when over $22,000,000 has been expended that the work should be held up for an expenditure of four or five hundred thousand dollars. It is therefore to be hoped that the Trent Waterways Association or some other public body will arrange to have the Hon. Mr. Dunning go over the route at an early date and obtain first-hand knowledge the possibilities of this Canal project, so that at the next meeting of Parliament in Ottawa, he can advise his colleagues that they should provide a sum sufficient to finish the job.

There are many good reasons why this work should be completed and when the minister has gone over the Canal route and has seen and heard of all its inherent possibilities it is likely that the work will be finished.

Yours truly,
J. F. LILLICRAP.

ORATORY CONTEST HELD AT MADOC

Mary Gillen Wins First Prize in Fourth Book Contest.

MADOC, April 18.—The Public Speaking Contest for the Fourth Book pupils of the Public School was held last evening in the Empire Theatre before an interested audience of parents and friends. Six pupils took part in the contest and are to be congratulated on the splendid manner in which their speeches were prepared and delivered. The contestants all spoke in remarkably clear voices with good enunciation and held the interest of their audience. The young people displayed excellent powers of memory and command of English. The first prize was won by Mary Gillen, who chose as her subject: "Man, Past and Present." The second winner was Madeline Ellis, who spoke on "Cotton" and the third, Laura Ross, who took "Sir John A. Macdonald as her topic.

The judges were Misses J. Mackintosh and E. Crawford, and Mr. D. Brown, Principal of the High School. In giving the decision, Mr. Brown congratulated the boys and girls on the program prepared. He referred to other contests he had heard in Moosejaw and Regina, and of the progress that had been made along the lines of oral composition and public speaking in the schools everywhere of late years, and of the great benefit this work was sure to be to students in after years.

Mr. Brown thought one general fault was that pupils were apt to take topics that were too grown-up and to attempt to treat them as grown-ups would. He recommended the use of simpler subjects treated in their own way. Mr. Brown thought the students should be trained to give more of their own thoughts and less of the grown-up ones that they had either heard or read, thus making their speeches more original, and a part of themselves and less like a recitation.

Musical numbers were interspersed with the speeches, thus giving greater variety to the programme which was as follows:

Programme.

1. Opening Chorus—"It's Only a Small Bit of Bunting."
2. Chairman's Address.
3. Speech, "Sir John A. Macdonald," by Laura Ross.
4. Speech, "The Union Jack," by Kenneth Caskey.
5. Piano Duet by Kathleen Ludlow and Pauline Foote.
6. Speech, "Cotton," by Madeline Ellis.
7. Speech, "The Geographical Expansion of Canada since Confederation," by Donald McKenzie.
8. Girls' Chorus, "Behind the Clouds."
9. Speech, "The Development of the Locomotive," by Helen Vollick.
10. Speech, "Man, Past and Present" by Mary Gillen.
11. Dialogue, Laura Ross and Madeline Latondresse.
12. Instrumental Solo, Marjorie Roberts.
13. Boys' Chorus.
14. Girls' Drill.
15. Camp Fire Songs, by the Fourth Class.
16. Judges' Decision.
17. National Anthem.

PROSTATE DISORDERS

The prostate is a gland which, in the male, surrounds the neck of the bladder and the urethra. It is made up partly of glandular and partly of muscular fibers, which encircle the urethra. Disorders of this gland are not liable to occur except in those past 40 years of age. In some cases young men develop acute prostatitis due to an injury or to some local disease in the genital organs. Those over 40 years of age who do not follow good habits of life often develop an inflammation of the prostate gland which leads to serious cystitis and functional disorders. Many times they are not conscious of such inflammation, while at other times they will be troubled with a certain amount of cystitis, or from burning during urination.

Many old men are made irritable and develop an abnormal mental and emotional attitude which makes them appear irrational. When a man of advanced age applies to a surgeon for relief the usual treatment is an operation for removing the prostate or a part of it, but this is usually not necessary if proper local treatments are given to the gland, and the patient's diet is corrected.

Prostatic hypertrophy is a condition of fibrous enlargement of the prostate which produces an obstruction or holds back the normal flow of urine. If this condition exists it is sometimes necessary to operate and remove a portion of the gland, for if the urine is retarded there is a gradual backing up of urine into the system which produces a toxic condition, and adds to the patient's nervousness. There is often a frequent desire to irinate, but usually not much urine is expelled at a time, and the one who suffers from this trouble is kept awake a great deal and is enervated by loss of sleep.

I find a great many patients come to me for only a slight prostatic trouble, but have made their condition worse by worrying about it. Many alienists claim that irritation of the prostate is one of the greatest causes of suicide among men.

In the treatment of any form of prostate trouble it is advisable for the patient to drink plenty of water until about three o'clock in the afternoon. From this time on the bladder should be allowed to empty, so that it will not be full at bed time. The body should be kept warm at all times, night or day, and two or three warm sponge baths taken each day in order to keep the pores of the skin active. A non-irritating diet should be used which will tend to subdue any bladder inflammation. Suitable electric treatments and massages may also be given in a physician's office.

If you have prostate trouble, above all do not worry about it, but learn how to overcome and remove the irritation which is responsible.

Opera Singers Cancel Honeymoon Engagements

NEW YORK, April 19 (Canadian Press).—Mary Lewis, married on Thursday last to Michael Bohnen (both are opera singers), planned to let him go alone to Europe to keep his engagements, but while at the pier to see him off last night, she thought the separation would be too much, so she rushed home, packed her grips, and sailed with him. LONG SERVICE IN POST OFFICE

Thomas and A. F. Choate Held Position For Nearly 85 Years.

OLD RECORDS INTACT.

WARSAW, April 18.—East Peterboro appears to have had more than one postmaster whose tenure of office was long. A post office in Warsaw was opened in Thomas Choate's store, which then stood on part of the present mill-yard, on the fifth of October, eighteen-forty-two, nearly eighty-five years ago. Thomas Choate was appointed postmaster.

At that time there was no post office department in Canada. Mr. Stayner was deputy Postmaster General of Canada, and resided in Kingston.

Mr. Choate's appointment was signed by Inspector Gilbert Griffin.

Mail was brought by horseback once a week from Peterborough, and sometimes the couriers had very difficult journeys.

Some time before eighteen-fifty-seven, the post office, with the store, was moved to the present site on what was then and still is, the principal cross in the village.

After having held office for nearly forty-seven years, Thomas Choate resigned on August thirty-first, eighteen eighty-nine, and his son, A. F. Choate, the present postmaster, received his appointment.

When Mr. Thomas Choate resigned, there was only one man, Inspector Griffin, in the post office department who had been there when he was appointed.

A. F. Choate is in his thirty-eighth year of office, so that father and son have held the office for nearly eighty-five years.

Mr. Choate has in his possession all the papers relating to the postmaster's work, also all the old post office records. A great deal of post office and consequently, Canadian history, may be obtained from the careful study of these old records, which were beautifully kept.

Perhaps people now sometimes grumble about postal rates and conveniences, but if there were a return to the old weekly mails, heavy postage rates, no delivery, long, rough roads to go to the office for mail, there might be some hardship.

Some time ago Mr. Choate kindly gave a story of the Warsaw post office to the Women's Institute, which was most interesting and an eye-opener to many.

FAREWELL PARTY

Tendered Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Guthries on Their Departure For Bensfort.

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Guthrie gathered at their home on Friday evening, as a surprise to spend a social evening, before their departure for Bensfort, where Mr. Guthrie has recently purchased a farm.

A warm welcome was extended to the unexpected guests, after which Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie were asked to take the centre of the room, when Mr. McGrath presented them with a Coleman lamp, the following address being read by Miss Violet Muldren.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie:

Again we come to the parting of the ways, and we feel it our duty to bid farewell to you, whose companionship we have enjoyed and cherished for the last eleven years.

We hope that your new undertaking will be to your own interest, and that you may be surrounded with every good gift.

There is a consolation in knowing that the distance is not such a barrier as to sever all our relationship with you, we want you to feel that always, in the future, your interests will be ours, and your absence in this locality will not be forgotten. Your smiling countenance, Mr. Guthrie, might well serve as an inspiration to others.

We desire you to accept out of the fullness of our hearts this small gift as a gentle reminder as the days go by.

We wish you every success in your new undertaking.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors,

Fred Gilmour,
G. H. Smyth.

The event was a complete surprise, but Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie replied in a few, well-chosen words and all joined hands and sang — "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

The rest of the evening was spent in cards and dancing.

GENE STRATTON-PORTER KEPT FAITH WITH READERS

The tragic accident which eclipsed the remarkable career of Gene Stratton-Porter some months ago brought to a close the life work of the most popular of modern novelists and deprived the world of a vivid personality which reflected faith in mankind, knowledge, wholesomeness, sweetness and freshness as few authors have ever done. Through her long and varied career the woman who lived to see 11,000,000 copies of her books in circulation not including innumerable translations into foreign languages always kept faith with her adoring public. "The Keeper of the Bees" is a typical example of this faith. Not long before her death she framed the creed which guided all her work, and it is best told in her own words.

"In the language of the old hymn, 'A charge to keep I have' with my reading public," she said. I have taught 45,000,000 men and women and children to expect from me a story of men and women who for the most part are living up to their highest ideals, or are being punished because they are not. I am neither blind nor lacking in perception as to the waywardness and complications of human nature. It is merely that my call has been to reproduce the lives of clean, moral men and women, who are spending their time and strength in an effort to make the world a better place for themselves and for their children.

All natural history I have ever put into a book has been the result of personal investigation, clean, straight stuff, scientifically verified in every instance. And all characters that I have ever incorporated in a book I have tried sincerely to use in the working out of recognized and high principles of conduct."

From "The Song of the Cardinal," the first story that was the result of her burning indignation at finding a "little crimson firebird" wounded in the road, wantonly shot by hunters to test their aim, through "Laddie," "A Girl of the Limberlost," "Michael O'Halloran" to "The White Flag," her story of Mahala and the search for the clean heart, Mrs. Porter has kept her faith.

"The Keeper of the Bees," which J. Leo Meehan has directed so tellingly for F.B.O. is perhaps the high water mark of her writing and certainly her most dramatic novel.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"MONS"

With a delineation of the story of the famous Battle of Mons, in the early days of the war, and "The Making of a Prince," a very interesting two-reel picture of the life of the Prince of Wales, from his babyhood days up to the present time, the Capitol Theatre has a programme for the first half of this week that has a strongly patriotic flavor. The smaller film is entertaining in the extreme, in its close-ups of "H.R.H." and the 'Mons" picture is a gripping screen portrayal of some of the awful early days, when, unknowingly, the British soldiers went through some of the most terrible days of the Great War that was to last for years, when the memory of the "Old Contemptibles" who held the fort in those bloody first hours had become a shining light to the warriors who came after them. There are no "Big Berthas" or tanks in this picture. These came later. It is a type of warfare that shows detached groups crashing through forest lanes and ploughed fields, in the British attempt to stem the onflowing tide of the field-grey men of the Hun army.

It is a tense and somewhat nerve-wracking picture. The atmosphere of strained bodies, of weary minds and tired feet, is paramount. These men, although they fight bravely when they can, seem to be always on the march. The terrible retreat which followed their first onslaught on the Germans is the main feature of the picture, and marching feet pass along through the many sections of the big production. In the ranks, one of the men, maddened by the sight of these endless front ranks of wearily rising and descending feet, falls suddenly on the dusty road, and his comrades drag him to the horse-drawn cart at the rear. They stagger, exhausted, into St. Quentin, and their Major stirs them to further retreat with fife and drum. And always behind are the advancing Germans, fresh in comparison with the jaded British, coming to grips with their prey on one occasion as the Tommies lie, stupefied with sleep, on the streets of a tiny village.

There is plenty of stubborn fighting. The children who watched the matinee performance yesterday applauded wildly the victorious onrush of the kilted Highlanders, and realized strongly enough the values of this war picture to clap enthusiastically as the advancing Germans, in one episode, were mown down by the guns and fell dying on the field.

There were heroic bits of detached bravery, with half a dozen grim-faced men holding their guns against an onsweeping force, and there were specks of humor in the little scenes where the old French woman with her cart and short pipe, gave a bakers' dozen of the lads a lift behind her skinny horse, or the incident in which another French woman ran madly for an old umbrella, to give it to one of the surprised men trudging through the rain, still on retreat.

There were delineations of the scenes at Le Cateau, where 50,000 of these "Old Contemptibles" held at bay for a time 170,000 of the flower of the Hun army, and there were brilliant bits of detached fighting where men and guns rallied to the last call of gallant hearts. In one repeated scene, a bloody fight was staged beneath a crucifix in a little wood, recalling to mind those words of Browning: "Christ, whose sad face on the Cross sees only this, after the passion of a thousand years."

The grime and the murk, the blood and pain and weariness and filth of war as it is waged between men has little prominence in this picture, because the paramount atmosphere at all times is the holding up of an attitude of bravery and courage under odds, and the memory of the men who fell during the long-drawn out hours of "Mons," is forgotten finally in the triumph of those who survived.—Jeanette.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story.

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BOAT

Once upon a time, when Uncle Wiggily was hopping around in the woods, looking for an adventure, he met Baby Bunty, who was just coming from the Hollow Stump School.

"Oh, Unkie Wig!" cried Baby Bunty, for sometimes she talked in this fashion. "You is a bad, naughty, bunny unkie! When is 'oo comin' back to 'oos howse stump bungio!" and she pretended to shake her paw, scolding like, at Mr. Longears.

"Oh, I'll be back pretty soon," answered Uncle Wiggily. "I did not think I would be so long living with Boppy, Um and the Wogglejigs in their bungleump, helping the little wooden man and woman unscramble their children," said Mr. Longears. "But I'll soon be back to my wife to Nurse Jane, to you, Bunty, and all my forty 'leven little bunnies," promised the rabbit gentleman.

"Please do," begged Baby Bunty. "And here is a gift to remind you to come home soon," she added, handing Uncle Wiggily something red.

"What is it?" he asked.

"It's a red paper boat I made in school," answered Baby Bunty. "Oh, you don't need to be worried!" she went on, tickling Uncle Wiggily under the chin with a long blade of grass. "The Lady Mouse Teacher said I could make the boat. We were studying geography, you see, and Miss Mouse wanted us to understand how boats sailed to far countries over the ocean. So she had me make this little red paper canoe so the other children could study their lessons better."

"Oh, I see!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily, on the watch so Baby Bunty would play no tricks on him. "It's a cute little boat, Bunty."

"You may have it to remind you soon to come home to your bungalow and us," sang the little rabbit girl as she danced away through the woods. "Don't forget!"

"I won't forget!" promised Uncle Wiggily, and then he looked at the red paper boat in his paw and smiled as he waved good-by to Bunty.

"I don't really want this boat," said Mr. Longears to himself as he began wondering where he might find an adventure. "It was kind of Baby Bunty to give it to me, but it is too small for me to go sailing in," and the rabbit looked at the brook near which he stood.

While he was wondering what use he could make of the little red paper boat, all of a sudden the two Squiggle Bugs came crawling along the path. This time the bugs were named Squiggy and Squoggy.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" buzzed Squiggy. "Could we please have that pretty little red boat?"

"We'd love to have it!" added Squoggy.

"Why, yes, you may have it," said Uncle Wiggily. "Baby Bunty gave it to me, as a sort of joke, I guess. But I have no use for it. You may have it."

"Oh, thank you!" buzzed the two Squigglers and after he had given them the red paper boat, Uncle Wiggily hopped on through the woods to look for an adventure.

It was not long after that before the rabbit gentleman heard, from a point near the brook, some voices calling:

"Help! Help! Help!"

"Some one is in trouble!" thought Mr. Longears. "I must do what I can to help them!" Never stopping to think it might be the Bob Cat or Bear calling in this way to play a trick on him, Uncle Wiggily hopped quickly back to the brook. And there, out in the middle of the water, he saw the two Squigglers in their red boat. But the boat, being made of paper, was soaking through and melting apart and soon the Squigglers would be in the water.

"Oh, help us!" begged Squiggy.

"Save us!" cried Squoggy.

Uncle Wiggily did not know what to do, for rabbits, on account of their thick coat of fur, cannot swim very well unless they wrap themselves in the leaves of the rubber plant. And no rubber plant grew near the brook.

"Oh, save us!" cried the Squigglers.

"You shouldn't have gone paddling in a paper boat!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"It is too late to tell us that now!" sighed Squoggy. "Save us!"

Uncle Wiggily was just going to jump in, fur and all, when, suddenly along came Dumple and Wumple, the two wooden Wogglejig boys, red and yellow in color.

"We'll save the Squiggle Bugs!" cried the brave Wogglejigs. And being made of wood, which floated in water, Dumple and Wumple swam out and saved the bugs just as the red paper boat sank beneath the waves.

"Never go sailing again in a paper boat!" warned Uncle Wiggily.

The Squigglers said they never would. But it all happened for the best, I suppose.

Poison From Wood Ticks Is Fatal To Little Girl

BOULDER, Colo., April 19.—(United Press.)—Poison injected into her body by two wood-ticks was blamed by a coroner's jury on Monday for the death of two year old Hazel Wiederhaefer.

The ticks were removed from the child's body with chemicals but sufficient poison to cause death already had been injected.

THE "Bread line!" Have you ever seen a line-up of destitute, shivering men waiting for a free breakfast?

There are "bread lines" in many a private home today where the humiliations are even greater than those of the street. Perhaps you have seen one yourself.

Maybe there is just one person in it, an elderly relative or friend of the household, not overly welcome, who must always take the end seat, the last of the loaf, the weak cup, because of poverty and helplessness.

No — charity is not always or intentionally heartless, but—it is always charity!

What will you do in your old age? Only three persons in a hundred are able to lay by enough in their productive years to keep them in comfort and independence when their earning powers are gone.

You do not want to be slaving for a bare living, or be dependent on relatives or friends for a little food and shelter, do you?

Then let us tell you how surprisingly easy it is to provide now for your future independence. Send us the coupon today.

W. M. S. PRESENT CRANBERRY CORNERS

Four-Act Drama Proves to Be a Great Success.

A very pretty little play, entitled "Cranberry Corners," was presented in the interests of the W.M.S. of the Bensfort United Church on Thursday night in the Sunday School Hall, Bensfort. It was a well-presented drama in four acts, and the amateur artists rendered it in a style that showed much careful preparation and hard training.

The hall was filled to capacity and many had to be turned away. Great credit is due to the director, Mrs. D. Cadenhead, and Mrs. E. Wood, the prompter, for the success of the play. The ladies intend to present it again at a later date.

Those taking part in the play were:

Tom Dexter, one of nature's noblemen—Clifford Emberson.

Sidney Everette, of the world worldly—Ross Moncrief.

Ben Lathan, a wanderer—Reginald Perrin.

Andrew Dexter, Tom's father—Fred Patton.

Hezekiah Hopkins, fond of an argument—Edmund Dawson.

Nathan Speck, the hired man—Jack Harvey.

Carlotta Bannister, a child of fate—Mrs. R. Perrin.

Anastasia Bannister, her 'stylish' aunt from New York—Mrs. J. Lang.

Amelia Dexter, sister of Andrew—Mrs. S. Thompson.

Mrs. Muslin, some of a talker, "as you might say"—Mrs. F. Morrison.

Bella Ann, help at the farm—Mrs. W. Walters.

Florine, a maid—Mrs. W. Dawson.

SUSPECT ARSON IN GUELPH FIRE

Management of Paper Box Co. May Call For Fire Marshal.

FOR INVESTIGATION.

GUELPH, Ont., April 19.—Owing to the suspicious circumstances surrounding the origin of a recent fire at the Guelph Paper Box Company's plant, on Waterloo Street, the management may send a request to Fire Marshal Heaton for an investigation. The blaze, which originated in the basement, and which was the second to occur at the factory lately, caused considerable damage, and only subdued after a two-hour battle by the firemen.

It has been discovered that a false alarm which took the fire department on a long run to the Ontario Reformatory some weeks ago was also telephoned from the premises of the box company, and it is on this account that officials of the firm have their suspicions that a firebug has been at work.

Play, "The Time of His Life," Principal Item of Programme.

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 19.—The girls of the soft ball team and boys of the baseball team held their annual basket social on Thursday evening in the Temperance Hall at Mount Pleasant. Their play, "The Time of His Life" was the main item on the programme.

The baskets were very dainty and numerous. Many people were prevented by illness from attending. The roads and weather were all that could be desired to bring a crowd.

Mr. Garnet Shield acted as chairman in his usual good style.

The Misses Kathleen Sisson and Helen McLean played a few pleasing numbers on the piano before the play started and Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Shield played duets on the piano and mouth organ which were well received. Mr. Herman McLean of Toronto also contributed piano solos.

The play, "The Time of His Life" was given by the following cast:

Mr. Bob Grey—Aubrey Bland.

Mrs. Bob Grey—Kathleen Sisson.

Tom Carter—Eric McLean.

Mrs. Peter Wycombe—Helen Sanderson.

Wycombe — Harry Ja

Dorothy Landon—Greta Boyd.

Mr. James Landon, Sr., Dorothy's father—Donald Hayes.

Uncle Tom, a colored butler from the south—Hubert Lowes.

Officer Hogan, of the twenty-second street police station—Roy Tully.

BANDIT SLAYER DIES

COFFEYVILLE, Kan., April 19.—John Joseph Kloehr, who became famous in 1892 when he shot and killed three members of the notorious Dalton gang of bank robbers, has died of old age. When the Dalton gang raided the two banks of the city, Kloehr established himself behind a fence and sniped away at the bandits until he had killed three and the rest had fled.

ENDURED AGONY FROM BRUISES AND STRAIN

Hurt in bad fall, young woman makes quick recovery

A young woman at Bushnell's Basin, Monroe County, New York, fell and was badly bruised and strained.

"I suffered agony," she writes, "but I used Sloan's Liniment and it relieved the pain right away. Now I don't feel it at all."

What is the secret of the almost magical powers of this remarkable remedy?

Simply the fact that Sloan's doesn't merely deaden the nerves so that you don't feel the pain. It really drives out the pain by helping the conditions that are causing it.

Right to the affected spot it brings a healing stream of fresh, revitalizing blood, driving out congestion, relaxing contracted muscles. The pain stops as a natural consequence.

So clean and easy to use, too. Just put it on lightly without rubbing, and the liniment will do its work. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists have it—35 cents.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, working his way through college, earns money as a dancing partner for rich women in a fashionable New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but beggars can't be choosers! At the Inn he sees the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on—Sally, the cigarette girl. Reciprocating his interest, she warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the Inn, who finds her "thrill" 'in Bob—she is the hunter, not the hunted! A gold digger sneers, "Mrs. Hammond'll get him yet!"

CHAPTER X.

The sting of that last nasty dig kept Sally deep in a glum and sober silence.

Bob tried to laugh the matter off, however, and once they were on the Bus flying through the piney woods towards Fort Lee, Sally began to return to her normal self.

The boys were infectiously gay. It was impossible to remain sour in their company. Sally entered into the spirit of their fun, and felt quite as though she had known Bob Ward for a lifetime instead of for one brief afternoon.

Indeed, that was the miracle of their interest; of their love at first sight. For love it was, although each was too shy to give frank outward show of it that the other might perceive.

Freddy and Arch read the truth in their faces; and thereafter had a fine time making whispered wisecracks in one another's ears.

"Leave it to old Left Tackle for speed," giggled Freddy. "He turned up his nose at the very idea of

"Will you come to see me graduate?"

coming to such a place, and now he's turned himself inside out for the first girl he bumped into!"

"Say, boy, maybe he's got the right idea. Maybe you and I have been passing up something cute in Sally, right under our noses!"

"Passing up, heck! I tried to make her the first day I came over, and all I got was a zero look. You tried, too, old man! Don't try to four-flush! I saw you making goo-goo eyes at her, and she gave you a 'there goes nothing' look."

Arch colored, and sheepishly admitted the truth of his chum's accusation. "Bob's a shiek! We don't stand a Chinaman's chance while he's around!"

They laughed, and looked fondly at their pal. There was no rancor in their loyal grins. Bob and Sally, hearing them, looked up suddenly from their animated conversation—and fussed and blushed, like any caught kids.

They all laughed together then, and the conversation became general. Youth. Bubbling spirits. They taught her one of the shorter songs of their college; and as they had the ferrybound bus (at this time, going against the homecoming tide of commuters) practically to themselves, they rollicked at the tops of their voices.

The driver did not mind. It was a pleasant contrast for him to the sour, disagreeable workers who would jam the bus to suffocation on its return trip from the ferry.

Bob, who by now knew that everything else about Sally was wonderful, was further pleased to find that she had a nice singing voice—a clear soprano, with a girlish softness of timbre, from which tonal strength was lacking, but more than made up for by a certain wistful quality that he found captivating. Evidently Freddy and Arch did, also, for their faces reflected surprise and approval. The driver was touched, too; and dreamily passed several waiting fares, who gesticulated angrily after the speeding bus—and no doubt next day reported the driver and wrote letters to the papers complaining about the atrocious bus service.

Be that as it may, inside the rambling bus tonight there sparkled the tender exuberance of youth. Sweetness set down in prosaic ways; and above the grind of heavy gears and the rumble of mammot htires, the quaint voice of Sally Smith singing:

"Underneath the foliage,
In its bower set,
Loveliest of the flowers of spring,
Blooms the violet—"

Sally sang, full and clear—her voice weaving a lovely strain through the deeper tones of the three boys. Freddy and Ash were only moved by the love of their college. To Bob, for the first time this song meant something more. Its words carried a new significance. The whimsical refrain touched in him chords before unstrummed.

To Sally, the song had but one meaning. The college spirit she did not know, although something of that was transmuted to her through the fervor of the boys. Something far above mere sentiment stirred little Sally Smith. The opening of a new world! The unscrolling of brightest visions.

It was Spring. They four were young. They two were in love. Bob's hand touched Sally's—closed over it. Somehow in that moment Bob remembered remotely, even as he continued to sing in his rich tenor, the other hand that had touched his this full afternoon. The silken hand of Mrs. Hammond. There had been heat in that touch: passion. There was something finer in this contact; truer.

A quietude, a solemness that sealed their fun, but did not dampen it, cast its sense over the four as they sang out the refrain, free and clear:

"Violet! Violet! Flower of N. Y. U.
We will ever sing thy praise
To thee we'll e'er be true!
When the winter's frosts are gone
And the spring birds sing
Then the students' merry songs
O'er the campus ring."

Bob was quite frankly pressing Sally's hand as they finished, and the spell of the song kept even the usually irrespressible Freddy and Arch from venting a pun.

"Will you come to see me graduate," Bob whispered to Sally, "and wear a bunch of violets?"

"Yes, Mr.—"

"Call me Bob—and don't forget; that's a promise!"

The river was glorious in the purple shadows of the late afternoon.

Sally and Bob, and even the two boys, were rather subdued on the trip across to 129th Street. It was as though the skylarking on the early stages of the bus ride, followed by the singing, had reacted into a sort of solemnity, in which they all realized the exceedingly swift and unreckoned turns of Fate which in the brief span of an afternoon could work such deep, strong new channels for the sudden meeting and joint flowing of two human lives.

Bob, who had commenced the return journey from the Inn with but a quarter in his jeans, covertly borrowed a dollar from Arch, who thereupon, so that he would not have to go without supper, promptly borrowed half a dollar from Freddy. The communism of real friendship.

The four friends parted soon thereafter. Sally lived on West 103rd Street, so Bob took her upon the downtown subway.

Freddy and Arch stood a moment looking after the wide back of the football hero and the dainty form of Sally mincing brightly beside him.

"They," said Freddy gravely, "seem to have gone nuts about each other!"

"Uh huh! And, say, I'm sorry we tried to steer Bob away from her. She is a nice kid!"

"Nobody's steering Bob Ward where he doesn't want to be steered!"

"I wouldn't be too sure of that, Freddy," said Arch slowly, thoughtfully. "You and I couldn't; but it strikes me that Bob is just old-fashioned enough to be a sucker for women. Especially for a woman who has had some experience in—steering!"

"You mean Mrs. Hammond?"

"Uh huh!"

"Well, of course, maybe with Bob being nuts about this kid, it wouldn't be right—but, say, I wish I were shiek enough to get Mrs. Hammond disposed in a steering mood toward me." Freddy thought mournfully of the ghastly pile of bills that mortgaged his immediate future. Of that tailor who hounded him for a dollar a week—and got it once a month. He groaned: "You can bet your life I wouldn't let a little sweaty block the door to a Park Avenue apartment for me!"

"Yes," grumbled Arch, "some guys have all the luck. I'll bet that if he does fall for Mrs. Hammond, he won't even invite us to the love nest—after us bringing them together!"

"He hasn't fallen yet!" laughed Freddy.

Gilmour Young People Present "My Wild Irish Rose."

EAST EMILY, April 19.—The Young People's Club of Gilmour Memorial church of Smith township presented a three act play entitled "My Wild Irish Rose" on Good Friday in Orange Hall at Bethel under the auspices of the Young People's League of Bethel United church. Quite a large crowd were in attendance and were all very much pleased.

Preceding the play a quartette composed of Mrs. J. Young, Miss Beatrice McGregor, Mrs. Joseph Mann, and Mr. Paul sang "My Wild Irish Rose."

Miss Jean Scott quite ably gave the introduction of the play.

Scenes in the play were first laid in an Irish peasant's home and later in an English lord's mansion in Dublin, where Lord Fitzgerald lived. The first act opened in the country where the Creighton family lived and it was here that the rich artist, Lord Fitzgerald, fell in love with the pretty Irish girl, Rose. Being greatly attracted by the beauty of the girl and thinking nothing of his social standing, Fitzgerald marries the girl and takes her away to his home at Dublin.

The poor peasant girl at first finds that learning city manners is not all fun and has to receive many rebukes from her husband's society friends but her brother, who has been away in America, returns and she finds that her husband has been true to her all the time and keeping secrets from her only in order to aid her brother to return to Ireland.

The following programme of business was then transacted:

All joining in the Lord's prayer.

A scripture lesson, 1 John 5, followed by prayer led by the pastor, Rev. C. D. Daniel.

The report of the cemetery board was then given by Mr. C. Craighead, which showed a good year's work accomplished, also a good running surplus on hand.

The Ladies' Aid report given by the secretary, Mrs. Sam Diamond, and the treasurer, Mrs. Fred Smith, was a most acceptable one.

Their receipts made of membership fees, quilts, tea fees, bazaar table at garden party, and cooking sale amounted to $373.00. Their expenditures listed to the work of the church and repairs to the parsonage amounted to $260.00, leaving a balance of $113.00.

The league report was then given by the president, Mrs. Herbert Tinney, and the secretary, Miss Verna Tinney.

The report showed a good winter of spiritual, educational, and social activities, as this is one organization where money does not figure very prominently, the financial report is very small. Obligations were met and a balance of $4.25 was left to commence the new year.

The final report was that of the Sunday school which was very favorable. Owing to the absence of the superintendent, Mr. Fred Stollery, and the secretary, Miss Mary Peake, the report was given by Mrs. Fred Peake, Jr. and the treasurer, Clarence Grills.

The report showed an enrollment of 99 members with an average attendance of 45. Receipts were $130. Expenditures were about $100, leaving a balance of $31.50 on hand.

Heart Palpitation Dizzy, Sinking Spells

Mrs. M. A. Gagnon, Donatville, Alta., writes:—"Some time ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy, sinking spells and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework, but just leave everything and sit down.

I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me any good.

At last a friend told me to use MILBURN'S HEART NERVE PILLS and after using a couple of boxes I was not the same woman. I began to feel so much better, and after a few more boxes I was in perfect health. I always recommend them to all those I know who are suffering from heart trouble."

DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENT PLAY

"A Poor Married Man" Given at English Line House.

WELL ACTED

CAMPBELLFORD, April 19.—The Percy Dramatic Club presented Walter Ben Hare's three act comedy on Thursday evening in the English Line school house. The play was entitled 'A Poor Married Man,' and was well received by a full house.

The first act introduced Professor Wise, just married, his wife, Zoeie, and his mother-in-law. Now the mother-in-law was a woman of several aliases and as various friends call at the home of the Professor each friend addresses her by a different name. The Professor, while talking to his friend, Billie Blake and the colored servant, Jupiter, thinks they are talking of his wife, instead of his mother-in-law, and is in sore distress because his wife, as he thought, had so many previous marriages and in one of these, was suspected of disposing of her spouse through the culminary act of a lobster salad. In the meantime Zoeie's mother becomes disgusted with the Professor for she finds he is a man without means and she and her daughter leave the house only after Zoeie finds out she really never cared for the Professor but is in love with Billie Blake. At this stage of the game Dr. Graham and his daughter, June, emerge on the scene and it was a case of love at first sight between June and the Professor.

The last act of the play is staged after two years have elapsed. June and the Professor, happily married, receive word Dr. Graham and Billie Blake are coming to visit them. When the Dr. arrives, he also brings his bride and her daughter, who turns out to be the mysterious Mrs. Ford and her daughter Zoeie. A quarrel ensues and the Dr. prepares to leave his newly wed wife, when Billie Blake enters, recognizes the doctor's wife and tells her her husband is living in China and wants her to come to him there. Mrs. Ford then explains she has had only one husband, Socrates Ford, who for the sake of publicity, assumed the various non-de-plumes, and finally disappeared supposedly dying from the effects of the lobster salad.

The play ends happily for everyone. Mrs. Ford goes to her husband and Zoeie and Billie are re-united, while the Professor and June live happily. Miss Wilson, a reporter, figures largely during the different scenes, securing news for the paper. The cast of characters:

Billie Blake—Owen Finlay.
Reporter, Miss Wilson—Miss Mae Nelson.
Jupiter—Ewart Huycke.
Professor John B. Wise—Ewart Huycke.
Bride's mother (Mrs. Ford)—Mrs. Carman Carlaw.
Bride, Zoeie—Miss Jennie Dilworth.
Dr. Carman—Carman Carlaw.
June Graham—Edith Meneilley.

During the intermission the Golden orchestra played very acceptably. Solo by Frank Glenn and accordion selection by Mr. McNeely.

Mr. Sam Diamond acted as chairman and at the close of the play announced the amount raised was $29.

OBITUARY.

DAVID MEDD.

CAVAN, April 19.—The funeral of the late David Medd was held from his home on the 9th Concession of Cavan on Monday, April 11. The Rev. Mr. Poulter, of Bethany, was the minister in charge of the services at the home and cemetery. Interment was in the Emily Cemetery.

Mr. Medd is survived by two brothers, residing on the Ninth Line, and one sister, Mrs. Newman, Castleton.

JEREMIAH P. COVENEY.

Jeremiah P. Coveney, 57, proprietor of the Coveney Thrift Shop, 308 Main street, died suddenly at 12.35 a.m. on Monday, April 11 at Mercy Hospital. Death brought to a close a short illness of various complications.

Mr. Coveney had been conducting his business in Davenport, Iowa, for about one year. Of long experience in the dry goods and ready-to-wear trade he had made himself known here as a competent merchandiser and business man and had gained favorable reputation among his associates.

He was born in Campbellford, Ontario, Canada, Jan. 15, 1870, received his education there and spent his early life in Canada. Twenty-six years ago he came to the United States taking his first business position in this country with Marshall Field Company in Chicago. He served that firm for 15 years as a buyer of woollens.

Leaving Chicago he moved to St. Louis and later to Pittsburgh engaging in both places in retail selling. A year ago he came to Davenport and opened his shop. With his family he made his home at 1719 Farnum street. Mr. Coveney was a member of the Catholic church attending Sacred Heart Cathedral here.

On June 9, 1914, he was married to Marie H. Mullane at Chicago. His widow, two sons, Phillip, Jr. and William, and a daughter, Helen, survive him here. Other survivors are his mother, Mrs. Ellen C. Coveney, Rochester, N.Y., four sisters, Mrs. John Gorman, Mrs. Timothy O'Grady, and Mrs. Ida O'Shea, all of Hastings, Canada, and Mrs. John Fallon of Rochester; three brothers, John and Daniel of Hastings, Canada, and W. H. of Rochester, N.Y.

The body was removed to the Hill and Fredericks funeral home, afterwards being forwarded to Hastings, where services were held in Our Lady of Mount Carmel church and interment was made in the R.C. cemetery.

The pall-bearers were the three brothers and three brothers-in-law. Davenport (Ia.) Democrat and Leader.

The prices realized were good, with horses bringing as high as $140, cows were ranging in price from $80 to $60. A quantity of hay was sold, averaging $9 and $10 a load, also some oats, which brought 75c. a bushel. Implements sold well. Mr. S. S. Staples, ex-M.P., wielded the hammer.

HAND-MADE BOOTS SOLD IN HASTINGS

John Hawkins Has Worked at Trade in Village for 43 Years.

GREAT DEMAND

HASTINGS, April 19 — On Thursday, April 14, Mr. John Hawkins sold a pair of plough boots of his own manufacture. This of itself is of minor importance but it is interesting to remember that Mr. Hawkins has been doing this now steadily for forty three years. His shores have still the same demand in spite of the fact that factory made plough boots can be purchased at half the price.

He specializes in two kinds, the plough boot and the long-legged boot. The material in them is the best obtainable. The French Kip used is tanned in France and bears the stamp to show this. Solid leather heels and soles form parts of his shoes. Some times he sews the soles on. Little wooden pegs are used to strengthen the insteps.

Mr. Hawkins is one of the oldest business men in this village coming here straight from Ireland, County Galway, on August 8, 1883, and ever since has occupied his present stand on Bridge street north of the Royal Bank. He has hosts of friends

In all the forty-three years, he has not been ill a day, and has been at work repairing and making shoes every day with the exception of Sundays and a few picnics up the river.

He served five years apprenticeship in Ireland and five years as a journeyman before coming to Canada. He started at 13 years of age.

MARIPOSA FARMER PASSES SUDDENLY

Dies While Consulting Doctor About Heart Trouble.

LINDSAY, April 19.—Mr. A. Snelgrove, who formerly farmed in the Township of Mariposa, Victoria county, walked into the office of Drs. Archer & Archer, Port Perry, on Thursday and asked to be examined, as his heart was troubling him. Evidently the ailment was much worse than he suspected, as he died while the doctor was making his diagnosis. He is survived by his wife and one son.

FIRE THREATENS PONTYPOOL FARM

Grass Fire Gets Out of Control Because of High Wind.

PONTYPOOL, April 19.—Mr. Harry Hudson the new owner of the Cowling farm, was burning brush on his lawn on Saturday when, owing to a high wind, the fire got beyond his control and starting running in the grass. Mr. Hudson and his wife worked valiantly to keep it from getting to the house. The flames spread rapidly and before help could be secured several rods of fence were on fire, but by the aid of a score or more who gathered the fences were torn down and the fire got under control.

Mr. William Nicholson is in very poor health of late.

Most of the farmers have started on their fields and are hoping for a bumper crop this season. Little or no cultivating has been done and the most of them are finishing the plowing which was not finished last fall.

The roads are now dry again and the motor traffic is increasing every day.

At its last regular meeting L.O.L. 82 was visited by Bro. Byron Hyland of Nestleton, who is the Sentinel representative. He gave a very interesting talk on his trip across the sea where he visited Ireland, Scotland, Belgium, Paris and through the battlefields. This trip was the prize given a year ago by the Sentinel for the member who could get the largest number of subscriptions. He also spoke on behalf of the Sentinel, soliciting subscriptions.

Bro. Haddington and Bro. Calder, W.M., of Bowmanville, were also guests for the evening. They thanked the lodge heartily for deciding to attend the celebration in Bowmanville and assured the members they would be amply repaid for attending. Short speeches by Bre. J. J. Richardson, P.D.M., and Bro. John Payne, D.D.M. brought an interesting meeting to a close.

MIND BLANK 3 YEARS.

MADISON, Wis., April 19.—In the early part of the late war, a shell exloded near H. L. Rice, an American serving in the French cavalry. He woke up three years later, with no rememberance of the intervening time. While his memory was a blank he had won a Belgian Order of Leopold and the French Legion of Honor medals.

WEDDING BELLS.

NORHAM, April 19.—A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church parsonage on Wednesday morning, April 13, by Rev. J. F. Everson, when Arthur James Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Edward Johnston, of Newington, Ont., was united in marriage to Sarah Rebecca Zufelt, daughter of Mr. Asabel and the late Mrs. Zufelt, of Cramahe Township. ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Tastefully arranged floral decorations and well rendered musical selections by the choir added materialy to the interesting character of the services in St. Paul's Presbyterian church on Sunday. The evening service was conducted by the noted Bible scholar, Rev. Dr. Ford C. Ottman, of New York. Dr. Ottman is one of the best known authorities on Scriptural interpretation on the continent. He has made several world tours, one of them in company with the late Dr. Wilbur Chapman, noted Evangelist, and has made three visits to the Holy Land. Dr. Ottman is especially noted as a student of prophecy, in connection with which he has written a noted book, "The Unfolding of the Ages", an exposition of the Book of Revelation.

Sunday evening the church was crowded to hear the opening message in a series of five which Dr. Ottman is delivering this week. His subject was "The Trumpets of Demons Summoning the Kings of the Earth to the Battlefield of Armageddon." One of his opening sentences challenged immediate attention when he said "I believe in the plenary inspiration of the Scriptures, and that God has revealed in them His plans for the future of mankind."

The Scripture lesson was read by Rev. Mr. Allan. It recounted the conflict between David and Goliath. Referring to this passage in Scripture Dr. Ottman pointed out that the Apostle Paul has shown in the New Testament that the things which happened to the Children of Israel, as reported in the Old Testament, happened to them as types or examples for Christians in this dispensation, and were written for the admonition of the people of God. The conflict between David and Goliath is an interesting type. It describes a scene where God's people, the Jews, were formed up in battle array against their enemies the Philistines. Whatever the controversey was between them, it was settled by two individuals, Goliath, the Giant, on one side, and the shepherd boy, David, on the other.

In the Epistle to the Hebrews, the second chapter, appears the statement concerning Christ "that through death He might destroy him that had the power of death, that is the Devil. And deliver them who through fear of death were all their life time subject to bondage." The Bible declares that Satan has the power of death, and that Jesus by His death on the Cross destroyed the power of Satan. It is as though sentence of death was declared upon Satan at the time of Christ's death, but the execution of the death sentences has been postponed until a definite time set by God.

What was it killed Goliath? Surely not the pebble which David hurled at him, because David threw the sword of the Giant and cut off his head. Thus the Gaint's own sword was used in his execution. Death was the sword Satan has used and still uses to keep people in bondage, but we have Scriptural authority for the statement that through the death of Christ, Satan's own weapon, this power of Satan was destroyed. The people of God still have to contend with Satan, but it is preeminently a struggle between Christ and Satan. The Children of Israel stood back and left the conflict with Goliath to be settled by David. So Christians need to rely on Christ if they expect to overcome Satan.

A Book of Symbols.

While the Book of Revelations contains many symbols, it also contains many plain statements of fact which can be readily understood. At the very outset it makes it clear that it is a book of Prophecy, and it declares a blessing upon him that readeth and they that hear the words of this prophet. It announces that every eye shall see Christ coming in the clouds and they also who pierced Him. It is possible that anyone can object to such a great consummation? As we study the Book of Revelation, we find that the force of evil are lead by a great Trinity, the Dragon, that old serpent the Devil, the anti-Christ, and the False Prophet. This Trinity of Evil opposes the divine Trinity of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost.

Speaking in reference to the end of the present age or dispensation, Dr. Ottman stated that there is to be a great final conflict, which will have its centre on the great battleground in Palestine It will be over the return of the Jews to their promised land. In this connection he quoted from Psalm 2, "Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing? The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the Lord, and against His annointed saying, Let us break their bands asunder and cast away their cords from us. He that sitteth in the heaven shall laugh, the Lord shall have them in derision. Then shall He speak until them in His wrath, and vex them in His sore displeasure. Yet have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion." In the Book of Revelation we are given a great picture of this event, in which the Apostle John, in the 19th chapter, says "and I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; and He that sat upon him was called Faithful, and True, and in righteousness He doth judge and make war .... And the armies which were in heaven followed Him upon white horses, clothed in fine linen, white and clean. And out of his mouth groweth a sharp sword, that with it He should smite the nations; and He shall rule them with a rod of iron. .....And I saw the beast and the kings of the earth, and their armies gathered together to make war against him that sat on the horse, and against his army." Here we have a picture of the armies of the anti-Christ ready to make war with Christ. The armies of Christ will no more have to battle than did the Children of Israel in the days of David, for Christ Himself shall overthrow all opposition. Dr. Ottman closed by asking those present to which army they belonged. The great question is, are you for or against God? Everyone should seek, not to hide their stand on this great question, but to be openly on the Lord's side.

To-night Dr. Ottman is to speak on "The Golden Lampstand" and on Wednesday, on "The Lion of Judah." The series of addresses will close Friday with a description of "The New Jerusalem."

LIVES 24 HOURS WITH BROKEN NECK

Fort William Man Finally Succumbs To Fall From Box Car.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., April 19—George Ferguson, 23, Fort William, who either fell or jumped from the top of a box car at Dean Lake, died in Dr. Robb's hospital at Blind River, having lived almost 24 hours with a broken neck. An inquest will be held on Wednesday afternoon.

Ferguson dropped off C.P.R. train No. 17 at Dean Lake and applied to A. Bouillion, foreman of the C.P.R. extra gang for a job, and Ferguson was given a bunk in the bunk car and his supper. Later he went to William Beharriell's store and bought some underwear and some other clothes preparatory to going to work the next morning. At 7.45 o'clock, Roger Trahan, one of the men employed on the job, saw Ferguson on top of a box car from which he either plunged or fell, striking his head on the rails and breaking his neck. Ferguson was rushed to Dr. Robb's Hospital at Blind River.

Sulphur and Molasses.

When Daniel Tucker was a little boy, his mother, who was a careful woman and very conscientious with regard to her children, annually brewed them a fine, large bottle of sulphur and molasses. This was well stirred up and two large spoonfuls were imbibed by each member, for three consecutive days, in three laps, as it were. That is, a trio of days were colored with the concoction, and then one day intervened, this process being repeated until nine full days' doses were taken.

Daniel was not an amiable child. He suffered from what is termed in these days, "temperament," but was called in other years "naughtiness" or, by his paternal parent, "cussedness." He was a "bold, unbiddable child" like the song speaks of, and he refused with temperishness to take the mixture his paternal parent had prepared for him.

Spring is not the time for melancholy thoughts. Regardless of what the poets say, it is a time of gladness and mirth. We therefore do not wish to say anything about the further career of Daniel Tucker, after a commencement so unpromising in youth, that to repeat the rhyme which sprang into being after his demise, at a late date, in fact, quite a while after the time allotted by the Psalmist. His life was blighted by lack of sufficient sulphur and molasses to properly clean up his interior in youth, and his epitaph, serving to give warning to all children who spurn such healthful mixtures, was this:

"Old Dan Tucker was a funny old man,
He washed his face in a frying-pan,
He combed his hair with a wagon-wheel,
And died with a toothache in his heel."

Words Should Fit Users.

Do Not Expect To Make an Impression With Too Large Ones.

Words are often like clothes—either too large or too small. When they do not express the thoughts they are ill fitting, and cannot have the approval of those who hear or read them.

This is often noticed in everyday conversation. Everybody should choose words with care—not too big, like dad's coat on little Willie; nor too small, like daughter's blouse on mother.

A person that uses words which do not convey the exact meaning intended, loses the force of an idea that might have accomplished much had the meaning been plain.

Those who learn to use a dictionary will be surprised at the rapidity with which they advance in learning the most expressive words to use. And the ideal volume for that purpose is the New Universities Dictionary which is now being distributed to newspaper readers on the coupon plan.

"Let the Clark Kitchens Help You"

She Does The Work Of 53 Men

(By Virginia Swain; for NEA Service.)

NEW YORK; Apr. 19.—Ruth Muzzy Conniston is holding down the job of not one man—but 53.

She is the only woman carillon player in America and temporarily the mistress of one of the finest sets of church chimes in the world, the $600,000 bells given to the Park Avenue Baptist church by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in memory of his mother.

Is Weight Reducer.

And she controls 53 bells, each one of which would require a man bell ringer, under the old system of playing chimes, such as obtains in England even to-day.

Her slender feminine hands operate a keyboard of levers connected with bells ranging in weight from twenty pounds to ten tons. The largest bell has a clapper weighing three hundred pounds, but it knows its master—or mistress, rather. When Mrs. Conniston strikes the lowest lever, the huge clapper leaps to obedience.

This job of carillon playing has always been considered too arduous for a woman. Mrs. Conniston admits that it is gruelling work—and an excellent weight reducer. She loses several pounds a month, consistently, on a fattening diet!

Not For All Obese.

But she does not recommend carillon playing to every woman who wants to get thin. Tennis, golf, rolling exercise and a starvation diet are less wearing on the nerves—and the hands, she says.

For despite her rubber gloves with their heavy padding, Mrs. Conniston keeps her hands in a constant state of abrasion, by the impact upon the ball levers. And what a job it is for splinters! They cling to her little fingers as filings cling to a magnet.

But the job has its compensations. High up above Park Avenue, in her little watch-tower alone, Ruth Conniston has the thrilling pleasure of sending her music out through space to all the dwellers of north Manhattan, as a voice of peace and serenity and faith in the midst of bleak materialism.

Goes Over WJZ Radio.

Automobiles almost block the streets below at the hour when the chimes are expected to play. And throughout the city, and the country, for that matter, millions of listeners hear her music on the radio, broadcast at seven o'clock each Sunday evening by WJZ.

This carillon playing offers a wide chance for satisfaction of the ego!

And anybody who has mastered it has an excellent right to that satisfaction. For the carillon musician is strictly "on his own" when he takes up the art. There are practically no precedents, and no music written for the instrument.

Improvises Her Own.

Mrs. Conniston is obliged to improvise her own accompaniment to every hymn she plays. And there are specific problems of composition.

For one thing, the bells can be started but they can not be stopped. Having struck one note, the player must not strike others that will make a discord [illegible] at, until the first note's vibrations [illegible] of the bells.

Then, too, there is the question of overtones. A bell note is not a pure tone. It is compounded of many vibrations above and below the main tone, and these vibrations will interfere with harmony of later chords, unless the player is very skillful.

The best music for the carillon is rich in arpeggios and broken chords, with a strong, simple melody. Here too, the instrument is different from others. The melody is carried in the deep, rich notes of the bass, while the smaller bells higher in the scale ripple out the accompaniment.

Uses Hands and Feet.

The musician uses both hands on the upper keyboard, and both feet on the lower, much as in a pipe organ. But the strenuous movement from side to side, to reach the notes, is combined with the strain of striking them with the exact amount of force needed to get the right effect.

"I feel every tone clear up to my shoulders," Mrs. Conniston explains. "The vibration in my arms is the only check I have on the volume of the notes I am sending out, for I hear my own music very imperfectly, because of [illegible] of the bells.

In the present tower, the bells are scattered on several levels, above and below the little chamber where the player sits. When Mrs. Conniston strikes a high note, the small bell high above her head may be scarcely audible through the walls of the chamber.

Bells Almost Deafen.

But when she strikes the ten-ton bell at the bottom of the scale, the impact from its monstrous bulk, just outside her window almost deafens her.

The levers do not control the bells electrically, but with a mechanism of successive rods, so that Ruth Conniston's hand striking the lowest lever actually moves the clapper of the ten-ton bell.

An organist by vocation, Mrs. Conniston received her bachelor of arts degree at Yale University, and subsequently studied under Louis Vierne, blind organist of Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris.

In addition to her strenuous work on the carillon she is also organist at the Christian Science church next door, and must plan the musical program of both churches to permit her to run from one to the other between numbers.

So that perhaps one should say she holds the job of not 53 men—but 54!

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

"Well, Cherry made some dirty crack—" Flo began, squirming a little uncomfortably in her chair.

Banning did not contest Churchill's objection to the witness' choice of words, but instructed her to stick to an answer to his question.

"Well, Cherry said something like this: 'So this is what you meant by saying you was out of town! I admire your taste in girl friends'!" Flo admitted, flushing.

"Then what happened, Miss Ripley?" Banning urged her on.

"Well, I—I wouldn't let her get away with nothing like that and I—I pulled her red hair for her. Bob Hathaway tried to get her off the floor, but I held on to her hair and she fought back, and then Chris yelled out, 'Cheese it, Flo! There's a cop at the door!' and in a minute the cop pinched us both, me and Cherry, for disturbing the peace, and took us all—"

"Were you all under arrest?"

"No, just me and Cherry. We was the only ones fighting," Flo grinned.

"Now, Miss Ripley, this fight between yourself and Miss Cherry was caused by what?" Banning asked.

"Because she was jealous of me being out with Chris, like I told you!" Flo stated, with a vindictive glare at Cherry, who was regarding her with blazing eyes.

"Your witness," Banning waved toward Churchill, who, nothing loath, jumped to his feet and towered over the pert little flapper in the big witness chair.

"Miss Ripley, where did you live before you moved to the West Tenth street address?" was Churchill's first question.

"I lived on North Second Street," she confessed.

All who heard appreciated what stamp the witness had put upon herself by admitting residence in this unsavory section.

"Is it not true that you attacked Miss Cherry because she referred to your place of residence, and not because she was jealous of your association with Mr. Wiley?" Churchill asked sternly.

"She taunted me with living in North Second Street," Flo admitted sullenly.

"Now, Miss Ripley, you referred to Sam Lee's place as 'Sam Lee's Chop Suey Joint.' Is that the correct name of the place?"

"It's called 'Sam Lee's Oriental Palace'," Flo answered sulkily.

"It's a respectable dining and dancing place, popular with young people of good families, is it not?" Churchill persisted.

"Yeah, I guess so," Flo admitted.

"That is all, Miss Ripley" Churchill dismissed the witness contemptuously.

But Banning was not through with her.

"Miss Ripley, do you recall the evening of Monday, September 26, the evening before the events you have just related?"

"Sure I do. I was at Tony's speakeasy, on Pearl Street, with a boy friend of mine." Flo revived under the more kindly treatment of the district attorney.

"Did you see this defendant there that evening?"

"Sure I did. She was there with Chris Wiley, in a booth in the back room, drinking—"

"That's a lie!" Cherry cried out involuntarily, and again the courtroom was thrown into a turmoil.

After Judge Grimshaw had sternly admonished Cherry on the etiquet of a defendant on trial for her life, Banning was allowed to proceed with his examination of the witness, Flo Ripley.

"Describe the scene which you witnessed in the cafe which you have designated as Tony's 'speakeasy'," Banning instructed his witness.

"Cherry and Chris had a big bottle of red wine on the table between them," Flo went on, with a glance of black hatred toward Cherry, who had dared to call her a liar in the courtroom. "Tony makes you drink the 'red ink'—"

"Red ink?" Banning inquired with a smile.

"Red wine," Flo amended with a toss of her head. "Anyway, he makes you drink it out of teacups, and I seen Cherry drinking, and Chris and she toasted each other and I seen Chris lean over and kiss Cherry on the tip of her nose—"

A ripple of delighted laughter interrupted the witness and drew down the ire of the judge, but he did not carry out his threat to clear the courtroom of spectators.

When Banning dismissed the witness, Churchill made her keep her seat for further cross-examination.

"Miss Ripley, you have sworn that Miss Cherry was drinking wine. Did you actually see the wine in the cup which the defendant raised to her lips in the toast you have just referred to?"

"I wasn't close enough to actually see it," Flo admitted sullenly. "but—"

"Just a minute! You are a very close observer, are you not, Miss Ripley?"

"I got two eyes and I use 'em," the girl answered flippantly.

"What were Mr. Wiley and Miss Cherry eating, Miss Ripley?" Churchill persisted.

"I don't know. I didn't notice."

"What did Miss Cherry wear on this occasion?"

"I—I don't know. I ain't sure," Flo confessed sulkily.

"Had you been drinking any of this alleged red wine, Miss Ripley?"

"Sure I had," the girl retorted defiantly.

"That is all, Miss Ripley."

When the witness left the stand she paused a moment before the counsel table at which Cherry sat, her small face deathly white, her eyes blazing with scorn. And Flo Ripley placed one over-manicured hand upon her hip, threw back her head and surveyed Cherry with black eyes gleaming with such venomous hatred that Banning himself took her by the arm and hustled her away from the table.

"Call Richard Rowan!" Banning ordered curtly, his face very red and scowling.

"The boy who waited on Chris at the garage when we were eloping," Cherry whispered to Faith, as a slight, short blonde youth took the oath blushingly.

After preliminary questions, Banning asked: "Your occupation?"

"I'm an automobile mechanic, employed by the Safety First Garage, corner of Chauncey and West Eighth Street," Rowan replied.

"You were working there the evening of Thanksgiving Day, November 25?" Banning asked.

"Yes, sir." The boy fidgeted nervously in the big chair.

"Now, Mr. Rowan, will you tell the jury just when and under what circumstances you saw this defendant on the evening of Thanksgiving Day, if you did see her?"

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Jane Regny of Paris uses snakeskin to trim this spring coat, using the trimming as she might another season have used wide silk braid.

There may be something quite significant in the fashion for snakeskin. Women are—or many of them like to think they are—throwing off a lot of century-old traditions. They like to show now that a lot of things they have long supposed to be and to do haven't been at all essential to their natures. It isn't really necessary for them to faint at the sight of danger or scream at the sight of a mouse or go into a nervous chill at the thought of a snake. And just to show the world how they have got over their supposed innate fear of snakes they are wearing snakeskin round their necks, on their frocks and wraps and carrying it in their hands in the form of handbags. No son of Eve could do more.

Snakeskin can now be bought by the strip at practically all the trimming counters and the fact that some of this is many inches wide and comes in strips several yards long leads you to infer that the reptile from whom the skin was taken was a creature of terrifying size. Briand of Paris has given us one of the most interesting snake-skin-trimmed coats. Rather narrow skins are used on each sleeve and one on each side of the front of the coat, besides long strips that edge the front like a braid. On each sleeve the strip of snakeskin is so applied as to give the outlines of a snake coiled with head held up ready to strike, and the same device in snakeskin is arranged on each side of the coat.

Usually snakeskin serves for the trimming or the making of bags and trimming of other accessories—umbrella handles, shoes, gloves, etc. But sometimes an entire jacket is made of it. There are short coats or jackets made entirely of python skin trimmed with a little green velvet. Cobra is another skin that is often spoken of when just snakeskin is not a definite enough adjective. If the fashion continues we shall all have to be able to tell one sort of snakeskin from another—just as we now know mink from lamb, and seal from ermine.

SHE "NECKS" A ROBBER

PEORIA, Ill., April 19.—Hearing a noise in her kitchen, Mrs. George Thomas investigated, found a burglar in the act of crawling through a window. She swung a broom in righteous wrath, caused him to withdraw his hands—but not his head. For the window came down on his neck and held him fast while his own agonized cries brought neighbors and police.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

Except in the early morning hours the planetary influences of this day are sinister, astrologers declare.

Desk work of any sort is fairly well directed under this rule of the stars. It is a lucky day for paying one's debts.

Women appear to be subject to a malefic rule of the stars, making for apparent loss of public confidence where politics are concerned.

Love affairs are likely to be sadly disturbed while this configuration prevails, and it is well not to become engaged under this sway.

This is read as an unfavorable wedding day, making for dictation from parents and lack of financial success through independent efforts.

There is rather a forbidding sign for theatres and many changes in management and in the character of plays offered are indicated.

Romantic dramas again are to enjoy popularity, for there is to be a renaissance of poetic sentiment, it is foretold.

Reactionary influences, so often forecast in the last few weeks, are to be strongly evident in the summer when the dainty, modest maid is to be again fashionable and popular.

Many marriages will take place in the next few months in which many of the planetary influences strong in 1917 will be active.

Real life dramas are to be numerous for events are to try men's courage and to test their power to defend national ideals, it is prophesied.

Extreme care to preserve the best sanitary conditions in homes and cities is enjoined by those who have real vision of the future.

Science is now subject to the most favorable sway, which promises wonders in the way of discoveries and inventions—things not even dreamed of in the past.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a lucky year with the indication of money through literary work or inventions.

Children born on this day probably will have splendid mental attributes. Lawyers and clergymen are born under this sign.

PAGEANT GIVEN AT CAMPBELLFORD

Story of Salvation Given By Young People in S. A. Temple.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 18. — The pageant story of Salvation entitled 'The Greater Love," at the Salvation Army on Friday evening by the young people, was a decided success. All those taking part did well and those present were enabled to grasp clearly the great story of man's salvation as enacted by the different groups representing the different prophecies of the coming Messiah.

Brother R. Parks of Belleville gave the address, revealing very clearly the meaning of the Cross. Lieut. Matthews, who recently left here to take charge of Salvation Army work in Haliburton, was also present and recited very ably "The Carpenter and the Cross," a story of Christ in the workshop who recognizes in the Cross He carried to Calvary, wood He had handled in His workshop. The captain would like to convey his thanks and appreciation to all who took part and assisted in making the evening a success.

The following is the programme: Song: "When I Survey," Congregation. Prayer. Duet, "What is Love of Jesus to Me," Capt. Wright and Mr. R. Parks. Recitation, "The Carpenter and the Cross," Lieut. Symbolism, Through many incidents in the lives of God's chosen people, the great Salvation Plan has been foreshadowed. Thus the verity of Christ and his mission has been confirmed in the minds of his people, in that Christ fulfils all types and symbols. The Passover. Song, "Not all the Blood," Congregation. Isaac's Sacrifice. Solo, "Love's Best," Mr. R. Parks. The Brazen Serpent. Song, "There is Life for a Look." Advance On Wall Street When Credit Is Easier

NEW YORK, April 19 (Canadian Press). — Easier credit conditions provided the ground work for another advance in prices in today's stock market after an early period of irregularity. A brisk recovery in the oils, several of which touched new low levels for the year earlier in the session, was one of the day's features. United States Steel Common sold off at the opening on the inevitable "selling on the good news," following Chairman Gary's intimation that the new stock would be placed on a $7 annual basis, but it was headed upward again by early afternoon. Active buying of General Motors and Yellow Truck, one of its subsidiaries, featured the motor group.

ONE CASE HEARD SOON SETTLED

Non-Jury Session of Supreme Court Lasts Very Few Minutes.

SENTENCE PASSED.

There was only one case on the docket for the non-jury sitting of the Supreme Court of the County of Peterborough at the Court House this afternoon before His Honor, Mr. Justice Fisher of Toronto, and that was dealt with in a very few minutes.

Eli Thomas Lamb, whose whereabouts is unknown was committed to one month's imprisonment in the county jail of the County of Hastings for contempt of court.

Mr. Justice Fisher congratulated those present on the absence of crime in the county, but said he would not have minded spending a few days in Peterborough at this time of year.

CANADA TO HAVE MODERN PLANES

Provision in Estimates For Purchase of Up-to-date Machines.

FOR TRAINING USE.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 19. — Replacement of a few obsolete war type aircraft by a fleet of four modern fighting planes to familiarize officers of the Canadian Air Force in the handling of modern planes is provided for in the estimates passed recently by the Canadian Parliament, according to the Department of National Defence. The air service estimates passed by the House totalled $3,892,293. Of this $1,669,694 was for military training and operation and $2,222,593 for civil government operation and civil aviation.

Besides providing for the new planes, the former estimates will enable the training on a small scale of a reserve of officers and air staff.

The estimates covering civil aviation consist mostly of forest and survey services for other government departments.

The programme includes this year, air patrols for fire detection and suppression of over 70 millon acres of forested lands in Eastern and Northern Manitoba and Northern Saskatchewan, and for fire detection patrols of over 3 1-4 million acres in the forest reserves in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains in Western Alberta.

The air survey programme includes work in every province in the Dominion. The growing importance of this feature of aviation has been recognized and the development of the resources of the North Country are largely dependent on good maps being made available of remote districts, now becoming of great importance through their mineral or forest wealth.

A Statement Regarding the Production and Supply of Gas in the City.

Apparently, arising out of the recent negotiations between the Corporation and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, a rumor has been circulated that the Commission intends to close down the Peterborough Gas Plant.

This utility has been operated without loss, and the revenue has been sufficient to provide the necessary reserves for renewing the plant. Therefore, the Commission has no good reason for closing down this Utility, nor does it intend to do so. The Commission has, however, endeavored to dispose of the property to the Corporation in accordance with the general policy in respect to the disposal of all utilities within the municipalities on the Central Ontario System.—(Advt.).

NOVA SCOTIA HAS LOW DEATH RATE

Figures for 1926 Show Lowest Infant Mortality in History.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 12.—During 1926, according to the official statistics just issued, Nova Scotia had the lowest infant death rate in the history of the province.

Infant mortality was at the rate of less than 70 per thousand births, with a total for the year of 784 deaths. The year preceding, with approximately the same number of births, 914 deaths were reported and the improvement is due in very large measure to the intensive educational work which has been carried on by the Department of Health with the assistance of volunteer organizations.

Considering the fact that, little more than a decade ago, years in which Nova Scotia lost from 1,400 to 1,500 infants were not unusual, the improvement is exceptional.

Although 1,000,000 miners have returned to work in England there still are more than 1,000,000 unemployed there.

Peter Robinson I.O.D.E. Dance

The Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. were hostesses at a very enjoyable dance and bridge party held in the hall of the Canadian Legion last evening. Although the attendance was not overly large, only about two hundred and twenty-five people attending, everyone appeared to have a very good time. Music for dancing was supplied by Burton E. Till's six-piece orchestra from Toronto. The decorations were very attractive, with quantities of paper streamers and novelties in the Easter mode. Long icicles of fluted pale pink, green and mauve hung over the electroliers, with tassels as a finish, and streamers of mauve and green paper crossed the room. A wall molding was formed of Easter paper with bunnies on its green surface, and the windows were curtained with pink and green and ornamented with boxes of artificial flowers. The orchestra stand, outlined with large colored light globes, was decorated with tall standards of bright artificial blooms and a profusion of pussy willows. Curtains of shredded colored paper hung at the entrances. Upstairs, bridge tables were arranged, sixteen tables being played, with tally cards of little yellow novelties, and colored candles and daffodils on the refreshment tables.

Patronesses present were Mrs. J. McNabb, Regent of the Chapter; Mesdames J. Robinson, E. B. Clegg, R. Cottrell, T. W. H. Young, C. S. Stapleton, F. Hooper. Mrs. W. Belleghem was in charge of refreshments; Mrs. F. Hooper of the dance; Miss Mayme Montgomery of the decorations, and Mrs. D. Loucks and Miss H. Buller of the cards. Messrs. J. McNabb and J. K. Hughes assisted at the door. Prizes for bridge were won by Mrs. J. Chadwick and C. S. Browne, with the "lucky number" prize going to Mrs. E. Holmes.

Among those noticed on the dancing floor and at the bridge tables were: Dr. and Mrs. Seymour of Orillia, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McClelland, Mr. and Mrs. H. SICK MAN OFFERS $50 FOR STOMACH MEDICINE

"I was a sufferer from indigestion until a druggist advised me to try Adlerika. The results have been wonderful. I eat anything, and can do a big day's work without feeling tired. I wouldn't be without Adlerika if it cost $50 a bottle."—R. C. Culver.

Unlike most medicines, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move daily, you will be surprised how much more old matter Adlerika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Adlerika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara, and other gas expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a disease due to modern ways of living and which is often the true cause of sour stomach, gas bloating, nervous dyspepsia and restless sleep.

Doctors Praise Adlerika.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. C. Curl: "I prescribe Adlerika with highly satisfactory results."

RIVER THREATENS ENTIRE VALLEY

Sweeps Through Mile Wide Break in Bank of Bayou.

NEAR MISSISSIPPI.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 19. — Canadian Press. — The entire St. Francis River basin of southeast Missouri, and northeast Arkansas appeared doomed to inundation when St. John's bayou levee, eight miles north of New Madrid, Mo., broke under pressure of the floods to-day.

The breach in the levee was reported a mile wide, which would permit the overflow from the Mississippi river at Dorena crevasse, farther north, to sweep toward Big lake. The on-rushing waters would sweep down into Little River Valley, and through that basin into the St. Francis below.

The main Mississippi River levee, just below Madrid, still held to-day, but river men were dubious of its standing through the day.

AN EASY WAY TO LOSE FAT

The right way to lose fat is by combating the cause. By correcting a gland which largely controls nutrition. No abnormal exercise or diet is required. Simply take Marmola Prescription Tablets, four a day, until proper results are accomplished.

Marmola is the scientific method. It has been used for 19 years. The normal figures that it brings are seen in every circle now. And the use has grown, through those results, to very large proportions.

All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Each box contains a pamphlet which explains the results you see and feel. Go get it now. Learn what others know about it. You will be delighted.

discuss the pasteurization of milk with the various Boards of Health in their districts. At present, said Dr. Sutton, there has not been found any typhoid germs in the milk supply of this city. He gave a list of cities and towns in Ontario where 100 per cent. of the milk is pasteurized. Mayor Holloway said he was surprised to know that there were many cities and towns in Ontario smaller than Peterborough where all the milk had to be pasteurized.

Dr. Young asked if it were not true that pasteurization takes certain vitamines out of the milk which are very valuable as a source of food supply. Dr. Sutton admitted that it does, but he said that orange juice would make up for this deficency and at present it has been found that pasteurization of the milk during the summer still leaves plenty of these vitamines. During the winter these vitamines are very scarce in the milk and other substitutes are necessary.

Dr. Young spoke very favorably of the pasteurization plan, but he thought it was a provincial affair and ought to be enforced all over the province. At present there are two pasteurization concerns in the city, and if all the milk were to be pasteurized it would require two more. The Board decided to go into this matter more thoroughly at a future meeting.

ceived in London, but that when it does arrive, the British will immediately act upon it. There will undoubtedly be considerable difficulty in securing any satisfaction because of the greatly perturbed state of the country in which the outrages occurred, the district being independent of both the Northern and Southern Chinese governments. However, the British have consuls at Yunnan Fu and Tengyueh, who are in a position to lodge official protests with General Lang Chi Yao, the governor of Yunnan Province, demanding that the assassins of Rev. Morris Slichter of Toronto and his daughter be apprehended, and brought to justice.

It is pointed out that while the authorities of Yunnan province have so far maintained good relations with the French, the latter recently sent reinforcements there.

CONDITIONS BAD IN KIASIANG

SHANGHAI, April 19. — Since Kiasiang province fell into the hands of the extremists, the situation is steadily becoming worse, according to letters received by the Asiatic Petroleum Company from their agents in that territory.

The extremists, they state, "drag through the streets all they dislike, many victims having their ankles tied with ropes," and circulate photographs of all sorts of indignities to which they subject their victims.

Reports from Nanking to-day tended to confirm the establishment of a new government under the auspices of General Chiang Kai Shek, commander of the Cantonese armies. The principles which he enunciates include the restoration of Conservative Chinese ideals in the Cantonese political party, prosecution of the revolution for the purpose of rallying all Chinese under the Nationalist flag, and cancellation of unequal treaties, and restoration of concessions to the Chinese through negotiations.

Chiang declares schemers, militarists, imperialists and Communists must be driven out of the country.

to $4,690.00. Mr. Costello promised to get in touch with sporting people outside the city, and, if possible, secure the attendance of several athletes who were contesting in the finals for the overseas Olympic.

On motion of Lieut.-Col. Ackerman, the general secretary was instructed, for the Executive, to appeal to the Government military authorities at Kingston for at least sixty rounds of blank ammunition for the local battery of artillery, the same, if supplied, to be let off with a distinct bang from the top of Armour's Hill, during the morning of the first day.

Sunday Observance.

The meeting was prolific in suggestions. Sunday observance was brought to attention. On motion from Messrs. Costello and Rogers, it was decided that the Music Committee get busy on that part of its duties and arrange for a gathering of the massed bands, with the Male Voice Choir, at Victoria Park on Sunday evening, after the regular church services, to give sacred music and works suitable to the day and occasion.

The water sports found an earnest advocate in Mr. Rogers. In keeping with other suggestions, he wants something big. There is both the water and the contestants, and if reasonable inducements are offered we could draw together a field of effort that would draw a huge crowd. The Music Committee announced that if the Trent Canal authorities would bring the Bessie Butler (the steamer, not the lady) and haul a scow and place it in the lake at a convenient point, the bands could be held on board and furnish music while the sports went forward.

Gradually the several suggestions were brought to an outline and one could see what was proposed. In the matter of the pageant it was definitely decided that this should be put on only on the evenings of the first two days, the effects being more agreeable and very much enhanced under the electric lights than if put on under the light of day. The Women's Council will have consultations with those who offer to bring the pageant this week and will then be able to present a concrete idea of the cost of this feature.

CANADA IS A NATION.

Canada is a nation, some day in the near future she will be a great nation, and it is within the range of possibilities that she will be the greatest unit of the British Empire. It is a wonderful country, a country, of unlimited resources and magnificent possibilities. As a nation she celebrates her sixtieth anniversary this year. What better way for you to celebrate it then by taking a trip "Across Canada and Back", and seeing for yourself the reason for this optimism about the future. Prof. Laird of Macdonald College, Que., has arranged with the Canadian Pacific Railway for a special train of sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 25th, cross the continent and get back to Toronto on August 15th, and in that space of 21 days to see all the principal cities, and the noted beauty spots of the West. After Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and the principal cities of the prairies, there is the magnificence of the Rockies, and those famous beauty spots, Banff, Lake Louise, Emerald Lake and Yoho Valley. Then there are two wonderful motor drives, from Banff to Windermere 104 miles, and from Field to Lake Louise 40 miles. The Kootenay district of which Nelson is the capital, and Okanagan Valley fruit country in which is located Penticton will be visited, and Vancouver and Victoria, those rapidly growing Pacific Coast cities, will delight everyone.

An illustrated booklet descriptive of the tour is now ready, and can be had on application to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, or to Prof Sinclair Laird, Macdonald College P.O., Que.

Newark Defeated By Leafs in Overtime Game

LEAFS NOSE OUT NEWARK BEARS IN OVERTIME

Sorrel Allows Seven Hits in Ten Inning Pitching Duel.

SMACK ORIOLES.

Rochester Defeats Jersey City in Tight Game 2-1.

NEW YORK, April 19. Canadian Press. — Toronto Leafs nosed out the Newark Bears in a ten inning pitching duel between Sorrell and Swaney yesterday 3 to 2. Toronto evened the score at 1 apiece in the 7th, but Swaney tightened and held up until the tenth when the Leafs squeezed through a couple. Newark had to do with a single tally in their half. Swaney yielded ten hits and Sorrell seven.

Catastrophe stalked the Orioles playing at Baltimore against the Bisons. The Buffalo team smacked the offerings of three Orioles to all corners and made 19 hits for a 19 to 1 victory. Thomas, though wild, held the locals to five hits and fanned six.

Rochester and Jersey City played a tight game at the latters park, the visitors copping the game 2 to 1. Rochester was behind till the ninth, when two runs slid across. McLaughlin pitched fine ball, holding the Skeeters to four hits.

Stoudt held Reading to four hits, and Syracuse evened the series at Reading with a four to two victory. Allen Russel, former Washington American gave the game away with his wildness. He walked seven.

OLYMPIC STADIUM IS BEING BUILT

First Record of Ninth Olympic Has Already Been Established.

AMSTERDAM, April 19. — The first record of the Ninth Olympic has already been established.

In a little more than four months the foundation for the stadium has been laid. It has been a tremendous task and involved the sinking of 4425 piles, or "Hollanders." The speed with which this has been done has set a new mark for pile sinking.

The concrete foundations are nearly finished and the subways are now under construction. The surface for the playing grounds has now arrived and with the coming of mild weather the grass will be sowed. The engineers are confident that the grounds will be ready and in fine shape for the games next year.

Reports that the ground of the stadium is sinking are flatly denied by the Dutch Olympic committee.

The committee plans to build an Olympic village near the stadium to house competitors who do not wish to make other arrangements. The village at Paris games in 1924 was not very acceptable to the competitors, but the Dutch committee plans a village on a more extensive scale.

Several countries, notably England, are debating the plan of lodging their competitors on vessels.

You'd Be SURPRISED!

BY BILLY EVANS

Fate plays some mighty peculiar pranks in the world of sports. Often, literally overnight, some athlete jumps into fame, only to have his light snuffed out almost as quickly.

Consider the case of Eddie "Knockout" Roberts, welterweight fighter, hailing from the State of Washington.

On December 4th, 1926, Roberts, little known except on the coast, met Joe Dundee, the boy who had stopped Mickey Walker and generally considered the one fighter sure to beat Champion Pete Latzo, whenever he got a chance at the title. Dundee took the bout merely as expense money, to cover a trip he and his manager made to the coast as a sort of a vacation.

Roberts, to the astonishment of Dundee, walked right out of his corner, hit Dundee on the button and punished him so badly in the first round that the referee stopped the bout. Dundee has always insisted he could have weathered the stormy as well as fatal first session.

That one punch made Roberts a national figure, a pugilistic big shot. It got him a return bout with Dundee and real money. He lost a close decision that didn't hurt his prestige any.

On April 4, 1927, just four months after Roberts became famous by his Joe Dundee knockout, he met Al Mello, of Boston. Roberts probably gave Mello no more thought than did Dundee, Roberts.

Almost in the same manner as Roberts stopped Dundee, did Mello upset the ring dope by knocking out Roberts. The bout lasted just two minutes, washing away Roberts' fame as quickly as it had arrived.

RALLY IN 7TH CHECKS GIANTS

Braves Defeated 11-10 in 11 Innings Battle With Giants.

HORNSBY DOUBLES.

NEW YORK, April 19 (Canadian Press).—The New York Giants had to stagger through 11 innings yesterday to beat the Braves 11 to 10 at Boston. A six-run rally in the seventh cut into an extensive Giant lead. The New Yorkers went ahead in the ninth and tenth by a single run, only to have Boston tie it up again. Doubles by Hornsby and Farrell brought in the deciding run.

At Chicago, Lee Meadows let the home team down with four scattered hits, while the Pirates battered Tony Kaufmann off the mound and grabbed the third game of the series, 9 to 1. Hartnett's home run gave Chicago its only tally.

Sixth Defeat

The Brooklyn Robins were "birds with busted pinions" yesterday after their sixth straight defeat since the season started. The Phillies, playing on their own little diamond, beat them 7 to 3. Philadelphia registered five runs in the third frame, Cy Williams poling out his second homer of the season with two on base. Meusel hit a home with two on in the ninth.

The St. Louis and Cincinnati contest was postponed because of rain.

SOCCER MEN SIGN FORMS

Legal Sheets Were Distributed To Teams Last Evening.

GAME SATURDAY.

Last evening at the meeting of the local soccer association the secretary, John Ward, distributed the legal "signing on" forms to the club representatives so that they may be able to complete their quota of sixteen players to each team—no club is allowed to sign on any more than the specified number.

Up-to-date, there are only three teams entered while the executive anticipate a fourth eleven before the season opens officially, within the next two weeks, with a league match.

Saturday's Game

Arrangements were made to play a game on Saturday afternoon between a chosen eleven that would represent the C.P.C. against the Massey on King Edward Park. Kick off at three o'clock and John Ward will referee.

Players Invited

Any player who is anxious to get associated with a team is requested to notify John Ward at their earliest convenience.

Great credit due to the local executive; President Vincent Stewart, Vice President Hodgson and John Ward, secretary, for the manner in which they worked on King Edward Park in digging holes for the goal post boxes to place the regulation uprights in a substantial position for the season. The association belong to the new equipment which will do away with many an argument as to who belonged to the goal posts. The goal nets are also the legitimate goods of the local association. A large number of ruts on the field were filled in with earth and the playing pitch looks very good. Another great improvement was the tree trimming of the north side which does away with a serious obstruction that spoiled many a game.

MILES FAVORED RACING CLASSIC

Youthful Nova Scotia Runner Expected To Repeat at Marathon.

DEMAR SECOND.

BOSTON, April 19. — The largest field in the history of the Boston Athletic Association's annual marathon, was assured last night for the 31st renewal of the 26 mile, 385 yard grind from Hopkinton to Boston tomorrow. Half a dozen entries late yesterday boosted the total number of starters to 195, two more than record field of 1910, with the possibility of a few more additions before the starter's gun barks at 12 noon to-day.

Chief among the last minute entries was William Agee, who finished well up in the running at Baltimore a few weeks ago.

Six former winners of the famous distance classic are again competing for first place, which this year carries with it the National A.A.C. title. They include the two top favorites, youthful John C. Miles, Nova Scotia mine boy, and grocery clerk, who last year ran the fastest field in the history of the run into the ground in record breaking time, and Clarence Demar, four times winner of the event.

The course was re-measured this year by expert surveyors and the distance is as accurate now as science can make it. The surveying added 176 yards to the old distance covered, and the winner this year will be credited with the record no matter what time the watches give him.

Despite the added distance, Miles has said he expects to clip 40 seconds from his record of last year, when he came home in 2 hours, 25 minutes and 40 2-5 seconds, and Demar conceded him the race if he does it.

Ideal Weather.

For the first time in half a dozen years the runners face the prospect of free action in comparatively warm air, rather than the binding chill of a frigid New England spring which has greeted the field in previous years.

Weather conditions were ideal today and the weather bureau saw no change in prospect for the next 48 hours.

Most of the runners were quartered last night at or near the Tebeau farm in Hopkinton, from whence the start is made to-day. The last details were completed last night from the instruction of starters, handlers, checkers, timers and assistants to the police assignments for handling the half million to a million spectators, who will line the course from start to the intown finish in front of the B.A.A. clubhouse.

RED SOX HELD TO THREE HITS

Yanks Defeat Boston For Third Stranght Time—Score 3-0.

SENATORS WIN.

NEW YORK, April 19 (Canadian Press)—Continuing to strike the ball to many parts of the field, the Yankees defeated the Boston Red Sox for the third straight time here yesterday, 3 to 0. Reuther held the visitors to three hits. New York hasn't lost a game this season.

At St. Louis yesterday Blankenship, White Sox pitcher, did his best by driving in all four of his team's runs with a double in the fifth and a homer in the seventh. But it was no good, because Walter Gerber, Brown shortstop, singled in the eighth and brought in the fifth run for the home team. Gerber has three errors chalked up against him. Schang and Gaston knocked home runs.

Washington took the third game of the series at the Capital yesterday, defeating the Athletics 4 to 0. Thurston hurled steadily in front of strong support.

Pitchers' Battle

Cleveland defeated Detroit yesterday, 3 to 2 in a pitchers' battle between Levsen and Holloway. Cleveland took the lead in the eighth but Levsen weakened in the ninth after he had allowed three hits and Detroit had scored one run with two out and two on bases. Buckeye went to the box and nipped the rally.

INDIAN RUNNER MAKES FINE TIME

Youth Covers Lakefield-Peterborough Journey in 39 Minutes.

An Indian runner, about eighteen years of age, yesterday ran from Lakefield to Peterboro, a distance of nearly ten miles, in 39 minutes. Louis Yeotes, tobacconist on George Street, is ready to stand behind the boy, and after proper training, if he makes good, will send him to some of the large meets this year, as a representative of Peterboro.

By all appearances, Mr. Yeotes told The Examiner to-day, the boy will be able to smash the record of the great Greek runner, Fili Peters. The name of the runner is withheld for certain reasons at the present time, but to-morrow night at 5.30, on the Exhibition Grounds track, the boy will give a demonstration of his skill. Mr. Yeotes invites the public to see the boy perform, and he suggests that they do so as it will mean quite an honor for Peterboro if the runner makes good, and he should be given plenty of encouragement.

DEMAR WINS BOSTON RACE

Veteran Melrose Man Scores Fifth Victory—Time 240.22 1-5.

MILES QUITS EARLY.

BOSTON, Mass., April 19 (Canadian Press)—Clarence Demar, of Melrose, veteran of the long road, won the B. A. A. marathon, carrying the American championship, today for the fifth time. His time was 2:40:22 1-5.

Johnny Miles' father and mother arrived at the Boston A. A. clubhouse at about 2:15, expecting to see their son come in at the head of the pack. They were surprised to hear that the Nova Scotian had dropped out early in the race.

Demar's stamina, carried him through the intense heat when scores of younger men dropped out. Miles, who won in record time last year, succumbed to heat in Framingham, little over five miles from the start. At the end the Melrose winner had enough reserve to stage a genuine sprint for the finish.

His time sets anew record for the newly measured course, which is now the full marathon distance of 26 miles, 385 yards. Miles' record of 2.25.40 2-5 last year was made over a course 176 yards shorter.

Karl Koski of the Finnish-American A.C., New York, finished second in 2.44.41.

Bill Kennedy, Portchester, N.Y., bricklayer, who won the marathon in 1917, was third in 2.51.58. Clifford Bricker, Y.M.C.A., Galt, Ont., finished 4th in 3.00.54; and Carl Linder, Boston A.A., 5th in 3.02.21.

Under a summer sun with a temperature close to 80, the field of runners in the 31st annual American Marathon of the Boston A.A.A. got away from the mark in Hopkinton at noon. Out of the record breaking entry list of 195 there were 159 who actually started on the run of 26 miles, 385 yards to Boston.

A light southwest breeze favored the runners. Johnny Miles of Sydney Mines, N.S., last year's winner, and Clarence Demar of Melrose, the veteran who has won the event four times, were bunched with the rest as they got away. An immense crowd lined the road. Demar, taking the lead earlier in the race than is his custom, went out ahead at the South Framingham railroad station, about five miles from the start. Closely grouped behind him were David Fagerlund, New York, Clifford Bricker, Galt, Ont., Miles, and James Henigan, Dorchester, in that order. Demar's time to this point was 32.17 3-5.

Canada's chance of winning the race dwindled shortly after the start of the race to-day when Johnny Miles of Sydney Mines, N. S., who won the race last year, dropped out after passing Framingham, five miles from the starting line. At the nine mile mark Clifford Bricker of Galt, Ontario, was running fifth, a quarter of a mile behind the leaders, Clarence Demar and James Henigan.

J. W. Watson, of 446 George Street, who is one of the largest retail tire dealers in Eastern Ontario, has had a very handy little map of the County of Peterborough printed for the convenience of his customers.

The map will be found very valuable for those who wish to go into the northern parts of the county for the summer. The main roads are all well designated and should be easily followed by those who are not familiar with them.

There is also a small map of this part of Central Ontario showing main roads from Startford in the West to Prescott and Ottawa in the East and North Bay in the North. The distance from Peterborough to the main points in Eastern Ontario is also given in a small table. The maps were drawn by F. T. Webster, O.L.S.

PRETTY PRODUCTION HAS BEEN ARRANGED

Cinderella, Comic Operetta, Being Presented To-morrow Night.

"Cinderella," the three-act comic operetta which will be presented to-morrow evening at the Grand Opera House, under the direction of Mrs. A. A. Perrin, and the auspices of the Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League, promises to be a very colorful and pretty production. Arrangements are being made to present this delightful old fairy tale with an eye to beauty and charm in its setting and costuming, the latter being particularly pleasing in the varied pastel tints and gorgeous materials used in the gowning of the various choruses and of the principal parts. Even the coach and steed of the ill-used daughter who charms the attention of the Prince are reproduced, and the musical accompaniment to the various scenes is one of the out standing features of the production.

SEPARATE SCHOOL CASE TO BE HEARD

Supreme Court of Canada To Hear High School Tax Dispute.

OTTAWA, April 19 (Canadian Press).—The Supreme Court of Canada will to-morrow hear a case which challenges the validity of a section of the Ontario Education Act and asks to have them set aside as ultra vires. It challenges the authority of the Ontario Legislature to tax supporters of Ontario separate schools for the maintenance of continuation schools, collegiate institutes, and high schools not established or conducted by board of trustees of Roman Cathalic separate schools.

The case arose on the petition of right presented by the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School for school section number 2, of Tiny, Simcoe County, Ontario, on behalf of themselves and other boards of trustees of separate schools in Ontario.

Some Milk-Borne Epidemics in Canada

In Montreal in September and October of 1922 thirty-three cases of typhoid fever among which were three deaths, resulted from use of milk from a shipper who was supposed to be suffering from Grippe, but on investigation proved to be suffering from typhoid fever. Again in January, 1924, sixteen cases with two deaths resulted from a milkman adding polluted water to the milk. In Quebec City in 1924, eight cases resulted from a producer having two cases of typhoid fever in his home.

In Vineland, Ontario, in 1921, twenty cases of typhoid fever were traced directly to a milk supply. In Hanover in 1923, forty-six cases with four deaths, and in Winnipeg in 1912, ninety-two cases with seven deaths were all traced directly to the milk supply.

Winnipeg has been singularly unfortunate as regards milk-borne typhoid fever, as epidemics of this disease have been traced to the milk supply in 1916, 1919, 1922 and 1925. Perhaps the saddest experience of all occurred in Regina College, in Regina, Saskatchewan, in 1920, where eighty-three cases with nine deaths occurred, although certain precautions had been taken to ensure a fairly clean supply. The dairyman contracted typhoid fever and before his case was diagnosed he had infected at least eighty-three of the students in the college.

The aforesaid dangers of infection through milk are accentuated by the fact that most of these disease-producing organisms multiply rapidly in cow's milk at the temperature of a living room. This is especially true of the typhoid germ.

MANY ARE KILLED AND INJURED WHEN SERIES OF TORNADOES SWEEP OVER CENTRAL ILLINOIS

Actual Count Uncertain, But Believed Figures Will Go Higher.

WIRES DOWN.

School Children Reported To Be Worst Sufferers of Storm.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 20.—(Canadian Press). — Tearing a straight line through six Central Illinois counties, a series of tornadoes and line squalls yesterday afternoon brought death to upwards of two score persons, injury to two hundred others and left scores in a dozen communities homeless.

Uncertainty colored all reports and gave rise to belief that further reports may send the fatality and injury figures higher, or eliminate some names from the list of dead.

Where damage was heaviest wires are down and definite reports are available only from those who are penetrating the territory over tree-strewn and water-soaked roads by horse and wagon.

Among the communities reporting fatalities were:

Carrollton, eight killed and twelve injured.
Buffalohart, eight killed.
Cornland, three killed.
Clinton, 13 injured.
Chestnut, two killed.
Hardin, one killed.
Centreville, four killed and eight injured.
Mount Pulaski, one killed and six injured.
Wrights, five killed and two injured.
Laomi, six killed.
Woodville, two killed.
Kafer, one killed.

Started at Mississippi.

The freak storm started at the Mississippi River and was described by weather bureau officials as a series of line squalls as distinguished from a tornado.

School children were among the chief sufferers in yesterday's storm. Three were reported to have been killed or injured when the storm-wrecked rural schools elsewhere, according to fragmentary reports.

The storm, for the most part, struck small towns of 200 or 300 population, then descended again on villages and hamlets further away.

Besides the loss of life, heavy property damage was done, but the damage did not approach the figure of the tornado of two years ago, when upwards of 800 persons were killed in the southern part of the state.

Buildings were wrecked, trees uprooted, and wire communications with the stricken districts virtually were cut off for several hours.

Teacher Killed.

CARROLLTON, Ill., April 20. — (Associated Press).—A tornado hit the rural school at Centreville near here yesterday afternoon, killed the school teacher, Miss Anna Keller, aged 25, and buried her 25 pupils, according to reports received here at one o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Further details were unobtainable. All lines were down and the roads so blocked that automobiles could not pass. Doctors and nurses are proceeding to the scene by wagon.

Beside the schoolhouse several two-storey residences were reported destroyed.

Farmhouses Struck.

First word of the tornado was brought to Carrollton by a son of William Hobson, a farmer of Centreville, whose two-storey home was demolished. Other farmhouses struck were those of Ben Schnelton and Sam Steinhart.

The Hobson boy did not know how many of his neighbors had been caught in the wreckage nor how many children were injured.

Captor Of Woman Spy To Get Her As Reward

PEKING, April 20 (United Press).—Every Shanghai soldier who captures a woman spy can have twenty Mexican dollars and the spy as well, under an order of General Chang Chung Chang, Northern commander.

Chang notified his men of the reward and the added privilege of retaining the captured spy in a desperate effort to end the work of the women spies who are said to be operating in Shanghai.

SOME BLAME LAID BY CHIEF TO PEDESTRIANS

Many of Them Cross Streets Very Slowly, Hindering Motorists, He Says.

WATCHING SIGNS.

Motorists Who Stop On Crossings Instead of at Signs to be Summoned.

Chief Constable Samuel Newhall declared to The Examiner this morning that all the blame for the trouble, complained about at the entrance into through streets by Frank Stinson, could not be laid against the motorist. "Many pedestrians walk across the streets very slowly, causing much inconvenience to the motorists who are obeying the stop sign by-law. Only last week a motorist met with an accident at the corner of George and Simcoe Streets, when two cars collided on account of a pedestrian taking his time in crossing the street.

"Motorists will do well to stop at the stop signs. From now on close observation will be made at the stop signs, and those who fail to stop at the sign but stop just before they enter the street will be prosecuted as if they had not stopped," said the Chief.

In the last few days the Chief has made a personal observation of all the stop signs in the city and he has found out that the motorists are obeying the law and if the pedestrians do their part there should be no trouble whatever at the entrance to through streets.

Chief Newhall also wished to draw the attention of the motorists to the false impression that has gone out that in making a right-hand turn into a through street it was not necessary to stop. "The by-law says that motorists must stop before entering a through street, and this includes those who are making the right-hand turn."

MAY DELIMIT EMBARGO ZONE

Reports Show That Epidemic Is Under Control at Montreal.

NOTHING DEFINITE.

WASHINGTON, April 20 (Canadian Press).—The advisability of delimiting the zone from which Quebec and Eastern Ontario milk and cream are forbidden entrance to the United States is under consideration here.

Officials of the Department of Agriculture stated yesterday that no definite announcement will be made now, but the Bureau of Chemistry has reports from United States Public Health Officers working in the Montreal district who have passed on submissions from the Quebec health authorities, showing that the source of the typhoid infection has been definitely isolated and that the epidemic is under control.

If this is established to the satisfaction of the United States health authorities, the embargo zone probably will be reduced from the present radius of 200 miles from Montreal to a 150 mile radius, then gradually 50 miles at a time.

There is a possibility that the embargo may remain for some time on a 25-mile radius from Montreal, but the authorities here would not confirm or deny the suggestion.

ANAEMIA CURE IS DISCOVERED

ROCHESTER, N.Y., April 20. — (Canadian Press).—Man to-day proclaimed a new victory over disease with the announcement that within a few weeks there will be ready for public use a cure for anaemia that has been successful in 90 out of 100 cases. The announcement was made by Dr. George R. Whipple, Dean of the Medical School of the University of Rochester, after ten years of experiments. It is an extract of beef liver and will be distributed through selected physicians as was done with insulin.

PARIS, April 20 (Canadian Press).—A despatch received here today reports the rejection by the Peking Government of the Russian Soviet Government demand for evacuation of the Soviet Buildings in the Embassy Compound at Peking, which was raided on April 6, the release of all those arrested, and the return of all documents seized by Chinese police.

Reinforcements Leaving.

LONDON, April 20 (Canadian Press).—Further reinforcements for the British Shanghai defence force started from various points in England today for Southampton, the port of embarkation. They comprise a squadron of the Royal Air Force, two batteries of Field Artillery, and a company of the Army Service corps with fifty-one 6-wheeled trucks capable of carrying an infantry battalion.

Communists Executed

SHANGHAI, April 20 (Canadian Press).—Six prisoners described as Communists and including the head of the Chinese Seamen's Union were executed today at the Nationalist (Cantonese) headquarters in the native city of Shanghai. This brings the total number of agitators executed since the Moderates began their drive against the Reds to more than 100.

AROUND THE CITY

A meeting of the committee for the decorating of the city on July 1st for the big celebration to be given here, was held in the Board Room of the local Public Library last night. The committee is getting under way with ideas towards beautifying the city for that date.

At 11.41 yesterday, the firemen answered a call for a grass fire at 166 Charlotte street, and at 12.45 the brigade responded to a chimney fire at 681 Reid street. This morning a call was received at 7.50 a.m. to 20 Wolsey street, where the stovepipes had caught fire, and at 8.10 a.m. a similar fire was extinguished at 476 Driscoll Terrace.

MOVE TO JAIL OTTAWA PASTOR FOR CONTEMPT

Faces Charge of Contempt of Court, Holding Church Service.

MOTION ANNOUNCED.

Dr. Wyllie Will Be Examined By Registrar Next Thursday.

OTTAWA, April 20.— (Canadian Press.)—A motion will be made at the weekly session of the supreme court of Ontario here next Saturday to have Rev. Dr. E. B. Wyllie committed to jail for contempt of court, according to A. W. Beament, one of the solicitors acting for those who secured an injunction against Dr. Wyllie. A notice of motion was served on Dr. Wyllie yesterday afternoon and it is returnable at the court house here on Saturday morning.

Judge's Injunction.

The contempt proceedings are based on Dr. Wyllie's alleged defiance of the interim injunction issued by Judge O'Brian a week ago against Dr. Wyllie holding a meeting of the congregation of Erskine church on Wednesday evening, last, and administering the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper on Easter Sunday. Despite the injunction Dr. Wyllie held the meeting, at which new elders were elected, and on Sunday administered the sacrament in his church.

Dr. Wyllie will be examined for discovery before F. A. Magee, the local registrar of the supreme court of Ontario on Thursday morning.

Concert For Swimmer Broadcast From Shore

HAMBURG, Germany, April 20. — Canadian Press. — A successful attempt has been made to broadcast music from the island of Sylt, one of the Frisian Islands, to Otto Kemberich, the German long distance swimmer, while making a long distance swim around the island. A special radio apparatus fixed to the swimmer's head enabled Kemmerich to hear the musical program plainly.

KNOX CHARTER IS AWARDED TO PRESBYTERIANS

Commission To Divide Properties Between Churches Reports.

CAPITAL SPLIT.

Continuing Church Gets About 31 Per Cent. of Funds.

TORONTO, April 20—The long-awaited report of the Commission appointed by Parliament under the United Church of Canada Act to divide the properties of the former Presbyterian Church between the United Church and the remaining Presbyterian Church was made public yesterday.

Two of the central colleges of the Church have been given to the non-concurring congregations: Knox College, Toronto, and the Presbyterian College, Montreal. Knox College building and buildings and charter of the Presbyterian College Montreal, had already been vested in trustees for the non-concurring congregations by the Ontario and Quebec Legislatures, respectively.

College Transfer

The Commission has also assigned to the non-concurrents the charter of Knox and about $550,000 of endowments belonging to both colleges, making, it is computed a total transfer to them of $1,650,000, or approximately 50 per cent. of the college assets of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

In all, according to a summary issued by the United Church, out of $10,500,000, property and funds valued at $3,261,000—apart from a share of legacies vested as at June 10, 1925—have been awarded to the non-concurring congregations, or about 31 per cent. of the whole.

This percentage concerns property and capital funds only, and does not take into account the money to be refunded by the non-concurring congregations for the maintenance of their institutions and missions since June 10, 1925.

It corresponds generaly, United Church officials say, with the proportion of congregations and members of the Presbyterian Church in Canada which did not see fit to enter the Union.

FIRE BRIGADE DEMONSTRATES METHODS AT MARKET SQUARE

Lay Line of Hose and Erect Ladder Against Building.

PUT OUT FIRE.

Water Down Chimney Extinguishes Fire in Restaurant Stove.

In co-operation with the International Association of Fire Chiefs and the moving picture entitled "The Fire Brigade," which is being shown at the Capitol this week-end, the fire department of this city staged a demonstration on the market square today at noon. Pictures were taken by Fred Roy of the men in action and these will be shown tomorrow night at the Capitol along with the main picture.

A line of hose was run from the corner of George and Charlotte Streets and a stream of water was thrown on the roof of the market buildings. At 12.40 Fire Chief George Gimblet turned in the alarm from Box 25. The new American Le France pumper, driven by Master Mechanic V. Carr and manned by Assistant Chief George Smith and Firemen J. Finnie, A. Macdonald, and A. Rose arrived 57 seconds after the alarm had been sent in. The Reo truck was second, arriving 26 seconds later. This truck was driven by H. Cooney, with Lieutenant A. McBride, F. Degen, and J. Masters on it. The old American La France truck was third, arriving 1 minute and 45 seconds after the alarm had been turned in. This truck had laid the line of hose from the hydrant at the corner of George and Charlotte Streets. It was driven by J. MacFarlane and was manned by Captain W. Jones, Firemen Hatley, Wilson and Weyer. The ladder wagon was the fourth making the distance in 1 minute and 50 seconds. The team was driven by A. Crouter and he was accompanied by Firemen MacDonald, Mason, and Miller.

Electrician J. Astels drove the Chief's car, and Lieutenant Robert Wilson kept the watch at the fire hall.

Although there was no fire a large crowd of citizens gathered to see the display. The firmen unintentionally put out one fire, much to the annoyance of the Chinese chef at the Dominion Cafe. Some of the water which was being thrown on the roof of the market building went down the chimney of the Dominion Cafe and extinguished the cook's fire.

LLOYD GEORGE PROMISES HELP

Tells Deputation He Can't See Why Young Women Should Not Vote.

WILL SUPPORT BILL.

LONDON, April 20 (Canadian Press Cable).—Lloyd George has promised his support to the Government's measure giving women of 21 years of age the franchise. The measure is to be introduced in the House of Commons shortly.

Replying to a deputation from Bangor, Carnarvonshire, he said: "The Government is committed and I fancy the Commons will follow its lead and 21 will be the age. I have never been able to understand why the vote should be given to half the human race and denied the other half. This affects the homes of the country, in which women have more direct and often much more absolute control."

For the transportation of convicts in Germany a special car is provided. It is fitted with heavily barred doors and has cells arranged along the sides.

TEXAS IN LEAD.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 20.—(Canadian Press.) — The death list from the storm which swept over Sydney on Monday night has reached twelve. The storms, which came after four days of rain, was the worst in fifteen years and has moved eastward.

100 Dead In States.

KANSAS CITY, April 20.—(Canadian Press.) — With casualty lists showing more than 100 dead, the South and Middle West to-day continued its gamble on rapidly changing weather reports in the hope of avoiding further losses in tornadoes, freak storms and floods.

NO CHANGE IS EXPECTED IN FOREIGN POLICY

Will Be Made By Japan's New Ministry Now Being Formed.

STILL UNSETTLED.

Much Speculation Exists as to Attitude With Regard to China.

TOKIO, April 20. — (Canadian Press).—No considerable change in the foreign policy of Japan is expected to be made by the new Ministry headed by Premier Baron Tanaka, who is engaged in the formation of his Cabinet. Much speculation exists as to the new government's attitude with regard to China. The reply of Eugene Chen, the Cantonese Foreign Minister at Hankow to Japan, on the recent five-power identic note protesting against the Nanking outrages, was delivered to the Foreign Office yesterday.

The reply, held up for several days as a gesture of friendliness to Japan, was to the same effect as the replies to Great Britain, the United States, France and Italy but was couched in friendlier terms.

The newspaper Asahi learned yesterday that Baron Tanaka, in addition to the Premiership, will retain the portfolio of Foreign Minister.

Market Strong.

Although the stock market closed strong, the financial situation is still unsettled. The opinion is prevalent that the present heavy depression will continue because the new government will not be able to stabilize the greatly unsettled conditions.

Baron Tanaka's most important task is to find solution for the present financial depression. Inasmuch as his party the Seiyukai, holds only a minority of seats in the lower house, it appears it will be necessary to summon a special session of the diet in the near future for the purpose of dissolution and the holding of general elections, which for the first time would be held under universal suffrage in Japan.

No additional runs on banks were reported and it is expected that the aid extended by the Bank of Japan to the banks in distress, including the Bank of Taiwan, Ltd., will assist these institutions to weather the crisis.

THE WEATHER

The unusually warm weather for April that has prevailed for several days, has been succeeded by cooler conditions. Highest temperature yesterday 76 degrees; lowest last night, 50 degrees. At this date last year some snow still remained on the ground, while the remnants of winter's drifts were everywhere.—W.P.

CUSTOMS COMMISSION RESUMES ONTARIO SITTINGS AT WINDSOR; TO PROBE BURNING OF RECORDS

Case of Three Breweries Whose Books Were Destroyed Comes First.

OTHER EVIDENCE.

Officers of Border Ports To Be Examined on Liquor Shipments.

WINDSOR, April 20 (Canadian Press).—The Royal Commission on Customs resumes its Ontario sittings here tomorrow morning. Chief Justice J. T. Brown, and Judges W. H. Wright and Ernest Roy, the members of the Commission, are expected here in the course of the day, Hon. N. W. Powell, K.C., counsel with P. L. Calder, K.C., for the Commission, is already here. Mr. Calder will arrive today or early tomorrow.

It is probable that the first matter to be taken up will be that involving three breweries which were looked into during the Toronto sittings. Then it was found that the Sudbury Brewing and Malting Company, the Kakabeka Falls Brewing Company, and the Soo Falls Brewing Company had destroyed books and documents which are required by the Commission auditors. That the licenses of these three breweries be suspended was suggested to the Commissioners, but counsel for the companies involved asked leave to make representations at Windsor.

Examination of port officers in Windsor, Ont. and other ports and outports in the Windsor district will take place when the three breweries mentioned are disposed of. It is expected that the export movment of liquor from Canada to the United States via this port will be prominent during the investigation here.

Witnesses to be called at Windsor will, it is understood, include Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Perri of Hamilton, who were prommeni in the Toronto sitting.

Motorist's Busy Evening Brings Many Charges

KINGSTON, April 02.— Driving a car while intoxicated last night, Albert Patrick, a taxi driver, ran into two cars parked on King street and also hit Christopher Holland, who was riding a bicycle. The bicycle was wrecked and Holland had a miraculous escape from death. Patrick was rounded up by a police constable and in the police court this morning was fined $10 and costs for being drunk, given seven days in jail for driving a car while intoxicated, remanded on a charge of doing bodily harm to Holland, and had his taxi license suspended pending action of the police commissioners.

OFFER RECEIVED FOR BUILDINGS NOT ACCEPTED

Tender of William Faiers For Salvaging Park Property Is Laid Over.

COMMITTEES MEET.

Parks Board Distribute Music Grant—Firemen's Uniforms Bought.

Stunned silence settled upon the members of the Railways and Parks Committee of the City Council last night when the only tender received for the buildings in James Stevenson Park (two houses, the Nu-Art factory and a shed), which are to be torn down to allow for improvements, was opened and found to contain an offer of $210.00. This tender was made by William Faiers, of Brownton. Most of the members present expressed themselves as having expected a larger offer, but Mayor Holloway and Ald. Fife both considered that the sum mentioned was as much as could have been expected for the salvage from these buildings.

After proposals had been made that the city give work to some unemployed in scrapping the buildings and cleaning up the material which can be sold, it was decided that the matter be laid over until the May meeting of the Council.

A report by the chairman, Ald. J. M. Greene, that a part of the committee had visited King Edward Park and had decided on certain improvements, which are now under way, was accepted. Some of the seats salvaged from the old street cars abandoned at Jackson Park will be placed under the trees. The lights at present strung on the band stand will be moved so that they will light up the row of seats.

The chairman was given authority to engage a caretaker for James Stevenson Park and also for the bathing beach at Inverlea. The beach at Lake Street will not be opened unless the Board of Health succeeds in getting unsanitary conditions now existing there cleaned up.

The music grant for this year will be divided as follows: Peterborough Rangers $800, Caledonian Pipe Band $100, and Male Voice Choir $100. This is the same division as was made last year, and the matter of arranging concerts in the parks was left to the chairman. It was considered advisable that services in the Dominion Day celebration be considered as part of the public concerts.

Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The tender of the Grafton Company of $719.60 for nineteen firemen's uniforms and two officers' uniforms was accepted, being the lowest. The chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee and Chief Gimblett reported, after examining the samples, that every firm tendering offered cloth of the same specifications and numbers and that the prices were: Graftons $719.60, Cressmans $696.22, A. C. Sharpe $793.00, and Maher and Wesley $943.00.

There were two tenderers for shirts, Graftons and Cressmans, the first named firm being successful with a price of $162.80 for the supply needed.

The Chief and Ald. Cotton were empowered to make arrangements for the installation of an annunciator in the Fire Hall, as desired by several firms having sprinkler systems installed. This would cost $35 and would show when the sprinkler system of any of these places opened.

PREMIER HOPES TO RETAIN CHIEF

Pays Tribute To General MacBrien at Officers' Dinner in Ottawa.

OTTAWA, April 20. — (Canadian Press.)—Hope that the services of Major General J. H. MacBrien, Chief of Staff of the Department of National Defence, might be retained, was expressed by Premier Mackenzie King, addressing the officers of the Governor-General's Footguards at a dinner last night. General MacBrien some time ago tendered his resignation. The date at which it was to take effect was extended to June first. Premier King paid a high tribute to General MacBrien, and to Col. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, whom he declared he had been fortunate in securing for the post, and who has already achieved success in this important portfolio, at the recent session of parliament.

HANKOW GOVERNMENT ISSUES MANDATE DISMISSING CHIANG AS LEADER OF CANTONESE ARMY

"Christian General," Leader of Kuominchun, Appointed as Successor.

SEVERS RELATIONS.

Chiang Emphasizes Three Points as Fundamentals of New Government.

SHANGHAI, April 20 (A.P.).—Actual warfare between the contending factions in the Nationalist (Cantonese) ranks has started. Almost simultaneously with General Chiang's announcement of the principles on which he is establishing his government at Nanking, the Hankow government, described as the radical section of the Kuomintang (Cantonese political party) yesterday issued a mandate dismissing Chiang Kai-Shek as Commander in Chief.

General Feng Yu Hsiang, the "Christian General," and leader of the Kuominchun, or National People's party in Northern China, was appointed as Chiang's successor. General Tang Seng Chi, military governor of Honan, was named as associate generalissimo, and received orders to move his troops immediately towards Nanking to attack Chiang.

The severance of all relations with Nanking and Shanghai was also announced by the Hankow government.

Seek Return

With these definite acts of belligerence between the warring sections of the Cantonese, General Chiang has made his position clear. From Nanking comes information that the new government had its inception at a great mass meeting, at which many notables spoke. Chiang himself declared that he was not establishing a new government, but merely removing the Nationalist headquarters from Hankow to Nanking, purging the Kuomintang of Communists and seeking to bring about a return to the fundamental principles of the late Sun Yat Sen.

He emphasized three points:

First that the spirit of the revolution must continue to inspire the people; second, that Nanking must be the capital for many reasons, among them the fact that Sun Yat-Sen's mausoleum is there and also because the people must be shown that despite recent events the leaders were not afraid to establish the seat of government in that city; third, that the people must never be governed by military cliques or foreign oppression.

Resolutions Adopted

Several resolutions outlining the future policy of the Chang government were adopted. It was remarked that Ku Ying Fang was appointed finance minister to succeed T. V. Soong, a brother-in-law of the late Sun Yat Sen, whose record in the collection of taxes and the handling of financial affairs for the government was characterized as of the highest order. Some surprise was caused by the appointment of another to succeed Soong.

Fighting is still going on between Northern forces, on the north bank of the Yangtse at Pukow, and Southern troops entrenched on the south bank of the river, but details are lacking and the outcome is undecided.

Serious fighting is also reported at Canton between radicals and moderate Cantonese troops.

Brands Chang As Tool.

PEKING, April 20 (Canadian Press).—What is described as "perhaps the most illuminating document" seized in the raid on the Soviet Embassy compound on April 6, has been made public officially by headquarters of Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian war lord, who is in control of the Peking Government.

The document was marked strictly confidential. It purports to be Moscow's instructions to the Soviet Embassy in Peking relative to the policy toward China. Branding Chang Tso-Lin as a tool in the hands of international capitalists and imperialists, it urges the stirring up of mass animosity toward Europeans, particularly the British, and resort to any means to provoke international intervention in China, even to the extent of looting and murdering foreigners.

The document suggests that Communism be not applied to China too suddenly, because that would strengthen Chang Tso Lin's position and hasten a split in the Kuomintang, the Cantonese political party. Hence, M. Borodin, the Russian adviser to the Cantonese Government at Hankow, is instructed to suspend radical anti-capitalist measures temporarily.

Keep Powers in Discord.

It advocates the necessity of keeping the powers in a state of discord during the progress of the anti-foreign movement, but it advises caution with regard to Japan, which was able to despatch large forces to China at short notice.

Bold and dashy,
Quick and flashy,

With lightning start,
They swiftly dart
And clean away they take it.

PLAY AUTHORS FINED.

Also Go To Jail For Participating in Obscene Stage Performance.

NEW YORK, April 20.—(Canadian Press).—Mae West, star and co-author of "Sex", one of the three Broadway plays raided by the police recently, was sentenced to ten days in the workhouse and fined $500 by General Sessions Judge Donnellan yesterday as a penalty for participating in an "obscene stage performance."

A similar sentence was imposed upon James a Timoney, the co-author.

Spin the busy hand around the dial! It is Thrift's most remunerative play-game. Does the house need painting? Do the floors need going-over? Should woodwork be freshened up? Are the car and garage dingy?

Very well, then, begin to "play the Clean-Up and Paint-Up game." It's more fun than you might imagine and you always win in the end. You win because Civic Pride is a profitable virtue.

McLENNAN, Alta., April 20 (Canadian Press).—Fire which apparently started in one of the smoke stacks in the roof, destroyed the roundhouse and machine shops of the E. D. and B.C. Railway here. The fire spread very rapidly and it was with great difficulty that four locomotives which were in the roundhouse were pulled out to safety. One engine which was in the machine shops undergoing repairs, was destroyed by the fire. Employees and town people worked heroically in saving equipment and neighboring buildings.

SCREEN ACTOR HELD FOR INVESTIGATION

Following Death of Ray Raymond, Musical Comedy Star.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 20 (A.P.)—Paul Kelly, stage and screen actor, held for investigation following the death yesterday morning of Ray Raymond, musical comedy actor, yesterday told newspaper reporters that he and Raymond engaged in a fist fight after Kelly had admitted that he was in love with Raymond's wife, Dorothy McKay, film actress.

Raymond, who was 33 years old, returned to his home last Friday from a nationwide tour with the musical comedy company of "Castles in the Air." Detectives who investigated declared that a negro maid in the Raymond home witnessed the fight.

Miss MacKay was reported in a state of nervous collapse and under the care of a physician. Kelly recently appeared in support of Eddie Cantor in the film "Special Delivery," and also in the picture "Slide, Kelly, Slide."

FLIERS KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Gasoline Tank Exploded When Machine Hits the Ground in Nose Dive.

MEMBERS OF R.A.F.

EASTCHURCH, Kent, England, April 20 (Canadian Press). — Four members of the Royal Air Force, two of them officers, were killed yesterday when a Vickers bomber crashed here.

The plane, in rising, struck the wing of another plane and went into a nose dive. It turned over as it struck the ground and the gasoline tank exploded, the resulting fire burning the four occupants to death before they could extricate themselves.

The men killed were Flying Officer Kelly, Pilot Officer Dowdeswell and two mechanics.

WONDERFUL AUTOMOBILE ROADS.

The most wonderful automobile road in America, the Banff-Windermere Highway 104 miles in length, is in danger of losing its well earned laurels by the opening of another, and if possible, more wonderful road, the Great Divide Highway between Field and Lake Louise, which was completed last summer. But Prof. Laird's tour "Across Canada and Back," which leaves Toronto by Canadian Pacific Railway July 25th, 1927, for a 21 day trip, includes both these drives in his itinerary, and they are only a small part of the wonders to be seen. There is Banff, the beautiful; Lake Louise, the Pearl of the Rockies; Emerald Lake, second only to Lake Louise in beauty; the Yoho Valley, one of the most marvelous Valleys in the world, with Takakkaw Falls over 1,200 feet in height pouring into it, and all the magnificence and grandeur of 600 miles of Rocky Mountain scenery. Vancouver and Victoria, those marvelous Pacific Coast cities, as well as Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, are only a few of the places to be visited, and three great bodies of water are also on the route, the Great Lakes, the Kootenay Lakes and the Strait of Georgia between Vancouver and Victoria.

Write for illustrated booklet of this marvelous trip to W. Fulton, District Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Toronto, or to Prof. Sinclair, Macdonald College P.O., Que.

Movie Actor Sentenced To Jail For Ten-Day Term For Raising Uproar In Movieland Police Station

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 20. (A.P.).—John Gilbert, film actor, pleaded guilty in the Police Court Monday to a charge of disturbing the peace, and immediately began serving a ten-day jail sentence imposed upon him.

The film actor appeared at the Beverly Hills Police Station at 3 last Monday morning, demanding that some unknown person be arrested. It was said that he had been having a party at his home, from which he had come to the station, but he denied that he had had any trouble with any guests.

When his demands for an arrest were refused, Gilbert was said by the police to have made such an uproar that they arrested him on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was put in a cell, where he remained for five hours, when he produced $25 bail for his appearance in court yesterday.

After pleading guilty to the charge in Police Court, Gilbert was locked up in the city jail to start serving his sentence.

TORONTO, April 20.—(Canadian Press).—Frank Sampson was sentenced to fourteen years with thirty lashes in Portsmouth Penitentiary by Magistrate Browne in County Police Court here yesterday. Drohan was subsequently suspended from the Toronto police force.

BROADCAST TALE OF MIDDLE AGES

Unusual Feature From 2LO, London's Radio Station Programme.

LONDON, April 20. — (Canadian Press.)—English school children, for whom lectures with educational value are broadcast from 2 LO, London's radio station, recently were told how English was pronounced 500 years ago.

The opening lines of a story that any father might have told his son in 1427 was read. It went as follows:

"Onse upon a teem theer was a kneecht who was reeden through a wude when he heer a lood cry. Eet was a feerse and greezly draagawn that livved een a carvern and used to coom oot and aate any baste or maan such as wude paass that way, and when he had aaten anoof he wude lie himself doon to slapen."

Translation.

This is the modern English "translation":

"Once upon a time there was a knight who was riding through a wood when he heard a loud cry. It was a fierce and grizzly dragon that lived in a cave and used to come out and eat any beast or man such as would pass that way, and when he had eaten enough he would lay himself down to sleep."

WATCHERS SLEEP ON EDGE OF MARSH

Guards of Muskrat Preserve Found By Resident Late in Morning.

Rats are so scarce at Rice Lake this season, that the officials of a syndicate claiming large tracts of marsh there, thinking that some one was poaching their furs, engaged the services of two would-be "Nick Carters". The long vigil during the night apparently was too much for these amateurs, and they were overcome by sleep. Their position must have been embarrassing when long after daybreak, a resident of the neighborhood, taking his morning walk, accidentally discovered them, sound asleep, covered up with a blanket. They must have had a meagre report for headquarters, and if they escaped without catching a cold after sleeping on the wet ground they certainly learned "that it is poor soldiering to sleep on the job."

Plague Of Insects Feared As Many Toads Are Killed

PORT CREDIT, April 19. Many hundreds of toads, emerging from their winter quarters in gardens along Centre Road here, have been hopping to the smooth, warm pavement, only to meet death beneath the tires of passing motor cars.

The spring "reveille" of toaddom has evidently been recently sounded, for the number making their appearance from beneath the earth is greater every day. The number which come to an untimely end is also assuming larger proportions, and to-day one section of the Centre Road is strewn with lifeless bodies.

The high mortality is causing some alarm to garden owners along the road, for they fear that their gardens will become the prey of insects should the toad with his agile tongue become almost extinct.

SHEIK'S MEMORY RAPIDLY FADING

Rudolph Valentino's Belongings on Sale in London Shop.

LONDON, April 20.— (United Press.)—Rudolph Valentino's thousands of English girl worshippers have forgotten him.

Recently the following notice appeared in the personal columns of a newspaper:

"The late Rudolph Valentino: By orders of the executors, his personal dressing case, together with an autographed letter, will be sold. These articles can be viewed during the next two weeks at Messrs. — — —."

A member of the firm later declared that not even one girl had been in the store to so much as look at the memento of the once popular hero. Several offers, he said, had been made by middle-aged men—mostly curio hunters.

OLD MASTERS

When she comes home again! A thousand ways
I fashion, to myself, the tenderness of my glad welcome; I shall tremble—yes;
And touch her, as when first in the old days
I touched her girlish hand, nor dared upraise
Mine eyes, such was my faint heart's sweet distress;
Then silence: and the perfume of he dress:
The room will sway a little, and a haze
Cloy eyesight—soul-sight, even—for a space;
And tears—yes; and the ache here in the throat,
To know that I so ill deserve the place
Her arms make for me; and the sobbing note
I stay with kisses, ere the tearful face
Again is hidden in the old embrace.
—James Whitcomb Riley: "When She Comes Home."

Revolver Salesman Uses Stock To Get Seat In Car

NEW YORK, April 19.—Having successfully solved the problem of getting a seat aboard a New York bound train filled with an Easter crowd, Giuseppe Linardi was arrested when the train reached Pennsylvania Station.

The detective who made the arrest found Giuseppe the sole occupant of one of the coaches. Everybody else had been scared out by the mean fashion in which he handled his revolver.

Giuseppe was asleep when his private car was entered. He snored. And he smelled alcoholic.

Mr. Linardi boarded the train to Baltimore at 1 p.m. According to trainmen, he went from one end to the other, seeking a seat. He didn't find one, so he retraced his steps, waving his revolver from side to side and threatening to pull the trigger. The threat was idle, but the other passengers weren't. They retreated quickly from a perfectly comfortable coach.

At Philadelphia the conductor had the despatcher telegraph to New York police. From Pennsylvania Station Giuseppe was taken to Jefferson Market Court, where he pleaded guilty to violation of the Sullivan law. In addition to the revolver with which he had earned his seat, the prisoner had two others packed in his bag. He said he was in the revolver-selling business.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

A COW IN WASHINGTON

I saw a cow in Washington
That grazed upon a vacant lot,
And did not care if Caesar's son
Or senator went by or not.
The president rode out one day;
A princess passed her, so it's said,
But bossy whisked a fly away
And never lifted up her head.

Now, I had come to Washington
Intent upon a certain game:
If I could get some matters done
'Twould bring me wealth and give me fame.
Of certain men I stood in awe,
I trembled at an outer door,
And yet I saw, the more I saw,
That men were men, and nothing more.

For what's the greatness of the earth,
Or what's a title, anyhow?
If you would know what wealth is worth,
Don't ask a mortal, ask a cow.
I thought the world would stand aghast
At what I'd said, at what I'd done,
And then a vacant lot I passed
And asked a cow in Washington.

MORE LICENSES FOR MOTOR CARS

Forty-one Hundred Have Been Issued To Date in Peterborough.

GREAT INCREASE.

Frank Stinson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, stated to The Examiner this morning that there had been an increase of 1500 over last year in the number of licenses issued to motorists of the city and surrounding district. To date there have been 4,100 licenses issued while in the whole year of 1926 there were only 5,004.

"The first increase, of course," remarked Mr. Stinson, "is due to the early Spring, and like everything else, the issue is forging ahead, really before its time. Although we have been rushed at times, there has been no confusion, due to special equipment and also to the fact that each applicant filled his or her blank out personally, which served a double purpose; not only did it aid us in getting the work done in a smaller amount of time, but it also gave the applicant educational points about his car that he would not otherwise have received."

CASE DISMISSED.

Claim of Meagher Estate For Board and Lodgings Not Allowed.

His Honor Judge Widdifield, in the Surrogate Court of the County of York, yesterday gave judgment dismissing a claim of $300.00 odd made by the estate of the late J. J. Meagher against the estate of the late Robert Sanderson. A claim was made by the Meagher Estate against the Sanderson Estate for board and lodging of the late Mr. Sanderson. Mr. Meagher was a hotel-keeper in the City of Toronto, and Mr. Sanderson in his lifetime resided with him.

The contention of the Sanderson estate, through its counsel, J. A. O'Brien, was that the work done by Mr. Sanderson amply repaid the Meagher estate for any board or lodging that might have been charged to Mr. Sanderson.

The action was tried in Toronto on the February 23, and Mr. O'Brien appeared for the Sanderson estate, and H. L. Steele appeared for the Meagher estate.

Suits That Bloom In the Spring-tra-la

Spring is calling not only the flowers and the warm sun, but also Fashion! And this time it is the men that are looking for the bright new clothes that this Easter season has to offer. Discarding the old fashioned blues, Peterborough men are hunting with great anticipation for purple suits, "Black Bottom" trousers, and bow ties that fairly cry out defiance to any inhuman individual who dares to put on anything but a perfect color scheme.

Father chastises his young son for daring to put in an appearance wearing such articles as bell-bottom trousers, but later on he, himself, thinks that wider trouser would be more becoming to him, and within an hour is seen hastily walking toward some tailor shop.

It really is not safe to appear on George street with a dark colored raincoat on in these days of bright colors. Without a yellow, red or green slicker, you are considered a modern Rip Van Winkle of your home town. It is said that in the Spring young mens fancy turns to love, but this year it seems to be different, although it may be leading up to a lovely little scene; he probably thinks that the colors might dazzle the lucky maiden, and he throws to the winds the old saying: "Handsome is that Handsome does."

But although there are many people who do not approve of the new styles,—yet there is also a greater number of people that do, and it really must be confessed that styles are a great deal farther advanced than some ten years ago, and the public are convinced that the brighter they are the better they like them.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, college student, works as a dancing partner for rich women in a New Jersey roadhouse. Bob thinks it isn't a fit way to make a living; but beggars can't be choosers! At the Inn he meets the prettiest, sweetest girl he has ever laid eyes on—Sally, the cigarette girl. Reciprocating his interest, she warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitue of the Inn, who finds her "thrill" in "hunting" Bob for her lovenest apartment. But Bob takes Sally home.

CHAPTER X.—Continued.

Meantime, Bob and Sally were zooming through the upper Broadway tube. Love's first conversations are of the kind to be whispered—not yelled above the roar of the subway. So the two sat silent in happy reflections over the miracle.

Getting out at the 103rd Street Station, they walked west two blocks and reached a modest, old-time four-story brownstone.

Sally had told him that she was fatherless; that she lived with her two little brothers and her mother. Bob, appraising the house with interest as the dwelling place of this fluffy yet sensible bit of girlish loveliness that had come into his life so suddenly and sweetly, could almost piece the rest of the story together. The house left to them by the father; Mrs. Smith maintaining its respectable front partly through Sally's earnings, and largely no doubt through taking in boarders to fill up the spare rooms of the upper stories. Of course she took boarders. It was just that sort of a house—for a widowed mother.

Bob, snapping out of his covert appraisal, was fussed to find Sally contemplating him.

"You say the nicest things, Bob!"

"Like it?" she smiled.

"Oh, I didn't mean to be staring so rudely. But I like it heaps because it's old-fashioned. Because it just sort of fits—you!"

"You say the nicest things, Bob! Do you say them to every girl you meet at the school? And you must meet a lot of pretty girls, Bob, at the school proms and affairs like that—a famous football player like you."

"I am more apt to meet the usual girl," Bob laughed, "because of my football, than because I'm an honor student in engineering!"

"How wonderful it is to be a man and study such things!" breathed little Sally Smith, catching her first scents of worldflung romance.

They fell into an awkward silence now. The incredible lapses that befog the tongue when the brain lies dreaming. Bob was rendered bashfully quiet by the spontaneity of her interest in his personal career; little Sally Smith was just a mite awed in the mingled presence of masculine brains and brawn. Sally looked fearsomely at Bob's big hands and quivered strangely in her soft little flanks as she thought how his fingers could encircle her waist, as they might a football, and crush her.

But little Sally Smith, by the same inward instinct, knew also that there was more potency to guide and disarm in her archness than in all his muscle. She smiled up at her cave man;

"But you didn't answer my question, Bob. Do you meet a lot of pretty girls, and do you say those nice, flattering things to all of them?"

They had gone up the high single flight of steps, now, and were standing at the iron-grilled glass outer door of the vestibule.

"No, I haven't met many," said Bob truthfully; "I've been too much of a grind and too much of a pauper. The kind of girls who come to the proms fall for a fellow like me around the football season because they can boast about knowing a football player. But the rest of the year they haven't much use for a bone. Especially a bone who hasn't a bone to his name. That's a good line, eh? I'll have to tell it to the boys! And so far as saying nice things to those girls is concerned, well I've never been interested enough in any one of them to say—nice things about them!"

Bob laughed merrily; Sally giggled. Another awkward silence was wrapping around them, when Bob suddenly asked;

"Hasn't any other fellow ever said—nice things to you?"

Sally colored and fidgetted.

"Oh," added Bob quickly, "I mean aside from those fools in the Palisado roadhouse. I mean—nice fellows. Fellow you've met socially. You know, at church and parties and so on."

Still Sally hesitated, and before she could give voice to whatever is was she was framing with such difficulty, the glass door was abruptly opened and a strident voice exclaimed;

"Sally, are you going to stand out there all evening?"

The color traced in Sally's cheeks by her hesitancy about answering Bob's question, deepened now to a red glow of embarrassment, as she said, patiently,

"I haven't been here but a minute, Mother! Mother, I want you to meet Mr. Bob Ward; Bob, this is my mother. Bob is the great football player, Mother, that the boys used to talk about last fall. I mean my kid brothers"—she explained to Bob. It was evident that she was trying to make conversation in order to hide her pained confusion over the aggressive and unpleasant appearance and attitude of her mother. She went on—"Mr. Ward is a student at New York University, and he's going to work over at the Inn for a few weeks!"

Bob acknowledged the presentation by a courtly bow to the rather thin, rather old, and altogether shrewish woman who stood within the vestibule, holding the outer door ajar only far enough to permit of unimpeded speech; and looking well prepared to vanish as belligerently as she had come, at any moment.

Bob, recovering furtively from the shock of the unfriendly greeting, noted with great satisfaction that Sally in no sense or slightest feature or manner resembled her mother. That was a good thing; else he felt that, present indications and appearances to the contrary, he would have lost his interest in the combed-honey Princess.

Mrs. Smith, thought Bob whimsically, in the quick and comprehensive and shrewd way in which his engineer's brain sized up situations, was the sort of woman who always survived her husband. He had no doubt that Sally resembled the departed bread-winner. For Sally's manner toward her mother showed a trace of fear, and a world of mellow patience, remarkable in one so young. Bob was also sure that subsequent events would prove that the boys—the "kid brothers" Sally had referred to—would prove to be chips off the maternal block. It was ever thus.

All these thoughts raced through Bob's head in less time that it took him to make his bow and smile.

Mrs. Smith acknowledged the introduction with a curt jerk of her head. She had sized him up through the glass door curtains, ere she had some out, and had made the snappy and unerring judgment of an ambitious mother as to his financial prospects.

A college student! Paugh! Working his way through, and starving! Couldn't be satisfied with just a grammar school course, and a good job with a chance to learn a trade. No; a poor boy, putting on airs. Four more years to starve after he got out of college, before he'd be able to support a wife—if then. Certainly, not a man for the mother of pretty little Sally Smith to be interested in.

"Pleased to meet you!"

Then, to Sally, who looked as though she would like to sink through the entrance steps, never to come up;

"Come, come—you'd better hurry in and get your supper, and dress up a bit."

"Why, Mother? I'm not going out tonight."

"Never mind why. There's something here for you."

"Something for me?"

"Yes, there's a box of the loveliest flowers."

"Flowers? For me? From whom?"

Mrs. Smith glared significantly at Bob as she told Sally sharply, "Mr. Tom Mannion sent them. And he's coming up tonight to call on you."

Take Railway Car Containing About 30,000 Bottles of 9 Per Cent. Beer.

AT PORT STANLEY.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., April 20.—(Canadian Press).—What is declared to be the largest beer seizure ever made in Western Ontario took place late Monday afternoon when License Inspector J. A. Darrach and Provincial Constable Taylor paid an unexpected visit to Port Stanley and took possesion of a freight car containing, it is estimated, 30,000 bottles of 9 per cent. The liquor was shipped as "contractor's equipment" and billed to "J. S. Lyman", Port Stanley, according to copies of the waybills now in Inspector Darrach's possession. Inspector Darrach made careful enquiries and has learned that no person by the name of "J. S. Lyman" is or has been in Port Stanley. The beer was packed in 250 apple barrels, 120 bottles to the case.

NEW METHOD.

A stranger passing down the Otonabee River would think that a visit from the Prince of Wales was anticipated, or that peace had been declared after a war, to see the dazzling display of white cotton ribbons attached to the twigs and rushes in the marshes. But it is really a new method adopted by amateur trappers to help them more readily find their traps. It is doubtful if this is a good idea, as the small catch of rats this season would indicate that the cunning muskrats, thinking that every day was a holiday, stayed away from their job.

THE Y.M.C.A. DRIVE.

The splendid community service rendered by the Young Men's Christian Association has long been so generally recognized that in calling attention to the drive that is being made for funds it scarcely seems necessary to emphasize the fine work done by the Association on behalf of the boys and young men of the city.

While to a great extent the institution is self-sustaining, the generosity of citizens has to be depended upon for assistance in arriving at a balanced burget and no better proof of the general realization of the value to the community of the Y.M.C.A. could be given than the fact that the annual appeal for this purpose has always met with a satisfctory response.

In its various departments, aiming at an all-round development of the city's youth, the Y.M.C.A. has a fine record of achievement upon which to base an appeal for financial support.

Realizing that the community is familiar with all aspects of the Association's work and has frequently endorsed it The Examiner is confident that the campaign has only to be brought to the attention of the citizens to ensure a successful culmination to the drive.

THE BOSTON MARATHON.

While Canadians generally were sorry to hear of the collapse in yesterday's Boston marathon of John C. Miles, the young Nova Scotia runner who established a new record for the distance in the classic long distance event last year, they will unite in honoring Clarence T - r, the veteran Melrose, Mass., marathon er, who for the fifth time, has captured premier honors.

In the intense heat and facing a field of the continent's best runners including, in Miles, a starter who had thoroughly beaten him a year ago Demar showed the necessary stamina and endurance to carry him home in front of the pack and he deserves all credit for his great performance.

Miles' failure does not mean that the young Canadian is finished.

Yesterday was evidently not his day, but he will undoubtedly be included in Canada's Olympic team of next year, while the good showing of Clifford Bricker, of Galt, who finished fourth yesterday, indicates that the Dominion will be well represented in the marathon event against the world's best long distance runners.

YOUNG PETERBOROUGH'S HOBBIES.

Not the least interesting feature of Boys' Week, May 9 to 15, will be the Hobby Exhibition which is being arranged by the Y.M.C.A. and which is responsible for, the feverish activity that is going on among many of the city's youngsters.

Almost every boy has a hobby of some kind or another and the Y.M.C.A. exhibition, which will be a novelty in Peterborough, gives a splendid opportunity to let the general public know how the boys are spending their spare time.

The variety of the exhibits will be surprising to those who attend the Hobby Show.

The prize list comprises a very large number of classes and present indications are that these will all be well filled.

There will be everything from bird houses to collections of stamps and rare coins, and the extent o the exhibition promises to be somewhat of a revelation to the citizens.

The Hobby Show should be kept in mind as one of the outstanding events of Boys' Week—something that should be seen by every one as an evidence of what young Peterborough is doing.

A SAFETY YEAR.

This is Canada's year, the sixtieth anniversary of the birth of the Dominion.

Could there be a more appropriate way of observing the occasion than a general resolve to make this a safety as well as a jubilee year?

The automobile season has opened with more cars than ever in commission, the boating and bathing season is just round the corner.

Motor car accidents and drownings were responsible for killing 700 people in Ontario last year; and the majority of these lives could have been saved by the exercise of reasonable care.

Would not this be a fitting time for the people of Peterborough to dedicate themselves to the task of making conditions safer for themselves and for the public generally?

With hundreds of new drivers at the wheel, with the volume of traffic in the city and o the highways steadily increasing there is a challenge to motorists to follow safety first rules, to obey the golden rule at all times, both as regards other drivers and in the case of the pedestrian.

The man on foot must do his part by being careful as he croses the street and by refraining from jay walking.

And above all parents should never cease warning their children as to the perils of street traffic.

Bathing in supervised beaches, and careful handling of boats would do much to keep down the drowning record.

Celebrate the Jubilee by a safety year.

HEN NUMBER SIX.

The poultry world is waiting with bated breath for the next installment of that thrilling mystery, "The Inside Story of Hen Number 6." Who owns this world-famous egg-producing marvel? Where was she bred and raised? And what on earth induced her to lay 351 eggs in 365 days?

Just at present, the first question is of prime importance. When Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie rose in the House of Commons on Tuesday to sing the praises of Hen Number 6, he said she was raised on the Government Experimental Farm in British Columbia. At the same time, the people of Ontario had just been informed that this wonder bird was the property of the Hon. John S. Martin and was one of a pen of ten birds, all of which had been serious contenders in the egg-laying contest in 1926 at Agassiz, B. C., where the world's record was hung up. From still another source comes the claim that Hen Number 6 is not the property of the Government Experimental Station, but of the University of British Columbia.

It may seem a trivial thing, after this hen has shattered all the traditions of poultrydom, to quarrel over a little thing like ownership, but people interested in world's records have always been particular about details, and they like to get them straight. Quite right, too. Besides, after any new record is created, there are always the screen rights, vaudeville rights, advertising rights and so on to consider, and no Province is going to stand idly by while another romps away with honors that are not deserved. If this is a Western Ontario hen the public is entitled to know it.

The hen that has so shattered the serenity of the egg-eating world, and that just at the season when eggs bulk large on the menu, is white in color. So are the hens which the Hon. John S. Martin raises at Port Dover. But the prize-winner is said to be a Leghorn. Mr. Martin's hens, so far as the public knows, have always been Wyandottes. Here is another mystery to be solved. One fact is clear—that Hen Number 6, regardless of her origin or ownership, wears the laurels. After her achievement was announced, said Dr. Tolmie, it took two stenographers working at top speed to answer the inquiries and congratulations that were sent from almost every country on the globe. It is not every hen that needs a secretariat. Most hens manage to struggle along without even a written record. But then the ordinary pullet is not in the same class. The performance of Hen Number 6, translated to a popular idiom, is equivalent to a batting average of .972 for the season. Search where you will, big leagues or bushes, and you find nothing to compare with that. The ordinary layers bat from .200 to .400. They simply haven't the technique.

After all, when it comes to hens, it is not the breed or the ownership that interests the public; it is quantity production. Even the experts find it pretty hard to distinguish between an omelet made of Leghorn eggs and one made of Wyandotte eggs. Winking slyly up at the chef from the bottom of the frying-pan, they all look alike, and when hard-boiled, all eggs are absolute equals. The thing to know about eggs is how quickly a crate can be filled. Farmers want hens that more than pay their board; that meet the payments on the car and help keep the children in high school. That is why the accomplishment of Hen Number 6 is noteworthy. That is why there should be no veil of mystery surrounding her antecedents or her ownership or any other details whatsoever. The world is awaiting the inside story.—London Advertiser.

A SHAMEFUL CONVENTION.

The Ontario section of the Canadian Labor party outdid itself at its annual convention just concluded in Hamilton. Resolutions and suggestions came thick and fast, the majority of them being of a destructive, rather than a constructive, character. The party appears to be "agin the Government," and everything else which bears the stamp of authority or stability. Not only the established order of government, but the established order of religion were hotly assailed by the delegates, coming in for scornful derision and violent abuse, and, of course, "capitalism" is anathema. Insults were hurled at our administrators, from the King's representative in this Province downwards. Organizations rendering splendid services to the community were the subject of the bitterest condemnation. The Union Jack, and other things associated with one's patriotic sensibilities, were held up to scorn, and, if the resolutions and recommendations of speakers had any influence at all, the youth of Ontario would be deliberately estranged from its most sacred allegiance to whatever is dear to the heart of the Britisher, and systematically weaned away from all forms of religion.

Of course, this band of radical agitators in the "Labor party" are not really representative of labor at all. As London has its Hyde Park, where the abnormal and subnormal can let off steam to the relief of their heated imaginations and the amusement of the bystanders, so Canada has its extreme section of the Canadian Labor party. It is not necessary to take their vaporings seriously, but those who doubt the existence of a Communistic sentiment in the country do not have to go very far for evidence when expressions of opinion such as those voiced in the course of the convention are given a hearing. It would be unfair to judge the entire body by its more violent members, but there is no mistaking the general tone of the gathering, which was distinctly anti-social, anti-constitutional, anti-religious and in every sense unpatriotic. It is only fair to point out that the more shameless resolutions were sponsored, as a rule, by the Toronto Communists, already so notorious that nothing they can do can add very much to the discredit in which they stand in the minds of all decent citizens.—Hamilton Spectator.

CARE OF POULTRY LECTURE SUBJECT

F. Walsh Gives Interesting Address To Local Poultry Association.

In the W.O.W. Hall last night a large number of members of the Peterborough Poultry Association gathered to hear an address by Fred Walsh of the Quaker Oats.

The President, Frank Dawson, who acted as chairman, in opening the meeting, mentioned how pleased he was to see the number of ladies present. Extra chairs had to be brought in to accommodate the crowd.

Mr. Walsh then spoke on the subject of Management of Poultry, dividing his lecture into four parts: Breeding, Feeding, Housing, and General Management.

He was in favor of mixing different breeds if a large yield of eggs was the desired end in view, but if show birds were wanted then keeping to the one strain and the mating of sire to daughter and mother to son would make a bird that would likely be true to form.

Line and in-breding, Mr. Walsh claimed, had the tendency to weaken the internal organs of the hen and consequently would cut down the egg supply. On the other hand mating first class cockerels of one breed to hens of another breed caused the birds to have poor outside characteristics, but great laying possibilities.

In the feeding, Mr. Walsh said that he was not there to boost the company he was working for but to give out some information that might help some with their difficulties.

Feeding is the part of the poultry business where a profit or loss is made. Seventy-five per cent of the food that a hen uses goes to build up body tissue; to keep the body warm and the balance of food is for egg production, as Mr. Walsh stated, for reproduction of its species which takes the best that a hen has. Care has to be taken that the right amount ofp rotein and carbohydrates are given to the birds. Otherwise they may be too thin or too fat.

If a hen lays 150 eggs in a year it uses half its weight of pure limestone for shells and the hen must have this lime in some form or it will lay soft shells. Oyster shells are a suitable source of supply.

As Mr. Walsh has travelled in all parts of Europe and North America, in speaking of the housing of hens he spoke with great definiteness. Four clear principles were mentioned, the ned of sunlight absence of dampness, need of cleanliness, and perfect ventilation. More diseases are caused by the neglect of them than from any other known reason.

In the last part of his discourse, he gave causes for bad luck experienced by people who have incubators. Largely, he thought, this could be blamed on improper form of diet and either excessive or insufficient humidity in the machine. Temperature also plays an important part in the success in hatching.

A time was given for questions and a few took the opportunity to get help for their own needs. One gentleman asked what could be done to cause the increase of price of eggs. In reply, the speaker said that there was only one way as far as he knew, and that was to create a greater demand for the eggs as is being done in the country with milk.

One hour was then spent while Mr. Walsh operated a motion picture machine, which showed very clearly how his company makes it own particular brand of poultry food.

Fred Holmes moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Walsh for his educational address and it was seconded by Eric H. White. Hearty applause showed that it was carried unanimously.

Mr. Walsh replied saying it was indeed a pleasure to be of help to the Association.

A dainty lunch was then served by the directors of the Association, and some of the office staff of the Quaker Oats. Bread and cake used were made in the laboratory of the company from products of the concern.

Verne Morphet sang a solo, "Falling in Love." Alex. Donley, who had charge of the musical program, sang a parody on some old favorite songs in which hens and eggs were mentioned a great number of times. George Nicholls was the pianist for the evening.

Before closing the meeting, Mr. Dawson called on R. Denne, who urged all present to join the organization and help it meet its obligations and enjoy the good things that are in store for them.

Professor Marcelles is to address the Association at the next meeting, which will be held May 18. He will speak on the Poultry Convention, to be held in Ottawa this July.

The directors with a few exceptions were all present. They are Messrs. Eric H. White, Clayton Sanderson, George Buller, A. R. Robson, Kent Throop, Leo Murphy, H. T. Lush, Bert Trotter, Bruce Law, R. D. Robson, W. Fisher, and B. F. Robson.

First Vice-President is S. E. Moncrief and Second Vice-President is R. M. Brown. W. J. C. Nesbitt is Secretary, and George Paxman is Treasurer. The auditors of the Association are Messrs. V. J. Tully and Fred Holmes.

THE ART OF BEING KIND

Disease thrives on discord, while health is the natural outgrowth of a life based on kindness and living in harmony with Nature's laws.

Waste of energy is one of the greatest causes of disease and wherever there is happiness there is less waste of energy. The less energy you waste the more vitality you will possess. An abundance of vitality will insure you against sickness of all kinds. In no way do we waste more energy than through the irritations which come from a critical attitude towards others. If we appoint ourselves judges to condemn the actions of others, we must suffer the consequences to ourselves in enervation and a depletion of our vital forces.

It is so easy to copy the example of others and develop the habit of saying something sarcastic or critical about every subject which comes up for discussion. If you are earnestly seeking health you cannot afford to fall into such destructive habits. There is no one so detestable that you cannot learn to say something good about them. This may not come naturally to you at first, but this good habit can soon be established. It will prove to be an interesting and helpful game. You will be surprised to find your friends becoming more attached to you, while new acquaintances whom you meet will be unconsciously impressed by your cheerful comments. Make your slogan, "A King Thought and A Kind Word for Everyone and Everything."

Every night before retiring take a mental inventory and see what you have accomplished that day. Every day try to do better and you will soon be welcomed everywhere, and be hourly thrilled by your achievement in spreading Sunshine. You will soon be delighted to discover that you are not so tired at night and have more vitality for your daily work. Your "nervous" indigestion will quickly disappear, and if you eat good food it will nourish you better than ever before. You will no longer be depressed and weary but will look forward to each day with eagerness.

Train yourself to think of happiness as a mental necessity, just as food is a physical necessity, and you will soon learn to know that being kind to others will create the most lasting happiness. Find fault with no one, condemn no one and antagonize no one. Do not try to be witty or tell a joke at the expense of some one, but study how you can say something which will leave a kindly thought afterwards. If you sow kind thoughts, sweet remembrances will grow from them and you will be happier and healthier through learning the art of being kind.

"And to think that time after time he wanted to increase his life insurance and I talked him out of it. How hard I worked against myself and against my own interests. I wanted a bigger house. I wanted luxuries! I wanted everything except the protection he was urging me to accept.

"I got my own way, of course. The Life Insurance was not taken. I robbed the children of their education, of my care, perhaps of their future success in life. I robbed myself of the children's companionship. For now I must leave them to earn the money needed to keep our little family together—the money that Life Insurance would have given me if he had had his way—

FIRE FIGHTERS ARE HEROES OF NEW M-G-M PRODUCTION

Dramatic Story, with Thrills and Romance, Woven Against Background of Fire-Fighters

"THE FIRE BRIGADE" AN EPIC

"The Fire Brigade", coming to the Capitol Theatre tomorrow might easily be called a picture of highlights, so full of thrills it is.

This production does for the fire- what "The Big Parade" did for the American soldier and brings before the public in an arresting manner the necessity of fire prevention without at any time becoming a preachment on the subject.

A gripping, dramatic story has been woven against a background of fire and fire-fighters that holds the spectator from beginning to end. The story tells of "Terry O'Neill", descended from a long line of fire-fighters, his initial enthusiasm, his love for the daughter of a wealthy man whom he laters discovers to be the head of the whole city government, his disgust at this man's crooked methods and the consequent quarrel with his sweetheart over her father, his heroism in a spectacular orphanage fire caused through the neglect of the politician, and the final reconciliation with the daughter and his later public recognition for his heroism.

The studio had the expert cooperation of the International Order of Fire Engineers in the making of the picture, and the fire scenes were all staged by the Los Angeles Fire Department under the supervision of Fire Chief Ralph Scott of that city.

"The Fire Brigade" is the first directorial effort of William Nigh for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and places him in a similar position to that of King Vidor after he had triumphed with "The Big Parade."

Charles Ray is seen in the role of "Terry O'Neill." Noted for his humaness, the actor has excelled himself in the delineation of this character. It is one that allows for considerable comedy, yet depends principally upon drama for its appeal.

May McAvoy is seen opposite Ray as "Helen Corwin," daughter of the politician, and not only has photographed to the finest advantage, but brings a wealth of charm and understanding to her part.

Tom O'Brien, remembered for his role as "Bull" in "The Big Parade", plays Ray's big brother in this picture, and though he dies all too soon in the story, leaves a lasting impression.

Holmes Herbert, as the father of the heroine, manages to make himself thoroughly despicable, with his love for his daughter the one redeeming feature.

An elaborate costume ball, photographed in technicolor, brings a surprising note of beauty to the film.

A large percentage of the profits derived from the showing of "The Fire Brigade" are to be given to the International Order of Fire Engineers for their work in the cause of fire prevention, and another portion will go to various fire and sick benefits maintained by fire department locals.

AT THE REGENT.

AT LAST! THE SCREEN'S GREATEST FIGHT!

Trapped at last! Doomsdorf, the huge escaped convict, master of the shipwrecked souls who have been cast ashore on this Arctic island, trapped at last! Carefully, cunningly, the young regenerated wastrel has set his plans, has schemed to entoil this grinning Frankenstein in a mesh of death from which he will never live to pursue his inhuman scourging of the four shrinking people at his mercy. And at last Doomsdorf has slipped unwittingly, with the hoarse grunt of a shaggy animal, into the clutching steel jaws of the bear-trap to which the fleeing smaller man has been leading him. Caught! With the sharp prongs of the trap biting fiendishly into his legs!

But Doomsdorf is not to die without a final struggle. This hulking ex-convict, this lowering bull of a man contrives with all the cunning of which his evil nature is capable to drag his avenger down into death with him. All about is the soft heaping snow above looms an icy crag—and the two men, plunging, panting, whirling, fight desperate for their lives. The smaller man putting in solid cutting blows, the brute, dragging his trap with one stiff leg, striving to overpower his tormentor with the cruel force of his crushing fists....And then — a cry from the girl watching—a sudden devastating crack of ice — a swiftly sliding, slipping mass of ice thundering down—the smaller man leaps to safety—and with a final roar the Arctic claims its whilom master—Doomsdorf is buried beneath tons of snow and ice!

As thrilling a climax as the inveterate movie fan can ask...It is from "The Isle of Retribution," a Gold Bond produced by F. B. O., starring Lillian Rich, Robert Frazer, Victor McLaglen, and Mildred Harris, coming to the Regent Theatre for a three-day run beginning to-morrow.

Lightning's Queer Freaks During Storm at Cobalt

COBALT, Ont., April 20.—Two houses were struck by lightning and one woman was slightly burned in a sharp thunder storm which broke over the town last night. Mrs. Walter Bellsham had one arm affected when a bolt struck the home of her son-in-law, Harry Rodgers, Baker street. The lightning followed the electric wires into the house, did some damage to the lighting fixtures downstairs, went through the floor, and followed a wire fence to the home of Allan Jones, the next neighbor.

At the Jones place a thin strip of wood, about an inch wide, was ripped off the top of a dresser, and the hands of a watch lying on the same article of furniture were removed.

LONDON, April 20.—The Royal Burgh of Wick, county town of Caithness, Scotland, was said to be swarming with "shebeens" recently. "Shebeen" is the Scottish word for bootlegged. The town voted "no license" six years ago.

TO GIVE LECTURE ON CANADIAN FRUIT

Miss E. Preston Speaks Under Auspices of Council of Women.

In connection with the visit to the city to-morrow of Miss E. Preston, of the Fruit Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, who is giving a lecture and demonstration on Canadian fruits and vegetables at half-past two o'clock in the hall of the Canadian Legion, under the auspices of the Local Council of Women, who are extending an invitation to anyone from city and country to attend, the following extract from the 'Hamilton Spectator' of March 2nd, 1926, regarding Miss Preston's visit there on the same errand, is interesting:

"Apples in particular was the theme of a highly instructive lecture given this afternoon by Miss Preston of the Fruit Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Many women availed themselves of the advantage to be gained from such a demonstration, which was held under the auspices of the Local Council of Women. Miss Preston spoke to the women in the board room of the Y.W.C.A. She gave a summary of the apple as a food, telling of its value, and showing the many ways in which it could be prepared. She strongly emphasized the fact that the apple contained all four of the vitamines, and important minerals, and that it was an aid to health and beauty.

Use Canadian Products.

"The speaker urged those present to use Canadian products, especially fruits and vegetables, as their flavor was so much better than that of imported products. Instead of oranges she told of the use of tomatoes, both in season and canned, stating that they had an equal food value with the imported fruit. As to getting other fruits and vegetables in season, Miss Preston stated that properly canned fruits contained just as much of their food values, and she encouraged the use of them at every meal.

"To prolong your life and increase your mental vigor, eat more apples, was the advice of an eminent London scientist, and this Miss Preston emphasized in her lecture to-day. The apple was a wonderful body builder, said the speaker, containing more of the actual requirements of the body than any other fruit or vegetable. It contained more iron than the much advertised raisin, and more phosphates than any other food, fish included. It also contained the four vitamines, potash and lime, which are so essential to build up the teeth and bones of the body.

Superior Canadian Apple.

"It had been proven, she said, that the Canadian apples were far superior to the imported apples, and should always be used, not only to purchase Canadian products, but because the starch in the apple does not turn to sugar until the apple is ripe. All imported apples were picked while quite green, to ensure keeping, thus containing nothing but starch.

Eat With Skins On.

"Apples are more beneficial if eaten with the skins on, and also cooked with the skins on, because next to the skin comes a mineral and vitamine which the body needs. These are removed if the apple is peeled.

"Miss Preston gave the following interesting comparisons of the sugar contained in the various fruits: Peaches 5.3, apples 14, pears 15.8, and the apparently sour plum 20.3.

Valuable Vitamines.

"Miss Preston referred to the vitamines known as A, B, C and D. Vitamine A, she declared, was contained in apples, whole milk, green vegetables, young carrots and young beets; vitamine B in apples, vegetables, fruit, yeast and whole wheat; vitamine D in apples, cod liver oil, vegetables, yolks of eggs, butter and the sun's rays on the bare skin; vitamine C in apples, tomatoes, Canadian fruit and vegetables."

Make the Acquaintance of WILD RASPBERRY Flavoring in Jelly!

IF every woman who has meals to prepare could see for herself how McLarens Limited, use the actual juice of Muskoka Wild Raspberries to flavor "Invincible" Raspberry Jelly Powder, she would serve "Invincible" desserts more frequently.

For she would see the reason for the finer, "fruity" flavor, the more tender texture and the greater wholesomeness that result from the exclusive McLaren process. This method includes using the actual juices of fresh fruits—such as Muskoka wild raspberries, with their irresistible flavor, choice Niagara cherries, strawberries, grapes and currants and luscious pineapples from the South—for flavoring, first-grade sugar for sweetening and just enough highly-nutritious gelatine to give "Invincible" desserts the tender consistency of real-fruit jelly.

She would see these healthful ingredients mixed, dried in special ovens, ground into smooth powder and packaged perfectly without ever being touched by human hands!

She would observe that frequent inspections make it impossible for long-established quality standards to be lowered one iota. She would join the host of other women who always definitely specify:

OBITUARY

JOSEPH WILLMAN.

BONAR LAW, April 20. — The death of Mr. Joseph Willman, aged 68, on Thursday last, came with a shock to his many friends. Although he had been ill for the past few weeks hope was held out for his recovery.

The funeral took place on Sunday from his late residence at Spry's settlement. Interment at the Lakeview cemetery, Madoc.

The funeral services were conducted by Mr. Wager of the Standard church.

The late Mr. Willman leaves to mourn his loss, beside his sorrowing widow, eight children, namely, James, Leatha, Alford, Irvin, Kenneth, Thelma, Audrey and baby Arnold; also four brothers and two sisters.

The beautiful floral tributes were a broken circle by the family, a wreath by Mr. and Mrs. Brad. Spry, and friends; a spray, Mr. S. H. Gifford, a sheaf, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker; a spray, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Robertson; a spray, Mr. and Mrs David Wellman; a sheaf, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Masters; a spray, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mason; Easter lilies, by Mrs. Sarah Devolin.

Friends from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mason of Cannifton, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker, Oshawa, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Walker, Bancroft, Mrs. A. H. Robertson, Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Reid Hillier, Mr. A. H. Gifford, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Reid, Stirling, Mrs. Charles Willman, Trenton, Messrs. George and Robt. Reid, Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. W. Gifford, Marmora.

DOROTHY CHURCH.

On Monday last, April 11th, the funeral of Dorothy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Church, Mount Julian, took place in Lakefield. The service was held in the Regent St. United church, and was conducted by the Revs. S. A. Kemp, pastor, and the Rev. J. W. Ogden, Apsley. Mrs. Dr. Moore was organist. The burial took place in the Lakefield cemetery.

The Misses Alice Payne, Fern Bolton, Grace Bickle and Hannah Webster acted as bearers.

The casket was covered with beautiful wreaths.

A large number of relatives and friends from Haultain and Mount Julian attended the funeral.

Among those present from other places were Mr. David Newell, grandfather of the deceased, of Ahmic Harbor, Ont., Mr. John Newell, uncle, Mrs. Dauncey, aunt, also of Ahmic Harbor; Mrs. Kelsey of Gravenhurst; Miss Dolly Church, of Belleville, and Mrs. W. Church, of Peterborough.

Great sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents, in the loss of their little daughter. Although she was but six years old she had won her way to the hearts of all who knew her by the sweet disposition and grace of manner she always manifested. While the end came somewhat suddenly it was not wholly unexpected, as Dorothy had been suffering from a throat affection for some time. A few weeks ago she was taken by her parents to Peterborough for examination, and upon the advice of the doctors there was taken on to Toronto, where she spent a short time in the Sick Children's Hospital, and afterwards in the care of a specialist. Love and skill were without avail, and she passed away on Friday, the 8th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Arnott, 1113 College street.

On Monday, the sorrowing parents, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Church, Mount Julian, brought the body by train to Lakefield, for interment.

JOHN BLAKELY.

The pall bearers were: John Jones, John Ibey, George Bartlett, William Frazer, Joseph and Augustus Bertrand.

Interment was made in Mount Pleasant cemetery, where his remains were laid beside those of his wife, who predeceased him one and one-half years ago.

MISS MARGARET RUNCIMAN.

NORHAM, April 20.—Miss Margaret Runciman passed away early Sunday morning after an illness that lasted over many years. Some twenty years ago the deceased suffered a fall from which she never wholly recovered, and which compelled her to spend a considerable part of the last seventeen years confined to her bed. She was born within a short distance of where her death took place at Bradley's Corners. She was well and favorably known and for many years a faithful and loyal member of the Warkworth Presbyterian Church. Left to mourn are one brother George and one sister Madeline, both at home.

The funeral service was held at the home on Monday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Fowler of Warkworth.

The pall-bearers were: Henry Carlow, Robert Nelson, George Huchison, Henry Puffer, Stanley Ellis and Charles West.

Interment took place at Warkworth.

MILLBROOK LADY IS 92 YEARS OLD

Mrs. T. Gillott Celebrates Her Birthday Quietly With Family.

MILLBROOK, April 20. — Mrs. Thomas Gillott, who enjoys the distinction of being the oldest resident in this community, and possibly in Cavan as well, passed her ninety-second birthday on Easter Sunday, April 17, the occasion being quietly observed with her own family.

Considering her advanced age, Mrs. Gillott has the enjoyment of all her faculties to a remarkable degree. She has lived in Millbrook continuously for about 72 years, coming here some two years after her marriage to the late Mr. Thomas Gillott, which took place on November 14, 1853. Their home was at first in Port Hope, the wedding having taken place at the Baptist Parsonage in that town, Rev. Mr. Baird performing the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillott observed their golden wedding anniversay in November, 1903. Mr. Gillott carried on a successful furniture and undertaking business here for over fifty years his death occurring on August 1, 1904.

He retired from active business life about three years before his decease, handing over his business to his son, W. J. E. Gillott, who has carried on successfully ever since, and still retains the firm name.

Mrs. Gillott was able to enjoy a motor drive as far as Bewdley, Rice Lake, on Sunday afternoon, through the kindness of J. N. McGill, and afterward he family party gathered about the dinner table at 6 p.m.

A number of friends called during the afternoon and evening to extend congratulations and best wishes, and were delighted to find Mrs. Gillott in such excellent health. Miss Elizabeth O'Brian, who celebrated her ninetieth birthday on Saturday, March 26, is the next oldest resident of this locality.

Group Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Douglas entertained the members of the "Seventh Line Group," which functioned so successfully during the series of "Church Nights" recently held in the United Church, at their home, Seventh Line, Cavan, on Friday evening, about forty being present for the gathering.

Games, music, and other entertainment filled the time pleasantly, and it was about midnight when the hostess, assisted by her cousin, Mrs. F. H. Smith, Millbrook, served a dainty supper, the hour spent about the tables giving further opportunity for enjoyable conversation.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Wes. Williamson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Fallis and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. McMahon and family, Mr. and Mrs. Will Larmer, Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Lang and family, Mr. and Mrs Walter Lane, Mrs. F. Lang and Mr. Willis Lang, Miss Kennedy, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Lane Senior, Miss Hazel Morton, Mrs. F. H. Smith and Bernice, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Argue and family, and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rowland and family.

The Seventh Line group enjoyed so thoroughly the social gatherings in some of the homes made necessary because of preparations for their share of the programmes during the church night series they intend continuing these pleasant evenings, as social neighborhood events for a few weeks longer, until the increasing claims of the spring work make it imperative to hold them over again until next fall.

The Wide Awakes group of Canadian Girls in Training is holding its annual basket social in the basement of the United Church on Wednesday, April 20, and a good programme is being prepared. A two-act play, "Gaffer Gray's Legacy", a short cantata, "Mother Earth and Her Children", with the male quartette, Miss Muriel Matchett, the junior orchestra, and other numbers, will be attractive features.

The choir of the United church is repeating its "Old Tyme Concert", which gave such pleasure here last week, at Cavanville on Friday, April 29, by special request. A number of others from the village will accompany the choir for the occasion.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

Rowan wiped his hands nervously on the knees of his trousers before beginning his story. "Well, it was about nine o'clock Thanksgiving night—"

"How do you fix the time, if you can fix it accurately, Rowan?" Banning prompted him.

"I go off duty at nine and another guy—I mean another man—comes on then and works 'til morning. This other guy—man—his name is Ben Welch—was late, showing up that night, it being Thanksgiving and all, and I'd just begun to worry about a date I had for a quarter past nine, when Chris Wiley—"

"You had looked at your watch?" Banning prompted him impatiently.

"I'd looked at the clock in the garage, and it said two minutes after nine, and Welch still hadn't showed up, though we usually come on about five minutes ahead of time to change into our overalls for work," Rowan explained conscientiously.

"Go on in your own way." Banning directed him with evident satisfaction.

"Well, Chris Wiley, who kept his car at our garage at nights, because he didn't have no garage at his apartment house around the corner, drove up to the gas filling machine—"

"Go ahead, Rowan. Was Wiley alone?"

"No, sir. He had Miss Cherry Lane with him in the car."

"Mr. Wiley wanted to purchase gas and oil?" Banning suggested.

"Yeah. He had me fill 'er up with gas and oil. He had about three gallons of gas in his tank, and I give him seven more and two quarts of oil."

"Was there any conversation between you and Mr. Wiley other than his request for gas and oil?" Banning helped the witness.

"Well, he said, 'Fill 'er up, Dick. We've got a long trip ahead of us. And make it snappy.' I hustled up with my work and Mr. Wiley drove off—"

"Just a minute, Rowan. Did he pay for the gas and oil?"

"No, sir. He had a charge account with us, since he kept his car there all the time."

"How long did the work take you? In other words, about how many minutes were Mr. Wiley and Miss Cherry there, before they drove on?"

"About three or four minutes, I guess. I give the radiator a big drink of water, too," Rowan stated.

"Did you get a good look at Miss Cherry and Mr. Wiley, Rowan?"

"Sure. Wiley talked to me, leaning out of the open window of the coupe and I stood right by the running board, where I could see both of them plain. And when I filled the radiator I looked right through the windshield at Miss Cherry."

"Why did you look at her, Rowan? For any particular reason?" Banning asked.

"Well," the boy flushed, and a titter rose in the rear of the courtroom. "She was—she was crying, or had been crying, for she was dabbing at her eyes with a handkerchief," Rowan uttered the sensational words apologetically, but not a vestige of their significance was lost upon the hectically writing reporters or upon Stephen Churchill, who immediately went into conference with his white-faced little client.

"What was the expression on Miss Cherry's face, Rowan?" Banning persisted, with a glance of supreme satisfaction at the suddenly attentive jury.

"She—she looked scared, kept glancing back over her shoulder out of the oval window in the back of the coupe," Rowan stated hesitatingly.

"What was Mr. Wiley's manner, Rowan?"

"He was in a big hurry, impatient, spoke sharp to me."

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1927.

Except for the early morning hours this should be a fortunate day, according to astrology.

Women now come under a sway making for extreme activity in public affairs.

New movements in which the universal concept of life is stressed are to be prominent in the summer months when there will be great mental unrest.

This is read as a fairly auspicious wedding day, since it promises mutual faith and understanding through economic struggles.

Theatres should benefit from this planetary government which seems to promise better plays which will have a real significance in the interpretation of life.

This should be a fairly lucky day for starting on journeys, especially on ocean voyages.

The preception is believed to be keen, while this configuration and for this reason many hidden things are revealed.

The stars presage many startling revelations touching on secret diplomacy and new international treaties.

The seers, who foretell the possibility of another world war, declare that thus men are to learn the futility of physical combat, for whole peoples will be destroyed.

Taxes are to increase greatly in many European nations and the United States will become even more than previously the world's coveted haven, it is foretold.

Many temptations to speculate will be offered in the next few weeks when sudden fortunes will be made, but wise men will not take severe risks.

Now is the time to conserve the health, for there may be a far-reaching epidemic.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be wise and conservative in the coming year. Ambition may cause reverses.

Children born on this day may be inclined to be visionary and even egotistical. They should be taught to place a true valuation on themselves.

IN POLICE COURT.

A local citizen pleaded guilty this morning in police court to reckless driving on George Street. He was fined $25.00 and costs and given a warning by Magistrate Langley that if brought before him again on the same charge the maximum fine of $200 will be given. Another citizen pleaded guilty to being intoxicated on George Street and was fined $10 and costs or one month's imprisonment.

ROUTINE WORK BY C.A.S. BOARD

Regular Meeting Held—Report of Provincial Gathering.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the Council Chamber, Mrs. W. H. Gibbs presiding in the absence of the president, Rev. Dr. Blagrave. The following ladies and gentlemen were present: Mesdames Newhall, Oke, Wiggins, Fanning; Messrs. J. Edgar, W. J. Hopwood, F. H. Dobbin, J. Abraham, R. H. Parsons, and Alderman W. Stocker.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, J. Edgar, who also gave the agent's report and report of the matron for the month. Agreements between the society and the new matron and caretaker, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Brooks, were also read by Mr. Edgar, outlining the duties of those in charge of the Shelter, in return for the combined sum of $1,200 per annum, the payment of suitable help for the matron, and a fortnight's holiday for each with salary.

During the month, 9 applications were made for children, 3 were made wards; complaints received, 5; investigations, 5; mail received, 41; mail sent out, 110; approximate mileage, 300 miles, places visited, Norwood, Campbellford, and Millbrook; police court attendance, 2.

The matron's report showed 15 children in the Shelter during the past month, 1 brought in, and 3 sent out, with 1 death.

A letter from Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., was received the Board deciding to take no action in the matter of returning to her home the two children of Mrs. Rebecca King.

Alderman W. Stocker was appointed as Supervisor of the Shelter grounds, on request of Mr. Edgar who has held this position since his appointment at the last annual meeting.

A request from a family in the city who wish their four children to be taken care of at the Shelter, at regular board rates, during a three weeks' period when the mother is in the hospital, was acceded to, R. H. Parsons dissenting from the arrangement on the grounds that such cases did not come within the scope of the society's activities.

Several of the members were of the opinion, however, that such action might be taken, and spoke of the difficulty in procuring female help of any type to help in housework in such emergencies.

Mr. Edgar submitted his report of the annual conference of Children's Aid Societies in the province, attended by him recently in Toronto, a full outline of which appears in other columns.

Alderman Stocker, in pursuit of his new duties, gave the Board a list of some requirement in the way of seed potatoes and Leghorn fowl and the pair of little pigs which are annually fattened at the Shelter for future consumption by its inmates. The ladies also made a request for a cupboard to hold supplies and a book-shelf for the children's books.

Donations were received, as follows: Sandwiches from Hooper's bakery, cakes from the Oddfellows' Society; cakes, pies and tarts from Dawson's Bakery; bread from the Quaker Oats Company; clothing from Mrs. Inkpin; hot cross buns from Menzies' Bakery; and from Fitzpatrick and Geraghty, and cakes from the I.O.D.E.

Accounts were passed as follows: the report being read by Mrs. James Fanning: Jopling's, $13.92; Peterboro Floral Company, $4; Sanitary Ice Co (wood), $10.25; Peterboro Canoe Co., $26.50; C. W. Wiggins, $1.15; Soden's Bookstore, $3.65; F. H. Dobbin (table for the new office of the society in the City Buildings), $6.00; P. Black, $3.49; Brown's Hardware, $2.70; W. H. Meredith, $43.04; Bell Telephone Co., $4.85; Turnbull Co., $6.24; R. Denne, $2.75; Peterboro Milk Products, $12.60; Canadian Packing Co., $22.00; F. H. Dawson, $3.40; Leader's Store, 98c; B. Heard, grocer, $9.40; R. Neill, $3.60; J. Edgar, $3.95. Total $186.45.

Will Have Six or Eight New Places in City of Toronto.

BUSY ON DETAILS.

TORONTO, April 20. — The Government Control Commission, after spending some weeks upon details of the impending liquor policy of the province and more particularly upon the details of the local situation, has come close to the completion of its work in the latter regard. Final arrangements for the Toronto stores will in all probability be made before the end of the present week, and Chairman Hanna was able to state generally yesterday what they will be.

"There will be six or eight stores, in addition to the present two which are operating" he said, the two present stores being the Wellington St. and the Dundas Street dispensaries.

Mr. Hanna further stated that the stores would be distributed at points throughout the city which would reasonably cover the city territory. In addition to the present Wellington street dispensary, which will rank as a down town store, there will, Chairman Hanna said, be one other down town store.

Chairman Hanna's statement that the number of stores to be opened at first in Toronto under the Government Control plan is to be "six or eight," is regarded as probably implying the latter figure. Circles in Toronto which have regarded themselves as being closely informed of the Commission's intentions in this respect have expected that the initial number of stores in the city would be 10. This total would be reached by the opening of eight in addition to the present two dispensaries.

Toronto Market Irregular In Active Trading To-day

TORONTO, April 20 (Canadian Press).—Trading was fairly active, the market broad, and price movements irregular on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. BOYS FALL UNDER BIG FARM ROLLER Lad of 11 is Killed and Young Brother Badly Hurt.

SEAFORTH, April 20 (Canadian Press).—One young son of David J. McFarlane, Tenth Concession of McKillop Township, was instantly killed and a second is in a critical condition as the result of being drawn under a heavy roller upon which they had been clinging when a team of horses drawing it ran away on Monday. The lad who met death was George Somerville McFarlane, who was in his eleventh year. His brother is about three years younger.

The boys had gone out to a field with their father, and both got on to a roller with which it was intended to do work. The horses somehow became unmanageable and ran away. They ran through the barnyard, and in doing so struck a post, causing the lads to be thrown under the roller. The elder boy, George, had been holding the reins.

George had his left arm severed, besides having his skull fractured. The younger boy received serious injuries, his condition being reported as critical.

Omemee Banker Finds Muskrat In His Cellar

LINDSAY, April 20. — (Bank Manager Cowan of Omemee unintentionally joined the ranks of the trappers last week. Hearing what he believed to be a rat in the cellar, he set a trap, and succeeded in clipping a few hairs which were off-color from what he set out to obtain. He was somewhat mystified as to how the rat got into the cellar, as there is no drain. There is a sinkhole, however, and an automatic pump, which starts to work when the water reaches a certain level. In searching for the rodent, what was Mr. Cowan's surprise to discover in the waterhole a splendid muskrat, which evidently gained admission through the coal chute.

For Larger and Surer Returns Invest in Youth

Boys are essentially good—but they do get into mischief.

Boys are essentially active—and need an outlet for excess steam.

Boys are our greatest asset—our constant problem.

The typical, high-spirited, bright-eyed young rascal needs an outlet for his energy, his ambition and that "pent-up-in-school" feeling.

The Young Men's Christian Association, through many years of experimenting, testing, trying, proving, has found some ways. Boys like them, take to them and they keep them out of mischief—direct their energies—and help them develop themselves into sturdier youth and more vigorous manhood.

Our boys need more of this program. It is inexpensive when compared to other costs. The average cost per Y-boy is around $15 a year. (Public Schools average over $47 per pupil—courts and reformatories much more.)

But because boys ARE boys, they can not pay ALL the cost.

Those citizens who recognize that it is just as necessary to build character—as to train brains—support such work willingly. Here is your opportunity to help solve the "youth problem."

May we count upon you for the maximum this year?

THESE ARE SOME OF THE MEN BACK OF PETERBOROUGH Y.M.C.A.

Helping Meet Peterborough's Most Fundamental Need

The Young Men's Christian Association, in a non-sectarian but thoroughly Christian way, is working to assist the fundamental agencies of the city in their task of character building.

The Association consists of a group of Christian men working in both Lay and Secretarial capacities. The type of these men is reflected in the lists below:

Leafs Divide Doubleheader With Bears at Newark

LEAFS FIND BATTING EYES IN SECOND GAME

Champions Land Heavily For 12-7 Victory Against Newark Bears.

ROCHESTER LOST.

Umpire Meyers Assailed With Pop Bottles at Syracuse Game.

NEW YORK, April 20 (Canadian Press)—Toronto and Newark divided a double header at Newark yesterday, the home team winning the first game by a score of 7 to 2 and losing the second, 12 to 7, as the Leafs found their batting eyes. Joe Zubris held up well in the first session and was never in danger outside the fifth and sixth frames. The champions landed heavily in the nightcap. Jack Conlon hit a home run for Newark.

Jersey City won the final game of its series with Rochester, 4 to 3, by scoring in the last half of the thirteenth inning. Buckalow relieved Gordonier in the fifth and held Rochester scoreless thereafter.

Call in Police

Syracuse took the odd game from Reading, 9 to 1. Umpire Otto Meyers was assailed with pop bottles when he banished Fred Merkle, of the Keys, for protesting the method of calling strikes and balls. Six police quelled a ten minute melee. A second scheduled game was called to permit Syracuse to catch a train.

The Bisons beat the Orioles in a game at Baltimore, 6 to 5. Scott knocked a homer, a double and a single for the Birds and Brewer added a homer, but Taylor, Devine, Cohen and Bisonette chalked up one circuit blow per man for Buffalo.

BOTTLES HELP OYSTERS.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Five hundred bottles were recently floated off Connecticut shores. More than 200 of these have been recovered and their courses plotted. The courses of the currents, as shown by the bottles, indicates where oyster spawning beds should be established, according to Bureau of Fisheries executives.

INJUNCTION IS FILED TO HALT SHARKEY MATCH

Cleveland Promoter Hopes To Force Maloney To Keep Contract.

WALLACE SIGNS.

Battling Basque Offers To Substitute For One of Fighters.

NEW YORK, April 20. — John Ringling secured his Easter lily a day late. It came in the shape of an injunction, restraining him and other directors of Madison Square Gardens from staging a heavyweight boxing match between Jack Sharkey and Jimmy Maloney on May 18.

The document was served on behalf of Promoter Walter Taylor, of Cleveland, who prays the court to suppress the Polo Grounds fight until Maloney fulfils a prior contract held by him. Taylor holds Maloney's signed contract to box Johnny Risko for him.

Paulino Saves Day.

However, the irrepressible Paulino Uzcudun saved the day. The Battling Basque, with the metal molars, came in right when the gloom was thickest. Without hesitation he offered to substitute for one or both of the fighters.

"Do not worry," his interpreters said he said. "I will fight Sharkey. Also I will fight Maloney. Fret not. The great Paulino will be ready at a second's notice. The fight shall go on!"

So Messrs. Ringling and Rickard are now ready to go into the injunction battle with light hearts. If they lose, they still have Paulino.

Officials of the Garden telegraphed Rickard to come home at once. He has been golfing in Florida. Jess McMahon said he would arrive here Thursday.

Tex May Fix It.

According to McMahon, the Garden has twenty-one days in which to file a reply to the Taylor injunction. In the meantime Rickard will be home, and it may be that he will settle the case out of court.

Dan Carroll's prolific fountain pen has provoked troubles in other quarters. Maloney's manager is still trying to talk himself out of an agreement to let Jim box Tom Heeney at Boston. The dispute will be settled at a meeting of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission, which has been called for Thursday.

The biggest news on Cauliflower Alley was the signing of Billy Wallace, the California lightweight, and Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express. They will meet in one of four ten-round bouts to be staged at the Polo Grounds on June 15.

MARMORA NEWS.

MARMORA, April 19.—Mr. Orvil Leonard and son, Albert, visited the former's sister, Mrs. R. Barber, at Deseronto on Sunday.

Mr. Sam Phillips returned on Monday from a trip to Kingston.

A spruce partridge was seen by Mr. J. P. Marrin near his Crowe Lake cottage on Wednesday. This is a rare bird in this district.

BUT NO DOUGHNUTS

RAY, N.D., April 20—Ninety cups of coffee, and all consumed in three hours and 28 minutes is the record claimed by Frank Trachimowicz, a section hand here. Frank went out to beat the record held by Gus Comstock, Fergus Falls, Minn., who drank 85 cups in seven hours. Frank claimed further that he had no difficulty in going to sleep after the affair with Lady Caffeine.

REASON ENOUGH

When we sell a man a used car we are naturally hoping that some day he will come back and buy a new car. Honesty aside, that alone seems reason enough for selling him a GOOD Used Car at a fair price.

GIANTS LOSE DOUBLE HEADER TO THE BRAVES

Teams Tie in Eighth Inning of the Second Frame.

ROBINS BIT DUST.

Cards Garner Dozen Hits Off Reds For 9-1 Victory.

NEW YORK, April 20 (Canadian Press)—Working on the mound at Cincinnati yesterday, Jess Haines let the Reds down with five hits and one run while the Cards garnered a dozen hits including two homers to win the final game of the series, 9 to 1. Bottomley and Hafey clouted the circuit blows.

Boston Braves trounced the New York Giants, 9 to 5, and 5 to 4 in a "patriots' day" double header in the bean town. Thirty-five thousand Bostonians saw the second contest in which the Giants tied it up in the eighth only to have Boston push the winning run in their part of the frame.

At Philadelphia the lowly Brooklyn Robins bit the dust for the seventh time this bright new season Jack Scott blanked them 4 to 0, allowing only four scattered hits. Dazzy Vance started for the Robins and was succeeded by Ehrhardt. "Cy" Williams knocked one for four bases.

The Pittsburgh-Chicago game was postponed because of rain.

ANNUAL MEETING OF TENNIS CLUB

Campbellford Association Had Prosperous Season Last Year.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20—The annual meeting of the Tennis Club was held in the Public Library last night with a large and enthusiastic gathering of ladies and gentlemen. President J. H. Bell occupied the chair and addressed the gathering in optimistic terms. The Club had enjoyed a very successful season in every way, and he congratulated Mr. Rollo on his very efficient service as secretary treasurer. The standard of play had improved wonderfully. The Club had won the "Tummon" challenge cup and was successful in retaining the silverware against the several challengers throughout the season. He eulogized the high class of sportsmen connected with the club and in conclusion he thanked the members for their co-operation during his term as president.

In the election of officers which followed Mr. Bell was re-elected president.

Dr. Longmore and R. W. Scott, vice-presidents; N. A. McCall, secretary-treasurer. Grounds committee, Walter Henson, chairman, R. W. Scott and Harry Free. Games committee, S. H. Neale, convenor, Miss L. Smith and any members of the executive committee. Three to form a quorum. Entertainment committee, convenors, Mrs. R. W. Scott, Mrs. W. Henson; Membership committee, Hylton Beattie, chairman. Auditors, Hylton Beattie, Jack Callahan. The chairmen and convenors of committees and elected officers form the executive body.

Considerable discussion arose over the advisability of raising the fee for 1927.

It was moved by H. Beatty, seconded by H. Free, that the fee for 1927 be $5.00 for first or second year players; $7.00 for third year and up.

An amendment to the motion was made by S. H. Neal and Lou Hay, That fee for 1927 be $5.00.

An amendment to the amendment was moved by C. S. Weston and Dr. Longmore that the fee for 1927 be $7.00. On a vote of the meeting the original motion was carried.

The secretary was instructed to write the secretary of the Central Ontario Tennis League asking for details as to how often games are played and on what days.

The executive was empowered to appoint a committee to choose players to represent the club in tournament and league games.

The plan of "Peg o' My Heart" under the auspices of the Tennis Club was practically sold out last night and a capacity house is sure to greet the Belleville troupe when they appear in the Regent theatre Friday night.

YANKS HANDED FIRST DEFEAT

Lose To Boston Red Sox After Winning Six Straight.

INDIANS WIN SERIES.

NEW YORK, Aparil 20 (Canadian Press) — The Boston Red Sox handed the Yanks their first defeat of the season yesterday. After winning six straight, the New York sluggers lost, 6 to 3. Southpaw Harry Wiltse, after a bad start, settled down and held the Yankees.

Cleveland made three costly errors and the Detroit Tigers won the game there yesterday and the series. The score was 8 to 5. Miller was the relief hurler for Cleveland and he was a poor relief. Stoner held the Indians well in check until the seventh.

Although held to five hits at Washington yesterday, the Athletics took the final game of the series, 3 to 1. It should be mentioned that three of the five hits were doubles. With the bases filled in the sixth, Lamar, who had doubled, scored on Hale's fly to Speaker. Cobb then stole home ahead of Crowder's pitch on a triple steal.

St. Louis entertained Chicago with a 7 to 5 victory. St. Louis got ahead a couple of runs in the second inning and stayed ahead for the rest of the game. Crouse allowed the visitors only six hits.

Auto Driver Rams Rear Of Speeding Police Car

LONDON, Ont., April 19.—Speeding 45 miles an hour to answer a hurry-up call for the police, the car of High County Constable A. J. Wharton of Middlesex was rammed from behind by another machine, which tried to pass the officer, and Wharton and Constable Alfred, who accompanied him, had a close call from injuries or death on the Longwoods Road, near Melbourne, late Sunday night. Fred Bolton, of Walkerville, the driver of the other car, is now charged with reckless driving, and he is also faced with a damage bill, as Wharton's car developed trouble after the mishap. Bloton apparently did not know there were police in the car ahead and he pulled out to go by. But at the moment he saw another car approaching, and to avoid a head-on collision, he smashed into the police car. His own machine suffered the most in the mix-up.

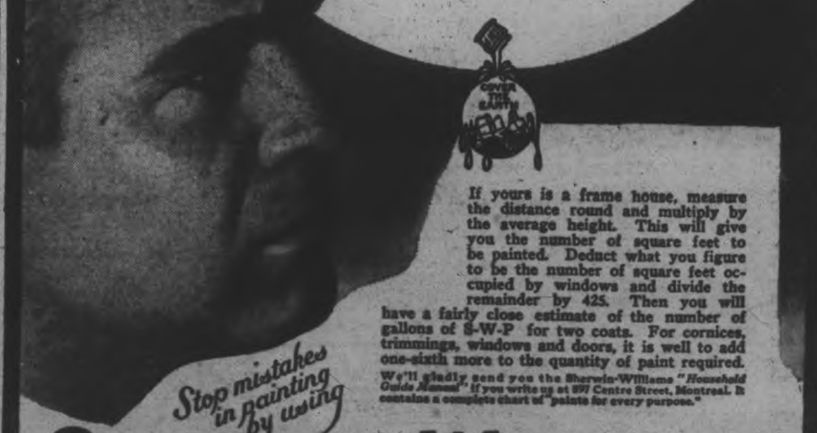
HOW MUCH PAINT TO COVER MY HOUSE?

If you use S-W-P, you will probably be surprised at the small quantity required. S-W-P goes further. It brushes better and covers more surface. And it wears longer. All because every ingredient is manufactured by the Sherwin-Williams Company and is of superfine quality. Naturally, S-W-P is much more economical than cheaper paints.

Perhaps you think it difficult to estimate the amount of S-W-P you need. Go to Paint Headquarters. The Sherwin-Williams dealer will tell you and he will gladly go with you and look the job over, giving any advice you may need.

"There is no Substitute for Quality".



If yours is a frame house, measure the distance round and multiply by the average height. This will give you the number of square feet to be painted. Deduct what you figure to be the number of square feet occupied by windows and divide the remainder by 425. Then you will have a fairly close estimate of the number of gallons of S-W-P for two coats. For cornices, trimmings, windows and doors, it is well to add one-sixth more to the quantity of paint required.

We'll gladly send you the Sherwin-Williams "Household Guide Manual" if you write us at 897 Centre Street, Montreal. It contains a complete chart of "paints for every purpose."

FIREMEN'S WORK IS APPRECIATED

G. A. Macdonald Praises Efforts at Fire in His House.

EFFICIENT WORK.

An appreciation for the manner in which the Firemen handled the recent fire at G. A. Macdonald's residence, was shown by the presentation of a cheque for the pension fund to Chief Gimblett this morning, and a letter commending the brigade for the prompt action they took on Sunday morning, April 10th:

The following is the letter sent to the Mayor by Mr. Macdonald congratulating the city on having such a competent Fire Department:

Mayor Holloway, City:

Dear Sir: Will you please convey to the proper parties my sincere thanks for the efficent action of the Fire Department under Chief Gimblitt, on Sunay morning, April 10th.

I have nothing but praise for what they did. Personally I did not believe they could get the fire under control, but they succeeded in doing it with what I consider a minimum of damage, under the circumstances, to the house and contents. Yours very truly

G. A. MACDONALD.

OBITUARY.

REV. CARL ALLUM.

The death occurred on April 17, at Santa Monica, Cal., of an old North Monaghan resident, in the person of the Rev. Carl Allum, at the ripe old age of 89 years.

The deceased spent the earlier part of his life in Peterborough vicinity, and married Helen Alexander, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Pennington Alexander of North Monaghan, who pre-deceased him some thirty years ago.

Mr. Allum's ministry was mostly spent in the Ottawa Valley district, but he was a very frequent visitor to his old home town and well-known to many of the older residents.

Mr. Allum is survived by four sons and three daughters.

The body is being brought to Renfrew for interment.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Ambrose Jones, who died April 20, 1924:

Dear is the spot where dear mother is laid,
Sweet are the memories that never will fade;
Fond hopes shall we cherish that some day we'll meet,
Kneeling together at Jesus' feet.

—Inserted by her loving daughter, Mrs. Martha Clarke, 304 Louis St.

IF YOU CANNOT EAT

and enjoy your meals, you can be sure that the activities of your stomach are below normal. The truth is that

YOUR STOMACH NEEDS STRENGTH

and it's only means of securing that strength is through the nerves that feed it. A weak stomach has weak nerves. Weak nerves are often the result of spinal derangements which may have resulted from a fall, strain or from sitting in an unnatural position. This derangement can be corrected by and normal nerve force will be restored to the tissues of the stomach. When this is accomplished, your stomach will be capable of digesting food and you will be able to enjoy your meals as a normal person should.

MURDERS WIFE WITH BIG CLUB

Port Arthur Man Says He Should Have Done It Years Ago.

SURRENDERS QUICKLY.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., April 20 —T. H. Watson, an employee of the Provincial Paper Mills here, beat his wife to death yesterday with a six-foot railing. The crime, which is believed to have followed a family quarrel, was committed in the front yard of a neighbor's home.

Watson met the police car as it sped in response to the alarm and surrendered. Later, as he was being searched at the police station, he coolly told the sergeant: "Don't worry, I won't run away. It's a job that ought to have been done years ago."

There are three children, two boys and a girl, the eldest being nine years of age.

AT GOSPEL HALL

Mr. Sam Taylor, evangelist and teacher, spoke last night on Matthew 2nd Chapter. He said Matthew's writings were the logical link between the Old Testament and the New, the prophecies of the Old Testament became history in Matthew's account. Herod was an Edomite and a real picture of what Anti-Christ will be. Anti-Christ, Mr. Taylor said was not a system but a person and a Jew, but cannot be manifest till the Saints are all caught away to meet the Lord in the air. Then anti-Christ will be seen. During the present time sinners are being converted and the church being completed, but Mr. Taylor urged his hearers to study their Bibles, for this Book pointed to Christ. Each book is a spoke of a wheel, the hub being Christ. "No matter where you read it will lead to that one glorious person," he said, "leaving all systems out of sight." Thus the three wise men saw Christ and worshipped, presenting gold, frankincense and myrrh. Gold speaking of deity; frankincense, fragrance of the divine life, and myrrh of death. So we have intrinsic value in Christ, also his beautiful life and His atoneing death on Calvary.

Tonight Mr. Taylor will continue his series.
